HAZARD OF SCHOOL: A FINGER IN THE DESK

A 44-year-old bookkeeper for a San Anselmo realty firm was killed in an auto crash yesterday afternoon on Highway 37 at Black Point, only a few miles from where her only sister was killed by an auto just two weeks less than a year ago.

Amy May Hayden of Sonoma, a bookkeeper for Fardin Realty of San Anselmo, left work for home a little early to start the Thanksgiving holiday.

At 3:05 p.m., as she drove east on Highway 37 about four-tenths of a mile east of Atherton Avenue, Novato, her car suddenly veered across the dirt center divider and broadsided into a westbound station wagon driven by Joseph C, Brewster, 36, of Manzanita Place, Mill Valley.

Miss Hayden was dead on arrivel at Novato General Hospital at 3:30 p.m.

Brewster, a prominent Southern Marin horseman and former member of the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission, suffered severe cuts and bruises of face and arms. He was treated at the Novato hospital, then transferred to Marin General Hospital, where he was reported in good condition today.

Brewster told California Highway Patrol officers he was driving west at about 50 miles an hour in the left lane and had just crossed the Petaluma Creek Bridge when he saw Miss Hayden's eastbound car.

As it approached, it suddenly crossed the divider and slid broadside, he said. "I tried to hit the brakes, but couldn't do so in time to avoid hitting her," he said.

Highway Patrol officers seeking to determine what caused Miss Hayden's car to swerve, took the right front tire and wheel and a portion of the suspension system for tests. The right front tire was flat, but it could not be determined at the scene whether it had gone flat before the crash.

Asst. Coroner William C. Bradley reported that Miss Hayden had no history of any illness that would cause an attack or a blackout.

Miss Hayden's car was demolished in the crash. Brewster's car, owned by J & B Ford Leasing, Mill Valley, was damaged at the front and side. Nei-

Sun Returns To Marin For Holiday

The clouds made way for sunshine today in time for Thanksgiving dinner.

Winds had subsided, after they pushed a trimaran owned by Charles Thornton of Santa Rosa onto rocks off Belvedere just after noon yesterday.

The boat dragged its anchor before the wind, coming to shore on the west side of Belvedere Island. It apparently was undamaged, Belvedere police reported.

Wind also brought a tree crashing down on the old Bolinas-Olema Road at Horseshoe Hill about noon yesterday, blocking the road for a time and pulling down some telephone wires.

By this morning residents of Southern Marin were reporting

Ex-Belmont Mayor Found Dead In Canal

Christopher Lovick Jordan, 77, who served as city councilman and mayor of Belmont during the decade 1930-1940, was found dead in the San Rafael Canal yesterday, victim of either drowning or a heart attack.

Jordan's body was found in the canal at the rear of his home at 1 Third Street, with one hand clutching a rope at the stern of his boat and his face down in the water, Asst. Coroner William C. Bradley reported.

Jordan had a heart condition and hardening of the arteries. He either suffered a heart attack and fell into the water or fell overboard and drowned, Bradley said. An autopsy is scheduled at Harry M. Williams Mortuary.

Mrs. Jordan said she returned from a shopping trip shortly before 4 p.m. and could not locate her husband around the house.

"Then I checked the dock and saw him in the canal," she said.

Mrs. Jordan began screaming. Lester Wilford Simmonds of 520 Canal Street, Apt. 6, hearing the screams, rowed across the canal in his dinghy to hold Jordan's head above water, Bradley

Eight Feared Dead In Hotel Inferno

LAKEWOOD, N.J. (UPI) — Fire flashed through a three-story residence hall housing employees of a hotel in this resort community early today and authorities feared eight persons perished.

Firemen recovered three bodies and searched for five other persons believed trapped on the fire-swept third floor of the half-century old building. At least a dozen other persons escaped the fast - spreading blaze.

Petition Asks New Marincello Debate

The "Marin protest" began yesterday with circulation of petitions calling on the County Board of Supervisors to reconsider its Nov. 12 approval of the master plan for Marincello.

Chairman of the protest group is rancher George W. Wheelwright, who this week signed an agreement to make his Green Gulch Ranch three miles up the coast from Marincello an agricultural preserve.

The petition reads that "unfair advantage has been granted Gulf Oil Co. and Frouge Corp. in that:

"1. The approved 20,000 population (3.5 dwelling units per acre) provides three times the planned density of Novato and Mill Valley, double that of Tiburon, and substantially more than that of Corte Madera and Fairfax.

"2. Previously, consideration of any sizable development in this county has been deferred until either a master plan or at least guides for the area have been established. In this instance, existing zoning and densities for adjoining areas in Sausalito and Tamalpais Valley have been overridden.

"3. This crowded development, with tower apartments and industrial buildings at the boundaries of Marin Headlands State Park, will create a built-in blight and over-use of this new park, which is being financed by the people of the whote state.

"4. There are still facts concerning this park, use of its roads as access, and traffic congestion on the Redwood Highway and the Golden Gate Bridge which have not been adequately analyzed."

Petition chairmen are Mrs. Franklin J. McClain and Mrs. Hugh Rodman of Mill Valley.

Commissioner Blasts Bruce Suggestion

Julius H. Selinger, chairman of the Marin County Personnel Commission, has warned that the commission is in danger of becoming a "mere letterhead" in county government.

Selinger, writing in reply to a recommendation on the future of the commission by County Administrator Alan Bruce, said that "it is not realistic" to think the commission can recommend policy to supervisors by having tasks assigned it occasionally as Bruce proposes.

Bruce suggested that the commission should primarily be an appeals board for aggrieved employees, with policy recommendations and special studies taken on at the direction of the board of supervisors.

Selinger said a "continuous interaction" between the board of supervisors, administrator and commission is necessary if the commission is to be effective.

"Its contribution will be in finding solutions to real situations before they arise," his letter says.

Supervisors are expected to discuss Selinger's letter Tuesday.

Seven Die In Iowa Armory

KEOKUK, Ia. (UPI) — Rescue workers today searched the smoking ruins of a National Guard Armory ripped by an explosion at the height of a gala Thanksgiving eve square dance. Seven persons were killed and at least 47 others injured.

It was feared more bodies might be found in the rubble-filled basement of the brick and concrete block armory.

ROOF FALLS

The sudden explosion blasted out three walls of the building at about 9:40 CST last night and sent the roof crashing to the dance floor, where members of the "Swing Easy Square Dance Club" were promenading in a holiday atmosphere.

Three of the dead were identified as William Bennett, his 7-year-old son Tony and Alice Summers. The others were burned so badly identification was as difficeult.

VICTIM AFIRE

"I saw people screaming and timbers lying on top of some of them. One man came running through the hall all ablaze," said square dance caller Kenny Anderson, who was blown through a door by the blast.

"I picked myself up and looked back," he said. "It was an awful mess. One couple I know quite well came running out without any clothes on. The clothing had been burned off . . . it was a mass of human fire. Everybody was burning."

Governor Happy

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Four generations of California's First Family were on hand today to observe Thanksgiving. Gov. Brown was so happy he called in news photographers to record the event. The Brown family spent the holiday at the Executive Mansion in downtown Sacramento.

Rhodesia Plans Set

LONDON (UPI) — The House of Commons today unanimously approved Prime Minister Harold Wilson's program for crushing the Rhodesian independence rebellion by all means short of military force.

British Lack Bread

LONDON (AP) — A three-day bakers' strike threatened 20 million Britons today with a breadless weekend. After small lightning strikes for a 30 per cent wage increase, the bakers' union called out 9,000 members in half of England — including London.

News Strike Seen

NEW YORK (AP)—The AFL-CIO New York Newspaper Guild says it will strike the New York Daily News at 6 p.m. Wednesday unless agreement on a new contract is reached by then. John J. Gaherin, president of the Publishers Association of New York City, says six other newspapers in the association probably will shut down if the news is prevented from publishing.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Texas Warmest

NEW YORK (UPI) — The lowest temperature reported this morning to the U.S. Weather Bureau, excluding Alaska and Hawaii, was 2 degrees below zero at Cut Bank, Mont., and Devil's Lake, N.D. The highest reported yesterday was 93 at Junction, Tex.

Reds Accuse India

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China today accused Indian troops of shelling Chinese frontier guards on the border between China and the Indian protectorate of Sikkim. It was the second such charge in two days.

G.I.'s Play Host

BERLIN (UPI) — The Army invited 250 West Berlin officials to Thanksgiving dinner at the U.S. Officers Club today. Approximately 2,000 German orphans will dine with enlisted men.

Plane Crew Saved

KALAMATA (UPI) — A U.S. Navy C-117 transport plane ditched in the Mediterranean 15 miles south of here today when it developed engine trouble. The six crew members were picked up by a Greek ship.

Twin Doing Well

FLORENCE, Italy (UPI) — Doctors said today 10-day-old Giovanni Becattini, who was separated from his Siamese twin hours after birth, is "progressing satisfactorily." The twins were joined at the lower back and doctors separated them on the day of their birth because of the deterioration of one who later died.

Nickel Quarters Giving Trouble

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—This city's biggest vending machine company is having trouble with the new nickel-plated copper quarters.

Leslie McCleary, owner of SF Operators Service, said yesterday, the machines are rejecting 20 per cent of the new coins.

Several other San Francisco vending machine firms reported little trouble.

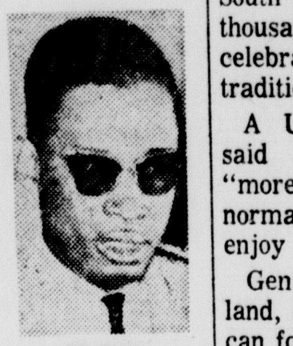
Bloodless Coup Shakes Up Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—A military coup today toppled the Congo's shaky civilian government. The commander of the army, Lt. Gen. Joseph Mobutu, seized power and installed himself as president for five years.

There was no violence.

Mobutu, 35, deposed President Joseph Kasavubu and Premier-designate Evariste Kimba and ordered Col. Leonard Mulamba to take over as premier and form a government of national union.

The upheaval was the climax to several weeks of bitter political infighting between Kasavubu and former Premier Moise Tshombe. Kasavubu fired Tshombe six weeks ago.



Mobuto

Kasavubu

Mobutu said the battle for power between Tshombe and Kasavubu had plunged the Congo into "permanent political crisis."

In a further attempt to stifle the political bickering between Tshombe and Kasavubu, Mobutu announced that he would ask Parliament to change the constitution so as to cancel next February's presidential elections.

'Voices' Blamed For Fire Bombs

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A brilliant electronics expert who says he was conducting a crusade against Communist agitators and Negro rioters has been charged with dropping home-made fire bombs on five homes from a rented airplane.

The engineer, Lon David Shaw told a newsman, "It was pure psychological warfare," he said as he talked yesterday about the night flights during the past year, during which he hurled gallon jugs of flammable liquid out the open cockpit windows.

However, all of the bombs, similar to giant Molotov cocktails, exploded harmlessly on lawns or backyards except one that landed on an awning and set a room ablaze.

Shaw, a native of Bellefontaine, Miss., with an IQ of 150, said "secret voices" supplied him with information about Communist activities in Dade County.

Thanksgiving Lull Reported In Viet Nam

SAIGON (UPI) — Fighting slacked off throughout most of South Viet Nam today and thousands of American GIs celebrated Thanksgiving with traditional turkey dinners.

A U.S. military spokesman said the combat lull gave "more troops than were normally expected" a chance to enjoy the holiday.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of all American forces in Viet Nam, flew to Phan Rang to eat dinner with paratroopers of the 1st Brigade, 101st Airborne.

Communist snipers opened fire on one military truck rushing turkey dinners to Marines manning a defense perimeter, but the truck got through and the food was still hot.

Helicopters rush piping-hot dinners to other isolated posts in the hinterlands.

At Da Nang, U.S. Marines presented a set of swings to Vietnamese school children.

Maj. Gen. Lewis Walt, commander general of the Third Marine Amphibious Force, paid a call on the civilian hospital in Da Nang and offered the services of a military electrician to repair the hospital's laundry unit.

In another gesture in the spirit of Thanksgiving, Walt offered American airplanes to fly medical supplies to Da Nang from Saigon.

Princess Returns To London Rain

LONDON (AP) — Princess Margaret and her husband, Lord Snowdon, returned from their American tour today to London rain.

Dressed in a mink coat and a hat of gold ostrich feathers, the princess walked to her waiting car under an umbrella.

After their three-week visit to the United States, the princess and her husband flew to London from New York via Bermuda where the princess presented colors to the Bermuda regiment during a six-hour stay.

Southern California Hopes Rise For End To Downpours

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Storm-weary Southern Californians cast wary eyes at a gray sky today, willing to settle for a cloudy Thanksgiving in place of the drenching rains that have wrought havoc over the past two weeks.

The forecast called for overcast skies, light rains and occasionally gusty winds today, with clearing skies Friday and excellent prospects for a sunny, brisk weekend.

Even gloomy weather today was a welcome relief from many days of thundering downpours that left a record 11 inches of rain and caused widespread death and destruction.

Authorities said at least eight Southern Californians perished in floods and another five persons, four of them children, were killed in the Mexican border town of Tijuana.

A fourth storm expected to follow on the heels of the preceding trio began drifting east instead of south, removing the threat from already-sodden Southern California.

Weather was also expected to improve today in Northern California, where main highways over the Sierras were blocked by snow.

In other parts of the nation, heavy snow covered Western mountain areas from Arizona to Montana. Four inches of snow fell in a one-hour period at Great Falls, Mont. The snow spread into the upper Great Lakes region with one to three inches across areas of northern Wisconsin. Amounts of six inches were reported in some sections.

Governor Happy

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Four generations of California's First Family were on hand today to observe Thanksgiving. Gov. Brown was so happy he called in news photographers to record the event. The Brown family spent the holiday at the Executive Mansion in downtown Sacramento.

Rhodesia Plans Set

LONDON (UPI) — The House of Commons today unanimously approved Prime Minister Harold Wilson's program for crushing the Rhodesian independence rebellion by all means short of military force.

British Lack Bread

LONDON (AP) — A three-day bakers' strike threatened 20 million Britons today with a breadless weekend. After small lightning strikes for a 30 per cent wage increase, the bakers' union called out 9,000 members in half of England — including London.

News Strike Seen

NEW YORK (AP)—The AFL-CIO New York Newspaper Guild says it will strike the New York Daily News at 6 p.m. Wednesday unless agreement on a new contract is reached by then. John J. Gaherin, president of the Publishers Association of New York City, says six other newspapers in the association probably will shut down if the news is prevented from publishing.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Texas Warmest

NEW YORK (UPI) — The lowest temperature reported this morning to the U.S. Weather Bureau, excluding Alaska and Hawaii, was 2 degrees below zero at Cut Bank, Mont., and Devil's Lake, N.D. The highest reported yesterday was 93 at Junction, Tex.

Reds Accuse India

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China today accused Indian troops of shelling Chinese frontier guards on the border between China and the Indian protectorate of Sikkim. It was the second such charge in two days.

G.I.'s Play Host

BERLIN (UPI) — The Army invited 250 West Berlin officials to Thanksgiving dinner at the U.S. Officers Club today. Approximately 2,000 German orphans will dine with enlisted men.

Plane Crew Saved

KALAMATA (UPI) — A U.S. Navy C-117 transport plane ditched in the Mediterranean 15 miles south of here today when it developed engine trouble. The six crew members were picked up by a Greek ship.

Twin Doing Well

FLORENCE, Italy (UPI) — Doctors said today 10-day-old Giovanni Becattini, who was separated from his Siamese twin hours after birth, is "progressing satisfactorily." The twins were joined at the lower back and doctors separated them on the day of their birth because of the deterioration of one who later died.

Nickel Quarters Giving Trouble

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—This city's biggest vending machine company is having trouble with the new nickel-plated copper quarters.

Leslie McCleary, owner of SF Operators Service, said yesterday, the machines are rejecting 20 per cent of the new coins.

Several other San Francisco vending machine firms reported little trouble.

Bloodless Coup Shakes Up Congo

Mobuto

Kasavubu

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—A military coup today toppled the Congo's shaky civilian government. The commander of the army, Lt. Gen. Joseph Mobutu, seized power and installed himself as president for five years.

There was no violence.

Mobutu, 35, deposed President Joseph Kasavubu and Premier-designate Evariste Kimba and ordered Col. Leonard Mulamba to take over as premier and form a government of national union.

The upheaval was the climax to several weeks of bitter political infighting between Kasavubu and former Premier Moise Tshombe. Kasavubu fired Tshombe six weeks ago.

Mobutu said the battle for power between Tshombe and Kasavubu had plunged the Congo into "permanent political crisis."

In a further attempt to stifle the political bickering between Tshombe and Kasavubu, Mobutu announced that he would ask Parliament to change the constitution so as to cancel next February's presidential elections.

'Voices' Blamed For Fire Bombs

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A brilliant electronics expert who says he was conducting a crusade against Communist agitators and Negro rioters has been charged with dropping home-made fire bombs on five homes from a rented airplane.

The engineer, Lon David Shaw told a newsman, "It was pure psychological warfare," he said as he talked yesterday about the night flights during the past year, during which he hurled gallon jugs of flammable liquid out the open cockpit windows.

However, all of the bombs, similar to giant Molotov cocktails, exploded harmlessly on lawns or backyards except one that landed on an awning and set a room ablaze.

Shaw, a native of Bellefontaine, Miss., with an IQ of 150, said "secret voices" supplied him with information about Communist activities in Dade County.

Thanksgiving Lull Reported In Viet Nam

SAIGON (UPI) — Fighting slacked off throughout most of South Viet Nam today and thousands of American GIs celebrated Thanksgiving with traditional turkey dinners.

A U.S. military spokesman said the combat lull gave "more troops than were normally expected" a chance to enjoy the holiday.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of all American forces in Viet Nam, flew to Phan Rang to eat dinner with paratroopers of the 1st Brigade, 101st Airborne.

Communist snipers opened fire on one military truck rushing turkey dinners to Marines manning a defense perimeter, but the truck got through and the food was still hot.

Helicopters rush piping-hot dinners to other isolated posts in the hinterlands.

At Da Nang, U.S. Marines presented a set of swings to Vietnamese school children.

Maj. Gen. Lewis Walt, commander general of the Third Marine Amphibious Force, paid a call on the civilian hospital in Da Nang and offered the services of a military electrician to repair the hospital's laundry unit.

In another gesture in the spirit of Thanksgiving, Walt offered American airplanes to fly medical supplies to Da Nang from Saigon.

Princess Returns To London Rain

Dressed in a mink coat and a hat of gold ostrich feathers, the princess walked to her waiting car under an umbrella.

After their three-week visit to the United States, the princess and her husband flew to London from New York via Bermuda where the princess presented colors to the Bermuda regiment during a six-hour stay.

Southern California Hopes Rise For End To Downpours

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Storm-weary Southern Californians cast wary eyes at a gray sky today, willing to settle for a cloudy Thanksgiving in place of the drenching rains that have wrought havoc over the past two weeks.

The forecast called for overcast skies, light rains and occasionally gusty winds today, with clearing skies Friday and excellent prospects for a sunny, brisk weekend.

Even gloomy weather today was a welcome relief from many days of thundering downpours that left a record 11 inches of rain and caused widespread death and destruction.

Authorities said at least eight Southern Californians perished in floods and another five persons, four of them children, were killed in the Mexican border town of Tijuana.

A fourth storm expected to follow on the heels of the preceding trio began drifting east instead of south, removing the threat from already-sodden Southern California.

Weather was also expected to improve today in Northern California, where main highways over the Sierras were blocked by snow.

In other parts of the nation, heavy snow covered Western mountain areas from Arizona to Montana. Four inches of snow fell in a one-hour period at Great Falls, Mont. The snow spread into the upper Great Lakes region with one to three inches across areas of northern Wisconsin. Amounts of six inches were reported in some sections.

Taylor Predicts A Slow Victory

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, a former ambassador to Saigon, predicts the Republic of South Viet Nam eventually will win the war there.

But Taylor would not put what he called a "terminal date" on the conflict as he spoke yesterday at LaSalle College.

He said he is certain the Communist North Viet Nam government will never seek negotiations to end the war until it is convinced it cannot win.

Two Cars Stolen In San Rafael

Two cars were reported stolen in San Rafael yesterday.

Mary L. Carpenter of 11 Third Street, San Rafael, told police that her 1962 Buick convertible was stolen from her residence during the night. The keys were not in the car, she said.

Ingrid Hickey of 30 Main Street, San Quentin Village, told police that her 1953 Ford was stolen from the city parking lot at Second and Lindaro Streets on Tuesday. The keys were not in the car, she said.

Disability Definition Change Adds Benefits

An important change in the definition of "disability" under the social security law has been made in amendments to the law passed this year, Patrick Stevens, Social Security district manager said yesterday.

People are now eligible for monthly benefits if they have a disabling condition which has lasted, or is expected to last, at least 12 months.

Under the old regulations, benefits were granted only if the disability was expected to last indefinitely.

But as before, only people who cannot do any substantial gainful work can receive benefits.

The amendments leave unchanged two other important provisions, said Stevens.

Benefits are available only if a person has had social security credit for at least five years of work in a 10-year period prior to becoming disabled. Cash benefits do not begin until after the first six months of disability.

These and other changes in the law are noted in a pamphlet available free from the Social Security Office, 1245 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

Novato Bright For Yule Season

Motorists on Highway 101 through Novato this Christmas season will find six of the trees in the center islands brightly lighted.

This is just one of the new Christmas decorations which will be used in the city during the holiday season, said Roscoe Morgan, chairman of the trade bureau committee of the Novato Chamber of Commerce.

The main business district will be decorated with 75 elves and four Santa Clauses on poles in front of business houses along Grant Avenue, he said.

Morgan expects the decorations to be up by Dec. 4.

Decorations Discussed By Rec Board

The Corte Madera Parks and Recreation Commission last night discussed Christmas decorations and suggested a fir tree be planted in front of the new public safety building at Tamalpais and Pixley avenues.

The commission suggested traditional lighting used on the old fire house at Tamalpais and Willow avenues. Flood lighting at Menke Park was also suggested.

The commission approved $288 for a backstop for the tennis courts at the town park adjacent to Neil Cummins School.

Extension of the chain link fence at the tiny tot park was approved. The park is adjacent to the new public safety building. Relocation of the park's fence from Pixley Avenue to the park's service road, to get it away from the firemen's emergency entrance, was also proposed.

First patent registered was in 1790.

Judge Sees Point Of Motorcycle Parkers" Gripe

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two of the six motorcyclists who got $5 traffic tickets for parking their vehicles in two metered parking places have won their points.

Four paid their fine by mail, but David McCann of Redwood City and Milton Swanson of South San Francisco appeared in court to argue.

Municipal Judge Fitz-Gerald Ames dismissed the charges against them yesterday.

"Suppose 40 cyclists came to the city and occupied 40 stalls," he said. "Think how that would reduce parking for motorists."

In the public interest, he said, it's good practice to squeeze as many motorcycles into a single stall as possible.

MACY'S SAN RAFAEL, FOURTH AND COURT, 456-3333: OPEN MONDAY THROUGH SATURDAY 9:30 TO 9

A FAMILIAR SIGHT OF THE FUTURE?—This is artist's conception of what a hydrofoil would look like passing under the Golden Gate Bridge. Such a boat will be placed in service early next year by Hydrofoils, Inc., headed by John Fell Stevenson of San Francisco. When commute schedules will be started remains indefinite, however.

Hydrofoil Firm Proposes Eventual Commute Service

A hydrofoil boat that can skim from Tiburon to San Francisco in 10 minutes will be put in use on the Bay by February, but any daily commute schedule is somewhere in the indefinite future.

This was disclosed by John Fell Stevenson, president of the newly formed Hydrofoils, Inc., at a press conference in San Francisco's Fairmont Hotel late yesterday.

The company's initial 48-passenger hydrofoil, to be christened the San Francisco, is scheduled for delivery early next month, Stevenson said. It will be put in use by February for sight-seeing trips.

Sometime later, the company will receive a 150-passenger hydrofoil which will make possible the start of commuter service.

"We cannot hope to satisfy the mass transportation demand," said the 29-year-old son of the late ambassador to the United Nations, "but we can alleviate the present situation and fill the interim period until rapid transit tubes become a reality."

The hydrofoil, identical with boats in use in New York and abroad, will travel at 40 miles an hour.

Stevenson's company was granted a lease yesterday for docking facilities at Pier 43 on the San Francisco Marina. Where the hydrofoil will dock in Tiburon is not yet assured, however.

Stevenson, whose announcement came on the heels of an upsurge of interest in restoring ferry service across the Bay and the Golden Gate, said:

"I see the day when water transportation will be serving large areas, with trains running up to the ferry buildings."

Stevenson said he first realized the potential of hydrofoil ferrries "in 1958 when I rode down the Volga River in one."

He disclosed his company may seek a federal government subvention to expand from sightseeing to commuter service.

"Washington likes the idea of the boats very much," said Stevenson, whose father was twice Democratic candidate for President.

BLAST

answered emergency calls for aid. The injured were rushed to hospitals. The Air Force flew blood to Keokuk from Chanute Air Force Base in Rantoul, Ill.

Graham Hospital said today 28 persons had been admitted, 15 in serious condition two in critical condition. St. Joseph's Hospital reported 17 admitted, although three were later transferred to hospitals in other towns. Others were treated and released.

Three cranes working in the glare of emergency floodlights lifted huge chunks of the roof from the dance floor while authorities looked for survivors or victims during the night.

Jim Regan, who lives in a trailer park near the armory, said he rushed into the building after the blast in an attempt to rescue the square dancers.

"I heard small cries of children apparently coming from the basement," Regan said. "Everyone was screaming and hollering. I heard some yell, 'Come and get me. I can't get out.'"

Regan said when he ran into the armory he saw a man and woman trapped by fallen timbers from the roof.

Keokuk Fire Chief John Breheny said a preliminary investigation indicated the tragedy was caused by a gas explosion.

The armory building was about 100 feet long and 50 feet wide. The roof as set on giant arches. Police said only the back wall of the building was left standing after the explosion.

United Fund Ordered To Approve Merger

With somewhat less than complete freedom of choice, members of the Marin United Fund are being instructed to approve the fund's merger with four others next month into a single United Bay Area Crusade.

The decision is scheduled to be made at the Marin fund's annual dinner meeting, scheduled for 8 p. m., Dec. 14 at Peacock Gap Country Club.

Directors will meet 30 minutes before the dinner session. They, too, are being instructed to ratify the merger.

In twin letters to the directors and the entire membership, Marin United Fund president S. J. Hugh Allen explained the situation.

To the directors, Allen explained that, "to pave the way for approval of the merger . . . you are reluctantly advised that it is an absolute must that the board of directors adopt a formal resolution approving the merger and authorizing the officers to sign appropriate documents."

In his letter to members, Allen said a two-thirds vote of the entire membership would be needed for approval.

"The general terms of the proposed merger are that all of the assets of each such United Fund will be transferred to, and all of its outstanding contracts and liabilities will be assured by, United Bay Area Crusade," Allen wrote.

San Rafael police and United Ambulance attendants attempted artificial respiration and the San Rafael Fire Department inhalator was called, but Jordan was dead on arrival at San Rafael General Hospital at 4:15 p.m.

Bradley said that Jordan's body might have been in the water "for a couple of hours."

Jordan, a retired Belmont heavy construction contractor, had been a resident of Marin for 18 years. He was a member of the San Rafael Yacht Club, and was known to members as "Cap."

A native of Norway, he had been a resident of California for 60 years. He served in the Navy during World War I.

Surviving is his wife, Anna. The couple had no children.

CRASH

ther driver was thrown out, the highway patrol reported.

Witnesses estimated Miss Hayden's car was going about 50 miles an hour. Highway patrolmen said the tires left no skid marks before the car crossed the divider.

The death was the 25th this year in Marin County traffic. Last year to Nov. 25, the county had 37 traffic fatalities.

Miss Hayden had resided in Sonoma about two and one-half years—about the same length of time she was employed by Fardin Realty. Prior to that she lived on Bungalow Court and Prospect Drive in San Rafael and was employed by a San Rafael accounting firm.

"She was a very careful driver. The tire must have blown to cause her to cross the divider," said her employer, Gene Fardin.

Miss Hayden's sister, Mrs. Ella Marie Boyce, 47, of Santa Venetia, was killed by a car on Dec. 9, 1964, as she ran across Highway 101 north of Entrada Drive, Novato.

Mrs. Boyce and her son, Jerry, 17, were en route to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee Hayden of Boyes Springs. Mrs. Boyce had car trouble and stopped by the side of the road, sending her son back to a service station to telephone her husband for help. As the youth was returning to the car, she started across the highway.

William D. Luff, 26, of Petaluma, a house painter driving home from a job in Terra Linda, said she suddenly "froze" as his car approached. It struck her, killing her instantly.

Only her parents survive Miss Hayden.

OBITUARIES

Elizabeth G. Gates Dies At 85

Mrs. Elizabeth Gertrude Gates, a Marin resident for 55 years, died yesterday in a local hospital after a short illness.

She was one of the original owners of the Princess Theater (now the Gate Theater) in Sausalito and once owned the Stationery Store in Sausalito.

Mrs. Gates, 85, was born in Long Island, N.Y. She came to Sausalito in 1909 and lived there for 40 years. She moved to Strawberry in 1953, living there until about eight months ago when she entered a convalescent home.

She was a member of St. Hilary's Catholic Church, Tiburon.

Mrs. Gates is survived by three daughters, Mrs. N. W. Foran of Glen Ridge, N.J and Elizabeth Lucille and Charlotte M. Gates, of Tiburon, and a son, Ralph Joseph Gates of San Rafael. Also surviving is her brother, William Monahan of Grosse Isle, Mich.

Requiem Mass will be celebrated at 9 a.m. Saturday at St. Hilary's Church. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Russell and Gooch Mortuary, Mill Valley. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

GEORGE MARTIN

Funeral for George Martin, 63, of 30 Diane Lane, Larkspur, will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday at the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

Martin died Tuesday at a local hospital after a brief illness.

A native of Seattle, he had lived in California for 37 years and in Marin County for nine years. He was supervisor of the stock transfer department of Pacific Gas and Electric Co., San Francisco, having worked for the company for 28 years.

He was a member of Far West Lodge 673, Free and Accepted Masons; San Francisco Chapter 1, Royal Arch Masons; California Commandery 1, Knights Templar; Islam Temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, and Pacific Service Employees Assn.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Jean M. Martin of Larkspur; a daughter, Patricia Ann Martin of Santa Monica, and a sister, Mrs. Gertrude Bishop of Seattle.

Cremation will be private.

VERNA CHENEY

Funeral for Mrs. Verna Lee Cheney, 55, who died Tuesday at Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital after a long illness, will be held at 11 a.m. tomorrow at the Redwood Chapel Funeral Home in Novato.

Mrs. Cheney, a native of Roanoke, Va., worked as a secretary for the federal government in Washington, D.C., and later in Puerto Rico, where she met and married her husband, Col. Howard A. Cheney.

She and her husband lived in England and Venezuela as well as at various military bases in the United States. They were stationed at Hamilton Air Force Base from 1958 to 1960. They moved back to Novato when he retired last April.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by a daughter, Lee Ellen Cheney of Novato; her mother, Mrs. A. W. Fleshman, and four brothers, Arthur Jr., Mason, Richard and Turner Fleshman, all of Roanoke.

Burial will be in Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno.

MRS. NOLASCO

Funeral will be held Saturday for Josephine Nolasco, mother of Mrs. Catherine Carlson of San Rafael.

Mrs. Nolasco, 86, died Tuesday at the St. Helena Sanitarium. A native of Italy, she had lived in Calistoga for 64 years where she and her husband, the late Louis Nolasco, were grape growers.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Carlsen and Mrs. Rose Williams of Gilroy, and three sons, John and Charles Nolasco of Calistoga and Peter of Concord, and 14 grandchildren and 12 great grandchildren.

Services will be held at 9:45 a.m. Saturday at the Simic Funeral Home, Calistoga. Burial will be in Holy Cross Cemetery, St. Helena.

MARTIN E. SIEM

Private funeral for Martin E. Siem, 85, of 673 Cascade Drive, Fairfax, was held yesterday at the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

Siem died yesterday at a local convalescent home after a long illness. A native of Germany, he moved to California as a young boy. He was an electrician in the Bay Area for 52 years, and a Marin County resident for 15 years. He was a member of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, San Francisco Local 6.

He is survived by a son, Martin Shiem Jr. of Fairfax, and a daughter, Marguerite Siem of San Francisco.

MERLE PRESTON

Funeral for Merle L. Preston, mother of Joseph W. Preston of Mill Valley, will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow at N. Gray and Co., San Francisco.

Mrs. Preston, 81, a lifelong resident of San Francisco, died Tuesday at a San Francisco hospital.

Her father, Capt. Robert Lawson, was a skipper who sailed the West Coast on trading schooners. Mrs. Preston, who was one of the earliest graduates of Sarah Dix Hamilton School and a member of the alumni association, was active in Republican politics.

She is survived by her son, Joseph, a news correspondent in Saigon who is in the Bay Area for a week, one grandson and four great-grandsons.

Burial will be in Cypress Lawn Cemetery, Colma.

CONRAD M. WEBB

Conrad Mason Webb of San Mateo, a 51-year-old chauffeur, suffered a fatal heart attack at the Fountain Motel, 155 Shoreline Highway, Manzanita, at 3:20 p.m. Tuesday.

Webb, chauffeur for Charles W. Huse of San Francisco, vice president of the Western Division of U. S. Steel Corp., had driven Mrs. Huse on a shopping trip to the Town and Country Shopping Center at Strawberry, Asst. Coroner William C. Bradley reported.

He complained of being ill and Mrs. Huse suggested that he go to a motel and rest, Bradley said. Shortly after they arrived at the motel, Mrs. Huse heard Webb fall in the bathroom.

Webb was taken to Marin General Hospital but was dead on arrival. The body was sent to San Mateo County where funeral is scheduled tomorrow.

Webb, a native of North Carolina, had been a resident of California for 23 years and a chauffeur for the Huses for 16 years. He is survived by a wife and five children in San Mateo County.

A FAMILIAR SIGHT OF THE FUTURE?—This is artist's conception of what a hydrofoil would look like passing under the Golden Gate Bridge. Such a boat will be placed in service early next year by Hydrofoils, Inc., headed by John Fell Stevenson of San Francisco. When commute schedules will be started remains indefinite, however.

Hydrofoil Firm Proposes Eventual Commute Service

A hydrofoil boat that can skim from Tiburon to San Francisco in 10 minutes will be put in use on the Bay by February, but any daily commute schedule is somewhere in the indefinite future.

This was disclosed by John Fell Stevenson, president of the newly formed Hydrofoils, Inc., at a press conference in San Francisco's Fairmont Hotel late yesterday.

The company's initial 48-passenger hydrofoil, to be christened the San Francisco, is scheduled for delivery early next month, Stevenson said. It will be put in use by February for sight-seeing trips.

Sometime later, the company will receive a 150-passenger hydrofoil which will make possible the start of commuter service.

"We cannot hope to satisfy the mass transportation demand," said the 29-year-old son of the late ambassador to the United Nations, "but we can alleviate the present situation and fill the interim period until rapid transit tubes become a reality."

The hydrofoil, identical with boats in use in New York and abroad, will travel at 40 miles an hour.

Stevenson's company was granted a lease yesterday for docking facilities at Pier 43 on the San Francisco Marina. Where the hydrofoil will dock in Tiburon is not yet assured, however.

Stevenson, whose announcement came on the heels of an upsurge of interest in restoring ferry service across the Bay and the Golden Gate, said:

"I see the day when water transportation will be serving large areas, with trains running up to the ferry buildings."

Stevenson said he first realized the potential of hydrofoil ferrries "in 1958 when I rode down the Volga River in one."

He disclosed his company may seek a federal government subvention to expand from sightseeing to commuter service.

"Washington likes the idea of the boats very much," said Stevenson, whose father was twice Democratic candidate for President.

answered emergency calls for aid. The injured were rushed to hospitals. The Air Force flew blood to Keokuk from Chanute Air Force Base in Rantoul, Ill.

Graham Hospital said today 28 persons had been admitted, 15 in serious condition two in critical condition. St. Joseph's Hospital reported 17 admitted, although three were later transferred to hospitals in other towns. Others were treated and released.

Three cranes working in the glare of emergency floodlights lifted huge chunks of the roof from the dance floor while authorities looked for survivors or victims during the night.

Jim Regan, who lives in a trailer park near the armory, said he rushed into the building after the blast in an attempt to rescue the square dancers.

"I heard small cries of children apparently coming from the basement," Regan said. "Everyone was screaming and hollering. I heard some yell, 'Come and get me. I can't get out.' "

Regan said when he ran into the armory he saw a man and woman trapped by fallen timbers from the roof.

Keokuk Fire Chief John Breheny said a preliminary investigation indicated the tragedy was caused by a gas explosion.

The armory building was about 100 feet long and 50 feet wide. The roof as set on giant arches. Police said only the back wall of the building was left standing after the explosion.

United Fund Ordered To Approve Merger

With somewhat less than complete freedom of choice, members of the Marin United Fund are being instructed to approve the fund's merger with four others next month into a single United Bay Area Crusade.

The decision is scheduled to be made at the Marin fund's annual dinner meeting, scheduled for 8 p. m., Dec. 14 at Peacock Gap Country Club.

Directors will meet 30 minutes before the dinner session. They, too, are being instructed to ratify the merger.

In twin letters to the directors and the entire membership, Marin United Fund president S. J. Hugh Allen explained the situation.

To the directors, Allen explained that, "to pave the way for approval of the merger . . . you are reluctantly advised that it is an absolute must that the board of directors adopt a formal resolution approving the merger and authorizing the officers to sign appropriate documents."

In his letter to members, Allen said a two-thirds vote of the entire membership would be needed for approval.

"The general terms of the proposed merger are that all of the assets of each such United Fund will be transferred to, and all of its outstanding contracts and liabilities will be assured by, United Bay Area Crusade," Allen wrote.

San Rafael police and United Ambulance attendants attempted artificial respiration and the San Rafael Fire Department inhalator was called, but Jordan was dead on arrival at San Rafael General Hospital at 4:15 p.m.

Bradley said that Jordan's body might have been in the water "for a couple of hours."

Jordan, a retired Belmont heavy construction contractor, had been a resident of Marin for 18 years. He was a member of the San Rafael Yacht Club, and was known to members as "Cap."

A native of Norway, he had been a resident of California for 60 years. He served in the Navy during World War I.

Surviving is his wife, Anna. The couple had no children.

CITY GETS A NEW FUN HOUSE

Ousted from its old home at American Legion Hall on Union Street in San Rafael to make way for construction of a new supermarket, the San Rafael Recreation Department began this week to move into new quarters at the old Pacific Gas & Electric Co. building at Brooks and Second streets. Helping to move equipment into the new site are (left to right) Chester McQuary, Peter Zunino, Recreation Director Joseph D. Rodota, and Ron Koller. (Independent-Journal photo)

Hospital Board Hires Architectural Firm

The Marin Hospital District board Tuesday night agreed to hire the architectural firm of Rex Whitaker Allen and Associates of San Francisco to prepare a master plan for Marin General Hospital.

The board stipulated that the contract call for production of the master plan within six months at a cost of not more than $10,000.

Dr. T. Scott Strathairn, hospital chief of staff, said the Allen firm was recommended by the hospital's medical advisory board. The firm specializes in hospital planning, he said.

The board also authorized creation of the $20-25,000 a year position of medical director, beginning in the 1967 fiscal year.

The new post would be designed to take some work from the chief of staff. The medical director would act as liason between the staff, administration and board.

In authorizing the position, directors said they planned to review their decision in May, before including funds of the job in the budget.

The Marin Hospital District board also:

1. Spent a half hour in closed session for the stated purpose of "evaluating" public relations consultant Jules Becker.

2. Heard that the hospital volunteers council has $4,000 to donate for an X-ray machine for surgery. Hospital Administrator William W. Turner suggested the volunteers consider carpeting of floors in patient areas as a future project.

3. Named Dr. Thomas P. Lowry and County Public Works Supt. Donald R. Frost to the architectural review board of the proposed mental health center.

Board president Marion C. Ibach was absent.

East Mill Valley Zone Plan Recommended

Mill Valley Planning Commission Tuesday night recommended rezoning of the East Mill Valley area in accordance with recommendations made in the recently adopted East Mill Valley General Plan.

These include zoning of Project 17 as open area; rezoning the large area at the intersection of Camino Alto and Miller Avenue from public and special commercial to commercial-recreational, and dividing the Enchanted Park area, near Enchanted Knolls, among three zones: single family planned residential, multi-family residential and professional-administrative.

The commission recommended eliminating the warehousing and light industry zone, now applying in the area of East Blithedale Aveune and Camino Alto, and rezoning that area general commercial.

Alto Bowl No. 1 annexation was taken from an interim zoning requiring 15,000 square feet per single family unit to planned residential, and Alto Corridor No. 1 annexation from unclassified to general commercial. The Biggio property at Camino Alto and Sycamore Avenue was recommended to be changed to commercial-recreational from single family residential.

Commissioners took under study a revised zoning and sign ordinance.

The commission will hold a study session on the future of downtown Mill Valley at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Outdoor Art Club, with businessmen and other interested persons.

Novato Fire Insurance Cost To Drop

Residents of the Novato Fire District will receive substantial decreases in fire insurance rates because of a new rating received today by the Novato Fire District from the Pacific Fire Rating Bureau, according to Fire Chief George Cavallero.

The district, which has had ratings of classes 5, 8 and 9 in the past, will have only classes 4 and 8. The new ratings are effective at once.

The district was surveyed last year for a possible change in insurance rates. In lowering the rates, the bureau complimented the district on the changes it has made to keep up with the growing community, Cavallero said.

The class 4 rating applies to all the area in which there are fire hydrants, and the class 8 rating is for Black Point and the ranches in the district, he said.

Cavallero estimated a 9.5 per cent decrease in fire insurance rates for commercial areas.

Millard Miles, insurance agent, said that the change from class 5 to class 4 on $20,000 house policy would be from $92.64 to $87.88 for a three-year policy. The change in coverage on a $20,000 rural home from class 9 to class 8 would drop the insurance from $175.15 to $123.85, Miles said.

Reapportionment On Radio Panel

State Sen. John F. McCarthy (R-San Rafael) and Assemblyman William T. Bagley (R-San Rafael) will discuss "Reapportionment" on the Radio KTIM discussion program, "Marin Sounding Board," tomorrow at 9 a.m.

The program, conducted by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be recorded and rebroadcast Sunday at 12:30 p.m. Postponed from today because of the holiday, "Sounding Board" will return to its usual scheduled time on Thursday next week.

Eleven Novato Girls To Vie For Queen

Eleven Novato High School senior girls will compete for the "Novato Junior Miss" title in a pageant at 8 p.m., Dec. 11, at the Novato Community House, sponsored by the Novato Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The top winner will receive a $400 scholarship and a trip to the state Junior Miss contest in Garden Grove in January to compete for a $6,000 scholarship. The Novato girl in second place will receive a $200 scholarship and the third place winner, $100.

Contestants are: Marsha Baccaglio of 1526 South Novato Boulevard, Nanette Baget of 1410 Buchanan Street, Vicki Bennett of 1400 Vallejo Avenue; Kathleen Ann Heyman of 1412 Buchanan Street, Sheila Hodges of 1431 Buchanan, Barbara Jones of 17 Kristy Court, Diane La Ferriere of 1645 Center Road, Louise Morrow of 1420 Dawes Street, Terri Scott of 15 Theresa Court, Charlene Swan of 17 Nave Court, and Kathy Wollam of 805 Diablo Avenue.

Each girl will appear three times during the pageant, said Paul Dock, Junior Chamber of Commerce production committee chairman: in evening dress, in sports attire, and in a talent appearance.

The girls will be judged on personality, character, charm, intelligence and beauty.

Judges of the pageant will be Ernest Young, vice president of the Bank of America; Col. B. H. McDovall, chief personnel division at Hamilton Air Force Base; Virgil S. Hollis, Marin County superintendent of schools, and Mrs. Margaret Morrison, president of the Novato Business and Professional Women's Club.

Dimes Kickoff

Kickoff dinner for the 1966 March of Dimes in Marin has been scheduled for 8 p.m. Monday at Rancho Nicasio.

Crash Places Two In Hospital

Two Marin men were injured yesterday when the car they were in hit a utility pole in San Rafael.

Jack F. Martin, 23, of 191 Canal Street, San Rafael, and his passenger, Elmo A. Sasseli, 23, of 80 Mohawk Avenue, Corte Madera, were reported in good condition at San Rafael General Hospital following the accident at 1:05 a.m. at Second Street and Grand Avenue.

The car struck the pole after it slid on wet pavement as Martin attempted to make a right turn from Second Street onto Grand Avenue, reported police.

Martin suffered chest injuries and face cuts, and Sasselli, head injuries and a broken right leg, reported the hospital.

Sales Of Bonds

U.S. Savings Bond sales in Marin County totaled $125,968 in October, reports the county bonds chairman, D. C. Davis. Total sales in Northern California during the month were $11,139,748, bringing the amount bought so far this year to $112,133,109.

Terra Linda Announces Winners Of Top Grades

Terra Linda High School senior Robert E. Owens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert V. Owens of 44 Elena Circle, San Rafael, received A grades in all his seven subjects in the first grading period of the school year.

Drunken Driving Sentences For Three Men

Maurice Lionel Thomas, 29, of Rohnert Park, Sonoma County, was fined $193 and placed on a year's probation Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving. He was arrested on Redwood Highway by Novato police Nov. 12.

Delmer Leo Howerton, 56, of 2000 Redwood Highway, San Rafael, was also fined $193 for drunken driving. He was placed on six months probation. Howerton was arrested on San Anselmo Avenue by San Anselmo police Oct. 23.

Arthur Tilman Abernathy, 52, San Francisco, was placed on two years supervision probation and ordered to pay about $339 restitution, also for drunken driving. He was arrested by San Rafael police at Second Street and Francisco Boulevard on Sept. 28.

Danish people are well-educated.

Sausalito Gives Art Works Back

Sausalito, city of artists, surrendered three paintings and three art objects from the Tong Dynasty in China Tuesday night to their original owner, C. Frederick Faude.

Faude, who operates an antique gallery in Sausalito, had given the pieces of art to the city for a proposed city museum, but he later decided it would be wiser to make his offer to Marin Museum Assn. to develop a Marin County museum at the Civic Center.

Mayor Jan Paul Dyk authorized return of the gifts and City Mgr. Charles A. Brown said the insurance on the art objects would be cancelled.

Eleven Novato Girls To Vie For Queen

Eleven Novato High School senior girls will compete for the "Novato Junior Miss" title in a pageant at 8 p.m., Dec. 11, at the Novato Community House, sponsored by the Novato Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The top winner will receive a $400 scholarship and a trip to the state Junior Miss contest in Garden Grove in January to compete for a $6,000 scholarship. The Novato girl in second place will receive a $200 scholarship and the third place winner, $100.

Contestants are: Marsha Baccaglio of 1526 South Novato Boulevard, Nanette Baget of 1410 Buchanan Street, Vicki Bennett of 1400 Vallejo Avenue; Kathleen Ann Heyman of 1412 Buchanan Street, Sheila Hodges of 1431 Buchanan, Barbara Jones of 17 Kristy Court, Diane La Ferriere of 1645 Center Road, Louise Morrow of 1420 Dawes Street, Terri Scott of 15 Theresa Court, Charlene Swan of 17 Nave Court, and Kathy Wollam of 805 Diablo Avenue.

Each girl will appear three times during the pageant, said Paul Dock, Junior Chamber of Commerce production committee chairman: in evening dress, in sports attire, and in a talent appearance.

The girls will be judged on personality, character, charm, intelligence and beauty.

Judges of the pageant will be Ernest Young, vice president of the Bank of America; Col. B. H. McDovall, chief personnel division at Hamilton Air Force Base; Virgil S. Hollis, Marin County superintendent of schools, and Mrs. Margaret Morrison, president of the Novato Business and Professional Women's Club.

Dimes Kickoff

Kickoff dinner for the 1966 March of Dimes in Marin has been scheduled for 8 p.m. Monday at Rancho Nicasio.

Crash Places Two In Hospital

Two Marin men were injured yesterday when the car they were in hit a utility pole in San Rafael.

Jack F. Martin, 23, of 191 Canal Street, San Rafael, and his passenger, Elmo A. Sasseli, 23, of 80 Mohawk Avenue, Corte Madera, were reported in good condition at San Rafael General Hospital following the accident at 1:05 a.m. at Second Street and Grand Avenue.

The car struck the pole after it slid on wet pavement as Martin attempted to make a right turn from Second Street onto Grand Avenue, reported police.

Martin suffered chest injuries and face cuts, and Sasselli, head injuries and a broken right leg, reported the hospital.

Sales Of Bonds

U.S. Savings Bond sales in Marin County totaled $125,968 in October, reports the county bonds chairman, D. C. Davis. Total sales in Northern California during the month were $11,139,748, bringing the amount bought so far this year to $112,133,109.

Terra Linda Announces Winners Of Top Grades

Terra Linda High School senior Robert E. Owens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert V. Owens of 44 Elena Circle, San Rafael, received A grades in all his seven subjects in the first grading period of the school year.

Earning six A grades at Terra Linda High were William Follette, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Follette of 748 Beachnut Court, San Rafael, and Robert L. King, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland R. King of 40 Oak View Drive, San Rafael Meadows.

Seventy-nine others earned recognition for high honors, meaning at least four A and two B grades. They are:

Larry Amans, Linda Domeier, John Hart, Richard Honey, Mike Krambs, Marie Nenes, Dale White, Terray Boggs, Linda Eastes, Elizabeth Glass, Althea Jordan, Doug Adams.

Karen Clippinger, Lorrie Enos, Robin Fagg, Charles Freschl, Joyce Gustafson, Holly Hempton, Kit Kirkpatrick, Russell Koehler, Marian Manning, Tom Micheletti, Frederick Mulhaupt, Susan Owens, Arthur Quon, Mary Upshaw, and Nancy Wilkinson.

Drunken Driving Sentences For Three Men

Maurice Lionel Thomas, 29, of Rohnert Park, Sonoma County, was fined $193 and placed on a year's probation Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving. He was arrested on Redwood Highway by Novato police Nov. 12.

Delmer Leo Howerton, 56, of 2000 Redwood Highway, San Rafael, was also fined $193 for drunken driving. He was placed on six months probation. Howerton was arrested on San Anselmo Avenue by San Anselmo police Oct. 23.

Arthur Tilman Abernathy, 52, San Francisco, was placed on two years supervision probation and ordered to pay about $339 restitution, also for drunken driving. He was arrested by San Rafael police at Second Street and Francisco Boulevard on Sept. 28.

Danish people are well-educated.

Sausalito Gives Art Works Back

Sausalito, city of artists, surrendered three paintings and three art objects from the Tong Dynasty in China Tuesday night to their original owner, C. Frederick Faude.

Faude, who operates an antique gallery in Sausalito, had given the pieces of art to the city for a proposed city museum, but he later decided it would be wiser to make his offer to Marin Museum Assn. to develop a Marin County museum at the Civic Center.

Mayor Jan Paul Dyk authorized return of the gifts and City Mgr. Charles A. Brown said the insurance on the art objects would be cancelled.

Defense Budgeting Greatly Changed

By DONALD ZYLSTRA
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — The newest defense budget, now taking definite shape at the Pentagon, brings into sharp focus the techniques of "cost effectiveness" and "systems analysis" put to work by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara.

Defense spending for the next fiscal year is likely to account for more than half the national budget, which is expected to exceed $100 billion.

A final hard look at what defense items are to be included or left out remains for President Johnson and McNamara sometime between Thanksgiving weekend and mid-December, when the federal budget goes to press.

Thus, big Military outlays—partly a result of the Viet Nam buildup, give added importance to budget-making procedures at the Pentagon.

Secretaries of defense who held the office before 1960 would have difficulty recognizing some of the budget process installed by McNamara.

So important has the function of "programming" or analysis become that its leading Pentagon practitioner, Alan Enthoven, has been elevated to the newest top-level secretariat, "assistant secretary of defense for systems analysis."

Pentagon spokesmen see few changes in defense budget-making, insofar as Congress is involved, since the last official reorganization of the department in 1953.

But it soon became plain that preparing a defense budget, a year-round task for a growing corps of Pentagon programmers, analysts and accountants, would never be the same again after McNamara arrived in 1961.

The new secretary took an entirely new approach to the military budget.

He wasn't as interested in the budget itself or in its money totals as he was in decisions, thousands of decisions that determined what the budget funds would buy in a given year.

His predecessors worked from the top down, determining the defense budget from a money ceiling given them annually by the president and dividing available funds among the three armed services.

But McNamara chose to work from the bottom up, instead of down from a pre-set ceiling limit. A new ingredient began to appear.

Instead of calculating how many aircraft carriers, or how many army divisions could be squeezed from the slice of the budget pie given to the Air Force, Navy or Army, McNamara's questions began to force generals, admirals and service secretaries to worry about other matters.

How many B-52 heavy bombers would have to be flown to retaliate against a massive enemy nuclear attack?

In the event of wars such as those in Korea or Viet Nam how many aircraft carriers and airplane squadrons would be needed while leaving enough forces to watch other potential trouble spots?

How may divisions of ground troops should the United States maintain to cover world emergencies?

More important, how many of these could be kept fully equipped, ready for action, and who would airlift them or ferry them into combat?

Answers to such questions had first priority under McNamara. He demanded not just "educated guesses" but detailed facts, backed up by homework overnights and weekends for people at every Pentagon level.

Sentiment has no place in McNamara's view of the defense job. Often the secretary finds himself in complete disagreement with the results of studies he has ordered.

Often the detail-hungry defense secretary is a "disbelieving minority of one" when confronted with an impressive array of data.

Frequently, defense accountants find the rejected result of months of research by top Pentagon analysts dumped on their desks. Or, accountants may find they have toiled weeks and months over a study only to have their material rejected and bundled away to an analyst's office.

Once McNamara and his Pentagon civilian associates have determined to their satisfaction what defense needs seem to be, the next step is to provide the men, weapons, supplies and training that will do the job.

Congress continues to vote money to each of three armed services to: (1) Pay wages; (2) Operate and maintain bases and equipment; (3) Buy weapons and supplies; (4) Conduct research and engineering for new weapons, and (5) Construct bases and sites throughout the world.

But McNamara lists defense needs in a different set of categories.

Since 1961, packages of forces, weapons and supplies have been assembled according to total defense needs or missions. Whether elements in these packages come from Army, Navy, Marines or Air Force, is of no concern. What is needed to accomplish a given mission or program, projected over a five-year period, is the important thing.

McNamara and his former defense comptroller, Charles J. Hitch, developed a list of these "program packages." Some of them included: (1) Strategic forces (the bomber aircraft and nuclear missiles to retaliate a mass enemy nuclear attack); (2) Continental defense forces; (3) Forces for local or limited wars; (4) Airlift and sealift for troops and their supplies, and (5) Development of new weapons.

Once the McNamara team has determined the nation's defense needs in terms of these and other packages, an official budget is drawn.

But money for the package items is requested by each armed service department, Army, Navy and Air Force, under the customary budget headings required by congress.

Merit Pay Still Is Under Study

By ALAN P. CUNNINGHAM

One of the best ways to start an argument among teachers might well be to voice the words "merit pay."

The idea catches in the throat of many teachers, who see such salary plans as unfair, arbitrary or a disguise for inadequate pay.

Others will concede that the words sound lovely, but say such plans prove unworkable when they are tried.

The philosophy of merit pay undoubtedly will come up for much discussion within the next few months in San Rafael, where at least three studies have begun on whether to work merit pay provisions into the elementary and high school districts' salary schedule.

A full-scale study has been in the offing since spring, when the board of education found itself in its annual tug of war over salaries and vowed it would take a long, hard look at the philosophy, needs and goals upon which the pay schedule is constructed.

Only this month, however, (when the salary question again became a hot issue), has any real work begun on the project.

One group, a newly formed committee to advise Schools Supt. Bert C. Corona on finance matters, held its first study session in Corona's office last Friday.

Another study has been promised by the salary committee of the San Rafael Teachers Assn. Still another has been started by the Marin Federation of Teachers (AFL-CIO), which has many members in San Rafael.

Throughout the public references to such studies, however, lies a note of caution which amounts almost to skepticism on the part of teachers and administrators alike.

While the idea has been promoted vigorously in the past year by State Supt. of Public Instruction Maxwell T. Rafferty, no one in the San Rafael schools will openly declare he hopes to see such a plan go into effect here.

Alan L. Hopkins, chairman of the SRTA committee, said his group would be glad to discuss it with the board of education, but added quickly that he was not a proponent of it himself.

F. Ewing Bone, chairman of the teachers new negotiating council, said most teachers doubt that merit pay plans are workable.

Corona, too, voiced doubts.

"I think that it fundamentally sounds like a good principle," he said, "but in practice I have many doubts about whether it can be equitably administerable or unbiased."

Merit plans, briefly, create a bonus of some sort which can be added to the basic, scheduled pay of teachers who are rated as outstanding.

As Corona sees it, the biggest problem in making such a plan work comes in finding an accurate or fair yardstick for excellence.

"One teacher can be most effective with one group of youngsters, yet not so effective with another," he explains. How, then, is this effectiveness to be measured?

Scrutiny of California districts with salary schedules bearing the "merit pay" label, said Corona, shows that most do not actually have a system based on merit alone.

One district most often mentioned is Palo Alto, where a two-year study is about to result in recommendations to the district board. Even there, however, the study group is not pushing its adoption, but merely is saying "if you decided to try a merit pay plan, here is one you could use," according to Corona.

Some districts which have gone into full-fledged merit pay experiments have dropped the whole idea within a short time, Corona said.

If this much pessimism surrounds the subject, why is it being studied in San Rafael?

Corona's answer was simple: because the board, or at least some of its members, want to study it.

"And there is always the hope that something which can be accepted by the staff, the administration and the community could come out of it."

Board members Walter J. Doll and Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. said they are eager to see the outcome of the studies. Kramer said he had been working on details of a proposal, but was waiting for the right moment to spell it out publicly.

The closest San Rafael schools previously have come to the issue in recent years, said Corona, was in 1962, when a citizen finance committee mulled it over, then recommended that the board forget it.

"There has been no organized, intensive study on the part of the staff since I have been here," he said.

What could turn out to be the last word on the subject, however, was voiced in print almost seven years ago by a member of Corona's staff who has remained silent on the question of merit pay while in San Rafael.

When with a Michigan school district, Asst. Supt. William C. Jordan—who runs the elementary district under Corona — wrote an article in a teachers' journal titled "The Missing Link in the Merit Controversy."

In it, Jordan contended that "those who advocate merit pay are not talking about the superior teacher, they are talking about the artist in the classroom!"

As a result, he concluded, merit pay plans are futile.

"The artist teacher cannot be purchased. That same teacher would continue to teach at super-superior level if his salary were cut in half!" claimed Jordan.

"This, then, is the missing link in the merit question. You cannot purchase a commodity that is not for sale."

Children Given Warnings About Strangers

Ross Police Department has distributed 500 pamphlets to the town's schoolchildren, warning them not to take rides with strangers, following complaints of a man molesting a 6-year-old girl.

And on the day they were given out last Thursday, a second complaint was received about a similar incident in the same area, Shady Lane.

Asst. Police Chief Alexander Mendoza Jr. said yesterday patrols were being stepped up around Shady Lane as a result of the two reports.

"It is rather difficult to give a description of the man as we had conflicting reports," said Mendoza. The car used on both occasions is blue, he added.

Judge May Throw Out Tiburon Meeting Plea

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court yesterday indicated he likely will dismiss a writ ordering Tiburon City Council to hold a special meeting to consider an appeal of a use permit application by Tiburon Tidelands Co. for development of a harbor and shops on 18 shoreline and underwater acres.

His noted rulings that all administrative remedies must be exhausted before the court has the right to intervene. However, Judge Wilson said he will withhold judgment until 4 p.m. Monday so further points of authority can be submitted.

The City of Tiburon moved to quash Judge Wilson's Nov. 16 writ instructing the city council to hold a special meeting between Dec. 7 and 14 for considering the appeal.

The writ also stipulated that Mayor Gordon W. Strawbridge, Councilman Anne L. Ellinwood, City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose, and planning administrator Leslie Gross be disqualified from participating at the special meeting, or that City of Tiburon appear yesterday to show cause why the special meeting should not be called.

Judge Wilson said yesterday, however, he felt the court could not presume that the council members would act with bias, as contended by Tiburon Tidelands Co.

Robert I. Conn, Tiburon city attorney, maintained that "attempts to coerce the . . . city council to perform the clearly discretionary act of passing on the qualifications of its members" is illegal.

Frederick E. Watson of Berkeley, attorney for the plaintiffs, contended the court should order the special hearing and give his clients the right to question council members and expose possible bias.

Conn said the council is only required to hear the appeal at the next regular meeting, Dec. 13, and not at any special meeting.

Robert Moor and his wife, Nella, president and secretary of Tiburon Tidelands Co., filed a $1,750,000 suit against City of Tiburon on Oct. 14. They claim a conspiracy exists to prevent their company from constructing a proposed 180-berth yacht harbor and restaurant-shops building between Main and West Streets.

The Tiburon Planning Commission turned down the Tidelands application for a permit after action on it was delayed by the commission and council for many months. The Moors appealed the turndown.

Marin Doctor Due In Viet Nam

Dr. James S. Vanderhoof of Ross will fly to South Viet Nam Dec. 3 to begin two months with a medical team sponsored by Project Viet Nam.

Vanderhoof, who practices in San Rafael, will give medical aid to civilians who are ill or who have been injured in the fighting there.

The project, administered by the People to People Health Foundation, already has sent 24 doctors to Viet Nam in an effort to relieve the shortage of physicians in the war-torn nation.

Tarantula Bites Woman's Toe

A Corte Madera housewife said yesterday she was bitten bya 10-legged tarantula in a closet at her home and was given five injections—including an anti-tetanus shot — at Marin General Hospital.

Mrs. Keith Williams, 417 Sausalito Avenue said: "The bite was on a toe and extremely painful. Luckily, it was treated quickly."

Tarantulas are large venomous spiders which are seen locally from time to time. There have been few reports of the spiders biting.

Self-Admitted Red Student Leads Vote

BERKELEY (AP) — An admitted Communist led all candidates in a University of California election to pick a committee which will give advice on revising campus rules.

Bettina Aptheker, who declared herself a Communist before the election, led all candidates in the voting yesterday although individual totals were not made public. Only 5,900 of the Berkeley campus' 27,500 students voted.

Miss Aptheker, 21, was a leader in the Free Speech Movement which disrupted the campus Dec. 2 and 3 with a sit in, demanding more student political rights. The movement, as such, has since disappeared.

Miss Aptheker, a history major, wrote a letter to the Daily Californian, student newspaper, before the election. In it she said she had been a member of the Communist Party for three years and intended to remain one. She said she thought it would be unfair to keep her membership a secret from voters.

In a concurrent election, students chose 60 persons to rewrite the constitution of the Associated Students of the University of California. Of the 60, 49 were candidates put forward by either SLATE or the Graduate Coordination Committee, both of which were active in the Free Speech Movement. Every candidate put up by the two organizations won.

Planner Urges Define Goals,

The need for community support in preparing a city's master plan was emphasized in an address Tuesday night to the Fairfax Citizens Planning Committee by Santa Clara County Planning Director Carl Belser.

Belser told the audience of 50 that a consensus of community planning goals should be gathered before actual planning can begin.

The committee will break into smaller groups next month to begin gathering information to be used in a Fairfax master plan.

Stealing Candy From Babies Can Be Easier Than Winning Tricks

Stealing the ninth trick is as easy as taking candy from a baby.

Exactly how easy this is depends on the baby, as a veteran English champion discovered last September during the European Championships.

Opening lead — ♠ 8

West opened the eight of spades, East played the jack, and South won with the queen.

South immediately returned the jack of hearts.

VETERAN, BABY

South was Joel Tarlo, an Engliesh solicitor (lawyer) who has played for England in several European championships and in the world championship of 1950.

West was Andrzej Wilkosz, of the young Polish team, only half Tarlo's age and with only four years of experience in international play.

A soft baby would play a low heart from the West hand in the hope that South would finesse and lose the queen of hearts.

Most defenders automatically play low in this situation.

WOULD MAKE CONTRACT

South would make the contract if West played a low heart. Declarer would run the four clubs, and East would have trouble discarding twice.

If East threw two hearts, South would give him four spade tricks and force East to lead diamonds to give up the last three tricks.

As it turned out, Wilkosz was a tough baby.

He stepped up with the ace of hearts at the second trick and led his other spade.

East took four spade tricks, and Tarlo got a raspberry instead of candy.

The British team won the match in spite of the setback on this hand, but Poland finished in tenth place—an excellent position for a team with so few years of experience in international competition.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one notrump, showing 16 to 18 points with balanced distribution and strength in at least three suits.

(In the diagram, South opened with one club because the English were using a weak opening bid of one notrump, to show only 12 to 14 points.)

Sea Worms Rise Off Fiji Island Shores

SUVA, Fiji (AP) — Millions of sea worms rose to the surface off islands in the Fiji group this week. One observer reported they were so thick in some places that they could almost be walked on.

The worms, called balolo by the Fijians, rise once a year — usually when the sun and moon are in certain positions — to breed.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, Nov. 25, the 329th day of 1965 with 36 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first quarter; the morning star is Jupiter; the evening stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn.

In 1783, more than 6,000 British troops evacuated New York City following the peace treaty ending the Revolutionary war.

In 1944, the U.S. War Refuge Board charged Germany with mass murder during World War II.

In 1960, John Fitzgerald Kennedy Jr. was born.

In 1963, President John F. Kennedy was buried in Arlington National Cemetery.

A Thought for the Day — President Abraham Lincoln said: "Towering genius disdains a beaten path. It seeks regions hitherto unexplored."

Merit Pay Still Is Under Study

By ALAN P. CUNNINGHAM

One of the best ways to start an argument among teachers might well be to voice the words "merit pay."

The idea catches in the throat of many teachers, who see such salary plans as unfair, arbitrary or a disguise for inadequate pay.

Others will concede that the words sound lovely, but say such plans prove unworkable when they are tried.

The philosophy of merit pay undoubtedly will come up for much discussion within the next few months in San Rafael, where at least three studies have begun on whether to work merit pay provisions into the elementary and high school districts' salary schedule.

A full-scale study has been in the offing since spring, when the board of education found itself in its annual tug of war over salaries and vowed it would take a long, hard look at the philosophy, needs and goals upon which the pay schedule is constructed.

Only this month, however, (when the salary question again became a hot issue), has any real work begun on the project.

One group, a newly formed committee to advise Schools Supt. Bert C. Corona on finance matters, held its first study session in Corona's office last Friday.

Another study has been promised by the salary committee of the San Rafael Teachers Assn. Still another has been started by the Marin Federation of Teachers (AFL-CIO), which has many members in San Rafael.

Throughout the public references to such studies, however, lies a note of caution which amounts almost to skepticism on the part of teachers and administrators alike.

While the idea has been promoted vigorously in the past year by State Supt. of Public Instruction Maxwell T. Rafferty, no one in the San Rafael schools will openly declare he hopes to see such a plan go into effect here.

Alan L. Hopkins, chairman of the SRTA committee, said his group would be glad to discuss it with the board of education, but added quickly that he was not a proponent of it himself.

F. Ewing Bone, chairman of the teachers new negotiating council, said most teachers doubt that merit pay plans are workable.

Corona, too, voiced doubts.

"I think that it fundamentally sounds like a good principle," he said, "but in practice I have many doubts about whether it can be equitably administerable or unbiased."

Merit plans, briefly, create a bonus of some sort which can be added to the basic, scheduled pay of teachers who are rated as outstanding.

As Corona sees it, the biggest problem in making such a plan work comes in finding an accurate or fair yardstick for excellence.

"One teacher can be most effective with one group of youngsters, yet not so effective with another," he explains. How, then, is this effectiveness to be measured?

Scrutiny of California districts with salary schedules bearing the "merit pay" label, said Corona, shows that most do not actually have a system based on merit alone.

One district most often mentioned is Palo Alto, where a two-year study is about to result in recommendations to the district board. Even there, however, the study group is not pushing its adoption, but merely is saying "if you decided to try a merit pay plan, here is one you could use," according to Corona.

Some districts which have gone into full-fledged merit pay experiments have dropped the whole idea within a short time, Corona said.

If this much pessimism surrounds the subject, why is it being studied in San Rafael?

Corona's answer was simple: because the board, or at least some of its members, want to study it.

"And there is always the hope that something which can be accepted by the staff, the administration and the community could come out of it."

Board members Walter J. Doll and Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. said they are eager to see the outcome of the studies. Kramer said he had been working on details of a proposal, but was waiting for the right moment to spell it out publicly.

The closest San Rafael schools previously have come to the issue in recent years, said Corona, was in 1962, when a citizen finance committee mulled it over, then recommended that the board forget it.

"There has been no organized, intensive study on the part of the staff since I have been here," he said.

What could turn out to be the last word on the subject, however, was voiced in print almost seven years ago by a member of Corona's staff who has remained silent on the question of merit pay while in San Rafael.

When with a Michigan school district, Asst. Supt. William C. Jordan—who runs the elementary district under Corona — wrote an article in a teachers' journal titled "The Missing Link in the Merit Controversy."

In it, Jordan contended that "those who advocate merit pay are not talking about the superior teacher, they are talking about the artist in the classroom!"

As a result, he concluded, merit pay plans are futile.

"The artist teacher cannot be purchased. That same teacher would continue to teach at super-superior level if his salary were cut in half!" claimed Jordan.

"This, then, is the missing link in the merit question. You cannot purchase a commodity that is not for sale."

Children Given Warnings About Strangers

Ross Police Department has distributed 500 pamphlets to the town's schoolchildren, warning them not to take rides with strangers, following complaints of a man molesting a 6-year-old girl.

And on the day they were given out last Thursday, a second complaint was received about a similar incident in the same area, Shady Lane.

Asst. Police Chief Alexander Mendoza Jr. said yesterday patrols were being stepped up around Shady Lane as a result of the two reports.

"It is rather difficult to give a description of the man as we had conflicting reports," said Mendoza. The car used on both occasions is blue, he added.

Judge May Throw Out Tiburon Meeting Plea

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court yesterday indicated he likely will dismiss a writ ordering Tiburon City Council to hold a special meeting to consider an appeal of a use permit application by Tiburon Tidelands Co. for development of a harbor and shops on 18 shoreline and underwater acres.

His noted rulings that all administrative remedies must be exhausted before the court has the right to intervene. However, Judge Wilson said he will withhold judgment until 4 p.m. Monday so further points of authority can be submitted.

The City of Tiburon moved to quash Judge Wilson's Nov. 16 writ instructing the city council to hold a special meeting between Dec. 7 and 14 for considering the appeal.

The writ also stipulated that Mayor Gordon W. Strawbridge, Councilman Anne L. Ellinwood, City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose, and planning administrator Leslie Gross be disqualified from participating at the special meeting, or that City of Tiburon appear yesterday to show cause why the special meeting should not be called.

Judge Wilson said yesterday, however, he felt the court could not presume that the council members would act with bias, as contended by Tiburon Tidelands Co.

Robert I. Conn, Tiburon city attorney, maintained that "attempts to coerce the . . . city council to perform the clearly discretionary act of passing on the qualifications of its members" is illegal.

Frederick E. Watson of Berkeley, attorney for the plaintiffs, contended the court should order the special hearing and give his clients the right to question council members and expose possible bias.

Conn said the council is only required to hear the appeal at the next regular meeting, Dec. 13, and not at any special meeting.

Robert Moor and his wife, Nella, president and secretary of Tiburon Tidelands Co., filed a $1,750,000 suit against City of Tiburon on Oct. 14. They claim a conspiracy exists to prevent their company from constructing a proposed 180-berth yacht harbor and restaurant-shops building between Main and West Streets.

The Tiburon Planning Commission turned down the Tidelands application for a permit after action on it was delayed by the commission and council for many months. The Moors appealed the turndown.

Marin Doctor Due In Viet Nam

Dr. James S. Vanderhoof of Ross will fly to South Viet Nam Dec. 3 to begin two months with a medical team sponsored by Project Viet Nam.

Vanderhoof, who practices in San Rafael, will give medical aid to civilians who are ill or who have been injured in the fighting there.

The project, administered by the People to People Health Foundation, already has sent 24 doctors to Viet Nam in an effort to relieve the shortage of physicians in the war-torn nation.

Tarantula Bites Woman's Toe

A Corte Madera housewife said yesterday she was bitten bya 10-legged tarantula in a closet at her home and was given five injections—including an anti-tetanus shot — at Marin General Hospital.

Mrs. Keith Williams, 417 Sausalito Avenue said: "The bite was on a toe and extremely painful. Luckily, it was treated quickly."

Tarantulas are large venomous spiders which are seen locally from time to time. There have been few reports of the spiders biting.

Self-Admitted Red Student Leads Vote

BERKELEY (AP) — An admitted Communist led all candidates in a University of California election to pick a committee which will give advice on revising campus rules.

Bettina Aptheker, who declared herself a Communist before the election, led all candidates in the voting yesterday although individual totals were not made public. Only 5,900 of the Berkeley campus' 27,500 students voted.

Miss Aptheker, 21, was a leader in the Free Speech Movement which disrupted the campus Dec. 2 and 3 with a sit in, demanding more student political rights. The movement, as such, has since disappeared.

Miss Aptheker, a history major, wrote a letter to the Daily Californian, student newspaper, before the election. In it she said she had been a member of the Communist Party for three years and intended to remain one. She said she thought it would be unfair to keep her membership a secret from voters.

In a concurrent election, students chose 60 persons to rewrite the constitution of the Associated Students of the University of California. Of the 60, 49 were candidates put forward by either SLATE or the Graduate Coordination Committee, both of which were active in the Free Speech Movement. Every candidate put up by the two organizations won.

Planner Urges Define Goals,

The need for community support in preparing a city's master plan was emphasized in an address Tuesday night to the Fairfax Citizens Planning Committee by Santa Clara County Planning Director Carl Belser.

Belser told the audience of 50 that a consensus of community planning goals should be gathered before actual planning can begin.

The committee will break into smaller groups next month to begin gathering information to be used in a Fairfax master plan.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, Nov. 25, the 329th day of 1965 with 36 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first quarter; the morning star is Jupiter; the evening stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn.

In 1783, more than 6,000 British troops evacuated New York City following the peace treaty ending the Revolutionary war.

In 1944, the U.S. War Refuge Board charged Germany with mass murder during World War II.

In 1960, John Fitzgerald Kennedy Jr. was born.

In 1963, President John F. Kennedy was buried in Arlington National Cemetery.

A Thought for the Day — President Abraham Lincoln said: "Towering genius disdains a beaten path. It seeks regions hitherto unexplored."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Light-face type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE
By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Stealing Candy From Babies Can Be Easier Than Winning Tricks

Stealing the ninth trick is as easy as taking candy from a baby.

Exactly how easy this is depends on the baby, as a veteran English champion discovered last September during the European Championships.

Opening lead — ♠ 8

West opened the eight of spades, East played the jack, and South won with the queen.

South immediately returned the jack of hearts.

VETERAN, BABY

South was Joel Tarlo, an Engliesh solicitor (lawyer) who has played for England in several European championships and in the world championship of 1950.

West was Andrzej Wilkosz, of the young Polish team, only half Tarlo's age and with only four years of experience in international play.

A soft baby would play a low heart from the West hand in the hope that South would finesse and lose the queen of hearts.

Most defenders automatically play low in this situation.

WOULD MAKE CONTRACT

South would make the contract if West played a low heart. Declarer would run the four clubs, and East would have trouble discarding twice.

If East threw two hearts, South would give him four spade tricks and force East to lead diamonds to give up the last three tricks.

As it turned out, Wilkosz was a tough baby.

He stepped up with the ace of hearts at the second trick and led his other spade.

East took four spade tricks, and Tarlo got a raspberry instead of candy.

The British team won the match in spite of the setback on this hand, but Poland finished in tenth place—an excellent position for a team with so few years of experience in international competition.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one notrump, showing 16 to 18 points with balanced distribution and strength in at least three suits.

(In the diagram, South opened with one club because the English were using a weak opening bid of one notrump, to show only 12 to 14 points.)

Sea Worms Rise Off Fiji Island Shores

SUVA, Fiji (AP) — Millions of sea worms rose to the surface off islands in the Fiji group this week. One observer reported they were so thick in some places that they could almost be walked on.

The worms, called balolo by the Fijians, rise once a year — usually when the sun and moon are in certain positions — to breed.

ALL DRESSED UP IN VELVETEEN

Waiting for the holidays is extra fun when a little girl is dressed in soft and pretty velveteen. Gerson and Gerson treats their high waisted dress, left, of black velveteen from Cone Mills to a bright sunburst of crisp pink pleats, topped with a matching rosette and dainty roll collar. The styling allows lots of freedom for an active tomboy without losing any of its femininity. Sweet day dreams and visions of sugar plums come true for the little girl who makes her grand entrance in this velveteen smock, right. Gerson and Gerson accents its high waisted party dress, of brilliant-azure velveteen, with old fashioned lace and a snow-white, crystal-pleated blouse.

Family Style Turkey Dinners Are On The Menu In Marin

By MOLLY MARIN

Many Marinites are celebrating Thanksgiving family dinners out rather than "at home" this year. Among those who are having a big turkey carved family - style at their table at West End Villa are Mr. and Mrs. John Crosetti of Greenbrae; the Lloyd Chellis and Stephen Chelli of Greenbrae (their daughter and family); Mr. and Mrs. Julio Barsotti of San Francisco (Mrs. Crosetti's sister and husband); and the Jules Barsottis of Sausalito (the Barsottis' son and wife). Also, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Larke Jr. of Fairfax and their daughter and family, the Donald M. Gordons, and Anne and Janet of San Rafael, the Philander Beadles of Ross, the John Prices and their children, Stanley and Jane, of San Anselmo, the Neil Burtons of Kentfield with their three daughters, Betsy, Anne, and Molly.

ON DEC. 4 Weslynn Webster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Webster of Lyford's Cove, Tiburon, will celebrate her ninth birthday with a Tahitian party which she has planned herself. Adults and children invited to Weslynn's Tamaaraa are Mr. and Mrs. Marcel Hugon of San Bruno and their son, Ronnie, Mr. and Mrs. Mate Keene of San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Jones of Vallejo, former owners of the Bel Aire Hotel in Tahiti, Mr. and Mrs. George Firmignac of Sonoma, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hildahl of Agua Caliente, Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Borgfeldt of Daly City, Mr. and Mrs. George Berticevich of Tiburon and their son, George, and Mrs. Hubert Nimau of San Francisco and her son, John.

MR. AND MRS. Edwin Hoppe of Wauwatosa, Wis., are visiting their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hoppe at Seafirth, Tiburon. Frequent visitors to Marin, the older couple arrived in time for Thanksgiving and will remain for three weeks.

MR. AND MRS. OMER COTTERELL of Novato are entertaining for their Thanksgiving day dinner Mrs. Cotterell's 83 year old mother, Mrs. R. J.

SEEING THE SOVIET

Check, Check And Check —The Guarderobe Prevails

One of a series of articles on a just completed trip through Russia and India.

By BARBARA HOSMER

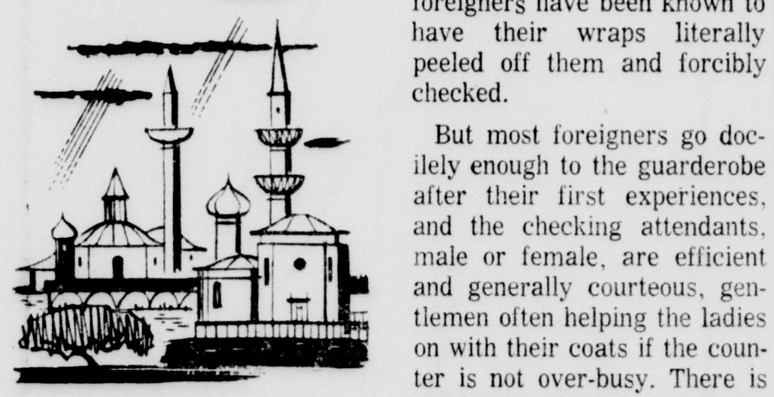
"Citizen and Citizeness, check your coat." To the foreign visitor it is here that the authority of the Soviet system is most strongly felt. Americans encounter guarderobia and immediately become guarderobe-phobes, but it is a losing battle because coat checking in the "guarderobe" of every Russian building is one of the most universal and persistent institutions in the Soviet Union. No one but an independently-cussed Westerner would dream of balking, for there is simply no room for resistance.



The country seemingly cannot function without it and even at mid-summer when a sweater is too heavy, attendants man the spacious coat-check rooms day and night all over the country, though not a single hook may have been filled in months.

But the winter weather makes guarderobia a must. You cannot enter a cafe, theater lobby, or office without shedding your coat and surrendering any packages, umbrellas or scarves you may have. The door attendants are so persistent about it at restaurants that you cannot even peek inside to see if your friend is there if you are wearing a coat. It's uncover or else —Otherwise nyet, nyet, nyet! If you wear a coat it must come off, and the persistant foreigners have been known to have their wraps literally peeled off them and forcibly checked.

But most foreigners go docilely enough to the guarderobe after their first experiences, and the checking attendants, male or female, are efficient and generally courteous, gentlemen often helping the ladies on with their coats if the counter is not over-busy. There is no charge, of course. Checking attendants like everyone else, are paid by the state.

The checkers are courteous enough, but they are invariably puzzled by foreign coats and it becomes a quite good sport for us Americans to wait for the bafflement of the attendants—it seems in capitalistic systems capitalist tailor and garment makers don't put cloth tabs inside coat collars for easy and efficient guarderobing. A Western-made coat is a foreign thing indeed to the earnest citizens who normally hook up the Soviet topcoats so well and quickly.

Nevertheless, they too, learn to go docilely about guarderobing the foreign coats, usually after a comment and shaking of the head . . . Travel is so enlightening for both sides.

Now Its 'Flats' For The Men In The Form Of Leisure Shoes

By WALTER LOGAN

NEW YORK (UPI)—Women call them "flats" because they have such flat heels. They're shoes which usually have plain toes and are cut low along the sides like a ballet slipper. They're so comfortable women never throw them away. Now they're making them for men.

The man largely responsible for this development is John M. (Jack) Settle III who at 33 has worked his way through the labyrinth of corporate politics to become president of the Johnston & Murphy Shoe Co., of Nashville, Tenn., a part of the vast and sprawling industrial complex known as Genesco.

SETTLE'S FLATS are not called that. They are called shell construction leisure shoes and the emphasis is on a combination of looks, style and comfort. You wouldn't wear them for a tramp in the woods but they're sturdy enough for less strenuous outdoor activities.

At first glance they would remind you of a loafer but when you pick one up you find it weighs only 10½ ounces on a postal scale. The soles are about ⅛ of an inch thick compared with the quarter inch or more on a loafer or the as much as ¾ of an inch of ordinary shoes.

THE QUARTER, the distance from heel to top, is only 1⅞ inches whereas an ordinary shoe is about 2½ inches. They come in calf, grain calf, suede and patent leather for evening with a grosgrain buckle which reminds you of Pilgrim shoes.

Settle is wildly enthusiastic about this new approach to comfort and good looks. But then he is also wildly enthusiastic about J. & M.'s 100-year-old record of making shoes by hand and waxes evangelical about something known as "DFC," a new way of measuring feet. The same goes for his new golf spikes and "forward thrust" soles.

Settle is a native of Nashville where he attended Vanderbilt and is a veteran of three years in the Navy as an engineering officer aboard the U.S.S. Beale, an advanced antisubmarine destroyer, where his duties included taking the DDE471 out of its mooring and bringing it in. He also was instrumental in detecting three Soviet submarines while serving with the Atlantic and Mediterranean Advance Antisub force, not that anything much came of that. But it was good leadership training.

GENESCO, WHICH owns almost everything that has to do with the clothing industry, sent Settle to its executive training school and he ended up as president, displacing the aging (41) Duke Rose who went upwards to even greater corporate rewards.

The U.S. Army is partly responsible for the "DFC" feet measurements since it measured the feet of 100,000 men and discovered they were wearing shoes according to Civil War standards and that 92.5 per cent had shoes which do not fit.

J. & M. engineers took it a step further and worked out a three-dimensional measurement they called the "Dynamic Fitting Concept." (DFC). Now instead of buying say a 9C you might end up with size 1226 which in some way expresses length and contour.

ANOTHER OF Settle's pet projects is some new golf spikes which don't dimple the greens. This is accomplished by making the flange flat and recessing them. The spikes screw into two separate plates instead of one for added flexibility.

Another is the sole called the forward thrust which works on a rocker principle to help propel you forward. If you were a child who rocked in a rocking chair you probably found yourself moving forward. Well, these soles have three ridges on the sole which leave the toe higher off the ground than with the commonplace sole, and you rock a bit. Settle says it helps tourists, doctors, salesmen, or anyone who does a lot of walking.

Judith Ann Miller Mill Valley Bride

Judith Ann Miller became the bride of Robert Frederick Fewster of San Francisco last evening at the Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley. The Rev. D. Murray Hammond officiated at the double ring ceremony at 7:30 o'clock.

When Judith, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Miller of Mill Valley, was given in marriage by her father, she was wearing a full length ivory peau de soie gown fashioned in empire style with cathedral train and trimmed with cameo lace.

Her attendants were Mrs. Victor Lewkowitz of San Jose, matron of honor; and bridesmaids Carole Fewster of San Francisco, the bridegroom's sister; Suzanne Bonzell of San Francisco, Mrs. William E. Mason of Los Gatos, and Mrs. Thomas Astengo of El Cerrito.

All were attired in full length crepe empire gowns in empire style with sage green bodices and ivory skirts.

Petronio D. Urrea of San Francisco was best man for the bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley E. Fewster of San Francisco. Serving as ushers were Richard Miller of Mill Valley, the bride's brother; Michael Callahan of San Mateo, Robert Urrea of San Francisco and Kenneth McManigal of San Francisco.

A reception was held at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley following the wedding, and the young couple left afterwards for a honeymoon at Lake Tahoe. They will live in San Francisco.

He is the grandson of Mrs. Frederick Fewster of San Francisco and William Myatt of San Francisco.

First Thanksgiving Had Lots Of Game

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Food Editor

NEW YORK — The first American Thanksgiving was in Virginia, not Massachusetts. And it was a fast, not a feast, says Mrs. Helen Duprey Bullock, an architectural historian and expert on early American cookery.

In an interview here, Mrs. Bullock added that even the Thanksgiving that we associate traditionally with the Pilgrims was supposed to have been observed in Virginia, but a navigational error put the Pilgrims ashore at Plymouth Rock instead.

MRS. BULLOCK is director of information for the National Trust for Historic Preservation, Washington, D.C., author of one historic cookbook, historical consultant on another, and collaborator on the recently published "The First Ladies' Cookbook," (Parents' Magazine Press).

Mrs. Bullock calls her latest publication "a look book as well as a cookbook" because it contains many color illustrations as well as text about first families' eating habits and preferences.

SHE ADDED that the first Thanksgiving was based on sealed orders from the Berkeley Company carried by Capt. John Smyth aboard the Margaret. The orders called for a day of fasting and prayers of thanksgiving, which the settlers observed when they landed at the Berkeley Grant in 1619, one year before the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock.

Mrs. Bullock speculated that the Virginians' early Thanksgiving meals contained lots of game, including wild turkey, and raw and scalloped oysters.

MANY JELLIED dishes looked better than they tasted, she said, because no unflavored gelatine existed as we know it now. Instead liquids were jellied with calves feet, which left a consomme flavor, and with isinglass, which left a fishy taste, since isinglass came from fishes' swim bladders.

Lacking modern vegetable colorings, early cooks used such things as spinach and beet juice and a little red bug called cochineal, she said.

Measurements weren't always as monumental as they sounded. Mrs. Bullock said that Martha Washington's cake receipe that began "Take 40 eggs . . ." was based on eggs that were far smaller than the ones we use today. They were more the size of pullet eggs.

Mrs. Bullock also said that early American cookbooks leaned toward fancy recipes such as bride's cake and mincemeat because women were supposed to know how to cook simple, every-day foods. They wrote down mainly the ones they wanted to pass on to future generations.

MRS. BENJAMIN Harrison's fig pudding was a favorite Thanksgiving and Christmas dish with the family of the 23rd president, said Mrs. Bullock. The following recipe is an up-to-date version from "The First Ladies' Cook Book."

Pour 1 cup of boiling water over 1 cup of cut-up dried figs and 2 tablespoons of shortening. Beat 1 egg and stir in 1 cup of molasses. Blend in figs. Sift together 1½ cups of flour and teaspoon each of salt and soda. Stir into wet mixture. Pour into well-greased 1 quart mold. Steam 2 hours. Serve with hard sauce or foamy sauce. Makes 6-8 servings.

Carole Lynn Hogrefe Weds In San Francisco Nuptials

St. Peter's Episcopal Church in San Francisco was the setting on Nov. 14 for the wedding of Carole Lynn Hogrefe of Greenbrae to Robert Lee Timmel of San Rafael.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman C. Hogrefe Jr. of Greenbrae.

The Rev. John A. Collins officiated for the 2 p.m., single ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white peau de soie and Alencon lace.

Mrs. Curtis Rodrigs of San Jose served the bride as matron of honor and bridesmaids were Kathleen Stephens, Joanne Jaenicke and Christine Larsen.

Debra and Patricia Timmel, the bridegroom's sisters, served as flower girls.

James Timmel was best man for his brother and ushering were Stephen Hogrefe, the bride's brother, and Michael and Raymond Timmel, the bridegroom's brothers.

A reception followed the ceremony at the St. Francis Yacht Club in San Francisco.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Timmel of San Rafael. Susan and Kathleen Timmel are also his sisters.

Following a wedding trip to Carmel, the couple will reside in San Rafael.

SEEING THE SOVIET

Check, Check And Check —The Guarderobe Prevails

One of a series of articles on a just completed trip through Russia and India.

By BARBARA HOSMER

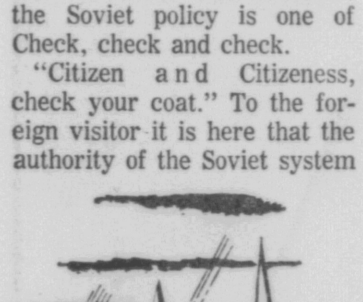
"Citizen and Citizeness, check your coat." To the foreign visitor it is here that the authority of the Soviet system is most strongly felt. Americans encounter guarderobia and immediately become guarderobe-phobes, but it is a losing battle because coat checking in the "guarderobe" of every Russian building is one of the most universal and persistent institutions in the Soviet Union. No one but an independently-cussed Westerner would dream of balking, for there is simply no room for resistance.



The country seemingly cannot function without it and even at mid-summer when a sweater is too heavy, attendants man the spacious coat-check rooms day and night all over the country, though not a single hook may have been filled in months.

But the winter weather makes guarderobia a must. You cannot enter a cafe, theater lobby, or office without shedding your coat and surrendering any packages, umbrellas or scarves you may have. The door attendants are so persistent about it at restaurants that you cannot even peek inside to see if your friend is there if you are wearing a coat. It's uncover or else —Otherwise nyet, nyet, nyet! If you wear a coat it must come off, and the persistant foreigners have been known to have their wraps literally peeled off them and forcibly checked.

But most foreigners go docilely enough to the guarderobe after their first experiences, and the checking attendants, male or female, are efficient and generally courteous, gentlemen often helping the ladies on with their coats if the counter is not over-busy. There is no charge, of course. Checking attendants like everyone else, are paid by the state.

The checkers are courteous enough, but they are invariably puzzled by foreign coats and it becomes a quite good sport for us Americans to wait for the bafflement of the attendants—it seems in capitalistic systems capitalist tailor and garment makers don't put cloth tabs inside coat collars for easy and efficient guarderobing. A Western-made coat is a foreign thing indeed to the earnest citizens who normally hook up the Soviet topcoats so well and quickly.

Nevertheless, they too, learn to go docilely about guarderobing the foreign coats, usually after a comment and shaking of the head . . . Travel is so enlightening for both sides.

DAVE RUBINOFF
To play famed violin in Novato

Novato Violin Concert To Benefit Lions Program

Violinist Dave Rubinoff, familiar to radio listeners of the pre-television years, will appear in recital Dec. 8 at 8:15 p.m. in the old gymnasium of Novato High School, sponsored by the Novato Lions Club.

Earlier the same day, Rubinoff will give half-hour free concerts at Hill and San Jose junior high schools.

His evening concert will include a medley of television theme songs, a medley of square dance tunes, plus classical numbers.

Russian-born Rubinoff began playing the violin at the age of 5, and was graduated from the Warsaw Conservatory at 14.

He appeared on many famous radio shows, but was best known for his roles with Eddie Cantor on that comedian's long-running show.

His Novato concert will be as a benefit for the Lions Club's eye care program.

Seven Pass Fire Exam

Seven men passed the examination for appointment to the San Anselmo Fire Department, according to a list presented to the city council this week.

There is one vacancy in the department, but Fire Chief Frank Souza and City Administrator Douglas J. Flautt said they were not yet ready to recommend one of the seven successful candidates for appointment.

Passing the examination were: Regan O'Brien, who topped the list with a score of 86.2; Robert M. Paulist, 80.6; Peter C. Elfers, 80.41; David A. Oliva, 79.85; Wayne R. Kovacs, 75.8; David R. Rohner, 74.47, and Fred C. Fischer, 72.47.

Ike Joins Family In Thanksgiving Feast

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and members of his immediate family planned to have their Thanksgiving Day turkey dinner today in the hospital suite where he is recuperating from his recent heart attack.

Dr. Thomas W. Mattingly, the former president's physician, said indications are Eisenhower will be able to try walking in about two we eks. If his present rate of recovery continues, he may be able to go home to his Gettysburg, Pa., farm by Christmas.

British Narcotics Changes Sought

LONDON (AP)—The British government's committee on drug addiction recommended today that Britain's system of prescribing heroin and cocaine for addicts be tightened because of a "disturbing rise" in addiction, especially among the young.

It urged that loopholes be tightened, that confirmed addicts be treated only at special centers instead of by local doctors and that they be required to go through withdrawal treatment.

The recommendations represented a reversal of policy for the committee, which endorsed the present system in 1961.

Governor Proclaims Thanksgiving Views

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Many Americans are marking this Sunday as a day of prayer for Americans and South Vietnamese caught up in the Viet Nam war. Gov. Brown issued this statement Wednesday in support of the observance:

"California joins President Johnson, the nation and the world in a plea for peace and freedom. We pray for an end to the struggle which has torn the county . . . We pray for an honorable peace . . ."

FILM REVIEW

Underground Cinema, Film Poets May Be Pulling Viewers' Limbs

By JOHN. F. KEARNEY

Nearly every seat was taken five minutes before the start of the movie.

By the time the wall lights in the Gate Theater, Sausalito, were dimmed, a middle-aged couple had squeezed into the last remaining space, a few feet from the screen set up on the stage.

Whatever their motives, members of the audience were in high spirits to witness the arrival in Marin of an American phenomenon known as the Underground Cinema.

There were those curious to see movies made in cellars and back yards on a shoestring by arty people who, until a couple of years ago, expressed themselves only in the relatively introvert world of canvas and paint.

Then there was the fun crowd, anxious not to miss a thing considered "in," even if it meant having its collective leg pulled from time to time.

Others came to criticize. "Gee whiz, this is terrible," said a voice in the row behind as geometric shapes flashed and jiggled their way across the screen.

Although the Underground Cinema is playing to full houses across the nation from San Francisco to New York, some of the movies defy description.

They lack the symmetry of conventional films, story lines are vague (non-existent in some cases) and images blurred and overexposed in the hands of the "film poets."

The film-makers themselves are among the first to admit their movies lack the professional touch, but, they point out, their works are pulling in festival awards and the consideration of serious critics.

One of the movies shown on the first of a series of weekend showings of Underground Cinema at Sausalito was described as "very pineapple" by the New York Herald Tribune. Its plot was a breakthrough in modern cinema or pickled with innuendo and eroticism, according to taste.

Another called "Oh Dem Watermelons" was shown this year at the San Francisco Film Festival and was described on the program as a "top money award winner."

Watermelons were systematically squashed, mashed, thumped, sliced and kicked until one of them fought back. Anyway, it excited a more vocal reception than the last time Rock Hudson and Doris Day walked hand in hand into the sunset.

The "11 o'clock Underground" (11 p.m. is the starting time) tomorrow and Saturday at the Gate will feature the world premiere of "Quixote," an experimental film which might qualify among the world's lowest budget movies.

It was produced and photographed by Bruce Baillie, who spent 13 months traveling around the U. S. in a Volkswagen filming the scenes. Donations from well-wishers enabled him to eat and buy film, he claims.

Two other Baillie films, "A Hurrah for Soldiers" and "Mass," will also be shown.

Preceding the "underground" is the San Francisco Mime Troupe with its "Civil Rights in a Cracker Barrel" minstrel show, opening at 8:30 p.m. That will also be staged Sunday at 8 p.m. for its final showing.

Actor Alfred Lunt Licks Pneumonia

CHICAGO (AP)—Actor Alfred Lunt, 70, undergoing treatment for virus pneumonia at Passavant Hospital since Nov. 8, is "doing nicely but needs plenty of rest," a hospital spokesman reports.

Lynn Fontanne, his wife—and stage partner since 1924, is staying with friends in Chicago during Lunt's convalescence.

San Rafael High Gives Up Plans For Annual Drama

Due to a combination of circumstances, San Rafael High School will not present a school play this year.

Principal Alfred N. Thomson and dean of students Florence Abraham said the annual play was abandoned because the auditorium was closed in October to permit its renovation.

The San Rafael Board of Education originally hoped to open bids on the work Nov. 1, according to schools business manager Charles L. Condrotte, but the bid opening date has been postponed three times because state officials have not yet approved the work. It is currently scheduled for Dec. 22.

The auditorium was used once after the main building which houses it was closed, Condrotte said, but workmen later began stripping it so that it could not be used for rehearsals.

Also involved is the pending loss of dramatics teacher Albert Cereghino, who will leave in January after one semester on the faculty.

Thomson said Cereghino was not interested in directing a school play, although he will continue to teach through the period when the play would have been held.

The school's annual musical production will be held in the gymnasium next spring.

Railroads Continue Servicemen's Fares

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reduced furlough fares for military personnel traveling in uniform at their own expense will continue indefinitely.

The lower rates had been due to expire Dec. 31. But yesterday the Assn. of American Railroads announced an indefinite extension of the reductions of up to 50 per cent for coach fares.

Now Its 'Flats' For The Men In The Form Of Leisure Shoes

By WALTER LOGAN

NEW YORK (UPI)—Women call them "flats" because they have such flat heels. They're shoes which usually have plain toes and are cut low along the sides like a ballet slipper. They're so comfortable women never throw them away. Now they're making them for men.

The man largely responsible for this development is John M. (Jack) Settle III who at 33 has worked his way through the labyrinth of corporate politics to become president of the Johnston & Murphy Shoe Co., of Nashville, Tenn., a part of the vast and sprawling industrial complex known as Genesco.

SETTLE'S FLATS are not called that. They are called shell construction leisure shoes and the emphasis is on a combination of looks, style and comfort. You wouldn't wear them for a tramp in the woods but they're sturdy enough for less strenuous outdoor activities.

At first glance they would remind you of a loafer but when you pick one up you find it weighs only 10½ ounces on a postal scale. The soles are about ⅛ of an inch thick compared with the quarter inch or more on a loafer or the as much as ¾ of an inch of ordinary shoes.

THE QUARTER, the distance from heel to top, is only 1⅞ inches whereas an ordinary shoe is about 2½ inches. They come in calf, grain calf, suede and patent leather for evening with a grosgrain buckle which reminds you of Pilgrim shoes.

Settle is wildly enthusiastic about this new approach to comfort and good looks. But then he is also wildly enthusiastic about J. & M.'s 100-year-old record of making shoes by hand and waxes evangelical about something known as "DFC," a new way of measuring feet. The same goes for his new golf spikes and "forward thrust" soles.

Settle is a native of Nashville where he attended Vanderbilt and is a veteran of three years in the Navy as an engineering officer aboard the U.S.S. Beale, an advanced antisubmarine destroyer, where his duties included taking the DDE471 out of its mooring and bringing it in. He also was instrumental in detecting three Soviet submarines while serving with the Atlantic and Mediterranean Advance Antisub force, not that anything much came of that. But it was good leadership training.

GENESCO, WHICH owns almost everything that has to do with the clothing industry, sent Settle to its executive training school and he ended up as president, displacing the aging (41) Duke Rose who went upwards to even greater corporate rewards.

The U.S. Army is partly responsible for the "DFC" feet measurements since it measured the feet of 100,000 men and discovered they were wearing shoes according to Civil War standards and that 92.5 per cent had shoes which do not fit.

J. & M. engineers took it a step further and worked out a three-dimensional measurement they called the "Dynamic Fitting Concept." (DFC). Now instead of buying say a 9C you might end up with size 1226 which in some way expresses length and contour.

ANOTHER OF Settle's pet projects is some new golf spikes which don't dimple the greens. This is accomplished by making the flange flat and recessing them. The spikes screw into two separate plates instead of one for added flexibility.

Another is the sole called the forward thrust which works on a rocker principle to help propel you forward. If you were a child who rocked in a rocking chair you probably found yourself moving forward. Well, these soles have three ridges on the sole which leave the toe higher off the ground than with the commonplace sole, and you rock a bit. Settle says it helps tourists, doctors, salesmen, or anyone who does a lot of walking.

Carson of Fresno, as well as their daughter, Barbara, a student at San Francisco Art Institute, Mrs. Cotterell's nephew, Donald B. Squires of Berkeley, and William Emerick of San Francisco.

Their son, Lee and his wife of San Francisco were unable to attend as Lee is appearing at the Playhouse in San Francisco in "Oh Dad, Poor Dad, Mother Hung Him in the Closet and We Are So Sad." Lee and his wife will be home tomorrow when the family will celebrate his birthday.

Barbara Cotterell is among six students of the San Francisco Art Institute who are exhibiting commercial designs at the Silverado Ballet School in Napa. She collected and selected the art work which includes boxes, place mats and covers for books.

A FAMILY DINNER is being held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Amick and their son Brett in Pacifica, as Mrs. Amick's parents and sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Wise of Novato and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Allen and their children, Karen and Chris, celebrate the holiday.

MAJ. GEN. AND MRS. C. W. McCOLPIN and their daughters Patty and Carol, are enjoying Thanksgiving at their home at Hamilton Air Force Base with Mrs. McColpin's cousin and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce McKenzie and their children, Gary, Jamie, Mark and Laurie of San Rafael. General McColpin is commander of the 28th Air Division at Hamilton.

A FAMILY DINNER is being held at the William Gnoss home in Novato. Their son, William; a nephew and his family, Mr. and Mrs. George Gnoss and daughter, Margann of San Rafael; Mrs. Bertha Kuhn of Oakland and Joseph Gnoss of Novato will be guests. The Gnosses' daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Anderson and their children, Michele and Robert are spending the Thanksgiving weekend in Southgate with Mr. Anderson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson.

Judith Ann Miller Mill Valley Bride

Judith Ann Miller became the bride of Robert Frederick Fewster of San Francisco last evening at the Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley. The Rev. D. Murray Hammond officiated at the double ring ceremony at 7:30 o'clock.

When Judith, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Miller of Mill Valley, was given in marriage by her father, she was wearing a full length ivory peau de soie gown fashioned in empire style with cathedral train and trimmed with cameo lace.

Her attendants were Mrs. Victor Lewkowitz of San Jose, matron of honor; and bridesmaids Carole Fewster of San Francisco, the bridegroom's sister; Suzanne Bonzell of San Francisco, Mrs. William E. Mason of Los Gatos, and Mrs. Thomas Astengo of El Cerrito.

All were attired in full length crepe empire gowns in empire style with sage green bodices and ivory skirts.

Petronio D. Urrea of San Francisco was best man for the bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley E. Fewster of San Francisco. Serving as ushers were Richard Miller of Mill Valley, the bride's brother; Michael Callahan of San Mateo, Robert Urrea of San Francisco and Kenneth McManigal of San Francisco.

A reception was held at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley following the wedding, and the young couple left afterwards for a honeymoon at Lake Tahoe. They will live in San Francisco.

He is the grandson of Mrs. Frederick Fewster of San Francisco and William Myatt of San Francisco.

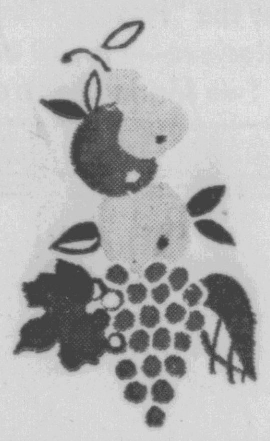
First Thanksgiving Had Lots Of Game

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Food Editor

NEW YORK — The first American Thanksgiving was in Virginia, not Massachusetts. And it was a fast, not a feast, says Mrs. Helen Duprey Bullock, an architectural historian and expert on early American cookery.

In an interview here, Mrs. Bullock added that even the Thanksgiving that we associate traditionally with the Pilgrims was supposed to have been observed in Virginia, but a navigational error put the Pilgrims ashore at Plymouth Rock instead.

MRS. BULLOCK is director of information for the National Trust for Historic Preservation, Washington, D.C., author of one historic cookbook, historical consultant on another, and collaborator on the recently published "The First Ladies' Cookbook," (Parents' Magazine Press).



Mrs. Bullock calls her latest publication "a look book as well as a cookbook" because it contains many color illustrations as well as text about first families' eating habits and preferences.

SHE ADDED that the first Thanksgiving was based on sealed orders from the Berkeley Company carried by Capt. John Smyth aboard the Margaret. The orders called for a day of fasting and prayers of thanksgiving, which the settlers observed when they landed at the Berkeley Grant in 1619, one year before the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock.

Mrs. Bullock speculated that the Virginians' early Thanksgiving meals contained lots of game, including wild turkey, and raw and scalloped oysters.

MANY JELLIED dishes looked better than they tasted, she said, because no unflavored gelatine existed as we know it now. Instead liquids were jellied with calves feet, which left a consomme flavor, and with isinglass, which left a fishy taste, since isinglass came from fishes' swim bladders.

Lacking modern vegetable colorings, early cooks used such things as spinach and beet juice and a little red bug called cochineal, she said.

Measurements weren't always as monumental as they sounded. Mrs. Bullock said that Martha Washington's cake receipe that began "Take 40 eggs . . ." was based on eggs that were far smaller than the ones we use today. They were more the size of pullet eggs.

Mrs. Bullock also said that early American cookbooks leaned toward fancy recipes such as bride's cake and mincemeat because women were supposed to know how to cook simple, every-day foods. They wrote down mainly the ones they wanted to pass on to future generations.

MRS. BENJAMIN Harrison's fig pudding was a favorite Thanksgiving and Christmas dish with the family of the 23rd president, said Mrs. Bullock. The following recipe is an up-to-date version from "The First Ladies' Cook Book."

Pour 1 cup of boiling water over 1 cup of cut-up dried figs and 2 tablespoons of shortening. Beat 1 egg and stir in 1 cup of molasses. Blend in figs. Sift together 1½ cups of flour and teaspoon each of salt and soda. Stir into wet mixture. Pour into well-greased 1 quart mold. Steam 2 hours. Serve with hard sauce or foamy sauce. Makes 6-8 servings.

Carole Lynn Hogrefe Weds In San Francisco Nuptials

St. Peter's Episcopal Church in San Francisco was the setting on Nov. 14 for the wedding of Carole Lynn Hogrefe of Greenbrae to Robert Lee Timmel of San Rafael.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman C. Hogrefe Jr. of Greenbrae.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white peau de soie and Alencon lace.

Mrs. Curtis Rodrigs of San Jose served the bride as matron of honor and bridesmaids were Kathleen Stephens, Joanne Jaenicke and Christine Larsen.

Debra and Patricia Timmel, the bridegroom's sisters, served as flower girls.

James Timmel was best man for his brother and ushering were Stephen Hogrefe, the bride's brother, and Michael and Raymond Timmel, the bridegroom's brothers.

A reoeption followed the ceremony at the St. Francis Yacht Club in San Francisco.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Timmel of San Rafael. Susan and Kathleen Timmel are also his sisters.

Following a wedding trip to Carmel, the couple will reside in San Rafael.

St. Anne's Guild To Hold Festival

St. Anne's Guild of St. Paul's Episcopal Church in San Rafael will hold its annual Pine Cone Festival on Wednesday in the parish hall.

The festival will begin at 10 a.m., with luncheon at 11:30 p.m.

Featured at the sale will be Christmas gift items, food booth. A new feature this year will be several surprise awards.

Sandor Salgo Will Speak At Luncheon

Members of the Symphony Guild of Marin are receiving invitations to the first concert preview and luncheon of the season to take place on Wednesday at the Meadow Club.

Maestro Sandor Salgo will be guest speaker at the 11 a.m., program. Mr. Salgo, musical director and conductor of the Marin Symphony Orchestra, is also a professor of music at Stanford University and has been for the past few years musical director and conductor at both the Carmel Bach Festival and the "Music at the Vineyards" in Saratoga.

The first concert of the Marin Symphony season is scheduled for Dec. 12 at 8 p.m., in the College of Marin Gymnasium at Kentfield.

Mrs. Maurice S. Salomon is chairman of the concert preview and will entertain at a luncheon after the program. Mr. Salgo will lunch with Mrs. Walter M. Baird, president of the Guild. Assisting Mrs. Salomon with preview luncheon arrangements are Mrs. Edward M. Zeller, in charge of speakers, and Mesdames Roger Wurtz, Christian Gronbeck Jr., Charles C. Clarke, Roane T. Sias and Mrs. Harriet Mackby.

Party Set

The Women's Division of the Marin Real Estate Board will hold its yearly Christmas party on Dec. 7 at noon in Cherish Inn, Town and Country Village, Strawberry. Margaret Dawson and Helen Mulder are chairmen of reservations.

DAVE RUBINOFF
To play famed violin in Novato

Novato Violin Concert To Benefit Lions Program

Violinist Dave Rubinoff, familiar to radio listeners of the pre-television years, will appear in recital Dec. 8 at 8:15 p.m. in the old gymnasium of Novato High School, sponsored by the Novato Lions Club.

Earlier the same day, Rubinoff will give half-hour free concerts at Hill and San Jose junior high schools.

His evening concert will include a medley of television theme songs, a medley of square dance tunes, plus classical numbers.

Russian-born Rubinoff began playing the violin at the age of 5, and was graduated from the Warsaw Conservatory at 14.

He appeared on many famous radio shows, but was best known for his roles with Eddie Cantor on that comedian's long-running show.

His Novato concert will be as a benefit for the Lions Club's eye care program.

Seven Pass Fire Exam

Seven men passed the examination for appointment to the San Anselmo Fire Department, according to a list presented to the city council this week.

There is one vacancy in the department, but Fire Chief Frank Souza and City Administrator Douglas J. Flautt said they were not yet ready to recommend one of the seven successful candidates for appointment.

Passing the examination were: Regan O'Brien, who topped the list with a score of 86.2; Robert M. Paulist, 80.6; Peter C. Elfers, 80.41; David A. Oliva, 79.85; Wayne R. Kovacs, 75.8; David R. Rohner, 74.47, and Fred C. Fischer, 72.47.

Ike Joins Family In Thanksgiving Feast

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and members of his immediate family planned to have their Thanksgiving Day turkey dinner today in the hospital suite where he is recuperating from his recent heart attack.

Dr. Thomas W. Mattingly, the former president's physician, said indications are Eisenhower will be able to try walking in about two we eks. If his present rate of recovery continues, he may be able to go home to his Gettysburg, Pa., farm by Christmas.

British Narcotics Changes Sought

LONDON (AP)—The British government's committee on drug addiction recommended today that Britain's system of prescribing heroin and cocaine for addicts be tightened because of a "disturbing rise" in addiction, especially among the young.

It urged that loopholes be tightened, that confirmed addicts be treated only at special centers instead of by local doctors and that they be required to go through withdrawal treatment.

The recommendations represented a reversal of policy for the committee, which endorsed the present system in 1961.

Governor Proclaims Thanksgiving Views

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Many Americans are marking this Sunday as a day of prayer for Americans and South Vietnamese caught up in the Viet Nam war. Gov. Brown issued this statement Wednesday in support of the observance:

"California joins President Johnson, the nation and the world in a plea for peace and freedom. We pray for an end to the struggle which has torn the county . . . We pray for an honorable peace . . ."

FILM REVIEW

Underground Cinema, Film Poets May Be Pulling Viewers' Limbs

By JOHN. F. KEARNEY

Nearly every seat was taken five minutes before the start of the movie.

By the time the wall lights in the Gate Theater, Sausalito, were dimmed, a middle-aged couple had squeezed into the last remaining space, a few feet from the screen set up on the stage.

Whatever their motives, members of the audience were in high spirits to witness the arrival in Marin of an American phenomenon known as the Underground Cinema.

There were those curious to see movies made in cellars and back yards on a shoestring by arty people who, until a couple of years ago, expressed themselves only in the relatively introvert world of canvas and paint.

Then there was the fun crowd, anxious not to miss a thing considered "in," even if it meant having its collective leg pulled from time to time.

Others came to criticize. "Gee whiz, this is terrible," said a voice in the row behind as geometric shapes flashed and jiggled their way across the screen.

Although the Underground Cinema is playing to full houses across the nation from San Francisco to New York, some of the movies defy description.

They lack the symmetry of conventional films, story lines are vague (non-existent in some cases) and images blurred and overexposed in the hands of the "film poets."

The film-makers themselves are among the first to admit their movies lack the professional touch, but, they point out, their works are pulling in festival awards and the consideration of serious critics.

One of the movies shown on the first of a series of weekend showings of Underground Cinema at Sausalito was described as "very pineapple" by the New York Herald Tribune. Its plot was a breakthrough in modern cinema or pickled with innuendo and eroticism, according to taste.

Another called "Oh Dem Watermelons" was shown this year at the San Francisco Film Festival and was described on the program as a "top money award winner."

Watermelons were systematically squashed, mashed, thumped, sliced and kicked until one of them fought back. Anyway, it excited a more vocal reception than the last time Rock Hudson and Doris Day walked hand in hand into the sunset.

The "11 o'clock Underground" (11 p.m. is the starting time) tomorrow and Saturday at the Gate will feature the world premiere of "Quixote," an experimental film which might qualify among the world's lowest budget movies.

It was produced and photographed by Bruce Baillie, who spent 13 months traveling around the U. S. in a Volkswagen filming the scenes. Donations from well-wishers enabled him to eat and buy film, he claims.

Two other Baillie films, "A Hurrah for Soldiers" and "Mass," will also be shown.

Preceding the "underground" is the San Francisco Mime Troupe with its "Civil Rights in a Cracker Barrel" minstrel show, opening at 8:30 p.m. That will also be staged Sunday at 8 p.m. for its final showing.

Actor Alfred Lunt Licks Pneumonia

CHICAGO (AP)—Actor Alfred Lunt, 70, undergoing treatment for virus pneumonia at Passavant Hospital since Nov. 8, is "doing nicely but needs plenty of rest," a hospital spokesman reports.

Lynn Fontanne, his wife—and stage partner since 1924, is staying with friends in Chicago during Lunt's convalescence.

San Rafael High Gives Up Plans For Annual Drama

Due to a combination of circumstances, San Rafael High School will not present a school play this year.

Principal Alfred N. Thomson and dean of students Florence Abraham said the annual play was abandoned because the auditorium was closed in October to permit its renovation.

The San Rafael Board of Education originally hoped to open bids on the work Nov. 1, according to schools business manager Charles L. Condrotte, but the bid opening date has been postponed three times because state officials have not yet approved the work. It is currently scheduled for Dec. 22.

The auditorium was used once after the main building which houses it was closed, Condrotte said, but workmen later began stripping it so that it could not be used for rehearsals.

Also involved is the pending loss of dramatics teacher Albert Cereghino, who will leave in January after one semester on the faculty.

Thomson said Cereghino was not interested in directing a school play, although he will continue to teach through the period when the play would have been held.

The school's annual musical production will be held in the gymnasium next spring.

Railroads Continue Servicemen's Fares

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reduced furlough fares for military personnel traveling in uniform at their own expense will continue indefinitely.

The lower rates had been due to expire Dec. 31. But yesterday the Assn. of American Railroads announced an indefinite extension of the reductions of up to 50 per cent for coach fares.

122 Marin Gridders Set For San Diego Bowl Games

By RALPH CHATOIAN

One hundred and twenty two boys, 11 coaches, 38 parents and 10 cheer leaders, all from Marin County, will be boarding airplanes Friday morning to wind up Pop Warner football in big league fashion.

The Marin delegation will be going to San Diego to take part in three bowl games against teams from San Diego County. And for most of the kids, it will be their first plane ride.

San Rafael, Novato and Terra Linda teams in the Marin County Pop Warner Football League tied for the championship this season, all with 4-1 league records, so all three will be taking part in bowl games. San Diego has some 46 teams in its Warner program, and three of them will be hosting the teams from Marin.

San Rafael Junior Bulldogs will take on Grossmont, Novato Junior Hornets will play Lemon Grove, and the Terra Linda Junior Trojans will go against Kearny Mesa. All three games will be played on the University of San Diego field, Saturday.

San Rafael Junior Bulldogs—Will leave San Francisco International Airport Friday at 8:45 a.m. on United Flight 505/877, with a stop in Los Angeles, and arrive in San Diego at 11:15 a.m. They will leave San Diego Airport Saturday at 5 p.m. on United Flight 554, to arrive at San Francisco Airport at 6:10 p.m.

Terra Linda Junior Trojans—Will leave San Francisco International Airport Friday at 7:15 a.m. on United Flight 501 and arrive in San Diego at 9 a.m. They will leave San Diego Airport at 7:20 p.m. Saturday on United Flight 536 and arrive in San Francisco at 9:10 p.m.

Novato Junior Hornets — Will leave San Francisco Airport at 10:30 a.m. Friday on Western Airlines Flight 311 and arrive in San Diego at 12:19 p.m. Some will return in San Francisco Saturday on Western Airlines Flight 332 at 6:38 p.m., and others will arrive on United Flight 554 a little earlier, at 6:10 p.m.

Some parents of the 12, 13 and 14-year-old youngsters will be driving their own automobiles to San Diego. The Marin players will be staying overnight Friday in homes of San Diego Pop Warner football players.

Gene Fox, sales director from United Airlines, will accompany the players on one of the planes to make sure everything goes all right. The Marin County Boys Club sponsors the Marin Pop Warner league, and boys club members, plus coaches, parents and players of the three teams have been raising the money needed for the trip.

Those making the trip include:

SAN RAFAEL

Coaches — Neele Johnston, Bob Parnow and Don Hourigan.

Tom McGrath, manager, and Bill Rushing, water boy.

JIM MURRAY

Clay Can Improve As A Human Being

LAS VEGAS — There is a saying — perhaps attributable to the real Moslems and not the road company we are subjected to here—that, in the kingdom of the blind, the one-eyed man is king.

And so the simple proposition is that Cassius Marcellus Clay, the Conquering Lion of Judah, is the one-eyed king of the heavyweight world.

It is an eminence which does not make him dizzy at all. Like Napoleon, he put the crown on his own head sometime ago. But he comes on now braying like a lesser animal, assaulting the ears of the world with "I am the greatest there ever was. There never has been another so fast. Patterson come out and say I 'might be' a great fighter. 'Might be'? I not only am, I am the greatest the world has ever seen. None of them, not Joe Louis, not Rocky Marciano, not nobody could stay with me. They don't have my speed."

IT WENT on like that at the press conference they called for the champion and the challenger in Las Vegas' Dunes Hotel Tuesday morning. The unmarked champion became subdued only when Floyd Patterson limped into view, a victim of a left hook which some historians rate no better than Jack Sharkey's and a boxing style modeled after a guy running away from a bank robbery, and a muscular back spasm which is one of man's most excruciating pains.

It is fruitless to compare champions of another in anything except comportment. Here, Cassius couldn't carry Joe Louis' gloves.

DID HE "carry" Floyd Patterson? Well, of course he did. For sure in the first round. He didn't throw a punch. He made Floyd look like a guy swatting flies, or trying to chase a bee off his nose.

Joe Louis carried opponents. There are times when prudence dictates it. There are more times when economics dictate it. Future gate receipts are at stake.

BUT LOUIS did it in such a way as to leave his opponent a shred of dignity. Cassius did it in such a way as to let the whole world know it and to make a laughingstock buffoon out of his opponent. Cassius did it after braying for a week he was going to do it.

Cassius sternly lectured the press the other morning after the fight that "you better say something nice about the man" and you have to resist the temptation to say "get him!" or "look who's talking!?"

NO, THE proposition is that Cassius Clay is like a hyena feeding on the dead bones of a lion and proclaiming "look at me, I am the king of beasts! Am I not feeding on a lion?" He is heavyweight champion of 1966 and I suspect this is a much different thing from being heavyweight champion of 1936. He did not conquer the fight game, he survived it.

By sheer weight of numbers, the competition had to be more ferocious for the Depression champion than for the Atomic champion. There were thousands of fighters in those days where there are a dozen now. There are many more ways to fill a lunch pail today than at the price of your frontal lobes.

CASIUS IS a magnificent fighter for his time. But there are guys who are magnificent pitchers—for the International League. And they can't get the side out in the major league. There are football teams which can stack up the Ivy League. But Michigan State would beat them with the scrubs. I well recall one time when a college baseball team tried out the Coliseum for baseball and stroked 11 home runs or so in one afternoon. When the Dodgers deplaned, someone brought the breathless news to Pee Wee Reese, then captain of the Dodgers. Pee Wee was unimpressed. "Just tell me one thing," he instructed. "Who was pitching?"

WITH CASSIUS, you have to ask, Who is catching? Competition is the leveler. Cassius is the heavyweight champion of the Ivy League or the International League. He is the undisputed ruler of the twilight zone of boxing.

It's not his fault. But it ill becomes him to be bellowing braggadocious. The creatures of the jungle pay no attention to the laughing boasts of the hyena, the braying of the jackal. They have nothing to fear from them so long as they are alive.

HATE CAN carry you a long way. If you don't think so, just go over Ty Cobb's lifetime records. But with hate there is implicit fear. You only hate a thing because you fear it. Joe Louis confided the other day he didn't even hate Max Schmeling. He just destroyed him as a matter of pride. And he didn't pig-stick him. He just ripped him out like a page in a book.

CASSIUS WORKS himself up into hate. He is, at odd moments in his life, a nice, personable young man. He is, at other times, that most intolerable of human types — the all-purpose bully.

Floyd Patterson now goes down in history as a "dead game" fighter. I hope he leaves it at that. Because it has been my experience that "dead game" guys end up dead, period, guys.

He got to his feet in the sixth round when he got the benefit of four seconds extra count because Mighty Mouth, as usual, refused to go to his neutral corner. Cassius thinks the Marquis of Queensberry rules are for the Marquis of Queensberry. He did not get away with it this time because the fight had a professional referee in the ring and not a professional celebrity.

BUT NOBODY was complaining about the "long count," just the long fight.

It is the proposition in some corners today that Cassius has some improving to do as a fighter. I don't think so. Not unless Jack Johnson comes back to life or 1925 or 1935 come back in this century. Cassius' improvement as a pugilist is not needed. His improvement as a human being is something else again. The competition is a good deal deeper there.

Canucks Defeat Seals, 3-1

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The San Francisco Seals will have a new match with a Western Hockey League leader tomorrow when the Victoria Maple Leafs come to town.

The Seals defeated Portland 7-3, last Saturday when the Buckaroos led the league. Victoria is now on top, two points ahead of Portland.

The Vancouver Canucks gained a firmer grip on third place last night when they downed the Seals, 3-1, at San Francisco. The fourth - place Seals now trail Vancouver by four points.

San Francisco led 1-0 in the first period before Ray Brunel began Vancouver's scoring.

Canuck center Larry Popein scored a goal in the second period and Bruce Carmichael connected in the third. San Francisco wing Wayne Connelly made the game's first goal, a six-foot tap at 2:55.

San Francisco's record now stands at five wins, seven losses and two ties.

Two Raiders Heroes Share League Defensive Honors

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Gus Otto and Dave Grayson of the Oakland Raiders shared the honors as co-holders of The Associated Press defensive player of the week in the American Football League.

Otto picked off a pass by John McCormick, stealing the ball out of the hands of Hewritt Dixon. The rookie linebacker from Missouri ran 67 yards for a touchdown just as he had rambled in his college days as a fullback. Otto's touchdown broke a 14-14 tie and started the Raiders on the way to a 28-20 victory over Denver.

Grayson, veteran defensive back from Oregon, stole a screen pass intended for Cookie Gilchrist and sped 47 yards for a touchdown. In the case of both Otto and Grayson, there was nobody to interrupt their romps into the end zone.

Ross O'Hanley recovered a fumble by Curtis McClendon one foot from the Boston goal when the Patriots and Kansas City played to a 10-10 tie.

McClinton had run 32 yards on a halfback draw before he fumbled when hit by both O'Hanley and Tom Addison. The play was disputed with the Chiefs claiming they had recovered.

The New York Jets intercepted four Houston passes while Joe Namath was connecting for four touchdowns in a 41-14 romp over the Oilers. Willie West and Ralph Baker's interceptions set up touchdowns, and Dainard Paulson and Bill Baird added the others.

With Buffalo and San Diego awaiting their holiday game, only three AFL games were played last Sunday.

Bodyguards Of Clay Nix Court

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Four Black Muslim bodyguards of heavyweight champion Cassius Clay failed to appear in court yesterday to answer a charge of disturbing the peace during Monday's fight.

Justice of the Peace James Brennan said each would forfeit $25 bail.

Sheriff's deputies said they walked to the $100-a-seat ringside area, and stood, arms folded, blocking the view of spectatotors.

When the deputies attempted to evict them, about 15 other Negroes sprang from the crowd. A brief melee followed before the defendants were handcuffed and taken to a security room in the Convention Center.

The arrested men were identified as Robert Deckard, 34, and Deliano Grant, 28, both of Los Angeles; Otis Perlotte, 36, of Miami, Fla., and Issac Starks, 40, of Oakland, Calif.

A Friendly Nonwager On Rosebowl

SACRAMENTO, Calif (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown jovially accepted Michigan Gov. George Romney's "nonwager" yesterday involving the UCLA—Michigan State Rose Bowl football game New Year's Day.

Earlier this week, Romney said he would feed 50 hungry Californians if the California squad downed the Michigan team. Romney insisted he is not a betting man, so everyone called it a "nonbet."

Wednesday, Brown wired Romney:

"The terms of your nonwager are altogether agreeable. The only question now remaining is whether we will dine in Michigan or make you ship the food to California."

49ers Lose 'Flip' For NFL Draft Saturday

NEW YORK (AP) — Coin flips involving nine teams were necessary to determine the order of drafting in the National Football League selection of college seniors Saturday.

The order was determined by the combined conference standings of last Sunday night but there were ties with Dallas and Washington, each 4-6; Detroit, Minnesota, San Francisco, St. Louis and New York, each 5-5, and Green Bay and Cleveland, each 8-2. Dallas, Minnesota and Green Bay won the flips but the orders will be reversed in subsequent rounds.

The order for the first round:

1. Atlanta, 2, Los Angeles, 3, Pittsburgh, 4, Philadelphia, 5, Dallas, 6, Washington, 7, Minnesota, 8, St. Louis, 9, Detroit (held by Green Bay), 10, New York, 11, San Francisco, 12, Chicago, 13, Green Bay, 14, Cleveland, 15, Baltimore, 16, Atlanta (extra choice in each of first five rounds).

Green Bay got Detroit's first round choice as part of the deal by which the Lions signed Ron Kramer after he played out his option with the Packers.

Atlanta will have 25 selections in the 20 rounds, Philadelphia, Baltimore 22, Detroit, Chicago, Cleveland, San Francisco and Los Angeles, 21, St. Louis, Washington and Green Bay 20, New York and Dallas 19, Minnesota 18, Pittsburgh 15.

Two Marinites On Little All-Coast

BY JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Little All West Coast might be a misnomer for the men picked to The Associated Press club honoring star football players from smaller colleges along the Pacific. Some of these fellows are huge.

(Two former Marin County stars—both from Tamalpais High School—were named on the squad: Elmer Collett of San Francisco State was picked as first team offensive guard; and Art Foster of Santa Clara was named second team defensive end.)

Both on offense and defense, the first 11 picked weigh a ton —plus 332 pounds.

Lightest man on the first team is Mel Stanton of Eastern Washington at 184, a speedy, hard hitting halfback who has been one of the nation's scoring leaders.

Six of the 22 first team players are repeaters — and Gary Garrison of San Diego State and halfbacks Bob Miranda of Santa Clara and Tom Piggee of San Francisco State on offense plus tackle Bob Burles of Willamette, Gary Genggli of Pacific Lutheran and George Youngblood of Los Angeles State on the defensive platoon.

Combined weight of the first offensive team hits 2,332 pounds. The defenders go a shade more at 2340. Per man, that's about 212.

Named on offense are ends Garrison and George Elliott of Whitworth, tackles Weatherwax and George Wilfort of Santa Clara; guards Roy Schmidt, Long Beach State, and Elmer Collett, San Francisco State; center Marv Peterson, Pacific Lutheran; and backs Ray Jones, Los Angeles State, Stanton, Miranda and Piggee.

Defensively, the team has Bruce Anderson, Willamette, and Perry Parks, Los Angeles State, at ends; Burles and Davis at tackles; Bill Rook, Humboldt State, Ray Johnson, Whitorth and Gary Renggli, Pacific Lutheran as linebackers and backs Fred Oppezzo, University of California at Santa Barbara, Dave Plump, Fresno State, Les Rucker, Pacific Lutheran and Youngblood.

No sophomores made the first units this year but five are juniors — Elliott, Collett, Wilfert, Parks and Youngblood.

Pacific Game Is Cancelled

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP)—University of the Pacific announced yesterday that its football game scheduled Saturday with Los Angeles State has been cancelled because rain has rendered fields in the Los Angeles area unplayable.

The UOP-LA State game was scheduled for the Rose Bowl but officials there said a game would severely damage the field.

Cancellation was by mutual consent. UOP thus finishes its season with a 1-8 record. LA State is 8-1 and due to play in the Camellia Bowl at Sacramento Dec. 11.

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS
I-J Fish and Game Writer

Forecast For Weather, Fish: Steelhead No, Stripers Yes

STEVENS

Just for a change, let's talk about the weather and whether or not it is worth while to go fishing these cold, dreary days. Okay?

The answer is an emphatic "no" if you would hunt the winter steelhead in our coastal stream, tide water or above. Jim Roads of the Klamath River Guide Service reported the fishing for both steelhead and salmon as poor. All streams are high and very, very colored.

The Sacramento and San Joaquin river systems are likewise in a highly unfishable condition because of the muddy waters draining into them.

But the answer is an equally emphatic "Yes" if you are willing and anxious to pit your skill—and luck—against that of his majesty, Roccus saxatilis.

It has taken the striped bass a long time to make up his mind about raising a family, but that he and his roe-filled wife have at last done so is evident by the action being had in a very large area.

Talking to Tony Caruso, I learned that while none of the salmon fleet is trying for salmon in the S.F. Bay region, many boats are taking out parties for striped bass, and are scoring with limits and near-limits. Incidentally, Caruso informed me that his boat, the Corino No. 2, leaves the harbor in Sausalito at 8 a.m. each day. Should you desire to check for type of fishing (trolling, live bait and cut sardines), and the cost per trip, I suggest you call Caruso's harbor.

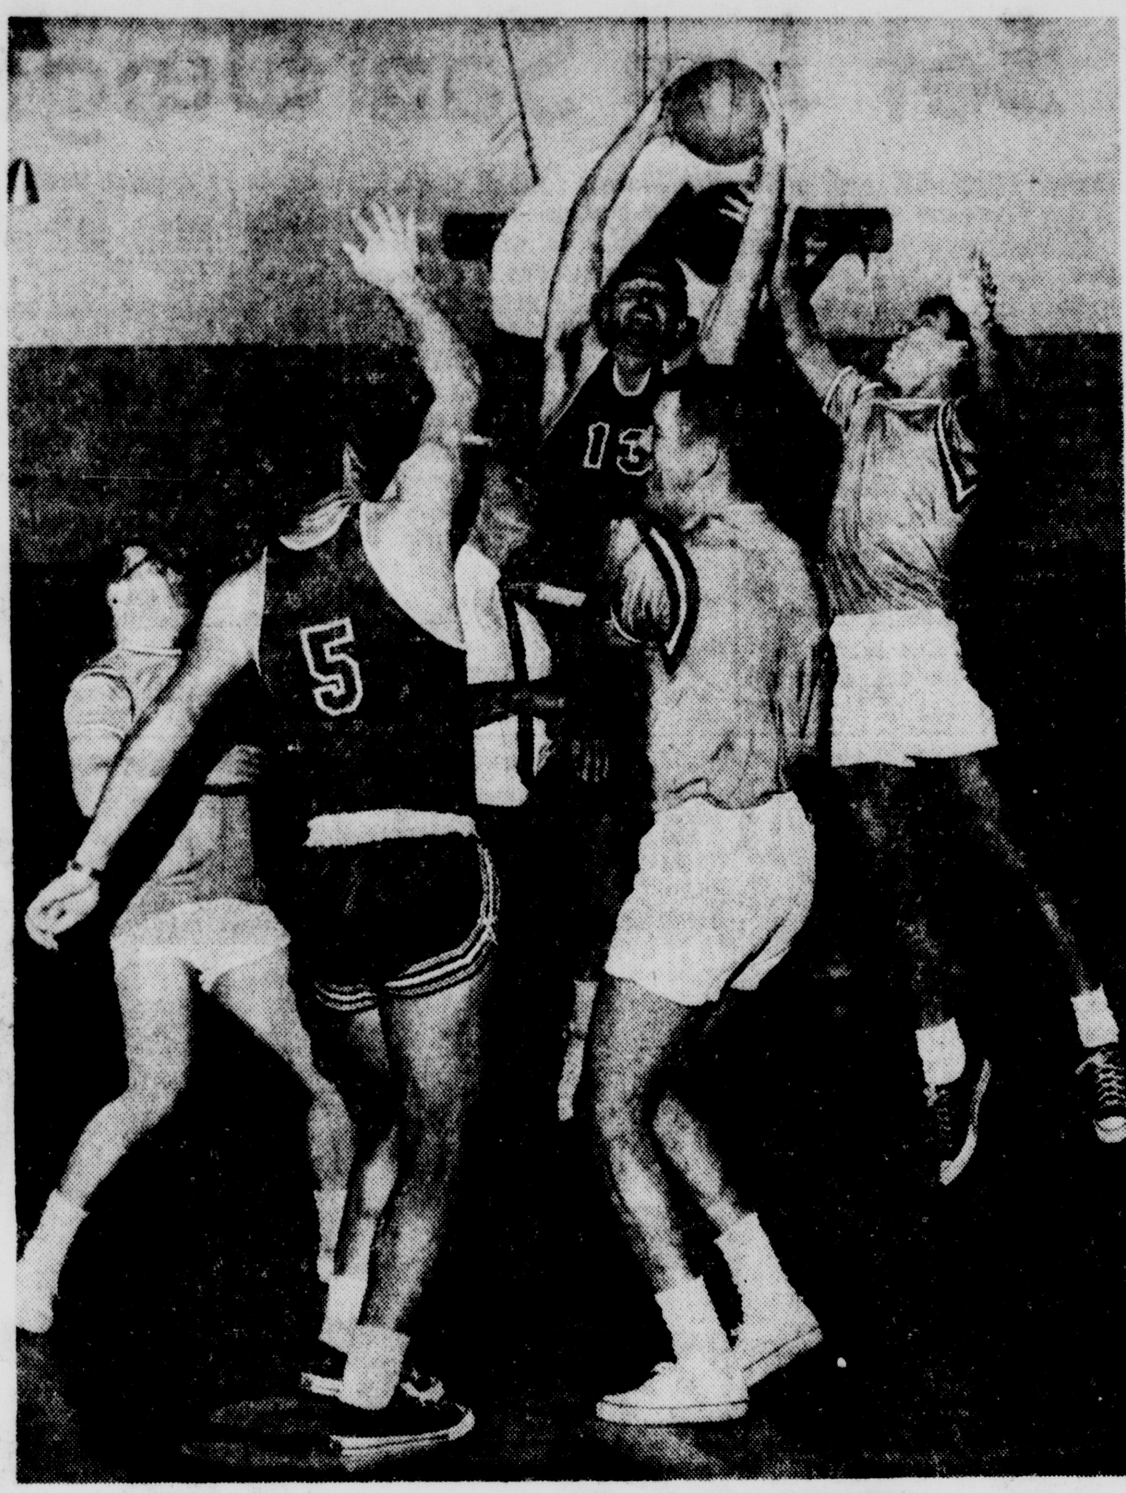
There doesn't seem to be any one or two spots where the action is fastest. Caruso reported that bass are being caught all over the bay. Carl Bennett of Rodeo Marina reported that on Saturday, in spite of cold weather and choppy water, Ron Burrows and Chet Anderson took nice limits of large bass using bullheads.

Hal Boenner of Lee Anderson's in Oakland reported that the boat, R. S. P., limited for all aboard. Fish ran to 10½ pounds. The duke No. 2 had a somewhat unusual catch on Monday: The skipper netted a 21, two 22s and a 24.

Hal also reported Howard Samuel catching 18- and 16-pound bass in Broad Slough.

Back country fishing is strictly spotty, to say the most. Patrick's Resort, near Three-Mile Slough, reported a total of seven bass over the weekend. "Even the catfish seem to have gone to sleep," said Mrs. Patrick.

With a big wish for better weather and better reports — Chow!



ADULT LEAGUE PRACTICE

This action took place at San Rafael High School this week as players in the San Rafael Recreation Department's Adult Basketball Program practiced for the league season which opens next month. Referee Angelo Colombo tossed for the center jump and Mike Diaz of the San Rafael High faculty team snared it. Players from left are Jim Reed, Bill Monte (5), Diaz, Ron Koller and Tom Corbett. Deadline for entering Christmas Tournament is Dec. 3 and league entry deadline Dec. 16.

PRO GRID INJURIES CONTINUE TO MOUNT

Independent-Journal Sports

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Munson of the Los Angeles Rams is out for the season and Bill Nelsen of Pittsburgh is a doubtful starter as injuries continue to plague the quarterbacks in the National Football League.

Munson suffered a knee injury in the Rams' defeat by San Francisco and underwent an operation after the game. His place will be taken by Roman Gabriel, the man he beat out for the job, when the Rams play Green Bay Sunday in the Coliseum.

Guard Don Chuy of the Rams has undergone surgery on his nose and is out of the game. Tackle Charlie Cowan and fullback Dick Bass are doubtful. The Packers expect Paul Hornung back after missing a game due to a groin injury.

If Nelsen can't work for the Steelers in their home game with the Cleveland Browns it will be Tommy Wade at quarterback. Pittsburgh already has lost receiver Roy Jefferson and center Art Hunter for the season. The Browns have no new injuries but Paul Warfield, out all season, won't return for to more weeks.

Ronnie Bull, Chicago fullback, is very doubtful for the game at New York. The Giants list end Aaron Thomas as very doubtful but expect defensive tackle John LoVetere, and defensive ends Andy Stynchula and Jim Katcavage and offensive tackle Rosey Brown to play.

Earl Gros, Philadelphia fullback, is a doubtful factor because of a gashed forehead and the St. Louis Cardinals are hopeful that Charley Johnson will be able to resume at quarterback.

Safety man Jerry Stovall and fullback Joe Childress are out, probably for the season. The Cards will have Bill Thornton available for the game at St. Louis.

Dallas regains the services of halfback Dan Reeves, out with a broken hand, but Washington probably will be without tackle Fran O'Brien and defensive back Paul Krause for its home game with the Cowboys.

Tommy Mason may miss a third straight Minnesota game due to a sore knee but San Francisco will be healthy when it invades the Vikings' home stadium.

Baltimore listed running back Tony Lorick and flanker Jimmy Orr as doubtful for Thursday's game at Detroit. The Lions don't know how much to expect from halfback Joe Don Looney, halfback Tommy Watkins and defensive back Wayne Rasmussen.

Celt Si Green Hangs Them Up

BOSTON (AP) — Sihugo Green announced his retirmenet from professional basketball yesterday after being placed on waivers by the Boston Celtics.

Green was placed on waivers to make room on the Celtics roster for Woody Sauldsberry, allowed to play by a federal court directive pending a full hearing on Sauldsberry's anti-trust suit against the National Basketball Association.

Green spent nine years in the NBA. He was the league's No. 1 draft pick in 1956 after earning All-America honors at Duquesne.

Green was drafted by the now defunct Rochester Royals and moved with the franchise to Cincinnati. He also played for St. Louis and Baltimore before being purchased from Baltimore this fall by the Celtics.

Green said he decided to "pack it in" to enable him to devote full time to a real estate business in Baltimore.

AAU Walking Race At Northgate Sunday

Two former Olympic Games athletes are expected to compete Sunday in Marin County's first 30-kilometer walking championship.

Mike Brodie, from the 1964 team, and John McLaughlin, from the 1960 team, both of whom competed in the 50-kilometer Olympic walking event, will join about 30 other hopefuls in the Pacific Assn. championship of the A.A.U.

Bill Ranney, assistant Commissioner of race walking for the Pacific Assn., has announced that the race will start at 10 a.m. in front of the Emporium in Northgate. The course will be a one-mile loop just outside the shopping center, and it will take more than 19 circuits of the loop to complete the prescribed 30 kilometers.

Additional entries are welcome; all that prospective walkers need do is show up before the race.

Mrs. Harleen Las Gallinas Golf Champ

Mrs. Carl Harleen defeated Mrs. Charles Vincent Tuesday to win the Las Gallinas Women's Golf Club handicap championship.

Results of finals matches in other flights:

First Flight — Mrs. William Irish d. Mrs. J. L. Agnew; Second Flight—Mrs. Robert Green d. Mrs. Al Newman; Third Flight—Mrs. Ned DiGrazia d. Mrs. Charles Royce; Fourth Flight—Mrs. Walter Schwartz d. Mrs. Glenn Reick.

Low gross honors went to Mrs. Vincent with a 66 and low net was scored by Mrs. Alten Edwards, 67-13—54. Mrs. Barry Marsh won consolation prize with a 35-6—29 and Mrs. Irish won a hole-in-one competition by placing her tee shot 10 feet, 3½ inches from the pin.

Troy Will Retire Garrett's Jersey

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Southern California announced yesterday it will retire Mike Garrett's No. 20 jersey after his final collegiate football game Saturday.

The Heisman Trophy winner will be honored in a special ceremony after the USC-Wyoming game in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

Already holder of Pacific Athletic Conference and university records for both single season and career rushing, Garrett is within 58 yards of shattering Ollie Matson's national career rushing record of 3,166.

USC is a 20-point favorite, despite last week's 20-16 loss to UCLA.

The Trojans concentrated on pass defense in a 1½-hour workout. They looked for ways to stop the Cowboys' all-time top passer, Tom Wilkinson, who holds the career and single season passing records at Wyoming.

Wyoming is 6-3 for the season against USC's 6-2,1 record.

Linebacker Stephens Is Tam's MVP

Linebacker Gary Stephens was named as Tamalpais High School's Most Valuable Player for the 1965 football season Tuesday night at the Tam Boosters' Annual Fall Sports Awards ceremonies. Awards were distributed to the football teams and to the Class C basketballers.

For varsity football, the awards were as follows: Gary Stephens, most valuable player; Mike Fowler, most valuable back; Gary Cotten, most inspirational player; Horace White, most improved. Stagg awards, given by the Amos Alonzo Stagg Foundation, were presented to John Henry Bennett, Miles Miludi, Brian Collett, Don Jen, Ken Blasingame and Dave Salaun.

Also presented were the Tam varsity Player of the Week trophies, sponsored by the Mill Valley Record. They went to Paul Austin, Fowler, Kirk Sparks, Jerry Geisinger, Gary Stephens, Barry Warnock, White and Don Smith.

For the Junior Varsity, the awards went to Phil Simpson, most inspirational, and James Webb, most improved, Stagg awards went to Reggie Walker, Richard Geisinger and Larry Adams.

Freshman football awards went to Luther Brown, most improved; and to Ken Bolstead and Charles Hamilton, Stagg awards.

In "C" basketball, Mike Harris was voted most improved, while the Stagg awards went to Jack Nancarrow and Mike Castano.

Kentucky Coach Going To Iowa?

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Two newspapers reported yesterday that University of Kentucky football Coach Charlie Bradshaw is being considered for the head coaching job at the University of Iowa.

The Lexington Herald and the Louisville Courier-Journal both said Bradshaw was in line for the position vacated last week by Jerry Burns.

683 Bowling Mark By Jim Pistolesi

Jim Pistolesi combined a sparkling 277 game with scores of 212 and 194 for a 683 series, high mark at the Country Club Bowl in San Rafael during the past week of league activity. Charles Valsecchi, last week's top man with a 626 series, was even better this time as he rolled consistent 215, 211 and 210 games for a total of 636. Both Valsecchi and Pistolesi bowl in the 900 Classic.

Maurey Umphenour had the high game in the 845 Scratch, a 266.

High honors for the women's division went to Viv Gray, who led the women's 600 Scratch League with a 227 en route to a 572 series.

In the Junior division, Don Curry led the Junior 900 Classic with a 202-200-193-595.

MRS. ARA PARSEGHIAN

Life Of A Coach's Wife: Tension And Excitment

The following was written by the wife of Ara Parseghian, Notre Dame's head football coach, for the Associated Press.

By KATHLEEN PARSEGHIAN

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—On a Notre Dame football Saturday at the Parseghian home, the butterflies we've had since early morning feel more like eagles as the game gets closer. Then it's all over and, suddenly, there's relaxation at our informal open-house for out-of-town friends and, later, at Father Hesburgh's school president Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh reception.

That is a simple description of a hectic football weekend replete with tension, excitement and responsibilities that go along with being in a coaching family.

After 15 years in this profession—with Ara at Miami of Ohio, Northwestern University and now Notre Dame—the children and I have grown accustomed to our somewhat disrupted way of family life.

The children, Karan, 15; Kristan, 13, and Mike, 10, have learned that football is a demanding job.

We know Ara will not be home for dinner from Sept. 1 until the end of the season. Sunday mornings are really about the only time the family has together.

We have grown accustomed to Christmas on Dec. 15, because five of the last eight years, we have gone with Ara to post-season games.

Thanksgiving is another practice day and spring vacation is also spring football practice.

We can always count on Ara, though, for Feb. 27 because Kriss, Mike and I all have birthdays that date.

But we have learned that moving is not the end of the world, even though it seems so. Within a week of our moving here from Northwestern University, the children loved their school and South Bend. They helped plan our new, two-story colonial house, and it wasn't too long before they caught the amazing spirit of Norte Dame.

We have been a part of three fine universities; worked with fine boys; enjoyed praise for Ara; boiled at any criticism; thrilled through the big wins; and suffered through the losses.

And none of us would trade any of it.

To all the young girls who think it would be exciting to marry a football coach I say: Pick one who is intelligent, personable, enthusiastic and lucky. It takes a little of all these things to survive the whims of an elusive, little ball, and the skills and emotions of a group of young men. And, even with the best you will have rough days.

We've all had our thrills.

I've met celebrities and have been treated as one. Karan has sat in a box with Richard Nixon and peeked at Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy nearby. Mike has traveled with the team and gets to visit the locker room with "our heroes."

Kriss loves the Saturday telegrams from people like Sen. Kennedy, Scott Brady and just Nanny and Grandpa.

We have a listed phone number and receive all kinds of calls.

They may be about tickets. Someone may ask about sweatshirts to be sent out. A couple of chaps will want an argument settled. It may be a wish for good luck, or, "You did a lousy job last week."

The most aggravating calls are the ones from the West Coast — persons who forget the time difference and phone in the middle of the night.

Ara arises every morning at 5:30 and is gone before we are up. He will have coffee and the newspapers downtown, and start a staff meeting at 7 a.m.

We know he won't be home before 10 p.m., on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday and 9 p.m., on Wednesday and Thursday.

There's a Friday morning ritual of good-luck kisses. Then Ara is off with the team for the rest of the day and night.

We know when the season is over, Ara will be gone for banquets, alumni meetings and clinics. Last year, he was home for dinner only 17 times from Sept. 1 until March 1.

Our Mike, built like a little Ara, is arriving at the athletic age — football with the neighborhood gang, Little League baseball and grade school basketball.

I wonder sometimes if my nerves will stand another generation of sports. So don't be surprised if I encourage him to be anything but a coach, not that football ISN'T a great game—to watch without a worry in the world.

A little after lunch these fall Sundays, after the last guests have gone and Ara has returned to his office, I collapse on the couch and announce: "Do not disturb."

122 Marin Gridders Set For San Diego Bowl Games

By RALPH CHATOIAN

One hundred and twenty two boys, 11 coaches, 38 parents and 10 cheer leaders, all from Marin County, will be boarding airplanes Friday morning to wind up Pop Warner football in big league fashion.

The Marin delegation will be going to San Diego to take part in three bowl games against teams from San Diego County. And for most of the kids, it will be their first plane ride.

San Rafael, Novato and Terra Linda teams in the Marin County Pop Warner Football League tied for the championship this season, all with 4-1 league records, so all three will be taking part in bowl games. San Diego has some 46 teams in its Warner program, and three of them will be hosting the teams from Marin.

San Rafael Junior Bulldogs will take on Grossmont, Novato Junior Hornets will play Lemon Grove, and the Terra Linda Junior Trojans will go against Kearny Mesa. All three games will be played on the University of San Diego field, Saturday.

Schedules for the kids are as follows:

San Rafael Junior Bulldogs—Will leave San Francisco International Airport Friday at 8:45 a.m. on United Flight 505/877, with a stop in Los Angeles, and arrive in San Diego at 11:15 a.m. They will leave San Diego Airport Saturday at 5 p.m. on United Flight 554, to arrive at San Francisco Airport at 6:10 p.m.

Terra Linda Junior Trojans—Will leave San Francisco International Airport Friday at 7:15 a.m. on United Flight 501 and arrive in San Diego at 9 a.m. They will leave San Diego Airport at 7:20 p.m. Saturday on United Flight 536 and arrive in San Francisco at 9:10 p.m.

Novato Junior Hornets — Will leave San Francisco Airport at 10:30 a.m. Friday on Western Airlines Flight 311 and arrive in San Diego at 12:19 p.m. Some will return in San Francisco Saturday on Western Airlines Flight 332 at 6:38 p.m., and others will arrive on United Flight 554 a little earlier, at 6:10 p.m.

Some parents of the 12, 13 and 14-year-old youngsters will be driving their own automobiles to San Diego. The Marin players will be staying overnight Friday in homes of San Diego Pop Warner football players.

Gene Fox, sales director from United Airlines, will accompany the players on one of the planes to make sure everything goes all right. The Marin County Boys Club sponsors the Marin Pop Warner league, and boys club members, plus coaches, parents and players of the three teams have been raising the money needed for the trip.

Those making the trip include:

Clay Can Improve As A Human Being

LAS VEGAS — There is a saying — perhaps attributable to the real Moslems and not the road company we are subjected to here—that, in the kingdom of the blind, the one-eyed man is king.

And so the simple proposition is that Cassius Marcellus Clay, the Conquering Lion of Judah, is the one-eyed king of the heavyweight world.

It is an eminence which does not make him dizzy at all. Like Napoleon, he put the crown on his own head sometime ago. But he comes on now braying like a lesser animal, assaulting the ears of the world with "I am the greatest there ever was. There never has been another so fast. Patterson come out and say I 'might be' a great fighter. 'Might be'? I not only am, I am the greatest the world has ever seen. None of them, not Joe Louis, not Rocky Marciano, not nobody could stay with me. They don't have my speed."

IT WENT on like that at the press conference they called for the champion and the challenger in Las Vegas' Dunes Hotel Tuesday morning. The unmarked champion became subdued only when Floyd Patterson limped into view, a victim of a left hook which some historians rate no better than Jack Sharkey's and a boxing style modeled after a guy running away from a bank robbery, and a muscular back spasm which is one of man's most excruciating pains.

It is fruitless to compare champions of another in anything except comportment. Here, Cassius couldn't carry Joe Louis' gloves.

DID HE "carry" Floyd Patterson? Well, of course he did. For sure in the first round. He didn't throw a punch. He made Floyd look like a guy swatting flies, or trying to chase a bee off his nose.

Joe Louis carried opponents. There are times when prudence dictates it. There are more times when economics dictate it. Future gate receipts are at stake.

BUT LOUIS did it in such a way as to leave his opponent a shred of dignity. Cassius did it in such a way as to let the whole world know it and to make a laughingstock buffoon out of his opponent. Cassius did it after braying for a week he was going to do it.

Cassius sternly lectured the press the other morning after the fight that "you better say something nice about the man" and you have to resist the temptation to say "get him!" or "look who's talking!?"

NO, THE proposition is that Cassius Clay is like a hyena feeding on the dead bones of a lion and proclaiming "look at me, I am the king of beasts! Am I not feeding on a lion?" He is heavyweight champion of 1966 and I suspect this is a much different thing from being heavyweight champion of 1936. He did not conquer the fight game, he survived it.

By sheer weight of numbers, the competition had to be more ferocious for the Depression champion than for the Atomic champion. There were thousands of fighters in those days where there are a dozen now. There are many more ways to fill a lunch pail today than at the price of your frontal lobes.

CASIUS IS a magnificent fighter for his time. But there are guys who are magnificent pitchers—for the International League. And they can't get the side out in the major league. There are football teams which can stack up the Ivy League. But Michigan State would beat them with the scrubs. I well recall one time when a college baseball team tried out the Coliseum for baseball and stroked 11 home runs or so in one afternoon. When the Dodgers deplaned, someone brought the breathless news to Pee Wee Reese, then captain of the Dodgers. Pee Wee was unimpressed. "Just tell me one thing," he instructed. "Who was pitching?"

WITH CASSIUS, you have to ask, Who is catching? Competition is the leveler. Cassius is the heavyweight champion of the Ivy League or the International League. He is the undisputed ruler of the twilight zone of boxing.

It's not his fault. But it ill becomes him to be bellowing braggadocious. The creatures of the jungle pay no attention to the laughing boasts of the hyena, the braying of the jackal. They have nothing to fear from them so long as they are alive.

HATE CAN carry you a long way. If you don't think so, just go over Ty Cobb's lifetime records. But with hate there is implicit fear. You only hate a thing because you fear it. Joe Louis confided the other day he didn't even hate Max Schmeling. He just destroyed him as a matter of pride. And he didn't pig-stick him. He just ripped him out like a page in a book.

CASSIUS WORKS himself up into hate. He is, at odd moments in his life, a nice, personable young man. He is, at other times, that most intolerable of human types — the all-purpose bully.

Floyd Patterson now goes down in history as a "dead game" fighter. I hope he leaves it at that. Because it has been my experience that "dead game" guys end up dead, period, guys.

He got to his feet in the sixth round when he got the benefit of four seconds extra count because Mighty Mouth, as usual, refused to go to his neutral corner. Cassius thinks the Marquis of Queensberry rules are for the Marquis of Queensberry. He did not get away with it this time because the fight had a professional referee in the ring and not a professional celebrity.

BUT NOBODY was complaining about the "long count," just the long fight.

It is the proposition in some corners today that Cassius has some improving to do as a fighter. I don't think so. Not unless Jack Johnson comes back to life or 1925 or 1935 come back in this century. Cassius' improvement as a pugilist is not needed. His improvement as a human being is something else again. The competition is a good deal deeper there.

A Friendly Nonwager On Rosebowl

SACRAMENTO, Calif (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown jovially accepted Michigan Gov. George Romney's "nonwager" yesterday involving the UCLA—Michigan State Rose Bowl football game New Year's Day.

Earlier this week, Romney said he would feed 50 hungry Californians if the California squad downed the Michigan team. Romney insisted he is not a betting man, so everyone called it a "nonbet."

Wednesday, Brown wired Romney:

"The terms of your nonwager are altogether agreeable. The only question now remaining is whether we will dine in Michigan or make you ship the food to California."

Two Raiders Heroes Share League Defensive Honors

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Gus Otto and Dave Grayson of the Oakland Raiders shared the honors as co-holders of The Associated Press defensive player of the week in the American Football League.

Otto picked off a pass by John McCormick, stealing the ball out of the hands of Hewritt Dixon. The rookie linebacker from Missouri ran 67 yards for a touchdown just as he had rambled in his college days as a fullback. Otto's touchdown broke a 14-14 tie and started the Raiders on the way to a 28-20 victory over Denver.

Grayson, veteran defensive back from Oregon, stole a screen pass intended for Cookie Gilchrist and sped 47 yards for a touchdown. In the case of both Otto and Grayson, there was nobody to interrupt their romps into the end zone.

Ross O'Hanley recovered a fumble by Curtis McClendon one foot from the Boston goal when the Patriots and Kansas City played to a 10-10 tie.

McClinton had run 32 yards on a halfback draw before he fumbled when hit by both O'Hanley and Tom Addison. The play was disputed with the Chiefs claiming they had recovered.

The New York Jets intercepted four Houston passes while Joe Namath was connecting for four touchdowns in a 41-14 romp over the Oilers. Willie West and Ralph Baker's interceptions set up touchdowns, and Dainard Paulson and Bill Baird added the others.

With Buffalo and San Diego awaiting their holiday game, only three AFL games were played last Sunday.

Bodyguards Of Clay Nix Court

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Four Black Muslim bodyguards of heavyweight champion Cassius Clay failed to appear in court yesterday to answer a charge of disturbing the peace during Monday's fight.

Justice of the Peace James Brennan said each would forfeit $25 bail.

Sheriff's deputies said they walked to the $100-a-seat ringside area, and stood, arms folded, blocking the view of spectatotors.

When the deputies attempted to evict them, about 15 other Negroes sprang from the crowd. A brief melee followed before the defendants were handcuffed and taken to a security room in the Convention Center.

The arrested men were identified as Robert Deckard, 34, and Deliano Grant, 28, both of Los Angeles; Otis Perlotte, 36, of Miami, Fla., and Issac Starks, 40, of Oakland, Calif.

49ers Lose 'Flip' For NFL Draft Saturday

NEW YORK (AP) — Coin flips involving nine teams were necessary to determine the order of drafting in the National Football League selection of college seniors Saturday.

The order was determined by the combined conference standings of last Sunday night but there were ties with Dallas and Washington, each 4-6; Detroit, Minnesota, San Francisco, St. Louis and New York, each 5-5, and Green Bay and Cleveland, each 8-2. Dallas, Minnesota and Green Bay won the flips but the orders will be reversed in subsequent rounds.

The order for the first round:

1. Atlanta, 2, Los Angeles, 3, Pittsburgh, 4, Philadelphia, 5, Dallas, 6, Washington, 7, Minnesota, 8, St. Louis, 9, Detroit (held by Green Bay), 10, New York, 11, San Francisco, 12, Chicago, 13, Green Bay, 14, Cleveland, 15, Baltimore, 16, Atlanta (extra choice in each of first five rounds).

Green Bay got Detroit's first round choice as part of the deal by which the Lions signed Ron Kramer after he played out his option with the Packers.

Atlanta will have 25 selections in the 20 rounds, Philadelphia, Baltimore 22, Detroit, Chicago, Cleveland, San Francisco and Los Angeles, 21, St. Louis, Washington and Green Bay 20, New York and Dallas 19, Minnesota 18, Pittsburgh 15.

Two Marinites On Little All-Coast

BY JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Little All West Coast might be a misnomer for the men picked to The Associated Press club honoring star football players from smaller colleges along the Pacific. Some of these fellows are huge.

(Two former Marin County stars—both from Tamalpais High School—were named on the squad: Elmer Collett of San Francisco State was picked as first team offensive guard; and Art Foster of Santa Clara was named second team defensive end.)

Both on offense and defense, the first 11 picked weigh a ton—plus 332 pounds.

Lightest man on the first team is Mel Stanton of Eastern Washington at 184, a speedy, hard hitting halfback who has been one of the nation's scoring leaders.

Six of the 22 first team players are repeaters — and Gary Garrison of San Diego State and halfbacks Bob Miranda of Santa Clara and Tom Piggee of San Francisco State on offense plus tackle Bob Burles of Willamette, Gary Genggli of Pacific Lutheran and George Youngblood of Los Angeles State on the defensive platoon.

Combined weight of the first offensive team hits 2,332 pounds. The defenders go a shade more at 2340. Per man, that's about 212.

Named on offense are ends Garrison and George Elliott of Whitworth, tackles Weatherwax — and George Wilfort of Santa Clara; guards Roy Schmidt, Long Beach State, and Elmer Collett, San Francisco State; center Marv Peterson, Pacific Lutheran; and backs Ray Jones, Los Angeles State, Stanton, Miranda and Piggee.

Defensively, the team has Bruce Anderson, Willamette, and Perry Parks, Los Angeles State, at ends; Burles and Davis at tackles; Bill Rook, Humboldt State, Ray Johnson, Whitworth and Gary Renggli, Pacific Lutheran as linebackers and backs Fred Oppezzo, University of California at Santa Barbara, Dave Plump, Fresno State, Les Rucker, Pacific Lutheran and Youngblood.

No sophomores made the first units this year but five are juniors — Elliott, Collett, Wilfert, Parks and Youngblood.

Pacific Game Is Cancelled

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP)—University of the Pacific announced yesterday that its football game scheduled Saturday with Los Angeles State has been cancelled because rain has rendered fields in the Los Angeles area unplayable.

The UOP-LA State game was scheduled for the Rose Bowl but officials there said a game would severely damage the field.

Cancellation was by mutual consent. UOP thus finishes its season with a 1-8 record. LA State is 8-1 and due to play in the Camellia Bowl at Sacramento Dec. 11.

1965— Hard-Luck Year For Tars

By GEOFFREY DUNHAM

College of Marin Tars ended a bad season on an even worse note, absorbing a 20-0 shutout at the hands of arch-rival Santa Rosa last Friday in their traditional season finale.

The loss was the fourth straight for the Tars, who won only two of nine games in 1965. Their last four losses—to Yuba, 0-13; to Napa, 14-15; to Shasta, 6-27; and to Santa Rosa, 0-20—gave Marin a final 1-4 record in Golden Valley Conference play, and left its overall mark at 2-6-1. The final standings were as follows: The Shasta Knights, 5-0, won the championship; the Yuba 49ers, 4-1, took second; the Santa Rosa Bear Cubs, undefeated champions in 1962-63-64, finished at 3-2, good for third place; the Napa Chiefs, 2-3, were fourth; Marin, 1-4, was fifth; and the hapless Sierra Wolverines, 34-16 losers to Marin, finished in the cellar with an 0-5 mark. A win in the "big game" last Friday night would have moved the Tars up to a third-place tie with Napa and Santa Rosa.

WEIGHT ADVANTAGE

Despite the lop-sided score, it was definitely not a rout; it was a great deal closer than, say, Marin's 27-6 loss to Shasta in the previous game. The Bear Cubs were expected to utilize their great weight advantage to grind out yardage on the ground, but both teams found their attacks bogged down in the Kentfield Stadium mud. The game took on the general appearance of a punting duel, mostly in Tar territory; the first first down of the game didn't come until the last play of the opening quarter.

Twice in the early stages, Marin Head Coach Dick Read elected to play it safe, punting on third down from inside the Marin 10. Both coaches seemed to be content to sit back and wait for the breaks. Ordinarily that is pretty sound strategy, but the breaks have not gone to Marin all season and they were not about to start.

KEY PLAY

The key play was the original fluke interception. Marin had a drive going, with quarterback Mike Kemp clicking on a series of passes to split end Bill Hall. Hall ran his pattern to the right side, and Kemp threw a lovely, chest-high aerial. But Hall's feet slipped in the mud, and he was the second-most surprised man on the field as he found himself flat on his back. The first-most surprised man was the Santa Rosa defender, who found his arms full of unexpected football.

There were other breaks, too—Kemp threw four interceptions—but the Tars showed, as they did against Shasta, that they simply could not maneuver on a wet field.

The defense, as it had been all season, was excellent despite the great weight advantage of the Bear Cubs. You can't say enough about Marin's defense, coached by Pete Limm. The former Terra Linda High mentor did a job that had to be rated as little short of miraculous. His unit, which held opponents to two TD's or less on six occasions, far outclassed the unsteady offense. Their excellence was recognized when the All-Conference selections came out: Tackle Pete Dornbach, end Bob Edelstein, and safety Dave Cericola made the first team; and linebacker Norm Kreuter, who often played both ways, received honorable mention. Two other defensive players, cornerback Jim Schmidt and linebacker Steve Minuteli, would almost certainly have made it had they not missed several games because of injuries. Schmidt, a vicious tackler, was rated by many as the finest defensive back in the league when he was healthy; he picked off three interceptions against Menlo and two against Santa Rosa.

Veteran coach Ed Grimm did an outstanding job with a crippled offensive backfield, despite losses for various reasons that often left his unit at half strength. Quarterback Kemp did a fine job with no relief; Auerbach and Dave Bowman played well despite injuries, and the fullbacking of Fred Rodoni and Ray Miller was solid.

Graduations will hurt the team as most of the regulars were sophomores. On offense, the second-year men were quarterback Mike Kemp, halfback Dave Auerbach, fullbacks Ray Miller and Brian Laurie, end Ray Gonzales, tackles Kris Barnett and Ed Fellows, guards Bob Stock, and center Bob Hermsmeyer.

The defense will lose tackles Pete Dornbach, Mike Congdon and John Fedorchak, middle guard Fred Fellows, linebackers Steve Minutoli, Norm Kreuter and Lou Pharms, cornerbacks Tom Corbett and Jim Schmidt, and safety Dave Cericola.

It will hurt to lose their great defense, a unit which has improved so much over last year's. The 1964 defense allowed 225 points; this year, Limm's first, they allowed 165. The offense scored only 94 points last year; this year it tallied 99.

The Tars have not won a title since 1956, but they are bound to get some breaks sooner or later—aren't they?

Not Guilty Plea By Jesse Owens

CHICAGO (AP) — Jesse Owens, 1936 Olympic track star, pleaded innocent Tuesday to charges of failing to file income tax returns from 1959 to 1962 on income of $59,024.52.

Judge Joseph Sam Perry of U.S. District Court gave Owens' attorneys 20 days in which to file motions and the government 10 days to reply.

Outside the court room, the 52-year-old former athlete, now a disk jockey and public relations counselor, told reporters he had no comment on advice of his lawyer.

If convicted, Owens could receive a maximum penalty of four years in prison and a $40,000 fine. He is free on $1,000 bond.

The FISHIN' FOOL

I-J Fish and Game Writer

Forecast For Weather, Fish: Steelhead No, Stripers Yes

STEVENS

Just for a change, let's talk about the weather and whether or not it is worth while to go fishing these cold, dreary days. Okay?

The answer is an emphatic "no" if you would hunt the winter steelhead in our coastal stream, tide water or above. Jim Roads of the Klamath River Guide Service reported the fishing for both steelhead and salmon as poor. All streams are high and very, very colored.

The Sacramento and San Joaquin river systems are likewise in a highly unfishable condition because of the muddy waters draining into them.

But the answer is an equally emphatic "Yes" if you are willing and anxious to pit your skill—and luck—against that of his majesty, Roccus saxatilis.

It has taken the striped bass a long time to make up his mind about raising a family, but that he and his roe-filled wife have at last done so is evident by the action being had in a very large area.

Talking to Tony Caruso, I learned that while none of the salmon fleet is trying for salmon in the S.F. Bay region, many boats are taking out parties for striped bass, and are scoring with limits and near-limits. Incidentally, Caruso informed me that his boat, the Corino No. 2, leaves the harbor in Sausalito at 8 a.m. each day. Should you desire to check for type of fishing (trolling, live bait and cut sardines), and the cost per trip, I suggest you call Caruso's harbor.

There doesn't seem to be any one or two spots where the action is fastest. Caruso reported that bass are being caught all over the bay. Carl Bennett of Rodeo Marina reported that on Saturday, in spite of cold weather and choppy water, Ron Burrows and Chet Anderson took nice limits of large bass using bullheads.

Hal Boenner of Lee Anderson's in Oakland reported that the boat, R. S. P., limited for all aboard. Fish ran to 10½ pounds. The duke No. 2 had a somewhat unusual catch on Monday: The skipper netted a 21, two 22s and a 24.

Hal also reported Howard Samuel catching 18- and 16-pound bass in Broad Slough.

Back country fishing is strictly spotty, to say the most. Patrick's Resort, near Three-Mile Slough, reported a total of seven bass over the weekend. "Even the catfish seem to have gone to sleep," said Mrs. Patrick.

With a big wish for better weather and better reports — Chow!

AAU Walking Race At Northgate Sunday

Two former Olympic Games athletes are expected to compete Sunday in Marin County's first 30-kilometer walking championship.

Mike Brodie, from the 1964 team, and John McLaughlin, from the 1960 team, both of whom competed in the 50-kilometer Olympic walking event, will join about 30 other hopefuls in the Pacific Assn. championship of the A.A.U.

Bill Ranney, assistant Commissioner of race walking for the Pacific Assn., has announced that the race will start at 10 a.m. in front of the Emporium in Northgate. The course will be a one-mile loop just outside the shopping center, and it will take more than 19 circuits of the loop to complete the prescribed 30 kilometers.

Additional entries are welcome; all that prospective walkers need do is show up before the race.

Mrs. Harleen Las Gallinas Golf Champ

Mrs. Carl Harleen defeated Mrs. Charles Vincent Tuesday to win the Las Gallinas Women's Golf Club handicap championship.

Results of finals matches in other flights:

First Flight — Mrs. William Irish d. Mrs. J. L. Agnew; Second Flight—Mrs. Robert Green d. Mrs. Al Newman; Third Flight—Mrs. Ned DiGrazia d. Mrs. Charles Royce; Fourth Flight—Mrs. Walter Schwartz d. Mrs. Glenn Reick.

Low gross honors went to Mrs. Vincent with a 66 and low net was scored by Mrs. Alten Edwards, 67-13—54. Mrs. Barry Marsh won consolation prize with a 35-6—29 and Mrs. Irish won a hole-in-one competition by placing her tee shot 10 feet, 3½ inches from the pin.

Troy Will Retire Garrett's Jersey

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Southern California announced yesterday it will retire Mike Garrett's No. 20 jersey after his final collegiate football game Saturday.

The Heisman Trophy winner will be honored in a special ceremony after the USC-Wyoming game in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

Already holder of Pacific Athletic Conference and university records for both single season and career rushing, Garrett is within 58 yards of shattering Ollie Matson's national career rushing record of 3,166.

USC is a 20-point favorite, despite last week's 20-16 loss to UCLA.

The Trojans concentrated on pass defense in a 1½-hour workout. They looked for ways to stop the Cowboys' all-time top passer, Tom Wilkinson, who holds the career and single season passing records at Wyoming.

Wyoming is 6-3 for the season against USC's 6-2,1 record.

Linebacker Stephens Is Tam's MVP

Linebacker Gary Stephens was named as Tamalpais High School's Most Valuable Player for the 1965 football season Tuesday night at the Tam Boosters' Annual Fall Sports Awards ceremonies. Awards were distributed to the football teams and to the Class C basketballers.

For varsity football, the awards were as follows: Gary Stephens, most valuable player; Mike Fowler, most valuable back; Gary Cotten, most inspirational player; Horace White, most improved. Stagg awards, given by the Amos Alonzo Stagg Foundation, were presented to John Henry Bennett, Miles Miludi, Brian Collett, Don Jen, Ken Blasingame and Dave Salaun.

Also presented were the Tam varsity Player of the Week trophies, sponsored by the Mill Valley Record. They went to Paul Austin, Fowler, Kirk Sparks, Jerry Geisinger, Gary Stephens, Barry Warnock, White and Don Smith.

For the Junior Varsity, the awards went to Phil Simpson, most inspirational, and James Webb, most improved, Stagg awards went to Reggie Walker, Richard Geisinger and Larry Adams.

Freshman football awards went to Luther Brown, most improved; and to Ken Bolstead and Charles Hamilton, Stagg awards.

In "C" basketball, Mike Harris was voted most improved, while the Stagg awards went to Jack Nancarrow and Mike Castano.

Kentucky Coach Going To Iowa?

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Two newspapers reported yesterday that University of Kentucky football Coach Charlie Bradshaw is being considered for the head coaching job at the University of Iowa.

The Lexington Herald and the Louisville Courier-Journal both said Bradshaw was in line for the position vacated last week by Jerry Burns.

PRO GRID INJURIES CONTINUE TO MOUNT

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Munson of the Los Angeles Rams is out for the season and Bill Nelsen of Pittsburgh is a doubtful starter as injuries continue to plague the quarterbacks in the National Football League.

Munson suffered a knee injury in the Rams' defeat by San Francisco and underwent an operation after the game. His place will be taken by Roman Gabriel, the man he beat out for the job, when the Rams play Green Bay Sunday in the Coliseum.

Guard Don Chuy of the Rams has undergone surgery on his nose and is out of the game. Tackle Charlie Cowan and fullback Dick Bass are doubtful. The Packers expect Paul Hornung back after missing a game due to a groin injury.

If Nelsen can't work for the Steelers in their home game with the Cleveland Browns it will be Tommy Wade at quarterback. Pittsburgh already has lost receiver Roy Jefferson and center Art Hunter for the season. The Browns have no new injuries but Paul Warfield, out all season, won't return for to more weeks.

Ronnie Bull, Chicago fullback, is very doubtful for the game at New York. The Giants list end Aaron Thomas as very doubtful but expect defensive tackle John LoVetere, and defensive ends Andy Stynchula and Jim Katcavage and offensive tackle Rosey Brown to play.

Earl Gros, Philadelphia fullback, is a doubtful factor because of a gashed forehead and the St. Louis Cardinals are hopeful that Charley Johnson will be able to resume at quarterback.

Safety man Jerry Stovall and fullback Joe Childress are out, probably for the season. The Cards will have Bill Thornton available for the game at St. Louis.

Dallas regains the services of halfback Dan Reeves, out with a broken hand, but Washington probably will be without tackle Fran O'Brien and defensive back Paul Krause for its home game with the Cowboys.

Tommy Mason may miss a third straight Minnesota game due to a sore knee but San Francisco will be healthy when it invades the Vikings' home stadium.

Baltimore listed running back Tony Lorick and flanker Jimmy Orr as doubtful for Thursday's game at Detroit. The Lions don't know how much to expect from halfback Joe Don Looney, halfback Tommy Watkins and defensive back Wayne Rasmussen.

Celt Si Green Hangs Them Up

BOSTON (AP) — Sihugo Green announced his retirmenet from professional basketball yesterday after being placed on waivers by the Boston Celtics.

Green was placed on waivers to make room on the Celtics roster for Woody Sauldsberry, allowed to play by a federal court directive pending a full hearing on Sauldsberry's anti-trust suit against the National Basketball Association.

Green spent nine years in the NBA. He was the league's No. 1 draft pick in 1956 after earning All-America honors at Duquesne.

Green was drafted by the now defunct Rochester Royals and moved with the franchise to Cincinnati. He also played for St. Louis and Baltimore before being purchased from Baltimore this fall by the Celtics.

Green said he decided to "pack it in" to enable him to devote full time to a real estate business in Baltimore.

Chamber Elects In Mill Valley

Five new directors, elected yesterday to the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce board, are Clyde E. Beasley, Charles L. Françis, Peter W. Tibbetts, Roger M. Murphy and Guido Todaro. They will serve during 1966-67.

Beasley, Francis and Tibbetts are incumbents re-elected.

Holdover directors are Robert H. Andresen, Jerry D. Carver, William Eberhart, Lawrence A. Mayer and Edward M. Mills.

Officers will be elected at the next board meeting Dec. 8.

Denham Creditors Meeting Slated

The first meeting of creditors of Robert Nicholas Denham, also known as Robert Kelly, formerly doing business as Arthur Murray of Marin in San Rafael and adjudged a bankrupt, will be held Dec. 1 at 10 a.m. in Room 17435, of the Federal Building at 450 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco.

Denham was adjudged a bankrupt by the U.S. District Court on a petition filed by him on Oct. 21.

Because of an epidemic of counterfeiting, Pres. Andrew Johnson established the Secret Service.

New Red Wing Shoes To Open; Quality Auto Repair Is Sold

Scheduled to open tomorrow in San Rafael is Matson's Red Wing Shoes at 802 Fourth Street (corner of Lincoln Avenue).

The store is owned by Arthur Matson, a native of Fort Bragg, where he has been in the shoe business for 17 years. At the moment, he and his family are living in Ukiah, but intend to move to Marin at the end of the present school semester.

Matson specializes in Red Wing brand work shoes for men, special fitting — and "big feet." He has sizes up to 16 on hand. He also stocks some boots for women and some for boys, and a line of Freeman men's dress shoes.

He expects to maintain hours from about 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily—and probably will remain open longer on Friday nights.

QUALITY AUTO REPAIR at 491 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, has been sold by Clifford N. Snow to James N. Kambur, who will take possession Dec. 1.

Kambur, a resident of Terra Linda, owns Mill Valley Shell Service on East Blithedale, Mill Valley. He will split his time between the two businesses. Name of the repair shop will remain the same.

Snow, who has had the shop about two years, is returning to the Midwest.

INTERNATIONAL TUTORING SERVICES has moved from 538 Fourth Street a block west to 1108 Irwin Street, San Rafael. This is where the Marin County Heart Assn. was formerly located. International has taken over the entire building and has much more space than before.

R. A. Lindskog, owner of the property at 538 Fourth Street, is remodeling here and will move his real estate offices to this building from 910 Irwin Street by the first of the year.

Gonella Hunt

NEW HEAD of Timeplan at Bank of America's San Rafael office is Philip B. Gonella, who has served as head of that department at the Colma branch for the past two years.

He joined the bank at his native Merced in 1936 and worked in several branches before World War II. In 1946 he returned to the bank and served in Bakersfield. He was Timeplan district manager five years before being promoted to assistant vice president at the bank's headquarters in 1958.

JOHN (BILL) HUNT of San Rafael has been appointed industrial communications representative for Motorola Communications and Electronics, Inc. He has been with the company since last year and was previously sales manager for Klein's TV in San Rafael. Hunt recently returned from a month-long training school with Motorola in Chicago.

WINNER of last Saturday's drawing at the Corte Madera Shopping Center was Mrs. Margie Walker of 4 Mohawk Avenue, Corte Madera. She won a 1949 Packard automobile filled with groceries valued at $266. The Corte Madera Center merchants council, sponsor of the contest, also gave away 50 turkeys—and wouldn't you know it? Mrs. Walker's name was drawn twice—first for a turkey, then for the car!

HAROLD C. HOUTS of Mill alley, ship bunker fuels representative covering the West Coast for Shell Oil Co., has received an emblem and honors for his 15 years of service. Houts joined Shell in Chicago and served in sales posts in the Midwest before coming to San Francisco in 1963. He is a native of Seattle.

President of Marin Motion Picture and TV Council is Mrs. David Lawrence, and Mrs. Willard Vernon is chairman.

Co-Op Buys Unused Store

Consumers Cooperative of Berkeley, Inc., has purchased property recently vacated by Safeway Stores at Shattuck Avenue and Cedar Street in Berkeley.

Total area of the property is 30,000 square feet, including the store building, parking lot adjoining it.

The consumer organization now numbers 37,000 Bay Area shareholding families, with seven shopping centers in Berkeley, El Cerrito and Castro Valley. A Marin County center is due to open about the middle of 1966 at 65 Tamal Vista Road, Corte Madera.

The 1,079-foot tower of WITI-TV, Milwaukee, Wisc., is the tallest self-supporting tower in the Western Hemisphere.

MRS. ARA PARSEGHIAN

Life Of A Coach's Wife: Tension And Excitment

The following was written by the wife of Ara Parseghian, Notre Dame's head football coach, for the Associated Press.

By KATHLEEN PARSEGHIAN

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—On a Notre Dame football Saturday at the Parseghian home, the butterflies we've had since early morning feel more like eagles as the game gets closer. Then it's all over and, suddenly, there's relaxation at our informal open-house for out-of-town friends and, later, at Father Hesburgh's school president Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh reception.

That is a simple description of a hectic football weekend replete with tension, excitement and responsibilities that go along with being in a coaching family.

After 15 years in this profession—with Ara at Miami of Ohio, Northwestern University and now Notre Dame—the children and I have grown accustomed to our somewhat disrupted way of family life.

The children, Karan, 15; Kristan, 13, and Mike, 10, have learned that football is a demanding job.

We know Ara will not be home for dinner from Sept. 1 until the end of the season. Sunday mornings are really about the only time the family has together.

We have grown accustomed to Christmas on Dec. 15, because five of the last eight years, we have gone with Ara to post-season games.

Thanksgiving is another practice day and spring vacation is also spring football practice.

We can always count on Ara, though, for Feb. 27 because Kriss, Mike and I all have birthdays that date.

But we have learned that moving is not the end of the world, even though it seems so. Within a week of our moving here from Northwestern University, the children loved their school and South Bend. They helped plan our new, two-story colonial house, and it wasn't too long before they caught the amazing spirit of Norte Dame.

We have been a part of three fine universities; worked with fine boys; enjoyed praise for Ara; boiled at any criticism; thrilled through the big wins; and suffered through the losses.

And none of us would trade any of it.

To all the young girls who think it would be exciting to marry a football coach I say: Pick one who is intelligent, personable, enthusiastic and lucky. It takes a little of all these things to survive the whims of an elusive, little ball, and the skills and emotions of a group of young men. And, even with the best you will have rough days.

We've all had our thrills.

I've met celebrities and have been treated as one. Karan has sat in a box with Richard Nixon and peeked at Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy nearby. Mike has traveled with the team and gets to visit the locker room with "our heroes."

Kriss loves the Saturday telegrams from people like Sen. Kennedy, Scott Brady and just Nanny and Grandpa.

We have a listed phone number and receive all kinds of calls.

They may be about tickets. Someone may ask about sweatshirts to be sent out. A couple of chaps will want an argument settled. It may be a wish for good luck, or, "You did a lousy job last week."

The most aggravating calls are the ones from the West Coast — persons who forget the time difference and phone in the middle of the night.

Ara arises every morning at 5:30 and is gone before we are up. He will have coffee and the newspapers downtown, and start a staff meeting at 7 a.m.

We know he won't be home before 10 p.m., on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday and 9 p.m., on Wednesday and Thursday.

There's a Friday morning ritual of good-luck kisses. Then Ara is off with the team for the rest of the day and night.

We know when the season is over, Ara will be gone for banquets, alumni meetings and clinics. Last year, he was home for dinner only 17 times from Sept. 1 until March 1.

Our Mike, built like a little Ara, is arriving at the athletic age — football with the neighborhood gang, Little League baseball and grade school basketball.

I wonder sometimes if my nerves will stand another generation of sports. So don't be surprised if I encourage him to be anything but a coach, not that football ISN'T a great game—to watch without a worry in the world.

A little after lunch these fall Sundays, after the last guests have gone and Ara has returned to his office, I collapse on the couch and announce: "Do not disturb."

We've A Lot To Be Grateful For This Thanksgiving Day

Today we join the nation in offering thanks for the many bounties we enjoy.

The physical comforts of home, food and clothing, and the freedom from want and fear, which we take for granted, did not and do not come easily.

We owe these blessings to the courageous Americans who cleared the West, tilled the soil and fought for the ideal—a free society with equality and justice for all. Those are ideals toward which we still strive.

But uppermost in our minds today are other courageous Americans who are braving muck, mud, fire and steel in far off countries so that the rest of us can live in freedom. To them, we give humble thanks.

On the home front, despite the rioting and bloodshed, this has been a year of accomplishments.

"We have guaranteed the right to vote to all our citizens," the President noted. "We have pledged dignity to our elderly — even in sickness. We have added new dimensions to the education of our youth. We have broadened the horizons of opportunity for our poor . . ."

And he called for prayers that "the forces of violence, indifference and intolerance may soon vanish from the face of the earth."

By a quirk of fate, we might just as well have been born in a hovel, sleeping in the streets, dodging bullets, grateful for enough rice each day to keep body and soul together, with rags and scraps of cloth for clothing, without hope of education or a chance to break out of the encompassing circle of proverty.

Instead, we can afford to indulge in the luxury of grumbling about the overdone turkey, the inclement weather, the congested traffic, or poor TV reception.

We can never repay all of those who have and are sacrificing to insure us our luxuries.

The least we can do to give expression to our gratitude is to help ease the sufferings of those around us, with little acts of kindness of which we are all capable.

No amount of "sacrifice" within the comforts of our home and community can begin to compare with sacrifices paid by others so that we can be free and secure.

We have much for which to be grateful on this Thanksgiving Day.

The Uncommonly Common Cold

Not only are colds uncommonly common right now, but they are also commonly uncommon. Ask anyone who has one. A cold is only common to the fellow who doesn't have it.

Marin's rainy season must be a time of rejoicing for the stores that stock those tissues for blowing. Winter and viruses are buddies.

They make a nasty pair.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

EVERYONE IS NEEDED

The comedian, Sam Levensen, once said: "When my immigrant father came over here from the old country, he found out 3 things:

1. that the streets were not paved with gold;
2. that most of the streets were not even paved;
3. that he had to help pave them."

Heartfelt thanks is due to those who do the pioneering in any country. They usually learn the hard way that they must make their own dreams come true. And, in doing this, they help countless others as well as themselves.

A far greater responsibility rests on those who are blessed with food, shelter, medical assistance, schooling, countless technological advantages, as well as the inspiration of religion. They should work much harder to be of service to those less fortunate than themselves.

Strive to bring about in your community, nation and world the temporal and spiritual conditions that contribute to the peace and prosperity of all people.

"Thanks be to God for His unspeakable gift."
(2 Corinthians 9:15)

Grant me the vision and strength, O Holy Spirit, to do my part to bring about a better world.

Real Estate Spokesman Contends Few Home Sellers Showing Bias

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO — Although Californians have the right, as expressed through the adoption of Proposition 14 last year, to restrict sales of their own property to whom they wish to sell it, rent it, or lease it, this right is not being exercised to provide discrimination, at least so far as sales are concerned.

This is the observation of David N. Robinson, Berkeley, president of the California Real Estate Assn., which led the battle to retain the property owner's rights in handling his own property.

AFTER ALMOST a year of operation under the constitutional provision, which was hailed by its opponents as a move to effect discrimination throughout California, Robinson says less than half of one per cent of those who put their property up for sale through multiple listing stipulate as to whom it can be sold.

The association made the survey to get at the facts. It found total listings processed by reporting multiple listing boards, which constitute nearly all the members of the association; amounted to 185,768. Out of these listings only 1,036 were restricted as to whom the property could be sold.

"We wanted to know," Robinson said, "what effect, if any, passage of Proposition 14 by the voters a year ago had on the amount of housing available to minority groups.

"The answer is clear. The people of California are not, as so loudly predicted, slamming the door in the faces of minorities wanting housing.

"Housing, at least that which is for sale, according to this survey, is available to anyone who wants and can afford it, with very few exceptions.

"I THINK it's high time that those who claim they want to combat racial and religious discrimination stop accusing property owners of California and realtors who carry out their instructions of fostering such discrimination."

The report presents some evidence to the effect that opponents of the proposition lacked understanding of the thinking on the part of property owners and clearly points to the fact that, as Robinson says, retention of a traditional right was the motivating factor behind the tremendous vote chalked up in favor of the measure, a vote which was better than three to one in its favor.

IN OTHER WORDS, from the action and operation during the last year, discrimination had little to do with adoption of the amendment, but the fact certain elements of society were attempting to deprive certain other elements of the populace from rights enjoyed over a couple of centuries played a much greater role in the final vote.

You'll Be Sorry, Tears Won't Help

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Won't it be great when all these lovely people who are thronging to Marvelous Marin with their little children, and who love everything about it but the taxes, and who stayed away from the voting booths by the hundreds on Nov. 16, grow older, have teen-agers in the house and wonder why the high schools are so over crowded and inadequate?

Just you wait, all you people, just you wait! You'll be sorry, but your tears will be too late!

VDC Goals Same As Goals Of The U.S.A.

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The goals of the VDC are no more than the stated goals of American democracy — "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness." Contrary to what the John Birch Society would have us believe, the blessings of American democracy have not been bestowed upon the people of South Viet Nam by our troops in Southeast Asia. Freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom of assembly—all of these have consistently been denied to the South Vietnamese. The free elections promised in 1957 have never been held. The present ruler of South Viet Nam, Premier Ky, is nothing more than a petty dictator who seized power in a palace coup.

There are those who will attempt to evade the issue at hand by telling us that conditions under communism would be much worse than they are today under the South Vietnamese brand of "democracy." This is not the point. The U. S. has promised certain democratic reforms in South Vietnam—has told the world that this is what we are fighting for—and yet, over a period of 10 years, we have failed to deliver the goods. Instead we have been content to sit back and watch a totalitarian regime shuttle innocent peasants into "strategic hamlets" styled after concentration camps. The next time the casualty figures roll in from Viet Nam, ask yourself one question: "Is Premier Ky's government really worth it?"

U.S. Must Be Free Of United Nations

Editor, Independent-Journal:

It seems inconsistent for freedom-loving U. S. to oppose freedom for Rhodesia, while we are fighting and dying for Viet Nam freedom! We need to remember that white settlers went to South Africa about the time our forefathers pioneered America, and without the whites there would be no civilization!

President Johnson said the Viet Nam operation is in accordance with the SEATO agreement. That means it is under direction of the U. N. Military Committee, whose chairman always is a Russian!

A declaration of war would have necessitated defining the enemy, which is the Communist conspiracy.

Being under U. N. direction could be the reason aid and trade with the enemy is encouraged — why we are disarming, unilaterally — and the reason we are not permitted to accept help offered by our staunchest ally, Nationalist China.

According to U. S. News and World Report, Chiang Kai-shek said " . . . we are confident that Asian manpower co-ordinated with American technology and supplies will result in the greatest politico-military power in history for the maintenance of peace."

Until we free ourselves from the U. N. stranglehold, how can we free Vietnamese or anyone else?

Reader's Cheers For Pre-School

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Re: "Sausalito Pre-School," Nov. 17, 1965, page 1.

It is a pleasure to have an opportunity to espouse the cause of a pre-school program — in this instance, the one in question seems to be that of Sausalito.

With all due respect to the medical profession and Dr. Ira Degenhart in particular, it would seem obvious that we homo sapiens have great difficulty living in amity today, regardless of 'higher or lower" incomes. The gregariousness of the human animal seems to demand that we learn to live together and the earlier we "get with it" in the formative years, whatever the label of a few, the better citizens we may hope to produce!

Cheers and huzzahs to our pre-school program and to Sausalito's in particular! This, from the mother of three nursery school trained children, two nursery school trained grand-children and a contemporary county kindergarten teacher - with a sense of humble thanks for a growing awakening in our community.

Reason Suggested For Bond Defeat

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Re: The defeat of the Tamalpais High School District bond issue.

One factor, which the architects of the proposal chose to ignore, could conceivably have spelled the difference between passage and defeat. And that is—in the proposal for the new San Geronimo High School, the planners announced to the parents of 750 children that these "expendables" stood to be pulled out of the school to which they had adjusted, and be placed, possibly in the middle of a school year, into a new school which would have a "nearly equivalent program."

Why—since the school was not to be built for a full enrollment, anyway, couldn't they have settled for beginning with a ninth grade only—and build from there?

Other districts have done this, and have suffered fewer "growing pains" than those encountered in trying to create and staff a full high school all at once.

Granted, such a program would not relieve the overcrowding as rapidly, but what have the trustees accomplished by insisting upon a full solution? Absolutely nothing will be done this year.

I hope that the next time this issue comes before the voters, the trustees will show less rigidity of thought.

Because a two-thirds majority is so difficult to obtain, they cannot afford to antagonize a sizable block of potential "yes" voters, particularly where a reasonable compromise is so patently apparent.

UP FOR STEALING a loaf of bread and two apples, an unfortunate character explained to the judge, "I expected I'd get the works for what I did." "In that case," asked the judge, "why didn't you go the whole hog and rob a bank?" "But Your Honor," said the character who obviously didn't get all the sentence he deserved, "food I like, banks I don't have any interest in."

ONE OF Casey Stengel's more improbable yarns concerns a game about 1910 in which he claims he played centerfield in the famed metropolis of Shelbyville, Ky. The park had no fence, and when the cleanup hitter on the opposing nine belted a ball on the nose, Casey began backpedaling frantically toward a river just beyond the field. He never stopped. He ended up in four feet of water, emerging with the ball in one hand and a catfish in the other.

Johnson Combines Strong Points Of Many Previous Presidents

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Lyndon B. Johnson, now starting his third White House year, is different from any of his predecessors in this century with its brilliant examples of how to run the presidency, and how not to.

While Theodore Roosevelt and William Howard Taft were both conservatives, Roosevelt, his batteries always charged, was conscious of changing needs and sought to meet some of them. Like Woodrow Wilson later, he tried to provide new ideals.

BUT HE NEVER stopped being a bit of a cowboy and it confused his image in the public mind. Taft, who can be called the father of the income tax because revenue was needed at the time, was no social innovator.

He never rocked the boat. He oiled the machinery of government.

Wilson, idealistic and liberal but only up to a point, never learned the president is not a private person. He isolated himself and became remote. More a prophet than a statesman, one commentator said.

In dealing with Congress, despite all he wrote on government, Wilson was an amateur compared with someone like Johnson. And he paid for it dearly.

Warren G. Harding was the country's best example of how not to be a president while Calvin Coolidge, the silent type, showed few words may mean few ideas and that the White House is no place for the country store outlook.

Franklin D. Roosevelt's presidency demonstrated there can be more action in the mind than the biceps. A paralytic in a wheelchair throughout his presidency, he changed the spirit and direction of his country.

HE RESPONDED to chaos with imagination and concern, combining his actions with eloquence and a miraculous voice, which revealed how a politician who can create a father image of himself, based on performance, is unbeatable.

Harry S. Truman, no intellectual, was proof that a man can be a great president without a Ph.D. He didn't have learning, he had judgment. He didn't have charm, he had guts.

Together they enabled him to make tough decisions — and some mistakes — fact which, put another way, meant he had the willingness and sturdiness to encounter and conquer crises, or try to.

Dwight D. Eisenhower's eight years in office will not put him among the great or even the near-great presidents.

Yet Eisenhower, a soldier without political experience, wound up one of the best politicians of the century, if political success is to be judged by the attitude of voters.

John F. Kennedy's presidency can never be fully appraised since the final judgment would have had to rest with the future which, for him, never came.

IN TIME, judging from his popularity abroad, he might have been a great world leader. Because his chances and therefore his achievements were limited, his popularity at home has its own lesson: The magic personality, even without great performance, can bring a president not only acclaim but even adulation.

Johnson has some of Theodore Roosevelt's bounce, some of Taft's concern with the machinery of government, and none of their conservatism. He speaks in the idealistic terms of Wilson, but not nearly so well, although he was shown himself more truly liberal. Wilson was withdrawn; Johnson is anything but.

By his actions in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic he has shown the same determination as Truman and the same willingness to face decisions. He lacks Kennedy's grace, wit and ease but has far more ability in getting things done.

MORE THAN any president in this century he is a master politician — so far — in obtaining what he wants.

Poverty Warriors Seek To Play House

By ROBERT S. ALLEN
and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Anti-poverty planners want to "play house" with American families.

UNDER STUDY by program-formulating officials of the Office of Economic Opportunity are unique proposals to install entire families in special training camps to live government-ordered lives.

The fathers would be trained in new job skills; the mothers would be taught homemaking techniques and attitudes; and their children would attend schools — all at federal expense and direction.

All their needs—furnishings, food, health, recreation, training and even clothing—would be provided by the government.

As the anti-poverty planners see this extraordinary concept, it offers an "imaginative and promising solution" to the serious problem of retaining married trainees in Job Corps camps and other training installations.

LONELINESS and homesickness are deemed a major cause of married drop-outs.

One conservative estimate for a camp of 200 families is $2 million — or more — annually.

Additional funds would have to be sought from Congress as the existing anti-poverty budget would not cover the heavy increased outlay. How Congress would react to such an exceptional idea presents still another problem.

Meanwhile, the family training concept is spelled out in a prospectus prepared by a Western subsidiary of International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. (IT&T), which would like to undertake the experiment under government contract.

The IT&T subsidiary prospectus stresses that life in a family training camp would be carefully patterned after and based on middle class standards. Says this unpublished opus:

"THE SCHEDULING of all activities will be similar to that of a normal, everyday family. The father will receive vocational training in a time frame similar to an average working day. The mother will receive training and have sufficient time remaining for household chores, maintaining a schedule similar to that of normal families. The work days of both parents will culminate with the evening meal, thereby maintaining the normal whole family concept.

"Evenings and weekends will be free of formal training to permit family recreation and activities. Every effort will be made to afford a full calendar of social activities such as picnics, dances, cookouts, movies, etc."

"A COMMISSARY will be established as close as possible to the apartment complex. Food obtained from GSA (General Services Administration) will be marketed at prices below retail supermarkets. This will enable families to live comfortably on less money . . . an estimated food budget of $15 to $20 a week."

1965— Hard-Luck Year For Tars

Independent-Journal Sports

By GEOFFREY DUNHAM

College of Marin Tars ended a bad season on an even worse note, absorbing a 20-0 shutout at the hands of arch-rival Santa Rosa last Friday in their traditional season finale.

The loss was the fourth straight for the Tars, who won only two of nine games in 1965. Their last four losses—to Yuba, 0-13; to Napa, 14-15; to Shasta, 6-27; and to Santa Rosa, 0-20—gave Marin a final 1-4 record in Golden Valley Conference play, and left its overall mark at 2-6-1. The final standings were as follows: The Shasta Knights, 5-0, won the championship; the Yuba 49ers, 4-1, took second; the Santa Rosa Bear Cubs, undefeated champions in 1962-63-64, finished at 3-2, good for third place; the Napa Chiefs, 2-3, were fourth; Marin, 1-4, was fifth; and the hapless Sierra Wolverines, 34-16 losers to Marin, finished in the cellar with an 0-5 mark. A win in the "big game" last Friday night would have moved the Tars up to a third-place tie with Napa and Santa Rosa.

WEIGHT ADVANTAGE

Despite the lop-sided score, it was definitely not a rout; it was a great deal closer than, say, Marin's 27-6 loss to Shasta in the previous game. The Bear Cubs were expected to utilize their great weight advantage to grind out yardage on the ground, but both teams found their attacks bogged down in the Kentfield Stadium mud. The game took on the general appearance of a punting duel, mostly in Tar territory; the first first down of the game didn't come until the last play of the opening quarter.

Twice in the early stages, Marin Head Coach Dick Read elected to play it safe, punting on third down from inside the Marin 10. Both coaches seemed to be content to sit back and wait for the breaks. Ordinarily that is pretty sound strategy, but the breaks have not gone to Marin all season and they were not about to start.

KEY PLAY

The key play was the original fluke interception. Marin had a drive going, with quarterback Mike Kemp clicking on a series of passes to split end Bill Hall. Hall ran his pattern to the right side, and Kemp threw a lovely, chest-high aerial. But Hall's feet slipped in the mud, and he was the second-most surprised man on the field as he found himself flat on his back. The first-most surprised man was the Santa Rosa defender, who found his arms full of unexpected football.

There were other breaks, too—Kemp threw four interceptions—but the Tars showed, as they did against Shasta, that they simply could not maneuver on a wet field.

The defense, as it had been all season, was excellent despite the great weight advantage of the Bear Cubs. You can't say enough about Marin's defense, coached by Pete Limm. The former Terra Linda High mentor did a job that had to be rated as little short of miraculous. His unit, which held opponents to two TD's or less on six occasions, far outclassed the unsteady offense. Their excellence was recognized when the All-Conference selections came out: Tackle Pete Dornbach, end Bob Edelstein, and safety Dave Cericola made the first team; and linebacker Norm Kreuter, who often played both ways, received honorable mention. Two other defensive players, cornerback Jim Schmidt and linebacker Steve Minuteli, would almost certainly have made it had they not missed several games because of injuries. Schmidt, a vicious tackler, was rated by many as the finest defensive back in the league when he was healthy; he picked off three interceptions against Menlo and two against Santa Rosa.

Veteran coach Ed Grimm did an outstanding job with a crippled offensive backfield, despite losses for various reasons that often left his unit at half strength. Quarterback Kemp did a fine job with no relief; Auerbach and Dave Bowman played well despite injuries, and the fullbacking of Fred Rodoni and Ray Miller was solid.

Graduations will hurt the team as most of the regulars were sophomores. On offense, the second-year men were quarterback Mike Kemp, halfback Dave Auerbach, fullbacks Ray Miller and Brian Laurie, end Ray Gonzales, tackles Kris Barnett and Ed Fellows, guards Bob Stock, and center Bob Hermsmeyer.

The defense will lose tackles Pete Dornbach, Mike Congdon and John Fedorchak, middle guard Fred Fellows, linebackers Steve Minutoli, Norm Kreuter and Lou Pharms, cornerbacks Tom Corbett and Jim Schmidt, and safety Dave Cericola.

It will hurt to lose their great defense, a unit which has improved so much over last year's. The 1964 defense allowed 225 points; this year, Limm's first, they allowed 165. The offense scored only 94 points last year; this year it tallied 99.

The Tars have not won a title since 1956, but they are bound to get some breaks sooner or later—aren't they?

Not Guilty Plea By Jesse Owens

CHICAGO (AP) — Jesse Owens, 1936 Olympic track star, pleaded innocent Tuesday to charges of failing to file income tax returns from 1959 to 1962 on income of $59,024.52.

Judge Joseph Sam Perry of U.S. District Court gave Owens' attorneys 20 days in which to file motions and the government 10 days to reply.

Outside the court room, the 52-year-old former athlete, now a disk jockey and public relations counselor, told reporters he had no comment on advice of his lawyer.

If convicted, Owens could receive a maximum penalty of four years in prison and a $40,000 fine. He is free on $1,000 bond.

She Cooks The Turkey, Then She Must Carve And Serve It

NEW YORK (AP) — The Thanksgiving crisis will come in millions of American homes when it is put upon the table.

It is a bird called a turkey, and it may weigh anywhere from eight pounds to 30 or more.

It will be washed and plucked. Everybody in the family will come and pat it fondly. Then it will be stuffed with sage and oysters and bread crumbs and put into the oven and basted and watched over until it turns a tender golden brown.

THEN, ACCOMPANIED by a myriad of vegetables, it will be placed upon the table by a wife whose warm-flushed face is a testimony of womanhood in glory.

As everybody stands around marveling, the wife will go into the kitchen and come back with a knife in her hand.

She will hold it out with a questioning look.

This is the hour of crisis.

This is the terrible moment of decision.

WHO WILL CARVE the turkey?

This is the time that separates the man from his performance.

"You do it, Joe," says the host to a guest.

"Naw, Jim," replies the guest to the host. "You do it."

They face each other with a look of equal cunning and equal dismay.

EACH KNOWS that if he takes the knife he will make a fool of himself — and of the festive occasion.

They may be chefs, butchers, brain surgeons, plumbers or lawyers.

But each knows, whatever his talent, it is inadequate now.

He knows that, if he accepts the knife, it will turn out to be dull. He will find the turkey tough. He will sweat and strain and wish he could attack the bird with a Boy Scout axe or put a dynamite cap in its middle and blow its junctures apart in a shower of gravy.

FINALLY, the hostess says in pretended exasperation:

"Well, you men! I don't know what the world is coming to. Sit down now, and I'll serve you."

Sighing in relief, the men sit down and shuffle their feet under their chairs, and the ladies sit down, too, and say ladylike things to each other such as, "My, doesn't the table look lovely?"

The hostess takes up the knife and skillfully attacks the bird. Swiftly she apportions the meat to the plates, and one of the children meekly suggests, "Shouldn't we say grace first?"

"You say it, Jim," says the guest to the host, knowing what the answer will be.

"NO, JOE," says the host to the guest. "You say it."

"Okay," says Joe, lowering his eyes. "O Lord, we thank thee for Thy peace and fellowship at this table and . . . uh . . . what we are about to receive, forever and ever. Amen."

There is a moment of silence, as each guest reviews his blessings, and then Jim says rather loudly:

"Hey, that was okay, Joe. What'll you have—light or dark or both?"

And the flushed and smiling hostess, too excited herself to eat, sits before the turkey like an angel with a sword, ready to serve more.

There is plenty for all.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By STEPHEN COOK

What Good Is A Report Card If You Can't Read The Thing?

Elementary school educators, it seems, are well on their way toward taking the trauma out of the year's four most perilous school days, when the student must summon up all courage, march straight home and present Mom or Dad with his report card for the quarter. Some of the anxiety may remain, but the youngsters sure seem to have it a lot easier.

Today they can walk home, joking and laughing with friends, and not worry about what Mom and Dad will say when they first see the card. Their first utterance naturally will be:

"WHAT DOES this mean?"

And it probably will be several days before they get an answer. The report cards have been so refined that the parents must consult with the teacher for translation before they can discover how Junior has done.

The cards fall into two categories. One attempts to shelter the child from the competitive grading he must one day face. The other tries to grade him both competitively and individually. It may be that neither does the job educators hope for.

IN THE KENTFIELD School District, the school board recently adopted a new grading policy. Children in grades one through three receive marks of either "satisfactory" or "improvement needed" on their cards. In the fourth through sixth grades, the mark "commendable" is added as something better than "satisfactory." Seventh and eighth graders receive marks of "A," "B," "C," "D" or "F."

The Larkspur School District has almost the same system. Grades one through three are marked "satisfactory" and "help needed." All other grades, though, are given letter grades. The San Anselmo School District is similar. Grades of "very good," "satisfactory" and "improvement needed" are given through the third grade. After that, all students are graded by the letters.

MRS. CATHERINE Burch, principal at Neil Cummins School in the Larkspur School District, explains that the indistinct grades are given "because if a child is immature, we don't want to give him a lot of bad grades which will bother him when he matures."

Kentfield School District Supt. Howard C. Harmon says about the same thing: "We just try to move the child gradually into the competitive grading system he will have in high school."

Educators may hope the grades are not competitive, but do they know the mother who tells her child: "Face it. If you get an 'improvement needed,' you should know it is the same as a 'D' or an 'F.' "

THE MORE complicated report cards attempt to give a more definitive grade. The Dixie School District recently adopted two such cards for pilot projects in Bernard Hoffman and Mill Creek schools.

At Hoffman, fourth through sixth graders receive marks in two grading columns. One compares his performance with the rest of the class, the other grades his individual achievement. A child may bring home arithmetic grades of "D" and "B."

At Miller Creek School, seventh and eighth graders are assigned both grades and levels of work for each academic subject. The student has five possible grades in five possible levels for each subject. The mind boggles at the thought of the number of different combinations of grades possible.

These report cards are experimental and the subject of the experiment may be the parent and how he reacts. San Anselmo School District Supt. Stephen Parodi wonders: "If you get it too complicated, who is going to understand it?"

Twenty Pupils Per Teacher Is Reed Policy

The Reed School District board, meeting Tuesday night at Del Mar School, approved a policy of having a minimum of 50 teachers per 1,000 pupils — a ratio of one to 20.

The board agreed that the aim of the district is to have a teacher-pupil ratio of one to 18. Of the minimum 50 teachers, 45 are to be fulltime classroom teachers.

The Reed School District board also:

1. Agreed to co-sponsor a symposium on human rights with the Marin County Human Rights Commission, to be held in Marin City on Dec. 11, but withheld financial support.
2. Granted a leave of absence to seventh-eighth grade teacher Nancy van Ravenswaay, and hired Phyllis J. Root to replace her.

Trustee Marilyn C. Steinau was absent.

The building of Hoover Dam in Nevada created Lake Mead, a recreational area with 550 miles of shoreline.

Airport District Is Predicted

Marin County might find itself included in a district to control and support San Francisco International Airport, Assemblyman John F. Foran (D-San Francisco) predicted Tuesday.

Foran spoke after a meeting of the Assembly Interim Committee on Transportation. He said he might introduce legislation in 1967 to create a nine-county Bay Area airport district.

A speaker at the session was state aeronautics director Clyde P. Barnett, who said regional control of airports is needed to spread the cost among all who use them.

Chamber Elects In Mill Valley

Five new directors, elected yesterday to the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce board, are Clyde E. Beasley, Charles L. Francis, Peter W. Tibbetts, Roger M. Murphy and Guido Todaro. They will serve during 1966-67.

Beasley, Francis and Tibbetts are incumbents re-elected.

Holdover directors are Robert H. Andresen, Jerry D. Carver, William Eberhart, Lawrence A. Mayer and Edward M. Mills.

Officers will be elected at the next board meeting Dec. 8.

Denham Creditors Meeting Slated

The first meeting of creditors of Robert Nicholas Denham, also known as Robert Kelly, formerly doing business as Arthur Murray of Marin in San Rafael and adjudged a bankrupt, will be held Dec. 1 at 10 a.m. in Room 17435, of the Federal Building at 450 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco.

Denham was adjudged a bankrupt by the U.S. District Court on a petition filed by him on Oct. 21.

Because of an epidemic of counterfeiting, Pres. Andrew Johnson established the Secret Service.

New Red Wing Shoes To Open; Quality Auto Repair Is Sold

Scheduled to open tomorrow in San Rafael is Matson's Red Wing Shoes at 802 Fourth Street (corner of Lincoln Avenue).

The store is owned by Arthur Matson, a native of Fort Bragg, where he has been in the shoe business for 17 years. At the moment, he and his family are living in Ukiah, but intend to move to Marin at the end of the present school semester.

Matson specializes in Red Wing brand work shoes for men, special fitting — and "big feet." He has sizes up to 16 on hand. He also stocks some boots for women and some for boys, and a line of Freeman men's dress shoes.

He expects to maintain hours from about 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily—and probably will remain open longer on Friday nights.

QUALITY AUTO REPAIR at 491 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, has been sold by Clifford N. Snow to James N. Kambur, who will take possession Dec. 1.

Kambur, a resident of Terra Linda, owns Mill Valley Shell Service on East Blithedale, Mill Valley. He will split his time between the two businesses. Name of the repair shop will remain the same.

Snow, who has had the shop about two years, is returning to the Midwest.

INTERNATIONAL TUTORING SERVICES has moved from 538 Fourth Street a block west to 1108 Irwin Street, San Rafael. This is where the Marin County Heart Assn. was formerly located. International has taken over the entire building and has much more space than before.

R. A. Lindskog, owner of the property at 538 Fourth Street, is remodeling here and will move his real estate offices to this building from 910 Irwin Street by the first of the year.

Gonella

Hunt

NEW HEAD of Timeplan at Bank of America's San Rafael office is Philip B. Gonella, who has served as head of that department at the Colma branch for the past two years.

He joined the bank at his native Merced in 1936 and worked in several branches before World War II. In 1946 he returned to the bank and served in Bakersfield. He was Timeplan district manager five years before being promoted to assistant vice president at the bank's headquarters in 1958.

JOHN (BILL) HUNT of San Rafael has been appointed industrial communications representative for Motorola Communications and Electronics, Inc. He has been with the company since last year and was previously sales manager for Klein's TV in San Rafael. Hunt recently returned from a month-long training school with Motorola in Chicago.

WINNER of last Saturday's drawing at the Corte Madera Shopping Center was Mrs. Margie Walker of 4 Mohawk Avenue, Corte Madera. She won a 1949 Packard automobile filled with groceries valued at $266. The Corte Madera Center merchants council, sponsor of the contest, also gave away 50 turkeys—and wouldn't you know it? Mrs. Walker's name was drawn twice—first for a turkey, then for the car!

HAROLD C. HOUTS of Mill alley, ship bunker fuels representative covering the West Coast for Shell Oil Co., has received an emblem and honors for his 15 years of service. Houts joined Shell in Chicago and served in sales posts in the Midwest before coming to San Francisco in 1963. He is a native of Seattle.

President of Marin Motion Picture and TV Council is Mrs. David Lawrence, and Mrs. Willard Vernon is chairman.

Co-Op Buys Unused Store

Consumers Cooperative of Berkeley, Inc., has purchased property recently vacated by Safeway Stores at Shattuck Avenue and Cedar Street in Berkeley.

Total area of the property is 30,000 square feet, including the store building, parking lot adjoining it.

The consumer organization now numbers 37,000 Bay Area shareholding families, with seven shopping centers in Berkeley, El Cerrito and Castro Valley. A Marin County center is due to open about the middle of 1966 at 65 Tamal Vista Road, Corte Madera.

The 1,079-foot tower of WITI-TV, Milwaukee, Wisc., is the tallest self-supporting tower in the Western Hemisphere.

We've A Lot To Be Grateful For This Thanksgiving Day

Today we join the nation in offering thanks for the many bounties we enjoy.

The physical comforts of home, food and clothing, and the freedom from want and fear, which we take for granted, did not and do not come easily.

We owe these blessings to the courageous Americans who cleared the West, tilled the soil and fought for the ideal—a free society with equality and justice for all. Those are ideals toward which we still strive.

But uppermost in our minds today are other courageous Americans who are braving muck, mud, fire and steel in far off countries so that the rest of us can live in freedom. To them, we give humble thanks.

On the home front, despite the rioting and bloodshed, this has been a year of accomplishments.

"We have guaranteed the right to vote to all our citizens," the President noted. "We have pledged dignity to our elderly — even in sickness. We have added new dimensions to the education of our youth. We have broadened the horizons of opportunity for our poor . . ."

And he called for prayers that "the forces of violence, indifference and intolerance may soon vanish from the face of the earth."

By a quirk of fate, we might just as well have been born in a hovel, sleeping in the streets, dodging bullets, grateful for enough rice each day to keep body and soul together, with rags and scraps of cloth for clothing, without hope of education or a chance to break out of the encompassing circle of proverty.

Instead, we can afford to indulge in the luxury of grumbling about the overdone turkey, the inclement weather, the congested traffic, or poor TV reception.

We can never repay all of those who have and are sacrificing to insure us our luxuries.

The least we can do to give expression to our gratitude is to help ease the sufferings of those around us, with little acts of kindness of which we are all capable.

No amount of "sacrifice" within the comforts of our home and community can begin to compare with sacrifices paid by others so that we can be free and secure.

We have much for which to be grateful on this Thanksgiving Day.

The Uncommonly Common Cold

Not only are colds uncommonly common right now, but they are also commonly uncommon. Ask anyone who has one. A cold is only common to the fellow who doesn't have it.

Marin's rainy season must be a time of rejoicing for the stores that stock those tissues for blowing. Winter and viruses are buddies.

They make a nasty pair.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

EVERYONE IS NEEDED

The comedian, Sam Levensen, once said: "When my immigrant father came over here from the old country, he found out 3 things:

1. that the streets were not paved with gold;
2. that most of the streets were not even paved;
3. that he had to help pave them."

Heartfelt thanks is due to those who do the pioneering in any country. They usually learn the hard way that they must make their own dreams come true. And, in doing this, they help countless others as well as themselves.

A far greater responsibility rests on those who are blessed with food, shelter, medical assistance, schooling, countless technological advantages, as well as the inspiration of religion. They should work much harder to be of service to those less fortunate than themselves.

Strive to bring about in your community, nation and world the temporal and spiritual conditions that contribute to the peace and prosperity of all people.

"Thanks be to God for His unspeakable gift."
(2 Corinthians 9:15)

Grant me the vision and strength, O Holy Spirit, to do my part to bring about a better world.

Real Estate Spokesman Contends Few Home Sellers Showing Bias

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO — Although Californians have the right, as expressed through the adoption of Proposition 14 last year, to restrict sales of their own property to whom they wish to sell it, rent it, or lease it, this right is not being exercised to provide discrimination, at least so far as sales are concerned.

This is the observation of David N. Robinson, Berkeley, president of the California Real Estate Assn., which led the battle to retain the property owner's rights in handling his own property.

AFTER ALMOST a year of operation under the constitutional provision, which was hailed by its opponents as a move to effect discrimination throughout California, Robinson says less than half of one per cent of those who put their property up for sale through multiple listing stipulate as to whom it can be sold.

The association made the survey to get at the facts. It found total listings processed by reporting multiple listing boards, which constitute nearly all the members of the association; amounted to 185,768. Out of these listings only 1,036 were restricted as to whom the property could be sold.

"We wanted to know," Robinson said, "what effect, if any, passage of Proposition 14 by the voters a year ago had on the amount of housing available to minority groups.

"The answer is clear. The people of California are not, as so loudly predicted, slamming the door in the faces of minorities wanting housing.

"Housing, at least that which is for sale, according to this survey, is available to anyone who wants and can afford it, with very few exceptions.

"I THINK it's high time that those who claim they want to combat racial and religious discrimination stop accusing property owners of California and realtors who carry out their instructions of fostering such discrimination."

The report presents some evidence to the effect that opponents of the proposition lacked understanding of the thinking on the part of property owners and clearly points to the fact that, as Robinson says, retention of a traditional right was the motivating factor behind the tremendous vote chalked up in favor of the measure, a vote which was better than three to one in its favor.

IN OTHER WORDS, from the action and operation during the last year, discrimination had little to do with adoption of the amendment, but the fact certain elements of society were attempting to deprive certain other elements of the populace from rights enjoyed over a couple of centuries played a much greater role in the final vote.

Won't it be great when all these lovely people who are thronging to Marvelous Marin with their little children, and who love everything about it but the taxes, and who stayed away from the voting booths by the hundreds on Nov. 16, grow older, have teen-agers in the house and wonder why the high schools are so over crowded and inadequate?

VDC Goals Same As Goals Of The U.S.A.

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The goals of the VDC are no more than the stated goals of American democracy — "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness." Contrary to what the John Birch Society would have us believe, the blessings of American democracy have not been bestowed upon the people of South Viet Nam by our troops in Southeast Asia. Freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom of assembly—all of these have consistently been denied to the South Vietnamese. The free elections promised in 1957 have never been held. The present ruler of South Viet Nam, Premier Ky, is nothing more than a petty dictator who seized power in a palace coup.

There are those who will attempt to evade the issue at hand by telling us that conditions under communism would be much worse than they are today under the South Vietnamese brand of "democracy." This is not the point. The U. S. has promised certain democratic reforms in South Vietnam—has told the world that this is what we are fighting for—and yet, over a period of 10 years, we have failed to deliver the goods. Instead we have been content to sit back and watch a totalitarian regime shuttle innocent peasants into "strategic hamlets" styled after concentration camps. The next time the casualty figures roll in from Viet Nam, ask yourself one question: "Is Premier Ky's government really worth it?"

U.S. Must Be Free Of United Nations

Editor, Independent-Journal:

It seems inconsistent for freedom-loving U. S. to oppose freedom for Rhodesia, while we are fighting and dying for Viet Nam freedom! We need to remember that white settlers went to South Africa about the time our forefathers pioneered America, and without the whites there would be no civilization!

President Johnson said the Viet Nam operation is in accordance with the SEATO agreement. That means it is under direction of the U. N. Military Committee, whose chairman always is a Russian!

Being under U. N. direction could be the reason aid and trade with the enemy is encouraged — why we are disarming, unilaterally — and the reason we are not permitted to accept help offered by our staunchest ally, Nationalist China.

According to U. S. News and World Report, Chiang Kai-shek said " . . . we are confident that Asian manpower co-ordinated with American technology and supplies will result in the greatest politico - military power in history for the maintenance of peace."

Until we free ourselves from the U. N. stranglehold, how can we free Vietnamese or anyone else?

Reader's Cheers For Pre-School

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Re: "Sausalito Pre-School," Nov. 17, 1965, page 1.

It is a pleasure to have an opportunity to espouse the cause of a pre-school program — in this instance, the one in question seems to be that of Sausalito.

With all due respect to the medical profession and Dr. Ira Degenhart in particular, it would seem obvious that we homo sapiens have great difficulty living in amity today, regardless of 'higher or lower" incomes. The gregariousness of the human animal seems to demand that we learn to live together and the earlier we "get with it" in the formative years, whatever the label of a few, the better citizens we may hope to produce!

Cheers and huzzahs to our pre-school program and to Sausalito's in particular! This, from the mother of three nursery school trained children, two nursery school trained grand-children and a contemporary county kindergarten teacher - with a sense of humble thanks for a growing awakening in our community.

Reason Suggested For Bond Defeat

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Re: The defeat of the Tamalpais High School District bond issue.

One factor, which the architects of the proposal chose to ignore, could conceivably have spelled the difference between passage and defeat. And that is—in the proposal for the new San Geronimo High School, the planners announced to the parents of 750 children that these "expendables" stood to be pulled out of the school to which they had adjusted, and be placed, possibly in the middle of a school year, into a new school which would have a "nearly equivalent program."

Why—since the school was not to be built for a full enrollment, anyway, couldn't they have settled for beginning with a ninth grade only—and build from there?

Other districts have done this, and have suffered fewer "growing pains" than those encountered in trying to create and staff a full high school all at once.

Granted, such a program would not relieve the overcrowding as rapidly, but what have the trustees accomplished by insisting upon a full solution? Absolutely nothing will be done this year.

I hope that the next time this issue comes before the voters, the trustees will show less rigidity of thought.

Because a two-thirds majority is so difficult to obtain, they cannot afford to antagonize a sizable block of potential "yes" voters, particularly where a reasonable compromise is so patently apparent.

ONE OF Casey Stengel's more improbable yarns concerns a game about 1910 in which he claims he played centerfield in the famed metropolis of Shelbyville, Ky. The park had no fence, and when the cleanup hitter on the opposing nine belted a ball on the nose, Casey began backpedaling frantically toward a river just beyond the field. He never stopped. He ended up in four feet of water, emerging with the ball in one hand and a catfish in the other.

Johnson Combines Strong Points Of Many Previous Presidents

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Lyndon B. Johnson, now starting his third White House year, is different from any of his predecessors in this century with its brilliant examples of how to run the presidency, and how not to.

While Theodore Roosevelt and William Howard Taft were both conservatives, Roosevelt, his batteries always charged, was conscious of changing needs and sought to meet some of them. Like Woodrow Wilson later, he tried to provide new ideals.

BUT HE NEVER stopped being a bit of a cowboy and it confused his image in the public mind. Taft, who can be called the father of the income tax because revenue was needed at the time, was no social innovator.

He never rocked the boat. He oiled the machinery of government.

Wilson, idealistic and liberal but only up to a point, never learned the president is not a private person. He isolated himself and became remote. More a prophet than a statesman, one commentator said.

In dealing with Congress, despite all he wrote on government, Wilson was an amateur compared with someone like Johnson. And he paid for it dearly.

Warren G. Harding was the country's best example of how not to be a president while Calvin Coolidge, the silent type, showed few words may mean few ideas and that the White House is no place for the country store outlook.

Franklin D. Roosevelt's presidency demonstrated there can be more action in the mind than the biceps. A paralytic in a wheelchair throughout his presidency, he changed the spirit and direction of his country.

HE RESPONDED to chaos with imagination and concern, combining his actions with eloquence and a miraculous voice, which revealed how a politician who can create a father image of himself, based on performance, is unbeatable.

Harry S. Truman, no intellectual, was proof that a man can be a great president without a Ph.D. He didn't have learning, he had judgment. He didn't have charm, he had guts.

Together they enabled him to make tough decisions — and some mistakes — fact which, put another way, meant he had the willingness and sturdiness to encounter and conquer crises, or try to.

Dwight D. Eisenhower's eight years in office will not put him among the great or even the near-great presidents.

Yet Eisenhower, a soldier without political experience, wound up one of the best politicians of the century, if political success is to be judged by the attitude of voters.

John F. Kennedy's presidency can never be fully appraised since the final judgment would have had to rest with the future which, for him, never came.

IN TIME, judging from his popularity abroad, he might have been a great world leader. Because his chances and therefore his achievements were limited, his popularity at home has its own lesson: The magic personality, even without great performance, can bring a president not only acclaim but even adulation.

Johnson has some of Theodore Roosevelt's bounce, some of Taft's concern with the machinery of government, and none of their conservatism. He speaks in the idealistic terms of Wilson, but not nearly so well, although he was shown himself more truly liberal. Wilson was withdrawn; Johnson is anything but.

By his actions in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic he has shown the same determination as Truman and the same willingness to face decisions. He lacks Kennedy's grace, wit and ease but has far more ability in getting things done.

MORE THAN any president in this century he is a master politician — so far — in obtaining what he wants.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Poverty Warriors Seek To Play House

By ROBERT S. ALLEN
and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Anti-poverty planners want to "play house" with American families.

UNDER STUDY by program-formulating officials of the Office of Economic Opportunity are unique proposals to install entire families in special training camps to live government-ordered lives.

The fathers would be trained in new job skills; the mothers would be taught homemaking techniques and attitudes; and their children would attend schools — all at federal expense and direction.

All their needs—furnishings, food, health, recreation, training and even clothing—would be provided by the government.

As the anti-poverty planners see this extraordinary concept, it offers an "imaginative and promising solution" to the serious problem of retaining married trainees in Job Corps camps and other training installations.

LONELINESS and homesickness are deemed a major cause of married drop-outs.

One conservative estimate for a camp of 200 families is $2 million — or more — annually.

Additional funds would have to be sought from Congress as the existing anti-poverty budget would not cover the heavy increased outlay. How Congress would react to such an exceptional idea presents still another problem.

Meanwhile, the family training concept is spelled out in a prospectus prepared by a Western subsidiary of International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. (IT&T), which would like to undertake the experiment under government contract.

The IT&T subsidiary prospectus stresses that life in a family training camp would be carefully patterned after and based on middle class standards. Says this unpublished opus:

"THE SCHEDULING of all activities will be similar to that of a normal, everyday family. The father will receive vocational training in a time frame similar to an average working day. The mother will receive training and have sufficient time remaining for household chores, maintaining a schedule similar to that of normal families. The work days of both parents will culminate with the evening meal, thereby maintaining the normal whole family concept.

"Evenings and weekends will be free of formal training to permit family recreation and activities. Every effort will be made to afford a full calendar of social activities such as picnics, dances, cookouts, movies, etc."

"A COMMISSARY will be established as close as possible to the apartment complex. Food obtained from GSA (General Services Administration) will be marketed at prices below retail supermarkets. This will enable families to live comfortably on less money . . . an estimated food budget of $15 to $20 a week."

The Country Parson

"Most of us react to moral laws as we do to speed limits—trying to guess how much we can go beyond them without getting caught."

She Cooks The Turkey, Then She Must Carve And Serve It

NEW YORK (AP) — The Thanksgiving crisis will come in millions of American homes when it is put upon the table.

It is a bird called a turkey, and it may weigh anywhere from eight pounds to 30 or more.

It will be washed and plucked. Everybody in the family will come and pat it fondly. Then it will be stuffed with sage and oysters and bread crumbs and put into the oven and basted and watched over until it turns a tender golden brown.

THEN, ACCOMPANIED by a myriad of vegetables, it will be placed upon the table by a wife whose warm-flushed face is a testimony of womanhood in glory.

As everybody stands around marveling, the wife will go into the kitchen and come back with a knife in her hand.

She will hold it out with a questioning look.

This is the hour of crisis.

This is the terrible moment of decision.

WHO WILL CARVE the turkey?

This is the time that separates the man from his performance.

"You do it, Joe," says the host to a guest.

"Naw, Jim," replies the guest to the host. "You do it."

They face each other with a look of equal cunning and equal dismay.

EACH KNOWS that if he takes the knife he will make a fool of himself — and of the festive occasion.

They may be chefs, butchers, brain surgeons, plumbers or lawyers.

But each knows, whatever his talent, it is inadequate now.

He knows that, if he accepts the knife, it will turn out to be dull. He will find the turkey tough. He will sweat and strain and wish he could attack the bird with a Boy Scout axe or put a dynamite cap in its middle and blow its junctures apart in a shower of gravy.

FINALLY, the hostess says in pretended exasperation:

"Well, you men! I don't know what the world is coming to. Sit down now, and I'll serve you."

Sighing in relief, the men sit down and shuffle their feet under their chairs, and the ladies sit down, too, and say ladylike things to each other such as, "My, doesn't the table look lovely?"

The hostess takes up the knife and skillfully attacks the bird. Swiftly she apportions the meat to the plates, and one of the children meekly suggests, "Shouldn't we say grace first?"

"You say it, Jim," says the guest to the host, knowing what the answer will be.

"NO, JOE," says the host to the guest. "You say it."

"Okay," says Joe, lowering his eyes. "O Lord, we thank thee for Thy peace and fellowship at this table and . . . uh . . . what we are about to receive, forever and ever. Amen."

There is a moment of silence, as each guest reviews his blessings, and then Jim says rather loudly:

"Hey, that was okay, Joe. What'll you have—light or dark or both?"

And the flushed and smiling hostess, too excited herself to eat, sits before the turkey like an angel with a sword, ready to serve more.

There is plenty for all.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By STEPHEN COOK

What Good Is A Report Card If You Can't Read The Thing?

Elementary school educators, it seems, are well on their way toward taking the trauma out of the year's four most perilous school days, when the student must summon up all courage, march straight home and present Mom or Dad with his report card for the quarter. Some of the anxiety may remain, but the youngsters sure seem to have it a lot easier.

Today they can walk home, joking and laughing with friends, and not worry about what Mom and Dad will say when they first see the card. Their first utterance naturally will be:

"WHAT DOES this mean?"

And it probably will be several days before they get an answer. The report cards have been so refined that the parents must consult with the teacher for translation before they can discover how Junior has done.

The cards fall into two categories. One attempts to shelter the child from the competitive grading he must one day face. The other tries to grade him both competitively and individually. It may be that neither does the job educators hope for.

IN THE KENTFIELD School District, the school board recently adopted a new grading policy. Children in grades one through three receive marks of either "satisfactory" or "improvement needed" on their cards. In the fourth through sixth grades, the mark "commendable" is added as something better than "satisfactory." Seventh and eighth graders receive marks of "A," "B," "C," "D" or "F."

The Larkspur School District has almost the same system. Grades one through three are marked "satisfactory" and "help needed." All other grades, though, are given letter grades. The San Anselmo School District is similar. Grades of "very good," "satisfactory" and "improvement needed" are given through the third grade. After that, all students are graded by the letters.

MRS. CATHERINE Burch, principal at Neil Cummins School in the Larkspur School District, explains that the indistinct grades are given "because if a child is immature, we don't want to give him a lot of bad grades which will bother him when he matures."

Kentfield School District Supt. Howard C. Harmon says about the same thing: "We just try to move the child gradually into the competitive grading system he will have in high school."

Educators may hope the grades are not competitive, but do they know the mother who tells her child: "Face it. If you get an 'improvement needed,' you should know it is the same as a 'D' or an 'F.'"

THE MORE complicated report cards attempt to give a more definitive grade. The Dixie School District recently adopted two such cards for pilot projects in Bernard Hoffman and Mill Creek schools.

At Hoffman, fourth through sixth graders receive marks in two grading columns. One compares his performance with the rest of the class, the other grades his individual achievement. A child may bring home arithmetic grades of "D" and "B."

At Miller Creek School, seventh and eighth graders are assigned both grades and levels of work for each academic subject. The student has five possible grades in five possible levels for each subject. The mind boggles at the thought of the number of different combinations of grades possible.

These report cards are experimental and the subject of the experiment may be the parent and how he reacts. San Anselmo School District Supt. Stephen Parodi wonders: "If you get it too complicated, who is going to understand it?"

Twenty Pupils Per Teacher Is Reed Policy

The Reed School District board, meeting Tuesday night at Del Mar School, approved a policy of having a minimum of 50 teachers per 1,000 pupils — a ratio of one to 20.

The board agreed that the aim of the district is to have a teacher-pupil ratio of one to 18. Of the minimum 50 teachers, 45 are to be fulltime classroom teachers.

The Reed School District board also:

1. Agreed to co-sponsor a symposium on human rights with the Marin County Human Rights Commission, to be held in Marin City on Dec. 11, but withheld financial support.

2. Granted a leave of absence to seventh-eighth grade teacher Nancy van Ravenswaay, and hired Phyllis J. Root to replace her.

Trustee Marilyn C. Steinau was absent.

The building of Hoover Dam in Nevada created Lake Mead, a recreational area with 550 miles of shoreline.

Airport District Is Predicted

Marin County might find itself included in a district to control and support San Francisco International Airport, Assemblyman John F. Foran (D-San Francisco) predicted Tuesday.

Foran spoke after a meeting of the Assembly Interim Committee on Transportation. He said he might introduce legislation in 1967 to create a nine-county Bay Area airport district.

A speaker at the session was state aeronautics director Clyde P. Barnett, who said regional control of airports is needed to spread the cost among all who use them.

Sen. Kennedy Outshines Red Students

By BONNIE ANGELO
Advance News Service

SANTIAGO, Chile — In the aftermath of insults, catcalls and eggs hurled at Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, top American diplomats here believe that while the Communist students had him on the ropes for the moment, Kennedy won the round.

The view point is backed up by many Chileans. The leading newspaper in Concepcion, where the second and more violent attack took place, wrote that while the Peking-oriented Communists were successful in preventing any discussion at the university Tuesday night, "The political victory apparently belonged to the senator."

The paper said: (Kennedy) demonstrated by his short talk and by his defiant attitude that leftist and Peking groups do not accept free debate of ideas at the universities."

The news story was otherwise somewhat hostile. But American diplomats, analyzing the effect of the violent anti-U.S. attacks directed at Kennedy on two successive nights, decried the flag-burning and the violence, but they read the incidents as a plus.

Others familiar with the area and the people agreed. All of South America will be following every step of these Kennedy incidents, they said, and the reaction will be favorable to him.

The Pekingists first lost points by preventing the students from questioning Kennedy, for freedom of speech is a tenet of revolutionary faith among the intellectuals of Latin America.

The 100 or so who banded together to drown out Kennedy with their chants of "Yankee, go home," "Down with the invaders," and the like may have pushed fence-sitters to the other side.

Secondly, there is the special magic of the Kennedy name, still spoken almost with reverence by devoted Latins. Robert Kennedy's remarkable personal rapport with the people has further enhanced this feeling.

American diplomats are convinced that the egg-throwing and spitting by organized Communists will infuriate many South Americans. "They will be humiliated that a hero has been besmirched," one observer said.

After the episode in Concepcion, the Pittsburgh of Chile, people on the streets came up to Americans to apologize. They wanted to make sure Kennedy would understand that the trouble was caused by a loud minority.

The final factor contributing to Kennedy's reverse victory was Kennedy himself.

He appeared courageous but calm as he strode around the gymnasium like a matador before the fight. As the jeering mounted, he defiantly shook his fist at the Communists, goading them to "come on down" from their safe seats and exchange views.

When they failed to move, Kennedy shouted above the tumult: "If you won't come, then I'll come up there."

He went over to them, reached up to join them, but was rebuffed.

It was, in all, a profile in courage.

An equal show of valor came from Ethel Kennedy, who had put on her prettiest pink outfit and insisted on being present with her husband despite the forewarnings of danger.

Chilean and American observers agree that Kennedy has greatly strengthened anti-Communist students at the universities, where the militant Communists had cowed them.

One American representative summed it up: "It's too bad to have to go through such unpleasantness, but maybe eggs are a small price to pay for striking a blow for democracy."

Dixie Congressman Welcomes Support From New Negro Voters

By DON BACON
Advance News Service

NEW ORLEANS — "There's much less tension, a great deal less," says Rep. Hale Boggs as he walks briskly through downtown New Orleans, pausing occasionally to exchange greetings with some of the acquaintances he has made in 25 years of politics.

Back in Washington, Boggs is House majority whip and a leading figure in national Democratic politics.

Here, strolling in the comfort of a mild November afternoon, he is still a Louisiana son who never forgets where his roots are.

Like most other members of Congress, Boggs is using the time between sessions to tend his political fences. Although not campaigning in an official sense, he eagerly accepts speaking engagements and puts in a full day at his district office, listening to constituent problems and complaints.

With his next election campaign less than a year away, it is important for him to sound out his constituents, and to know what's on their minds.

His most striking impression so far is that the white and Negro voters in his district have turned their attention away from racial conflict and are digging into the immediate and real problems facing almost every urban community, schools, roads, city services and taxes.

To a southern politician, the new voter emphasis—or relaxed "tension" as Boggs puts it—is a welcome relief.

Boggs, who is 51 years old and was first elected to Congress in 1940, represents both the old and the new of southern politics.

He represents the old in that he has taken the path of the southern segregationist in opposing federal civil rights legislation.

He represents the new in that he has argued, even when it wasn't fashionable, that the federal government is not the South's unbending enemy and that it can help solve local problems.

Boggs' Congressional district takes in part of New Orleans and several adjoining parishes. His constituents are rural and urban, poor and rich. About one-fourth of them are Negroes.

In the past Boggs has drawn most of his strength from his so-called "silk stockings" constituents. But in the 1964 election, he lost the support of many middle and upper income Louisians, who were swept up in Goldwater conservatism.

In that election, Boggs discovered the importance of the Negro vote. Negroes supported him heavily, and provided his margin of victory.

He received 55 per cent of the total vote, a landslide by usual definition, but considerably off from the 70 per cent or more that an entrenched southern politician customarily gets.

This year Boggs cast his first pro-civil rights vote in Congress, for the Voting Rights Act. The act is designed to put more Negroes on the voting rolls in six Deep South states.

A few other congressmen from Louisiana, Georgia, Florida and North Carolina, cognizant of the Negro's growing political influence and believing it was the fair and just thing, voted with Boggs for the measure.

Although the recently enfranchised Negro is responsible for the most profound changes in southern politics, Boggs also notes other significant new pressures.

High among them is the South's rapid rate of urbanization. Southern constituencies are shifting dramatically from predominantly rural to urban.

Population is clustering around the big southern cities, and for the first time in this century, the cities are taking control of the state governmental machinery. As voters become more and more concerned with solving city problems, so must their representatives in government, Boggs says.

"I think congressmen generally are changing all over the country," observes Boggs. ". . . The average congressman today is confronted with problems requiring solutions and answers . . . The old business of an individual member of Congress engaging in private dissertation is a luxury that most aren't able to indulge in anymore."

Today's congressman, from the North or South, must be well educated, a specialist in some field, yet versatile enough to cope with all the complex issues facing his district and the nation, Boggs says.

"The problems of cities are becoming more and more the problems of Congress," he adds. "We in Congress are coming to recognize that the race problem exists in the cities of the North, just as it exists in the cities of the South, and that it is just one of many problems associated with urban living."

Race relations, Boggs believes, will become in the South just another problem to be dealt with like traffic congestion or inadequate schools, not the single overriding problem.

Boggs watched from the sidelines the recent mayoral race in New Orleans and noted afterwards, "The race issue just didn't rank high in the voters' minds."

This charming and sophisticated port city is, of course, not entirely representative of the rest of the South at this time. Racial feelings still run deep in many parts of Dixie, and will continue to dominate some political campaigns.

But Boggs believes what is happening here will eventually spread, its pace tied closely to the rate of urbanization. The trend toward moderation in southern politics, he says, was strikingly evident in the Virginia statewide elections this month.

There, the Byrd political machine, traditionally the South's pacesetter for conservatism, edged cautiously away from its past, and became, Boggs says, "much more attuned to the urban voter."

Red Antique Car Is Found Stripped

A bright red antique car, once used by Mrs. Marsha Owen (Sally Stanford) to campaign in for Sausalito City Council, has been stripped to its chassis, police reported yesterday.

Robert J. Woldhagen of 314 Main Street, an employee of Mrs. Owen, reported to police that he was checking the garage she owns at Main and Third streets and found a rear window broken. The car, owned by Col. Leonard Gamage, former Sausalito resident, was "completely stripped." The only remaining parts are the chassis, motor and wheels, police said.

Marijuana Discovery Reported

The suspect, Herman Joseph Sanchez of 5 West End Avenue, Apt. 2, was arrested while walking along A Street between Third and Fourth streets at 2 p.m.

San Rafael Police Inspectors Thomas Cheetham and Gerald R. Souza noted that Sanchez was reluctant to be searched.

When Sanchez reached the county jail, he was searched. Ten hand-rolled cigarettes and one cigarette butt, found in his jacket pocket, were identified as marijuana, police reported.

Sanchez was booked on the possession of marijuana charge and bail was set at $5,500.

Explorer Dies

CAMBRIDGE, England (AP) —Prof. Frank Debenham, 82, one of the last survivors of the Scott Antarctic expedition, died yesterday. Debenham joined Scott's expedition in 1910. Scott and four companions perished in a trek to the South Pole. Debenham was a professor of geography at Cambridge University from 1930 until 1949.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Thanksgiving Need Not Be Very Difficult For Calorie Counters

VAN DELLEN

Thanksgiving became a legal annual holiday more than a century ago and 242 years after the Pilgrims first celebrated their autumn harvest by giving thanks to God. The long delay resulted from the belief that the day should be inspired by religion and not by politics. Prior to 1863 Thanksgiving was celebrated locally at different times of the year. It did not become a legal holiday until Mrs. Sarah Hale persuaded President Lincoln to issue his proclamation during the Civil war.

THE MODERN Thanksgiving repast is likely to contain fewer calories. Changes in the American diet over the last 50 years have been so gradual they escape detection. We are eating more processed food, and an ordinary turkey dinner is obtainable in a frozen package.

The wild turkeys have been replaced with the domesticated variety which are more tender, leaner, and have more white meat. The young Tom is the least of our worries when it comes to calories. Three large slices (about 3 ounces) contain 200 or more calories. Chicken is a little less but an equal portion of goose or duck raises the intake to more than 300. A dressing containing one-half cup of bread, giblets, and raisins yields approximately 233. Two tablespoonfuls of gravy adds 75 or more calories.

A bowl of clear soup supplies 27 and creamed soup, 157. If two soda crackers are eaten, another 34 calories must be added to the list. One-half of a candied sweet potato yields 180 calories; a serving of white (baked, mashed, or creamed) from 98 to 123, butter 50 per pat, rolls 95 to 122, salad dressing 118 to 368, and mincemeat or pumpkin pie with whipped cream 390.

THE MORE abstemious eater can do quite nicely on approximately 700 calories. This includes a clear soup, turkey, two vegetables without butter, cranberry sauce, celery and radishes, a roll, one pat of butter, grapefruit, salad (no dressing), ice cream, and black coffee.

Good fellowship and relaxation will help the digestive mechanism; being thankful brings peace of mind.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

IT'S NOT PERMANENT

Mrs. C. O. writes: I am taking cortisone and have sprouted coarse hairs on my upper lip. Will these disappear when I stop taking the medicine?

REPLY

Yes. The same can be said of other side effects of this hormone, such as weight gain, puffiness of the face, and sugar in the urine.

BABY TEETH

Mrs. T. writes: Are all the first teeth lost?

REPLY

Yes, as a rule, all 20 of the first set are out by the age of 12. Occasionally a baby tooth remains because there is no second tooth below to take its place. When this occurs, the first tooth becomes permanent.

BLOOD THICKENER

Mack writes: Does whisky or wine thicken the blood and would 3 or 4 ounces a week of either beverage be harmful to someone with a coronary condition?

REPLY

No to both of these questions provided the drinks are divided over the seven-day period.

CULTURE AND MILK

T. K. writes: What is meant by cultured milk?

It doesn't mean intellectual milk even though the product is made by well educated food chemists who culture the milk by adding harmless bacteria to make it more digestible.

Pro-North Viet Blood Drive Seems A Fizzle

By JULES WITCOVER
Advance News Service

PALO ALTO — A much-publicized drive by California college students to collect blood for victims of U.S. bombing in North Viet Nam appears to be fizzling fast.

Committees at Stanford University here and at the University of California in Berkeley claim to have collected more than 100 pledges for blood donations.

But they are running into what may be insurmountable problems of transmission.

The American Red Cross has turned down the project on grounds it has no contact with the Red Cross in Hanoi. It is doubtful the American Red Cross would even assist in taking blood from the donors, as it is doing for blood drives in support of U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

The blood-for-North Viet Nam group, called the Medical Aid Committee, has asked the International Red Cross in Geneva to get the blood into the hands of civilians in North Viet Nam and in Viet Cong-controlled areas in South Viet Nam.

But the International Red Cross itself may not have the means for shipping blood into Viet Nam nor is it likely to be able to guarantee that blood would go to civilians—which the students says is the main idea—and not to Viet Cong troops.

Anatole Anton, a 26-year-old graduate student at Stanford and one of the prime movers in the drive, says most pledges have been made with the understanding that the blood would go to civilians, but with an awareness that it might not be possible to assure soldiers wouldn't get some of it.

Anton is a member of the May 2 Movement, which is avowedly pro-Viet Cong, on grounds the United States is fighting an "imperialist" war against legitimate forces of "national liberation." But he says most of the doners would not be May 2 members, and their prime motivation would be humanitarian, not political.

Transmission to Hanoi or areas of Viet Cong control is not the drive's only headache. There is the question of who will draw the blood, and where the medical equipment will come from, including containers for the blood. Not a drop of blood has been drawn yet.

Anton acknowledges that the odds are very long now that any blood will be shipped from Stanford or Berkeley to Hanoi or Viet Cong areas in South Viet Nam. It may be, he says, the donor will have to sell their blood through normal channels and send the money to the International Red Cross.

Though most of the potential donors see the act as one of humanitarianism, Anton says, he concedes that the May 2 Movement seized on the ideas as a dramatic way to publicize their contention that the U.S. is engaged in "calculated immorality" in the bombing of the North and Viet Cong areas.

One result of the blood-for-North Viet Nam drive has been a series of counterdrives at Stanford, Berkeley and elsewhere as a show of support for the U.S. commitment in Viet Nam. Some 222 pints of blood were collected at Stanford Monday and a similar drive got under way at the University of California Berkeley campus Tuesday.

At Berkeley, while members of the Medical Aid Committee spoke of U.S. aggression in Viet Nam to about a dozen onlookers, more than a hundred students gathered across the way as two cheerleaders sprayed each other with shaving cream. It was part of the warmup for this Saturday's big Cal-Stanford football game.

The blood drive speakers finally gave up when they had trouble making themselves heard over the merriment.

No Jury Meeting

The regular meeting of the Marin County Grand Jury was cancelled yesterday because of the Thansgiving holiday, foreman George R. Scott reported. The jury will meet next on Dec. 29.

Brown Discusses Speakers' Right

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A student has a "constitutional right of free speech so long as he does not impair the rights of others," says Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

The governor, addressing a lawyers' luncheon yesterday, asked the lawyers, however, to take the responsibility of answering statements made by extremists.

"Don't let the extremists' pleas to impeach Chief Justice Earl Warren, condemn the patriotism of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, burn draft cards or permit seditious activity to go unchallenged," he said.

Teen-Agers Regain Use Of Rec Room

The room had been closed last summer after a series of burglaries and vandalism at the center. Commissioners met with representatives of the teen-agers and worked out new rules of conduct.

The room will be opened for teen-agers on Wednesdays and Thursdays from 3 to 5:30 p.m. and on Tuesdays and Fridays during the same hours for preteen groups. The room will also be opened on Tuesdays and Fridays from 7 to 9 p.m. for teen groups.

Commissioners accepted the resignation of recreation director William A. Gordon, effective Dec. 31. Gordon submitted his resignation Nov. 17. Commissioners approved advertising for a new recreation director with the question of salary left open. Gordon's salary is $625 per month.

Irish Cast Ballots In Humdrum Election

BELFAST, Ireland (AP) — Northern Ireland voted for a new Parliament today amid torrential rains and general unconcern.

After a campaign which failed to generate any heat whatsoever, party leaders forecast that fewer than half the 700,000 voters would turn out to pick 29 members of the province's House of Commons.

Indonesia has 95 million people.

Marijuana Study Area Outlined

Marin County Sheriff's Office is concentrating its investigation into the use of marijuana by teen-agers in an area from Terra Linda south to Tamalpais Valley, Inspector Harvey Teague said today.

The suspected young people are not necessarily students of either Terra Linda or Tamalpais High Schools, Teague emphasized.

Sees Own Doctor

Manuel Quintal, 47, of 208 Second Street, Sausalito, was reportedly knocked down by a truck driven by Robinson W. Upton, 51, of 55 Meadow Road, Mill Valley, while Quintal was in a crosswalk at Bridgeway and Caledonia street at 9:55 a.m. yesterday. Quintal, who complained to police of being a little dizzy after being hit, said he would see his own doctor.

Sen. Kennedy Outshines Red Students

By BONNIE ANGELO
Advance News Service

SANTIAGO, Chile — In the aftermath of insults, catcalls and eggs hurled at Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, top American diplomats here believe that while the Communist students had him on the ropes for the moment, Kennedy won the round.

The view point is backed up by many Chileans. The leading newspaper in Concepcion, where the second and more violent attack took place, wrote that while the Peking-oriented Communists were successful in preventing any discussion at the university Tuesday night, "The political victory apparently belonged to the senator."

The paper said: (Kennedy) demonstrated by his short talk and by his defiant attitude that leftist and Peking groups do not accept free debate of ideas at the universities."

The news story was otherwise somewhat hostile. But American diplomats, analyzing the effect of the violent anti-U.S. attacks directed at Kennedy on two successive nights, decried the flag-burning and the violence, but they read the incidents as a plus.

Others familiar with the area and the people agreed. All of South America will be following every step of these Kennedy incidents, they said, and the reaction will be favorable to him.

The Pekingists first lost points by preventing the students from questioning Kennedy, for freedom of speech is a tenet of revolutionary faith among the intellectuals of Latin America.

The 100 or so who banded together to drown out Kennedy with their chants of "Yankee, go home," "Down with the invaders," and the like may have pushed fence-sitters to the other side.

Secondly, there is the special magic of the Kennedy name, still spoken almost with reverence by devoted Latins. Robert Kennedy's remarkable personal rapport with the people has further enhanced this feeling.

American diplomats are convinced that the egg-throwing and spitting by organized Communists will infuriate many South Americans. "They will be humiliated that a hero has been besmirched," one observer said.

After the episode in Concepcion, the Pittsburgh of Chile, people on the streets came up to Americans to apologize. They wanted to make sure Kennedy would understand that the trouble was caused by a loud minority.

The final factor contributing to Kennedy's reverse victory was Kennedy himself.

He appeared courageous but calm as he strode around the gymnasium like a matador before the fight. As the jeering mounted, he defiantly shook his fist at the Communists, goading them to "come on down" from their safe seats and exchange views.

When they failed to move, Kennedy shouted above the tumult: "If you won't come, then I'll come up there."

He went over to them, reached up to join them, but was rebuffed.

It was, in all, a profile in courage.

An equal show of valor came from Ethel Kennedy, who had put on her prettiest pink outfit and insisted on being present with her husband despite the forewarnings of danger.

Chilean and American observers agree that Kennedy has greatly strengthened anti-Communist students at the universities, where the militant Communists had cowed them.

One American representative summed it up; "It's too bad to have to go through such unpleasantness, but maybe eggs are a small price to pay for striking a blow for democracy."

Dixie Congressman Welcomes Support From New Negro Voters

By DON BACON
Advance News Service

NEW ORLEANS — "There's much less tension, a great deal less," says Rep. Hale Boggs as he walks briskly through downtown New Orleans, pausing occasionally to exchange greetings with some of the acquaintances he has made in 25 years of politics.

Back in Washington, Boggs is House majority whip and a leading figure in national Democratic politics.

Here, strolling in the comfort of a mild November afternoon, he is still a Louisiana son who never forgets where his roots are.

Like most other members of Congress, Boggs is using the time between sessions to tend his political fences. Although not campaigning in an official sense, he eagerly accepts speaking engagements and puts in a full day at his district office, listening to constituent problems and complaints.

With his next election campaign less than a year away, it is important for him to sound out his constituents, and to know what's on their minds.

His most striking impression so far is that the white and Negro voters in his district have turned their attention away from racial conflict and are digging into the immediate and real problems facing almost every urban community, schools, roads, city services and taxes.

To a southern politician, the new voter emphasis—or relaxed "tension" as Boggs puts it—is a welcome relief.

Boggs, who is 51 years old and was first elected to Congress in 1940, represents both the old and the new of southern politics.

He represents the old in that he has taken the path of the southern segregationist in opposing federal civil rights legislation.

He represents the new in that he has argued, even when it wasn't fashionable, that the federal government is not the South's unbending enemy and that it can help solve local problems.

Boggs' Congressional district takes in part of New Orleans and several adjoining parishes. His constituents are rural and urban, poor and rich. About one-fourth of them are Negroes.

In the past Boggs has drawn most of his strength from his so-called "silk stockings" constituents. But in the 1964 election, he lost the support of many middle and upper income Louisians, who were swept up in Goldwater conservatism.

In that election, Boggs discovered the importance of the Negro vote. Negroes supported him heavily, and provided his margin of victory.

He received 55 per cent of the total vote, a landslide by usual definition, but considerably off from the 70 per cent or more that an entrenched southern politician customarily gets.

This year Boggs cast his first pro-civil rights vote in Congress, for the Voting Rights Act. The act is designed to put more Negroes on the voting rolls in six Deep South states.

A few other congressmen from Louisiana, Georgia, Florida and North Carolina, cognizant of the Negro's growing political influence and believing it was the fair and just thing, voted with Boggs for the measure.

Although the recently enfranchised Negro is responsible for the most profound changes in southern politics, Boggs also notes other significant new pressures.

High among them is the South's rapid rate of urbanization. Southern constituencies are shifting dramatically from predominantly rural to urban.

Population is clustering around the big southern cities, and for the first time in this century, the cities are taking control of the state governmental machinery. As voters become more and more concerned with solving city problems, so must their representatives in government, Boggs says.

"I think congressmen generally are changing all over the country," observes Boggs. ". . . The average congressman today is confronted with problems requiring solutions and answers . . . The old business of an individual member of Congress engaging in private dissertation is a luxury that most aren't able to indulge in anymore."

Today's congressman, from the North or South, must be well educated, a specialist in some field, yet versatile enough to cope with all the complex issues facing his district and the nation, Boggs says.

"The problems of cities are becoming more and more the problems of Congress," he adds. "We in Congress are coming to recognize that the race problem exists in the cities of the North, just as it exists in the cities of the South, and that it is just one of many problems associated with urban living."

Race relations, Boggs believes, will become in the South just another problem to be dealt with like traffic congestion or inadequate schools, not the single overriding problem.

Boggs watched from the sidelines the recent mayoral race in New Orleans and noted afterwards, "The race issue just didn't rank high in the voters' minds."

This charming and sophisticated port city is, of course, not entirely representative of the rest of the South at this time. Racial feelings still run deep in many parts of Dixie, and will continue to dominate some political campaigns.

But Boggs believes what is happening here will eventually spread, its pace tied closely to the rate of urbanization. The trend toward moderation in southern politics, he says, was strikingly evident in the Virginia statewide elections this month.

There, the Byrd political machine, traditionally the South's pacesetter for conservatism, edged cautiously away from its past, and became, Boggs says, "much more attuned to the urban voter."

Red Antique Car Is Found Stripped

A bright red antique car, once used by Mrs. Marsha Owen (Sally Stanford) to campaign in for Sausalito City Council, has been stripped to its chassis, police reported yesterday.

Robert J. Woldhagen of 314 Main Street, an employee of Mrs. Owen, reported to police that he was checking the garage she owns at Main and Third streets and found a rear window broken. The car, owned by Col. Leonard Gamage, former Sausalito resident, was "completely stripped." The only remaining parts are the chassis, motor and wheels, police said.

Marijuana Discovery Reported

A 20-year-old San Rafael man, sought as a burglary suspect, wound up in Marin County jail yesterday charged with possessing marijuana.

The suspect, Herman Joseph Sanchez of 5 West End Avenue, Apt. 2, was arrested while walking along A Street between Third and Fourth streets at 2 p.m.

San Rafael Police Inspectors Thomas Cheetham and Gerald R. Souza noted that Sanchez was reluctant to be searched.

When Sanchez reached the county jail, he was searched. Ten hand-rolled cigarettes and one cigarette butt, found in his jacket pocket, were identified as marijuana, police reported.

Sanchez was booked on the possession of marijuana charge and bail was set at $5,500.

CAMBRIDGE, England (AP) —Prof. Frank Debenham, 82, one of the last survivors of the Scott Antarctic expedition, died yesterday. Debenham joined Scott's expedition in 1910. Scott and four companions perished in a trek to the South Pole. Debenham was a professor of geography at Cambridge University from 1930 until 1949.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Thanksgiving Need Not Be Very Difficult For Calorie Counters

VAN DELLEN

Thanksgiving became a legal annual holiday more than a century ago and 242 years after the Pilgrims first celebrated their autumn harvest by giving thanks to God. The long delay resulted from the belief that the day should be inspired by religion and not by politics. Prior to 1863 Thanksgiving was celebrated locally at different times of the year. It did not become a legal holiday until Mrs. Sarah Hale persuaded President Lincoln to issue his proclamation during the Civil war.

THE MODERN Thanksgiving repast is likely to contain fewer calories. Changes in the American diet over the last 50 years have been so gradual they escape detection. We are eating more processed food, and an ordinary turkey dinner is obtainable in a frozen package.

The wild turkeys have been replaced with the domesticated variety which are more tender, leaner, and have more white meat. The young Tom is the least of our worries when it comes to calories. Three large slices (about 3 ounces) contain 200 or more calories. Chicken is a little less but an equal portion of goose or duck raises the intake to more than 300. A dressing containing one-half cup of bread, giblets, and raisins yields approximately 233. Two tablespoonfuls of gravy adds 75 or more calories.

A bowl of clear soup supplies 27 and creamed soup, 157. If two soda crackers are eaten, another 34 calories must be added to the list. One-half of a candied sweet potato yields 180 calories; a serving of white (baked, mashed, or creamed) from 98 to 123, butter 50 per pat, rolls 95 to 122, salad dressing 118 to 368, and mincemeat or pumpkin pie with whipped cream 390.

THE MORE abstemious eater can do quite nicely on approximately 700 calories. This includes a clear soup, turkey, two vegetables without butter, cranberry sauce, celery and radishes, a roll, one pat of butter, grapefruit, salad (no dressing), ice cream, and black coffee.

Good fellowship and relaxation will help the digestive mechanism; being thankful brings peace of mind.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

IT'S NOT PERMANENT

Mrs. C. O. writes: I am taking cortisone and have sprouted coarse hairs on my upper lip. Will these disappear when I stop taking the medicine?

REPLY

Yes. The same can be said of other side effects of this hormone, such as weight gain; puffiness of the face, and sugar in the urine.

BABY TEETH

Mrs. T. writes: Are all the first teeth lost?

REPLY

Yes, as a rule, all 20 of the first set are out by the age of 12. Occasionally a baby tooth remains because there is no second tooth below to take its place. When this occurs, the first tooth becomes permanent.

BLOOD THICKENER

Mack writes: Does whisky or wine thicken the blood and would 3 or 4 ounces a week of either beverage be harmful to someone with a coronary condition?

REPLY

No to both of these questions provided the drinks are divided over the seven-day period.

CULTURE AND MILK

T. K. writes: What is meant by cultured milk?

It doesn't mean intellectual milk even though the product is made by well educated food chemists who culture the milk by adding harmless bacteria to make it more digestible.

Pro-North Viet Blood Drive Seems A Fizzle

By JULES WITCOVER
Advance News Service

PALO ALTO — A much-publicized drive by California college students to collect blood for victims of U.S. bombing in North Viet Nam appears to be fizzling fast.

Committees at Stanford University here and at the University of California in Berkeley claim to have collected more than 100 pledges for blood donations.

But they are running into what may be insurmountable problems of transmission.

The American Red Cross has turned down the project on grounds it has no contact with the Red Cross in Hanoi. It is doubtful the American Red Cross would even assist in taking blood from the donors, as it is doing for blood drives in support of U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

The blood-for-North Viet Nam group, called the Medical Aid Committee, has asked the International Red Cross in Geneva to get the blood into the hands of civilians in North Viet Nam and in Viet Cong-controlled areas in South Viet Nam.

But the International Red Cross itself may not have the means for shipping blood into Viet Nam nor is it likely to be able to guarantee that blood would go to civilians—which the students says is the main idea—and not to Viet Cong troops.

Anatole Anton, a 26-year-old graduate student at Stanford and one of the prime movers in the drive, says most pledges have been made with the understanding that the blood would go to civilians, but with an awareness that it might not be possible to assure soldiers wouldn't get some of it.

Anton is a member of the May 2 Movement, which is avowedly pro-Viet Cong, on grounds the United States is fighting an "imperialist" war against legitimate forces of "national liberation." But he says most of the doners would not be May 2 members, and their prime motivation would be humanitarian, not political.

Transmission to Hanoi or areas of Viet Cong control is not the drive's only headache. There is the question of who will draw the blood, and where the medical equipment will come from, including containers for the blood. Not a drop of blood has been drawn yet.

Anton acknowledges that the odds are very long now that any blood will be shipped from Stanford or Berkeley to Hanoi or Viet Cong areas in South Viet Nam. It may be, he says, the donor will have to sell their blood through normal channels and send the money to the International Red Cross.

Though most of the potential donors see the act as one of humanitarianism, Anton says, he concedes that the May 2 Movement seized on the ideas as a dramatic way to publicize their contention that the U.S. is engaged in "calculated immorality" in the bombing of the North and Viet Cong areas.

One result of the blood-for-North Viet Nam drive has been a series of counterdrives at Stanford, Berkeley and elsewhere as a show of support for the U.S. commitment in Viet Nam. Some 222 pints of blood were collected at Stanford Monday and a similar drive got under way at the University of California Berkeley campus Tuesday.

At Berkeley, while members of the Medical Aid Committee spoke of U.S. aggression in Viet Nam to about a dozen onlookers, more than a hundred students gathered across the way as two cheerleaders sprayed each other with shaving cream. It was part of the warmup for this Saturday's big Cal-Stanford football game.

The blood drive speakers finally gave up when they had trouble making themselves heard over the merriment.

No Jury Meeting

The regular meeting of the Marin County Grand Jury was cancelled yesterday because of the Thansgiving holiday, foreman George R. Scott reported. The jury will meet next on Dec. 29.

Almonte Has No Plan To Pay Sewer Costs

Almonte Sanitary District does not plan to pay the City of Mill Valley for sewer service charges due Dec. 10.

Directors decided this Monday night, questioning the city's method of charging the district for sewer services.

Directors do not believe the district should pay a portion of the salaries of Mill Valley employees unless these employees are spending all or a portion of their time on Almonte sewer services.

"We recognize the growth rate of the City of Mill Valley," said Robert A. Alexander, board chairman, "but we do not feel that any of these costs should be passed on to our district unless they relate directly to what it costs the city to process our sewage at the city's treatment plant. It is the opinion of the board, which does not sit as auditing or accounting body, that this is what is happening."

Alexander said director A. R. Teather has checked the Mill Valley city budget and recorded expenditures back to 1959-60.

The board also agreed to consult with the county counsel's office about laws covering charges by a city to a county agency for services.

A joint meeting will be sought with directors of three other districts, Alto, Homestead and Kay Park, served by the Mill Valley treatment plant, said Alexander.

City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer said he prefers not to comment on the situation until he has received some communication from the board. But, he said, if Almonte refuses to pay for regular services, the city could cut off its line.

Almonte directors agreed to contribute about $392 as its share toward a county-supervised study of the Richardson Bay drainage basin.

Planners Due Density Session

The Marin County Planning Commission will meet at 8 p.m. Monday at the Civic Center to discuss the issue of housing density in the planned community zone as it relates to existing master plans.

Since the planning commission set a general discussion of the problem with the thought of developing "bonus" density allowances, the board of supervisors has referred a proposed ordinance to the commission for study which could limit density to master plans, but allow a bonus provision.

Commission Chairman Felix M. Warburg said the discussion Monday night would undoubtedly center on the board's proposal.

San Rafael Park Proposed For Idle Street Property

The San Rafael Park and Recreation Commission will hear a report Wednesday on the request of Rafael Highlands homeowners to develop a city park in an unused 100-by-40-foot street easement next to 60 Ridgewood Drive.

Commissioners will meet at 8 p.m. at city hall.

Also secheduled is a discussion on whether to buy land for a park next to Don Timoteo School. Park and recreation director Joseph P. Rodota will recommend that the commission urge city councilmen to negotiate for the property, owned by the Freitas family.

Still other reports will deal with the city recreation center's move from the old American Legion hall to the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. building at Second and Brooks streets.

Commissioners will meet jointly with the city council and the San Rafael Board of Education at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 8 at city hall to discuss the school board's future role, if any, in supporting the city recreation program.

Dispenser Stolen

William Waters of Foods of Paradise at 5605 Paradise Drive, Corte Madera, complained to police Tuesday someone stole the gum machine from in front of his store the night before. Waters said $35 in change was in the machine, which is valued at $140.

Morals Charge Case Goes Before Court

Russell John Mancebo, 23, of 1100 West California Avenue, Tamalpais Valley, was bound over to Marin Superior Court Tuesday following preliminary hearing in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of statutory rape.

He allegedly had sexual relations with a 16-year-old Sausalito baby-sitter in Sausalito on Oct. 31.

Second Death In Span Crash

The second victim of a Nov. 7 auto crash on the San Francisco end of the Golden Gate Bridge died of his injuries yesterday in a San Francisco hospital.

He was Alfred James Morales, 21, a South San Francisco cabinet maker.

Morales was a passenger in a car driven by Barry Vidak, 22, of South San Francisco, which was struck by one driven by Danny Murtagh, 24, of San Francisco near mid-span the night of Nov. 7.

Killed in the crash was William C. Steiner of San Francisco, a passenger with Murtagh. The California Highway Patrol said Murtagh's car crossed the center line. He was booked in San Francisco City Prison on suspicion of manslaughter.

A bumper potato crop is reported.

New Nursery Slated To Open Feb. 1

A new non-profit nursery school is scheduled to open Feb. 1 in the Church in Ignacio, a not-yet-completed Episcopal church which eventually will be part of a shopping center.

The school will be for youngsters from three to six, according to Mrs. Beverly Bastian, acting director. Two or three morning sessions are planned weekly.

Brown Discusses Speakers' Right

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A student has a "constitutional right of free speech so long as he does not impair the rights of others," says Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

The governor, addressing a lawyers' luncheon yesterday, asked the lawyers, however, to take the responsibility of answering statements made by extremists.

"Don't let the extremists' pleas to impeach Chief Justice Earl Warren, condemn the patriotism of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, burn draft cards or permit seditious activity to go unchallenged," he said.

Teen-Agers Regain Use Of Rec Room

The room had been closed last summer after a series of burglaries and vandalism at the center. Commissioners met with representatives of the teen-agers and worked out new rules of conduct.

The room will be opened for teen-agers on Wednesdays and Thursdays from 3 to 5:30 p.m. and on Tuesdays and Fridays during the same hours for preteen groups. The room will also be opened on Tuesdays and Fridays from 7 to 9 p.m. for teen groups.

Commissioners accepted the resignation of recreation director William A. Gordon, effective Dec. 31. Gordon submitted his resignation Nov. 17. Commissioners approved advertising for a new recreation director with the question of salary left open. Gordon's salary is $625 per month.

Irish Cast Ballots In Humdrum Election

BELFAST, Ireland (AP) — Northern Ireland voted for a new Parliament today amid torrential rains and general unconcern.

After a campaign which failed to generate any heat whatsoever, party leaders forecast that fewer than half the 700,000 voters would turn out to pick 29 members of the province's House of Commons.

Marijuana Study Area Outlined

Marin County Sheriff's Office is concentrating its investigation into the use of marijuana by teen-agers in an area from Terra Linda south to Tamalpais Valley, Inspector Harvey Teague said today.

The suspected young people are not necessarily students of either Terra Linda or Tamalpais High Schools, Teague emphasized.

Sees Own Doctor

Manuel Quintal, 47, of 208 Second Street, Sausalito, was reportedly knocked down by a truck driven by Robinson W. Upton, 51, of 55 Meadow Road, Mill Valley, while Quintal was in a crosswalk at Bridgeway and Caledonia street at 9:55 a.m. yesterday. Quintal, who complained to police of being a little dizzy after being hit, said he would see his own doctor.

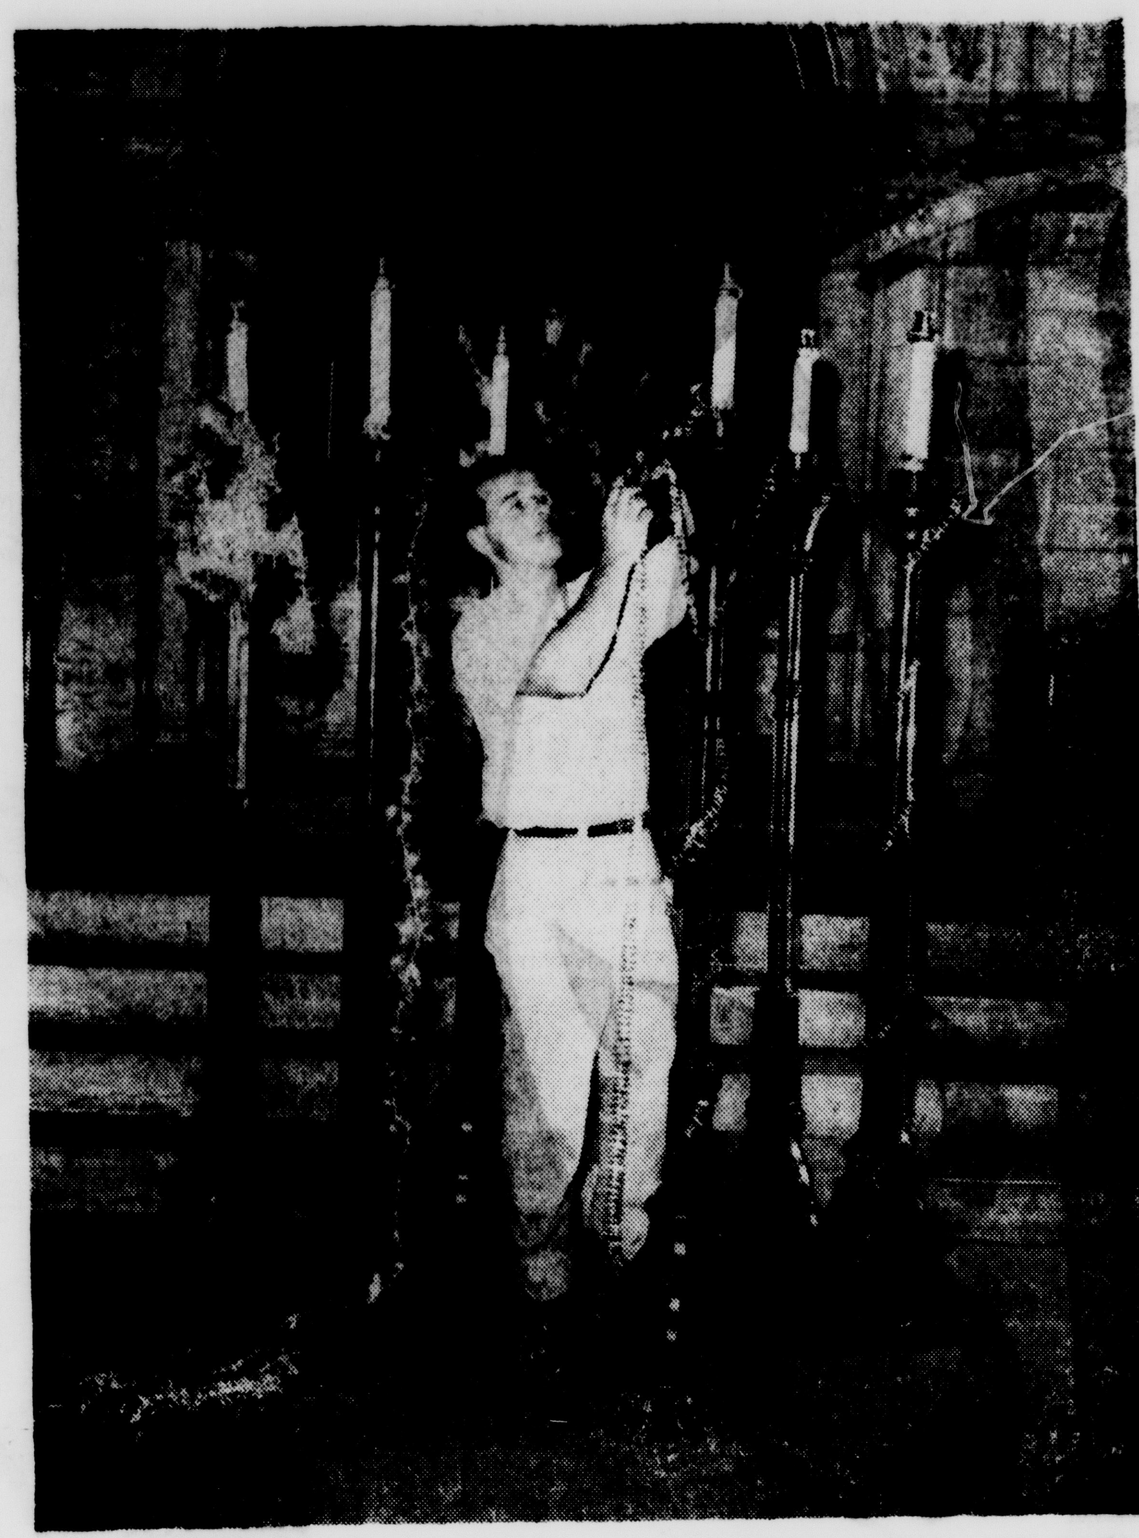
Holy Week Is Busy Time In Big New York Church

LIGHTING TASK—Checking connections at the Riverside Church's electrical panel board for Christmas lighting is James Farmer, one of the church's assistant ministers, with an electrician.



GETTING READY—Staff members of Riverside Church, New York City, begin planning for the many Christmas week observances early in the fall. Here man-size candle holders are being arranged.

Preparations For Season Start In July

By LYDIA BICKFORD

From far up in the tower of New York's Riverside Church, the mighty bells of the carillon are sending exultant glorias out over the North River.

Inside the sanctuary, 2,500 worshippers are celebrating the meaning of the Christmas season. In a chapel nearby, 100 Spanish-speaking church-goers are about to hear a sermon in their own language, given by their own Hispano-American minister.

At the close of the service, single young adults are meeting over a coffee hour to discuss a Christmas topic, or later going to dinner together.

In the afternoon, Riverside opens its doors to a Chinese Christian Fellowship and to the Religious Society of Friends.

And as dusk comes down on the city and the church is again filled with worshippers singing Christmas carols with the choir, the lights of the church are lowered, and six ministers go forward to the altar for the traditional candle-lighting ceremony.

This is Riverside Church on the Sunday before Christmas. During Christmas week, 10,000 people, many of whom are not church members, are involved in worship services, family Christmas parties, tableaux, holiday teas and dinners, and neighboring caroling.

But for the 130 people on the church staff, Christmas begins to be in being back in May, when the first plans are structured. By June, the church's myriad organizations will have requested program dates, in August the storage rooms containing Christmas manger scenes, doorway designs and electric candles are being checked to see what must be replaced.

Huge brass candlestick holders are polished to a sheen, and lights are checked in the Three Wise Men electric design that will hang over the church entrance used by all the children who come to Riverside.

Discussions begin to centralize on Christmas planning shortly after Labor Day, and inter-office memos flow back and forth.

Later in the fall, 37 trees are ordered for the church, ranging from a three-foot artificial tree for the church's nursery school to an 18-foot tree. In the nave will stand a 12-foot balsam, and ranging around the sanctuary will be half trees, flat at the back, so they can be wired to the church carvings.

A week before Christmas, 43 members of the maintenance crew converge to put up all this greenery, which takes 50 man hours of time. Printed instructions go to the electricians who man the light board, giving orders like "choir spots, full; triforium and south aisles, one-quarter; five bucket lights in ambulatory, blue; certain circuits never play during sermon."

The ministers who participate in the candle-lighting ceremony are given a diagram of placement, and instructions on their participation, which say, "The lighted candles are to be held upright in the INSIDE hand."

The choir is holding extra rehearsals, and residents of the neighborhood enjoy the sounds of the bells as the carillonneur practices for his special Christmas recitals.

But though the staff of the church is working hard to extend the meaning of Christmas to all who will come to the church, they take time during the pre-Christmas week for their own convocation: a worship service and a buffet lunch — and a time to exchange their personal Christmas greetings.

Polish Christmas Last Fling Before Winter

By EDWARD SHIELDS

WARSAW (UPI) — Hares in the window and fish in the wash basin signal Christmas in Poland.

Christmas here is a final, flustered rocket-burst of gaiety before the gray resignation of the East European winter.

The Communist regime makes no attempt to dampen the holiday spirit and even, within the narrow confines of the chronically overextended economy, encourages it.

Since 1956, the Roman Catholic Church has been given a free hand to celebrate the religious side of the holiday.

From the starkly traditional Gothic of Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski's rebuilt St. John's Cathedral to the smallest wooden village church, soldiers in the uniform of the Polish People's Army kneel next to babushka-shrouded peasant women and stylish wives of bureaucrats at the Christmas Midnight Mass.

Poles have their Christmas dinner on the night of the 24th —a feast of 12 traditional dishes, including fish in "gray sauce" and mushrooms, and usually without meat.

Christmas trees usually are those which were not up to export quality, or "toppings" from the season's timber-cutting.

More and more Poles are following official urging to buy artificial plastic trees — but these, too, must be bought when they appear.

Christmas fare is a long-term project. In the days before the holiday, few homes in the spreading, modern apartment blocks lacked a hare hanging head-down in the frosty air outside the living room window.

Bathtubs — and even the hand basins in office washrooms — teem with carp being kept alive to be the feature of the Christmas Eve dinner.

As Christmas ends, the Poles feel fortified for winter.

Suits To Be Brighter

What's new in clothing? Well, suits will still be dark, but they will be deep and bright, black-bronze, black-burgundy, iridescent. Jackets will have lowered buttons and lowered, longer lapels, giving a look of more line. The over-all look of men's clothing can be described as "classic."

Sunlight Can Dim Clothing

For generations homemakers have been hanging clothes in the sun for its brightening effect. Actually just the opposite may happen.

Today's detergents contain fluorescent brighteners. But the sun counteracts these chemicals, greatly reducing their effectiveness.

So for that "whiter-than-new" look the TV commercials are always talking about, take the easy way out—use an automatic clothes dryer.

Sports Games Sure To Score On Christmas

Good sports or not, your family will marvel at the variety of intricate games this Christmas that bring even big league sports down to table-size.

Whether your son tried out for quarterback or water-boy, he'll appreciate the latest NFL electric football game including a magnetized ball and a kicker-passer device that is extraordinarily real.

With the introduction of so many indoor ice rinks, ice hockey has become a "regular" with the high school crowd. It is no surprise, then, to see an electric hockey game featuring an icy-pro-puck to appear on the game scene.

Billiards has been excavated from those dark and sinister tombs called pool halls, given a little dusting off and introduced to the entire family.

Jet Fan Is A Gift

This year's gift items are highly unusual. There's a replica of a jet engine that's actually a desk fan; a miniature Jaguar car that encases a transistor radio; a large wooden electric wall clock with billiard balls as numerals; and "executive pinball machines" that stand right on the desk top.

Minimum Paper Best For Wraps

Pretty wrapping on a package under the tree can make all the difference.

Use a minimum of paper. Place the box, face down, in the center of a sheet of paper that looks like the approximate size needed.

Fold the paper over the lengthwise dimension of the box and cut it, leaving only an inch or so to overlap. Seal the overlap with a piece of tape.

Now, for the ends. Make sure the paper overhangs the ends by between half and five-eighths of the depth of the box. Turn in the corners at top and bottom, as tightly as possible. Finally, secure the top half to the bottom half with a piece of tape.

Back Is New Spot For Jewelry Gift

Since fashion favors a variety of bared-back styles in dresses for late day and dress-up, Trifari suggests costume jewelry pins in pairs to wear on the side of a back plunge or at the lowest part of the back.

Pick a pair of gay flower designs and match them with earrings to please your "special girl."

Almonte Has No Plan To Pay Sewer Costs

Almonte Sanitary District does not plan to pay the City of Mill Valley for sewer service charges due Dec. 10.

Directors decided this Monday night, questioning the city's method of charging the district for sewer services.

Directors do not believe the district should pay a portion of the salaries of Mill Valley employees unless these employees are spending all or a portion of their time on Almonte sewer services.

"We recognize the growth rate of the City of Mill Valley," said Robert A. Alexander, board chairman, "but we do not feel that any of these costs should be passed on to our district unless they relate directly to what it costs the city to process our sewage at the city's treatment plant. It is the opinion of the board, which does not sit as auditing or accounting body, that this is what is happening."

Alexander said director A. R. Teather has checked the Mill Valley city budget and recorded expenditures back to 1959-60.

The board also agreed to consult with the county counsel's office about laws covering charges by a city to a county agency for services.

A joint meeting will be sought with directors of three other districts, Alto, Homestead and Kay Park, served by the Mill Valley treatment plant, said Alexander.

City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer said he prefers not to comment on the situation until he has received some communication from the board. But, he said, if Almonte refuses to pay for regular services, the city could cut off its line.

Almonte directors agreed to contribute about $392 as its share toward a county-supervised study of the Richardson Bay drainage basin.

Planners Due Density Session

The Marin County Planning Commission will meet at 8 p.m. Monday at the Civic Center to discuss the issue of housing density in the planned community zone as it relates to existing master plans.

Since the planning commission set a general discussion of the problem with the thought of developing "bonus" density allowances, the board of supervisors has referred a proposed ordinance to the commission for study which could limit density to master plans, but allow a bonus provision.

Commission Chairman Felix M. Warburg said the discussion Monday night would undoubtedly center on the board's proposal.

San Rafael Park Proposed For Idle Street Property

The San Rafael Park and Recreation Commission will hear a report Wednesday on the request of Rafael Highlands homeowners to develop a city park in an unused 100-by-40-foot street easement next to 60 Ridgewood Drive.

Commissioners will meet at 8 p.m. at city hall.

Also secheduled is a discussion on whether to buy land for a park next to Don Timoteo School. Park and recreation director Joseph P. Rodota will recommend that the commission urge city councilmen to negotiate for the property, owned by the Freitas family.

Still other reports will deal with the city recreation center's move from the old American Legion hall to the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. building at Second and Brooks streets.

Commissioners will meet jointly with the city council and the San Rafael Board of Education at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 8 at city hall to discuss the school board's future role, if any, in supporting the city recreation program.

Dispenser Stolen

William Waters of Foods of Paradise at 5605 Paradise Drive, Corte Madera, complained to police Tuesday someone stole the gum machine from in front of his store the night before. Waters said $35 in change was in the machine, which is valued at $140.

Morals Charge Case Goes Before Court

Russell John Mancebo, 23, of 1100 West California Avenue, Tamalpais Valley, was bound over to Marin Superior Court Tuesday following preliminary hearing in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of statutory rape.

He allegedly had sexual relations with a 16-year-old Sausalito baby-sitter in Sausalito on Oct. 31.

Second Death In Span Crash

The second victim of a Nov. 7 auto crash on the San Francisco end of the Golden Gate Bridge died of his injuries yesterday in a San Francisco hospital.

He was Alfred James Morales, 21, a South San Francisco cabinet maker.

Morales was a passenger in a car driven by Barry Vidak, 22, of South San Francisco, which was struck by one driven by Danny Murtagh, 24, of San Francisco near mid-span the night of Nov. 7.

Killed in the crash was William C. Steiner of San Francisco, a passenger with Murtagh. The California Highway Patrol said Murtagh's car crossed the center line. He was booked in San Francisco City Prison on suspicion of manslaughter.

A bumper potato crop is reported.

New Nursery Slated To Open Feb. 1

A new non-profit nursery school is scheduled to open Feb. 1 in the Church in Ignacio, a not-yet-completed Episcopal church which eventually will be part of a shopping center.

The school will be for youngsters from three to six, according to Mrs. Beverly Bastian, acting director. Two or three morning sessions are planned weekly.

CHRISTMAS SEALS – 1965 VERSION

The familiar Christmas health seal, first issued by the American Red Cross but taken over nearly a half century ago by the National Tuberculosis Assn., is in the four forms shown here in the sheets mailed to Marinites recently. The seal sale is the sole support of the association's tuberculosis research and prevention program. Most of the funds from sale of the seals in Marin County are used locally by the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Assn.

Marin Stores Are Hep To Latest Youth Style

The recent two-pronged problem concerning Marinites who go out of the county to buy, and the teener and young adult who dress as if they scavenged rather than bought at all, can be solved by a daily reading of the Independent-Journal clothing ads, according to Warren Marcus of Marcus Shop in San Rafael.

It certainly is not news to state that young people will not wear cut-down versions of adult styles, nor is it necessary. A large portion of the marketing effort of the clothing industry is devoted to following the high school and collegiate pace setters. Not leading them, but following them.

This is a carefully scheduled science and strong trends in fashion must be joined at the flood or millions in garment inventory can be left on the shelves.

Getting to the point, there is a lot of hesitancy on the part of both teens and parents, to make that first move into the clothing market place.

In large urban centers both teen and parent are reasonably sure that they are "with" the trend. What they must learn is that merchants in Marin, who specialize in teen and college fashions, attend the same style showings and receive the same trend information as the metropolitan clothing houses. More than this, because of the relative size of inventories, they are able to react faster to new trends.

Regular monthly bulletins from Menswear Retailers of America note all men's fashion trends, wherever they occur and, as young men are more susceptible to change, most fashion information concerns their needs. These are not generalizations but precise pin points of what is worn and where.

For example: The well-dressed undergrad at Fresno State wears a tweed balmacaan topcoat that a USC man would not be caught dead in. At USC they wear black gabardine or camel hair. Most collegians prefer tan raincoats but if you're an Oregon Beaver, you wear dark olive or you're "out." A young man entering Marin College can know in advance what will be worn. If he is preparing to go to Washington, Utah State or Slippery Rock Teachers College, his Marin specialty store can tell him, beyond a reasonable doubt, what the man around campus will wear on dates in the Spring of 1966.

This information is also invaluable to grandmothers and aunts, come Christmas.

"Don't wear last year's bargains or this year's choice of adults," says Marcus. "Dress up to the standards of your group in the manner of your group and do it right here in Marin."

Charm Her With Jewelry

For the woman who appreciates personal gifts of sentimental value, select one of the endless assortments of novel jewelry charms this season.

There are charms in beautiful stone-set drops; and others in a precious assortment of miniatures . . . all are detachable and interchangeable. Some lend themselves to the revival in fashion's penchant for "antique" pendants.

A very special gift for the lady is a smart, gold disc charm. Have it personalized with an inscription or monogram.

Stocking Attributed To Saint Nickolas

The hanging of the Christmas stocking is attributed to Saint Nicholas, who provided dowries for the daughters of an impoverished nobleman.

As the saint threw presents of gold into the house, they fell into a stocking that had been hung near the chimney to dry.

Safety Rules Change Trees In Germany

By RICHARD M. SUDHALTER

FRANKFURT (UPI) — Germans used to look on their Christmas trees with pride and even a little awe.

They were a beautiful sight. No store-bought colored balls, just dozens of candles burning bright and warm.

Then, not long ago, the fire department stepped in. Sorry, it said, it's dangerous. A fire hazard.

A fire hazard, indeed. A custom dating to prehistoric times, when Druid priests hurled flaming trees down mountainsides to celebrate the Dec. 21 winter solstice. And suddenly it was a fire hazard.

But the fire department had its way. Over the past two or three years German families have begun to follow the American custom of using colored lights. The number of Christmas Eve fires has dropped dramatically in the last three years, according to fire department figures.

Over the years Christmas decoration became a family affair. Fruits, bonbons, nuts, paper cut-outs, strings of beads and candles combined to make the German Christmas tree a work of art.

Unlike American custom, the German Christmas tree is never displayed before Christmas Eve.

But in Communist East Germany, where official reference to Christmas is taboo, it isn't even a Christmas tree. East Germans have to speak of "Winter Trees" and a jolly old man with a beard named "Father Frost."

Oh, Tannenbaum.

Litter Besmirches Holiday Landscape

There's a blot on the country at Christmas time. It's that nasty item known as litter—dropped by careless shoppers, excited package openers and tired party-goers alike.

The Keep America Beautiful organization notes there are two litter bulges to the Christmas season. One comes before the holiday and is caused by the large concentrations of shoppers in cities and towns. The other comes after the holiday when trees, wreaths, decorations and wrappings are discarded along sidewalks, streets, highways and vacant lots.

Many cities have started special Christmas anti-litter campaigns. In Los Angeles, businessmen band together to curb litter by "giving Santa Claus a broom."

In Maryland, litter fighters conduct a pre-holiday program, including the distribution of anti-litter jingles.

New York City's Sanitation Department dresses up a refuse collection truck with Christmas wreaths and garlands and anti-litter messages. It is driven by a man dressed as Santa Claus for two or three weeks before the holiday.

Everyone can help to eliminate litter. Here are four basic rules for you to follow.

Refrain from littering stores and streets when shopping.

Put discarded wrappings in their proper receptacles as soon as presents are opened.

Store re-usable decorations and wrapping materials safely so they won't become a fire hazard.

Don't just dump out old Christmas trees or wreaths. If in doubt about how to get rid of them, check with your local sanitation department.

Reversible Paisley Belt Gives Color

Do you like a colorful fancy belt, or do you prefer plain leather? A new one on the market is paisley on one side which reverses to glove finished steerhide on the other.

Bush jackets for outerwear are being seen more and more. Men like the abundance of pockets in this model. Reasonably-priced, comfortable suede loafers come in eight colors and can be blended in with almost every sportswear outfit.

'Correct' Way To Trim Trees

There is a "correct" way to trim the tree if your eager and impatient children will allow it.

First, inspect the lights for frayed cords, exposed wires, and broken sockets. Check all the bulbs. Then begin with the lights at the top, working down and around placing them on the boughs nearest trunk first and working outward to the tips of the branches.

After all the lights are in place, hang the other decorations.

Plant From Heaven

Mistletoe was known to the ancient Druids, who thought it was a plant brought from heaven by the missel thrush.

OLD-STYLE CANDLES—Candlemaker Ralph Ajello is shown in his workshop in Westchester County, New York, with some of the thousands of Christmas candles his firm makes each year. The Ajello family began making candles five generations ago in Naples, Italy, and moved to this country in the end of the 19th Century.

Less Ironing With A Dryer

Ironing is lessened or eliminated for owners of the new automatic dryers because of a de-wrinkle cycle. This gentle "cooling-off" period follows the regular drying cycle and gives fabrics and garments a fresh look.

The "automatic dry" control includes a damp dry setting which dries clothes just the right length of time for easiest ironing—without sprinkling.

When the drying cycle is completed a bell sounds so clothes can be removed while wrinkle-free.

Yule Record Albums Made Record Sales

During the 1962 Christmas season, two record albums went over the one-million-dollar mark in factory billing.

They were "Glorious Sound of Christmas" by Philadelphia Orchestra and "Season's Greetings" by Perry Como.

Handy Wrapper

A paper tablecloth comes in handy for the bulky gift that is too large for gift-paper widths. These tablecloths are available in various designs, including birthday and Christmas motifs.

Dress Up Home With Tiny Trees

Tiny whimsical Christmas trees that you make yourself can do a great deal to dress up your home during the holidays.

The greatest fun in making these miniature trees is in dreaming up the ideas for them yourself. But, here are a few ideas for trees to get you started thinking in the right direction.

Christmas tree balls in graduated sizes can be stacked one on the other by attaching the balls, Christmas seals, tinsel, picture hanging wire.

Funnel or cone shapes (tin or paper) ranging from large at the bottom to smallest at the top can be stacked for a smart effect, too.

Mistletoe Kissing

The practice of kissing under the mistletoe is believed to have its origin in ancient times when enemies met under the mistletoe and droppd their weapons and embraced.

Holy Week Is Busy Time In Big New York Church

LIGHTING TASK—Checking connections at the Riverside Church's electrical panel board for Christmas lighting is James Farmer, one of the church's assistant ministers, with an electrician.

Preparations For Season Start In July

By LYDIA BICKFORD

From far up in the tower of New York's Riverside Church, the mighty bells of the carillon are sending exultant glorias out over the North River.

Inside the sanctuary, 2,500 worshippers are celebrating the meaning of the Christmas season. In a chapel nearby, 100 Spanish-speaking church-goers are about to hear a sermon in their own language, given by their own Hispano-American minister.

At the close of the service, single young adults are meeting over a coffee hour to discuss a Christmas topic, or later going to dinner together.

In the afternoon, Riverside opens its doors to a Chinese Christian Fellowship and to the Religious Society of Friends.

And as dusk comes down on the city and the church is again filled with worshippers singing Christmas carols with the choir, the lights of the church are lowered, and six ministers go forward to the altar for the traditional candle-lighting ceremony.

This is Riverside Church on the Sunday before Christmas. During Christmas week, 10,000 people, many of whom are not church members, are involved in worship services, family Christmas parties, tableaux, holiday teas and dinners, and neighboring caroling.

But for the 130 people on the church staff, Christmas begins to be in being back in May, when the first plans are structured. By June, the church's myriad organizations will have requested program dates, in August the storage rooms containing Christmas manger scenes, doorway designs and electric candles are being checked to see what must be replaced.

Huge brass candlestick holders are polished to a sheen, and lights are checked in the Three Wise Men electric design that will hang over the church entrance used by all the children who come to Riverside.

Discussions begin to centralize on Christmas planning shortly after Labor Day, and inter-office memos flow back and forth.

Later in the fall, 37 trees are ordered for the church, ranging from a three-foot artificial tree for the church's nursery school to an 18-foot tree. In the nave will stand a 12-foot balsam, and ranging around the sanctuary will be half trees, flat at the back, so they can be wired to the church carvings.

A week before Christmas, 43 members of the maintenance crew converge to put up all this greenery, which takes 50 man hours of time. Printed instructions go to the electricians who man the light board, giving orders like "choir spots, full; triforium and south aisles, one-quarter; five bucket lights in ambulatory, blue; certain circuits never play during sermon."

The ministers who participate in the candle-lighting ceremony are given a diagram of placement, and instructions on their participation, which say, "The lighted candles are to be held upright in the INSIDE hand."

The choir is holding extra rehearsals, and residents of the neighborhood enjoy the sounds of the bells as the carillonneur practices for his special Christmas recitals.

But though the staff of the church is working hard to extend the meaning of Christmas to all who will come to the church, they take time during the pre-Christmas week for their own convocation: a worship service and a buffet lunch — and a time to exchange their personal Christmas greetings.

GETTING READY—Staff members of Riverside Church, New York City, begin planning for the many Christmas week observances early in the fall. Here man-size candle holders are being arranged.

Polish Christmas Last Fling Before Winter

By EDWARD SHIELDS

WARSAW (UPI) — Hares in the window and fish in the wash basin signal Christmas in Poland.

Christmas here is a final, flustered rocket-burst of gaiety before the gray resignation of the East European winter.

The Communist regime makes no attempt to dampen the holiday spirit and even, within the narrow confines of the chronically overextended economy, encourages it.

Since 1956, the Roman Catholic Church has been given a free hand to celebrate the religious side of the holiday.

From the starkly traditional Gothic of Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski's rebuilt St. John's Cathedral to the smallest wooden village church, soldiers in the uniform of the Polish People's Army kneel next to babushka-shrouded peasant women and stylish wives of bureaucrats at the Christmas Midnight Mass.

Poles have their Christmas dinner on the night of the 24th —a feast of 12 traditional dishes, including fish in "gray sauce" and mushrooms, and usually without meat.

Christmas trees usually are those which were not up to export quality, or "toppings" from the season's timber-cutting.

More and more Poles are following official urging to buy artificial plastic trees — but these, too, must be bought when they appear.

Christmas fare is a long-term project. In the days before the holiday, few homes in the spreading, modern apartment blocks lacked a hare hanging head-down in the frosty air outside the living room window.

Bathtubs — and even the hand basins in office washrooms — teem with carp being kept alive to be the feature of the Christmas Eve dinner.

As Christmas ends, the Poles feel fortified for winter.

Suits To Be Brighter

What's new in clothing? Well, suits will still be dark, but they will be deep and bright, black-bronze, black-burgundy, iridescent. Jackets will have lowered buttons and lowered, longer lapels, giving a look of more line. The over-all look of men's clothing can be described as "classic."

Sports Games Sure To Score On Christmas

Good sports or not, your family will marvel at the variety of intricate games this Christmas that bring even big league sports down to table-size.

Whether your son tried out for quarterback or water-boy, he'll appreciate the latest NFL electric football game including a magnetized ball and a kicker-passer device that is extraordinarily real.

With the introduction of so many indoor ice rinks, ice hockey has become a "regular" with the high school crowd. It is no surprise, then, to see an electric hockey game featuring an icy-pro-puck to appear on the game scene.

Billiards has been excavated from those dark and sinister tombs called pool halls, given a little dusting off and introduced to the entire family.

Sunlight Can Dim Clothing

For generations homemakers have been hanging clothes in the sun for its brightening effect. Actually just the opposite may happen.

Today's detergents contain fluorescent brighteners. But the sun counteracts these chemicals, greatly reducing their effectiveness.

So for that "whiter-than-new" look the TV commercials are always talking about, take the easy way out—use an automatic clothes dryer.

Jet Fan Is A Gift

This year's gift items are highly unusual. There's a replica of a jet engine that's actually a desk fan; a miniature Jaguar car that encases a transistor radio; a large wooden electric wall clock with billiard balls as numerals; and "executive pinball machines" that stand right on the desk top.

Minimum Paper Best For Wraps

Pretty wrapping on a package under the tree can make all the difference.

Use a minimum of paper. Place the box, face down, in the center of a sheet of paper that looks like the approximate size needed.

Fold the paper over the lengthwise dimension of the box and cut it, leaving only an inch or so to overlap. Seal the overlap with a piece of tape.

Now, for the ends. Make sure the paper overhangs the ends by between half and five-eighths of the depth of the box. Turn in the corners at top and bottom, as tightly as possible. Finally, secure the top half to the bottom half with a piece of tape.

Back Is New Spot For Jewelry Gift

Since fashion favors a variety of bared-back styles in dresses for late day and dress-up, Trifari suggests costume jewelry pins in pairs to wear on the side of a back plunge or at the lowest part of the back.

Pick a pair of gay flower designs and match them with earrings to please your "special girl."

Religious Group Constructs Toys

RIPTON, N.Y. (AP) — Members of a unique religious community here, whose goal is to follow completely the teachings of Jesus through shared communal living, have found a satisfactory way to meet the practical needs of the 250-member Society of Brothers.

They are hard at work manufacturing educational playthings, designed to spur imaginative, spontaneous play activities. Many of their designs are constructed for multiple — and free-wheeling—purposes. There's a triangle set from which children can make a seesaw, a cart with wheels, a slide, and many other combinations.

Another design is a playhouse which can operate at one-story or two-story levels, can support a slide that can grab a rung at any height, and that has a platform readied for doll housekeeping or playing store. A rocking boat has a built-in mechanism so it actually moves across the floor as the young "rowers" rock it. When it's turned over there's a flight of stairs underneath.

In their own community in the foothills of the Catskills, life for the children means playing with the toys their fathers and grandfathers have made, having breakfast with their families in their apartments, but sharing the other two meals with their own age groups in their own school, helping with berry picking, corn husking, kitchen clean-up detail, and the myriad activities common to any large family.

There is no iron-clad schedule of responsibilities for any of the members of the Society of Brothers. A new house is needed for the growing community, so all men who are available go to work on its construction.

The weather is unusually hot, so the children are piled in a school bus, and go to the river for the afternoon. The young college group is off for a four-day hike through the Catskills.

Young members of the community teach the still-younger in a building adapted for a school. There aren't any conventional desks. The tables are in half and quarter circles, and the teacher presides within a partial circle where she can reach every child without standing up. This type of table later joined the parade of equipment marketed by the Society.

Communal living begins at the cradle age, and at six weeks, the new baby spends a few hours a day in the Baby House. When adult members of the community gather in the evening for singing or folk-dancing, there's no baby-sitting problem. A teen-age girl in the apartment unit will watch over several charges. When it's a teen party, the mothers take turns with baby-tending at home.

Formed in 1920, the Society of Brothers originated in Germany, left for England, when it was forced to disband by the German Secret State Police, fled to Paraguay when Germany made war on England and came to rest in the United States ten years ago. There are two other communities in this country, at Norfolk, Conn., and Farmington, Pa.

Have Youngsters Join Preparations

An important part of the fun of Christmas is in preparing for it and since Christmas is for children, you'll want your youngsters to participate as much as possible in all the activities that the Yule season brings.

Not only will it be an excellent opportunity for them to gain a sense of responsibility but to express themselves creatively.

Brown Gravy

The gravy sauce you pour over slices of holiday turkey and dressing will have a rich brown color if you brown the flour in the oven before blending it with the meat juices.

Sleeveless Now Are Appropriate

This is a time of year for wearing sleeveless sweaters, but several rules should be observed:

(1) Be careful that sweater doesn't cause a jacket gap at neck; (2) A sweater should not be worn under a dressy, business-type suit. (Separate vests are better.); (3) Do not wear one with a neck that hides most of your tie and the points of your collar.

If you ever find yourself without a shoehorn, one of those little celluloid or plastic calenders that you probably have in your wallet will work fine.

Soldiers To Observe Christmas With Song

FT. ORD, (UPI) — Booming weapons and marching feet will be stilled Christmas Day at this military training post and be replaced by combined voices united in Handel's "The Messiah."

The Fort Ord Soldiers Chorus, the post chapel choir and musical groups from nearby communities will participate.

INDEED WE ARE THANKFUL . . .

For good health, many fine friends, our wonderful land of America and the privilege of serving good people like you.

CHRISTMAS SEALS – 1965 VERSION

The familiar Christmas health seal, first issued by the American Red Cross but taken over nearly a half century ago by the National Tuberculosis Assn., is in the four forms shown here in the sheets mailed to Marinites recently. The seal sale is the sole support of the association's tuberculosis research and prevention program. Most of the funds from sale of the seals in Marin County are used locally by the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Assn.

Marin Stores Are Hep To Latest Youth Style

The recent two-pronged problem concerning Marinites who go out of the county to buy, and the teener and young adult who dress as if they scavenged rather than bought at all, can be solved by a daily reading of the Independent-Journal clothing ads, according to Warren Marcus of Marcus Shop in San Rafael.

It certainly is not news to state that young people will not wear cut-down versions of adult styles, nor is it necessary. A large portion of the marketing effort of the clothing industry is devoted to following the high school and collegiate pace setters. Not leading them, but following them.

This is a carefully scheduled science and strong trends in fashion must be joined at the flood or millions in garment inventory can be left on the shelves.

Getting to the point, there is a lot of hesitancy on the part of both teens and parents, to make that first move into the clothing market place.

In large urban centers both teen and parent are reasonably sure that they are "with" the trend. What they must learn is that merchants in Marin, who specialize in teen and college fashions, attend the same style showings and receive the same trend information as the metropolitan clothing houses. More than this, because of the relative size of inventories, they are able to react faster to new trends.

Regular monthly bulletins from Menswear Retailers of America note all men's fashion trends, wherever they occur and, as young men are more susceptible to change, most fashion information concerns their needs. These are not generalizations but precise pin points of what is worn and where.

For example: The well-dressed undergrad at Fresno State wears a tweed balmacaan topcoat that a USC man would not be caught dead in. At USC they wear black gabardine or camel hair. Most collegians prefer tan raincoats but if you're an Oregon Beaver, you wear dark olive or you're "out." A young man entering Marin College can know in advance what will be worn. If he is preparing to go to Washington, Utah State or Slippery Rock Teachers College, his Marin specialty store can tell him, beyond a reasonable doubt, what the man around campus will wear on dates in the Spring of 1966.

This information is also invaluable to grandmothers and aunts, come Christmas.

"Don't wear last year's bargains or this year's choice of adults," says Marcus. "Dress up to the standards of your group in the manner of your group and do it right here in Marin."

Charm Her With Jewelry

For the woman who appreciates personal gifts of sentimental value, select one of the endless assortments of novel jewelry charms this season.

There are charms in beautiful stone-set drops; and others in a precious assortment of miniatures . . . all are detachable and interchangeable. Some lend themselves to the revival in fashion's penchant for "antique" pendants.

A very special gift for the lady is a smart, gold disc charm. Have it personalized with an inscription or monogram.

Stocking Attributed To Saint Nickolas

The hanging of the Christmas stocking is attributed to Saint Nicholas, who provided dowries for the daughters of an impoverished nobleman.

As the saint threw presents of gold into the house, they fell into a stocking that had been hung near the chimney to dry.

Safety Rules Change Trees In Germany

By RICHARD M. SUDHALTER

FRANKFURT (UPI) — Germans used to look on their Christmas trees with pride and even a little awe.

They were a beautiful sight. No store-bought colored balls, just dozens of candles burning bright and warm.

Then, not long ago, the fire department stepped in. Sorry, it said, it's dangerous. A fire hazard.

A fire hazard, indeed. A custom dating to prehistoric times, when Druid priests hurled flaming trees down mountainsides to celebrate the Dec. 21 winter solstice. And suddenly it was a fire hazard.

But the fire department had its way. Over the past two or three years German families have begun to follow the American custom of using colored lights. The number of Christmas Eve fires has dropped dramatically in the last three years, according to fire department figures.

Over the years Christmas decoration became a family affair. Fruits, bonbons, nuts, paper cut-outs, strings of beads and candles combined to make the German Christmas tree a work of art.

Unlike American custom, the German Christmas tree is never displayed before Christmas Eve.

But in Communist East Germany, where official reference to Christmas is taboo, it isn't even a Christmas tree. East Germans have to speak of "Winter Trees" and a jolly old man with a beard named "Father Frost."

Oh, Tannenbaum.

Litter Besmirches Holiday Landscape

There's a blot on the country at Christmas time. It's that nasty item known as litter—dropped by careless shoppers, excited package openers and tired party-goers alike.

The Keep America Beautiful organization notes there are two litter bulges to the Christmas season. One comes before the holiday and is caused by the large concentrations of shoppers in cities and towns. The other comes after the holiday when trees, wreaths, decorations and wrappings are discarded along sidewalks, streets, highways and vacant lots.

Many cities have started special Christmas anti-litter campaigns. In Los Angeles, businessmen band together to curb litter by "giving Santa Claus a broom."

In Maryland, litter fighters conduct a pre-holiday program, including the distribution of anti-litter jingles.

New York City's Sanitation Department dresses up a refuse collection truck with Christmas wreaths and garlands and anti-litter messages. It is driven by a man dressed as Santa Claus for two or three weeks before the holiday.

Everyone can help to eliminate litter. Here are four basic rules for you to follow.

Refrain from littering stores and streets when shopping.

Put discarded wrappings in their proper receptacles as soon as presents are opened.

Store re-usable decorations and wrapping materials safely so they won't become a fire hazard.

Don't just dump out old Christmas trees or wreaths. If in doubt about how to get rid of them, check with your local sanitation department.

Reversible Paisley Belt Gives Color

Do you like a colorful fancy belt, or do you prefer plain leather? A new one on the market is paisley on one side which reverses to glove finished steerhide on the other.

Bush jackets for outerwear are being seen more and more. Men like the abundance of pockets in this model. Reasonably-priced, comfortable suede loafers come in eight colors and can be blended in with almost every sportswear outfit.

'Correct' Way To Trim Trees

There is a "correct" way to trim the tree if your eager and impatient children will allow it.

First, inspect the lights for frayed cords, exposed wires, and broken sockets. Check all the bulbs. Then begin with the lights at the top, working down and around placing them on the boughs nearest trunk first and working outward to the tips of the branches.

After all the lights are in place, hang the other decorations.

Plant From Heaven

Mistletoe was known to the ancient Druids, who thought it was a plant brought from heaven by the missel thrush.

CANDLE MAKING—One of the easiest Christmas candles you can make is the snowball. Just follow the directions (from left to right). You'll need a one-pound box of paraffin for a candle five inches in diameter. First, make two separate hemispheres, using a teacup or round bowl for the mold. Attach the two pieces together, by dipping each half into hot, melted wax and quickly sticking together. Make a wick hole by heating an ice pick or other metal tool and melting a hole to the required depth. Insert the wick and seal it by pushing the hot tool down beside the wick. Finally add whipped wax. This trimming is made by melting wax, allowing it to cool until a thin skin has formed and beating with an egg beater. Use a spoon or fork to apply the wax. For an extra touch, add glitter or sequins.

DIFFERENT GIFT

Distinctive Christmas Candles Easy To Make

Christmas candles can add a decorative note to your own house or provide a perfect gift for neighbors, relatives or friends. They're inexpensive, easy to make, and can be created in an endless number of forms, suited to individual tastes.

Ordinary household paraffin, fine for candle making, is available in almost any supermarket. Special candle wax also is available in many hobby stores. If you want to add color to your candles, just melt part of an old crayon with the rest of the wax.

A pleasing scent can be obtained by adding a few drops of perfume while the wax is still hot.

The variety of molds which can be used for candles is endless. And most of them are probably right around the house. For example, jello molds, glass tumblers, plastic refrigerator containers, glasses, funnels, milk containers, mailing tubes or ice cream containers all make excellent molds.

When melting wax, it's best to use a double boiler, making sure you have plenty of water in the botton half. The wax should not be too hot when used for molding. It's a good idea if after melting the wax you take it off the heat, let it cool until a thin skin forms, then just heat for a very short time until the skin dissolves again.

When molding in a glass vessel, be sure the inside is tapered so the hardened candle can be removed. If you have trouble getting your candle out from the mold, put it in the refrigerator overnight.

You can insert the wick either before or after you mold the candle. To fix the wick before molding in a glass, tie a small weight to the end of the wick, and tie the top end to a stick placed across the top of the mold. With paper containers, pierce a hole in the bottom, pass the wick through and knot it. Tie the top to a stick across the mold.

To make a wick hole in an already-molded candle, heat an ice pick or other metal rod and melt a hole to the required depth. The wick does not have to go all the way down. After the wick is inserted, it can be sealed in by pushing a hot tool down beside the wick.

If you want your candle to have a thin coating of color, you can use one of two methods. Small candles can be dipped in hot colored wax, dipping first one half, then the other, allowing the coatings to overlap carefully. For larger candles, spoon hot wax of whatever color is desired over the top and sides of the candle. For best results, hold the candle in a tilted position.

Bedding Breeze In New Dryer

The wet, windy days always are most unpleasant when there is a big wash to hang outside, especially if blankets, sheets and other bedding are involved.

A new gas or electric clothes dryer eliminates the foul weather problems and largely reduces the manhandling of heavy items fresh from the washer. Here are some ideas on the best ways to dry bedding in the automatic clothes dryer.

Nylon, muslin and percale sheets should be slightly underdried. When sheets retain some natural moisture they are less apt to wrinkle or fold at the edges. Contour sheets will dry smooth and tight if replaced on the bed as soon as they come out of the dryer.

Men Overdoing Sports Clothes Wearing Now

Daliah Lavi says, "I like to see men wear sport clothes, but many of them are overdoing it. Suits, for business wear, give an air of competence, authority and reliability. Sport clothes, in the wrong places, make the wearer look like a playboy."

Polly Bergen says, "If men knew how wonderful they look in dinner clothes, they would wear them much more often. Their dressed-up dates like it too."

Christmas Stockings

The origin of Christmas stockings is not known, but there is a story that St. Nicholas once accidentally dropped some gold coins down a chimney and they fell in a stocking hung up to dry.

Make Practical Items 'Surprise' For Nursery Set

The most practical Christmas gift can be a surprise package by adding imaginative, though compatible, accessory items.

For a practical Yuletide gift for a family with a baby, you might, for example, get a colorful nursery diaper hamper, and stuff it with diapers, diaper pins, baby powder, or other small inexpensive items.

Nursery diaper hampers are ideal for gift-giving; many are gaily decorated with children's motifs — circus patterns, gay bunnies and little lambs or "playtime" themes. Covered in washable vinyl, they have a removable, plastic inner bag for sanitary handling, and a cover with built-in deodorizer.

Mistletoe Goes Back To Ancient Cults

The festive symbolism of mistletoe goes back to ancient cults common to the Celts, according to Encyclopedia Americana.

Mistletoe once was universally associated with fertility, and is still associated with kissing and courting at winter festivals.

Traditional To Op Art Greetings

by SALLY RYAN
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The lamb is lying down with the lion on Christmas cards this year.

There is everything from the usual medieval Madonnas Op art Christmas stars, with a sprinkling of partridges in pear trees. But peace is the favorite theme shown by greeting card manufacturers.

In the next two months, the manufacturers, museums, photographic supply houses and charity groups expect to sell a record number of cards.

The Greeting Card Assn., made up of manufacturers, predicts sales of over three billion cards in the United States.

Shoppers will find selection more difficult than ever, with more than 50,000 designs available.

The 1965 cards are three-dimensional, encrusted with gold foil. They are orange, pink, beige, purple, and sometimes even the traditional red or green.

There are special cards "From Our Parakeet to Yours."

There are cards for the milkman, mailman, doctor, priest, boss, nun, baby sitter and those in mourning. There is Santa on water skiis and Santa driving a golf cart instead of a sleigh.

"We figure the average customer is a housewife, about 35, with two children, living in the suburbs," said Steve Shannon, executive director of the Greeting Cards Assn.

"She orders about 200 personalized cards for 15 to 35 cents apiece, and then spends another $10-$12 on special cards for mother and the mailman. Then on impulse, she buys two or three boxes at the last minute."

The association takes what Shannon calls "a discreetly neutral policy" to its chief sales rivals: museums and charity organizations, such as UNICEF, which publishes its own cards to raise funds for the United Nations Children's Fund.

"Who's going to fight a glass of milk for a child in Zanzibar?" he asked, referring to UNICEF, which expects to sell 40 million cards this year.

Last year UNICEF's Christmas card net proceeds were $2.3 million.

Museums sales have been inching up, too, but the museums are close-mouthed about the figures. Many of the museums sell their cards throughout the country.

Sales of photographic cards have skyrocketed since they were introduced in the 1920s. Sales were 110 million in 1962, 125 million in 1963 and 150 million last year.

Name, Phone Number Might Get Hat Back

Write your name and phone number on the inside of the leather band of your new felt hat. If someone takes it by mistake, you may get it back.

If you have things stored in boxes on the top shelf of your closet, write down the contents on a tag with long enough strings to have them hang down where you can read them.

Even though new shoes are perfectly comfortable, wear them for short intervals instead of steadily, until they're well broken in.

This Contractor Just Like Santa

LOUISVILLE (AP)—One contractor has figured out a way to handle customers who order a fireplace for the home and are slow to pay.

He installs a pane of glass which blocks the flue of the chimney.

When the homeowner complains that the fireplace smokes, the contractor tells him it will work fine when it's paid for.

Upon payment, he drops a brick down the chimney, clears away the broken glass, and everyone's happy.

OLD-STYLE CANDLES—Candlemaker Ralph Ajello is shown in his workshop in Westchester County, New York, with some of the thousands of Christmas candles his firm makes each year. The Ajello family began making candles five generations ago in Naples, Italy, and moved to this country in the end of the 19th Century.

Less Ironing With A Dryer

Ironing is lessened or eliminated for owners of the new automatic dryers because of a de-wrinkle cycle. This gentle "cooling-off" period follows the regular drying cycle and gives fabrics and garments a fresh look.

The "automatic dry" control includes a damp dry setting which dries clothes just the right length of time for easiest ironing—without sprinkling.

When the drying cycle is completed a bell sounds so clothes can be removed while wrinkle-free.

Yule Record Albums Made Record Sales

During the 1962 Christmas season, two record albums went over the one-million-dollar mark in factory billing.

They were "Glorious Sound of Christmas" by Philadelphia Orchestra and "Season's Greetings" by Perry Como.

Handy Wrapper

A paper tablecloth comes in handy for the bulky gift that is too large for gift-paper widths. These tablecloths are available in various designs, including birthday and Christmas motifs.

Dress Up Home With Tiny Trees

Tiny whimsical Christmas trees that you make yourself can do a great deal to dress up your home during the holidays.

The greatest fun in making these miniature trees is in dreaming up the ideas for them yourself. But, here are a few ideas for trees to get you started thinking in the right direction.

Christmas tree balls in graduated sizes can be stacked one on the other by attaching the balls, Christmas seals, tinsel, picture hanging wire.

Funnel or cone shapes (tin or paper) ranging from large at the bottom to smallest at the top can be stacked for a smart effect, too.

Mistletoe Kissing

The practice of kissing under the mistletoe is believed to have its origin in ancient times when enemies met under the mistletoe and droppd their weapons and embraced.

THE BEST CRITICS—Zany fun for the kids, but this game-playing session is actually a testing time for a new Milton Bradley game.

CHILD 'LABOR'

New Toy Ideas Tested At Home

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—When a new game is being cooked up in research and development department of the Milton Bradley Co., the designers don't have to go far to find out whether the game will go over with children.

They turn most naturally to their own families.

James J. Shea Sr., president of the company, has 15 grandchildren. His son, executive vice president, is the father of three girls and two boys.

The vice president in charge of the development group, Milnens Taft Jr., has three boys and one girl, and a game artist, John Fereira, has a half dozen, evenly split between boys and girls.

And if that's not enough, John O'Donnell, assistant to the game sales manager, has two boys and three girls.

Whatever children are tapped for a trial run of a prospective game, their fathers can be sure the players will offer their most candid suggestions.

Coffee Can Remove Stain In Dark Suit

Black coffee will often take stains off a dark suit. Do not store swimwear away for the winter without having it properly laundered first. Fresh water showers do not remove all the salt.

Reminder: Do not stuff your muffler in the sleeves of your overcoat. It's too easily lost. Fold it neatly and put it into a pocket, instead.

Record, Book Gifts

Records and books are good choices for almost all teens, boy or girl. The important thing is to keep in mind the type of teen you're gifting.

Editor Sees Victorian Style Return In U.S.

John Taylor, editor of England's "Tailor and Cutter," said, "The American man is taking over the image of the Victorian, black and exaggerated understatement, a dark format and sincere clothes. He dresses as the 'father figure' on the Eastern Seaboard."

British recording star Paula Clark, recently performing in this country, added, "I work in London, live in Paris, and firmly believe that the men of all three countries dress exceedingly well. The best? I'd have to pick the men in the U.S."

Proper Clothes Make Better Impression

Dick Van Dyke said, "There's no quicker and surer way of making an impression on people than by wearing the proper clothes. Conversely, nothing can make you stand out, unfavorably, more than the wrong clothes."

British tailor Anthony Sinclair adds, "A tailor can't do both women's and men's wear. There are two completely different techniques. No really elegant man would want a woman's designer for his clothes."

Religious Group Constructs Toys

RIPTON, N.Y. (AP) — Members of a unique religious community here, whose goal is to follow completely the teachings of Jesus through shared communal living, have found a satisfactory way to meet the practical needs of the 250-member Society of Brothers.

They are hard at work manufacturing educational playthings, designed to spur imaginative, spontaneous play activities. Many of their designs are constructed for multiple — and free-wheeling—purposes. There's a triangle set from which children can make a seesaw, a cart with wheels, a slide, and many other combinations.

Another design is a playhouse which can operate at one-story or two-story levels, can support a slide that can grab a rung at any height, and that has a platform readied for doll housekeeping or playing store. A rocking boat has a built-in mechanism so it actually moves across the floor as the young "rowers" rock it. When it's turned over there's a flight of stairs underneath.

In their own community in the foothills of the Catskills, life for the children means playing with the toys their fathers and grandfathers have made, having breakfast with their families in their apartments, but sharing the other two meals with their own age groups in their own school, helping with berry picking, corn husking, kitchen clean-up detail, and the myriad activities common to any large family.

There is no iron-clad schedule of responsibilities for any of the members of the Society of Brothers. A new house is needed for the growing community, so all men who are available go to work on its construction.

The weather is unusually hot, so the children are piled in a school bus, and go to the river for the afternoon. The young college group is off for a four-day hike through the Catskills.

Young members of the community teach the still-younger in a building adapted for a school. There aren't any conventional desks. The tables are in half and quarter circles, and the teacher presides within a partial circle where she can reach every child without standing up. This type of table later joined the parade of equipment marketed by the Society.

Communal living begins at the cradle age, and at six weeks, the new baby spends a few hours a day in the Baby House. When adult members of the community gather in the evening for singing or folk-dancing, there's no baby-sitting problem. A teen-age girl in the apartment unit will watch over several charges. When it's a teen party, the mothers take turns with baby-tending at home.

Formed in 1920, the Society of Brothers originated in Germany, left for England, when it was forced to disband by the German Secret State Police, fled to Paraguay when Germany made war on England and came to rest in the United States ten years ago. There are two other communities in this country, at Norfolk, Conn., and Farmington, Pa.

Have Youngsters Join Preparations

An important part of the fun of Christmas is in preparing for it and since Christmas is for children, you'll want your youngsters to participate as much as possible in all the activities that the Yule season brings.

Not only will it be an excellent opportunity for them to gain a sense of responsibility but to express themselves creatively.

Brown Gravy

The gravy sauce you pour over slices of holiday turkey and dressing will have a rich brown color if you brown the flour in the oven before blending it with the meat juices.

Sleeveless Now Are Appropriate

This is a time of year for wearing sleeveless sweaters, but several rules should be observed:

(1) Be careful that sweater doesn't cause a jacket gap at neck; (2) A sweater should not be worn under a dressy, business-type suit. (Separate vests are better.); (3) Do not wear one with a neck that hides most of your tie and the points of your collar.

If you ever find yourself without a shoehorn, one of those little celluloid or plastic calenders that you probably have in your wallet will work fine.

Soldiers To Observe Christmas With Song

FT. ORD, (UPI) — Booming weapons and marching feet will be stilled Christmas Day at this military training post and be replaced by combined voices united in Handel's "The Messiah."

The Fort Ord Soldiers Chorus, the post chapel choir and musical groups from nearby communities will participate.

INDEED WE ARE THANKFUL . . .

For good health, many fine friends, our wonderful land of America and the privilege of serving good people like you.

Try Do-It-Yourself Gift Manufacture

New Kits May Start You Off On A Hobby

The do-it-yourself craze is still going strong. And Christmas is one of the best times to join the ranks of the do-it-yourselfers. Homemade Christmas gifts provide a personal touch that's often lacking in the store-bought variety. And making the gifts is fun in itself and can start you on a brand new hobby.

Some of the easiest gifts to make are available in various types of kits which provide instructions and equipment. Some of them are easy enough grandma probably will be more delighted with a slightly lopsided home made gift from little Susie than with a ready-made present.

Little girls who enjoy working in the kitchen can try baking pictures. You just pour powdered plastic crystals on a flat cookie tin and pop them in the oven. The crystals are available in most colors. Use a mold to get the desired picture or draw the outline on a metal sheet. When baked, take the picture off the cookie tin, frame and wrap prettily.

Another simple project in the kitchen is fried marbles, a recent craze which has grown to an amazing popularity. Put the marbles in a pan and fry for a few minutes. Then put them in cold water. The marbles will develop cracked patterns. Next, turn the marbles into jewelry. Earring and pin backings are available at most hobby and variety stores and are easy to glue on. If Dad is handy with tools, you can drill holes in the marbles and string them on a chain for a necklace.

The world of chemistry provides liquid plastics that the do-it-yourself gift-giver can use to make paper weights, book ends and pen-set bases. Just pour the liquid plastic into a mold. When it hardens, paint for added beauty.

Comedians Shirts

Henny Youngman has his shirts monogrammed "Milton Berle" and comic Lenny Kent's carry the embroidery, "Genius."

Don't Soak Socks

Remember not to let your wool socks soak for too long when they're being washed. If you have trouble getting a spot off your tie, hold the area over the steam from boiling water for a minute or so, and then it should vanish.

Government Seers Expect Record-Smashing Buying

By PETER S. NAGAN
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — Government economists expect record-smashing Christmas sales for the nation's retailers.

As the experts see it, dollar volume of store business should surpass last year's big Yule showing, perhaps by as much as 10 per cent. So far this year, sales have been running 6 per cent to 7 per cent ahead of 1964.

Personal income was at a record annual rate of $545.3 billion in September, up more than 8 per cent from a year ago. More people are working than ever before—and earning more. Increased dividends and social security payments are swelling the income stream. And the faster their incomes rise, the more people spend.

Consumer confidence is high. People feel that the good times and good incomes will continue. The stock market both contributes to and reflects the general euphoria.

Fears of renewed inflation put consumers in a free-spending mood. They tend to prefer owning goods to holding dollars. Surveys show that consumers plan to keep buying autos and appliances at record rates.

Products being offered seemed to have a lot of sales appeal. The new 1966 autos are drawing customers in droves, and color TV is "hot." Dealers are expected to be well-stocked to meet customers' desires for model, style, color, and size. Their store staffs are at peaks and will be expanded further.

But record sales will be only part of the story. All this fall, consumers have been "trading up," buying more and more luxury goods.

It is confidently expected that consumers will go for the bigger cars, with expensive accessories. They are ordering better quality clothes and shoes. And they are spending freely for jewelry, sporting goods, Hi-Fi sets, cameras and similar expensive items.

The experts feel that the sales momentum that's going to be generated will continue well beyond the Christmas season. It will keep the cash registers jingling merrily for much of 1966.

Designer Says Somber Wear Now Bright

Women's designer Fontayne said, "Men have dressed too somberly in the past several decades. Plenty of bright things, in perfect taste, are now available. Be bold!"

Stated singer Jane Morgan, "Wonder what men would think if women wore stockings dangling down around their ankles—as so many men do?"

Yule Tree Custom

It is believed that the custom of Christmas trees crossed the Atlantic with Hessian mercenaries during the American Revolution.

CANDLE MAKING—One of the easiest Christmas candles you can make is the snowball. Just follow the directions (from left to right). You'll need a one-pound box of paraffin for a candle five inches in diameter. First, make two separate hemispheres, using a teacup or round bowl for the mold. Attach the two pieces together, by dipping each half into hot, melted wax and quickly sticking together. Make a wick hole by heating an ice pick or other metal tool and melting a hole to the required depth. Insert the wick and seal it by pushing the hot tool down beside the wick. Finally add whipped wax. This trimming is made by melting wax, allowing it to cool until a thin skin has formed and beating with an egg beater. Use a spoon or fork to apply the wax. For an extra touch, add glitter or sequins.

DIFFERENT GIFT

Distinctive Christmas Candles Easy To Make

Christmas candles can add a decorative note to your own house or provide a perfect gift for neighbors, relatives or friends. They're inexpensive, easy to make, and can be created in an endless number of forms, suited to individual tastes.

Ordinary household paraffin, fine for candle making, is available in almost any supermarket. Special candle wax also is available in many hobby stores. If you want to add color to your candles, just melt part of an old crayon with the rest of the wax.

A pleasing scent can be obtained by adding a few drops of perfume while the wax is still hot.

The variety of molds which can be used for candles is endless. And most of them are probably right around the house. For example, jello molds, glass tumblers, plastic refrigerator containers, glasses, funnels, milk containers, mailing tubes or ice cream containers all make excellent molds.

When melting wax, it's best to use a double boiler, making sure you have plenty of water in the botton half. The wax should not be too hot when used for molding. It's a good idea if after melting the wax you take it off the heat, let it cool until a thin skin forms, then just heat for a very short time until the skin dissolves again.

When molding in a glass vessel, be sure the inside is tapered so the hardened candle can be removed. If you have trouble getting your candle out from the mold, put it in the refrigerator overnight.

You can insert the wick either before or after you mold the candle. To fix the wick before molding in a glass, tie a small weight to the end of the wick, and tie the top end to a stick placed across the top of the mold. With paper containers, pierce a hole in the bottom, pass the wick through and knot it. Tie the top to a stick across the mold.

To make a wick hole in an already-molded candle, heat an ice pick or other metal rod and melt a hole to the required depth. The wick does not have to go all the way down. After the wick is inserted, it can be sealed in by pushing a hot tool down beside the wick.

If you want your candle to have a thin coating of color, you can use one of two methods. Small candles can be dipped in hot colored wax, dipping first one half, then the other, allowing the coatings to overlap carefully. For larger candles, spoon hot wax of whatever color is desired over the top and sides of the candle. For best results, hold the candle in a tilted position.

Bedding Breeze In New Dryer

The wet, windy days always are most unpleasant when there is a big wash to hang outside, especially if blankets, sheets and other bedding are involved.

A new gas or electric clothes dryer eliminates the foul weather problems and largely reduces the manhandling of heavy items fresh from the washer. Here are some ideas on the best ways to dry bedding in the automatic clothes dryer.

Nylon, muslin and percale sheets should be slightly underdried. When sheets retain some natural moisture they are less apt to wrinkle or fold at the edges. Contour sheets will dry smooth and tight if replaced on the bed as soon as they come out of the dryer.

Men Overdoing Sports Clothes Wearing Now

Daliah Lavi says, "I like to see men wear sport clothes, but many of them are overdoing it. Suits, for business wear, give an air of competence, authority and reliability. Sport clothes, in the wrong places, make the wearer look like a playboy."

Polly Bergen says, "If men knew how wonderful they look in dinner clothes, they would wear them much more often. Their dressed-up dates like it too."

Christmas Stockings

The origin of Christmas stockings is not known, but there is a story that St. Nicholas once accidentally dropped some gold coins down a chimney and they fell in a stocking hung up to dry.

Make Practical Items 'Surprise' For Nursery Set

The most practical Christmas gift can be a surprise package by adding imaginative, though compatible, accessory items.

For a practical Yuletide gift for a family with a baby, you might, for example, get a colorful nursery diaper hamper, and stuff it with diapers, diaper pins, baby powder, or other small inexpensive items.

Nursery diaper hampers are ideal for gift-giving; many are gaily decorated with children's motifs — circus patterns, gay bunnies and little lambs or "playtime" themes. Covered in washable vinyl, they have a removable, plastic inner bag for sanitary handling, and a cover with built-in deodorizer.

Mistletoe Goes Back To Ancient Cults

The festive symbolism of mistletoe goes back to ancient cults common to the Celts, according to Encyclopedia Americana.

Mistletoe once was universally associated with fertility, and is still associated with kissing and courting at winter festivals.

Traditional To Op Art Greetings

by SALLY RYAN
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The lamb is lying down with the lion on Christmas cards this year.

There is everything from the usual medieval Madonnas Op art Christmas stars, with a sprinkling of partridges in pear trees. But peace is the favorite theme shown by greeting card manufacturers.

In the next two months, the manufacturers, museums, photographic supply houses and charity groups expect to sell a record number of cards.

The Greeting Card Assn., made up of manufacturers, predicts sales of over three billion cards in the United States.

Shoppers will find selection more difficult than ever, with more than 50,000 designs available.

The 1965 cards are three-dimensional, encrusted with gold foil. They are orange, pink, beige, purple, and sometimes even the traditional red or green.

There are special cards "From Our Parakeet to Yours."

There are cards for the milkman, mailman, doctor, priest, boss, nun, baby sitter and those in mourning. There is Santa on water skiis and Santa driving a golf cart instead of a sleigh.

"We figure the average customer is a housewife, about 35, with two children, living in the suburbs," said Steve Shannon, executive director of the Greeting Cards Assn.

"She orders about 200 personalized cards for 15 to 35 cents apiece, and then spends another $10-$12 on special cards for mother and the mailman. Then on impulse, she buys two or three boxes at the last minute."

The association takes what Shannon calls "a discreetly neutral policy" to its chief sales rivals: museums and charity organizations, such as UNICEF, which publishes its own cards to raise funds for the United Nations Children's Fund.

"Who's going to fight a glass of milk for a child in Zanzibar?" he asked, referring to UNICEF, which expects to sell 40 million cards this year.

Last year UNICEF's Christmas card net proceeds were $2.3 million.

Museums sales have been inching up, too, but the museums are close-mouthed about the figures. Many of the museums sell their cards throughout the country.

Sales of photographic cards have skyrocketed since they were introduced in the 1920s. Sales were 110 million in 1962, 125 million in 1963 and 150 million last year.

Name, Phone Number Might Get Hat Back

Write your name and phone number on the inside of the leather band of your new felt hat. If someone takes it by mistake, you may get it back.

If you have things stored in boxes on the top shelf of your closet, write down the contents on a tag with long enough strings to have them hang down where you can read them.

Even though new shoes are perfectly comfortable, wear them for short intervals instead of steadily, until they're well broken in.

This Contractor Just Like Santa

LOUISVILLE (AP)—One contractor has figured out a way to handle customers who order a fireplace for the home and are slow to pay.

He installs a pane of glass which blocks the flue of the chimney.

When the homeowner complains that the fireplace smokes, the contractor tells him it will work fine when it's paid for.

Upon payment, he drops a brick down the chimney, clears away the broken glass, and everyone's happy.

CHILD 'LABOR'

New Toy Ideas Tested At Home

THE BEST CRITICS—Zany fun for the kids, but this game-playing session is actually a testing time for a new Milton Bradley game.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—When a new game is being cooked up in research and development department of the Milton Bradley Co., the designers don't have to go far to find out whether the game will go over with children.

They turn most naturally to their own families.

James J. Shea Sr., president of the company, has 15 grandchildren. His son, executive vice president, is the father of three girls and two boys.

The vice president in charge of the development group, Milens Taft Jr., has three boys and one girl, and a game artist, John Fereira, has a half dozen, evenly split between boys and girls.

And if that's not enough, John O'Donnell, assistant to the game sales manager, has two boys and three girls.

Whatever children are tapped for a trial run of a prospective game, their fathers can be sure the players will offer their most candid suggestions.

Coffee Can Remove Stain In Dark Suit

Black coffee will often take stains off a dark suit. Do not store swimwear away for the winter without having it properly laundered first. Fresh water showers do not remove all the salt.

Reminder: Do not stuff your muffler in the sleeves of your overcoat. It's too easily lost. Fold it neatly and put it into a pocket, instead.

Record, Book Gifts

Records and books are good choices for almost all teens, boy or girl. The important thing is to keep in mind the type of teen you're gifting.

Editor Sees Victorian Style Return In U.S.

John Taylor, editor of England's "Tailor and Cutter," said, "The American man is taking over the image of the Victorian, black and exaggerated understatement, a dark format and sincere clothes. He dresses as the 'father figure' on the Eastern Seaboard."

British recording star Paula Clark, recently performing in this country, added, "I work in London, live in Paris, and firmly believe that the men of all three countries dress exceedingly well. The best? I'd have to pick the men in the U.S."

Proper Clothes Make Better Impression

Dick Van Dyke said, "There's no quicker and surer way of making an impression on people than by wearing the proper clothes. Conversely, nothing can make you stand out, unfavorably, more than the wrong clothes."

British tailor Anthony Sinclair adds, "A tailor can't do both women's and men's wear. There are two completely different techniques. No really elegant man would want a woman's designer for his clothes."

Yule Folk Music

The ballad type of carol, now considered by musical writers as the true carol, is the folk song type.

Try Do-It-Yourself Gift Manufacture

New Kits May Start You Off On A Hobby

ART IN THE KITCHEN—With a little help from Mother, it's easy for a junior miss to make her own Christmas gifts by baking pictures. Just pour plastic crystals on a cookie tin, following the outline of a predrawn picture. Then bake.

The do-it-yourself craze is still going strong. And Christmas is one of the best times to join the ranks of the do-it-yourselfers. Homemade Christmas gifts provide a personal touch that's often lacking in the store-bought variety. And making the gifts is fun in itself and can start you on a brand new hobby.

Some of the easiest gifts to make are available in various types of kits which provide instructions and equipment. Some of them are easy enough grandma probably will be more delighted with a slightly lopsided home made gift from little Susie than with a ready-made present.

Little girls who enjoy working in the kitchen can try baking pictures. You just pour powdered plastic crystals on a flat cookie tin and pop them in the oven. The crystals are available in most colors. Use a mold to get the desired picture or draw the outline on a metal sheet. When baked, take the picture off the cookie tin, frame and wrap prettily.

Another simple project in the kitchen is fried marbles, a recent craze which has grown to an amazing popularity. Put the marbles in a pan and fry for a few minutes. Then put them in cold water. The marbles will develop cracked patterns. Next, turn the marbles into jewelry. Earring and pin backings are available at most hobby and variety stores and are easy to glue on. If Dad is handy with tools, you can drill holes in the marbles and string them on a chain for a necklace.

The world of chemistry provides liquid plastics that the do-it-yourself gift-giver can use to make paper weights, book ends and pen-set bases. Just pour the liquid plastic into a mold. When it hardens, paint for added beauty.

Comedians Shirts

Henny Youngman has his shirts monogrammed "Milton Berle" and comic Lenny Kent's carry the embroidery, "Genius."

Don't Soak Socks

Remember not to let your wool socks soak for too long when they're being washed. If you have trouble getting a spot off your tie, hold the area over the steam from boiling water for a minute or so, and then it should vanish.

Government Seers Expect Record-Smashing Buying

By PETER S. NAGAN
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — Government economists expect record-smashing Christmas sales for the nation's retailers.

As the experts see it, dollar volume of store business should surpass last year's big Yule showing, perhaps by as much as 10 per cent. So far this year, sales have been running 6 per cent to 7 per cent ahead of 1964.

Just about every factor in the economic outlook is bright these days.

Personal income was at a record annual rate of $545.3 billion in September, up more than 8 per cent from a year ago. More people are working than ever before—and earning more. Increased dividends and social security payments are swelling the income stream. And the faster their incomes rise, the more people spend.

Consumer confidence is high. People feel that the good times and good incomes will continue. The stock market both contributes to and reflects the general euphoria.

Fears of renewed inflation put consumers in a free-spending mood. They tend to prefer owning goods to holding dollars. Surveys show that consumers plan to keep buying autos and appliances at record rates.

Products being offered seemed to have a lot of sales appeal. The new 1966 autos are drawing customers in droves, and color TV is "hot." Dealers are expected to be well-stocked to meet customers' desires for model, style, color, and size. Their store staffs are at peaks and will be expanded further.

But record sales will be only part of the story. All this fall, consumers have been "trading up," buying more and more luxury goods.

It is confidently expected that consumers will go for the bigger cars, with expensive accessories. They are ordering better quality clothes and shoes. And they are spending freely for jewelry, sporting goods, Hi-Fi sets, cameras and similar expensive items.

The experts feel that the sales momentum that's going to be generated will continue well beyond the Christmas season. It will keep the cash registers jingling merrily for much of 1966.

Designer Says Somber Wear Now Bright

Women's designer Fontayne said, "Men have dressed too somberly in the past several decades. Plenty of bright things, in perfect taste, are now available. Be bold!"

Stated singer Jane Morgan, "Wonder what men would think if women wore stockings dangling down around their ankles—as so many men do?"

Yule Tree Custom

It is believed that the custom of Christmas trees crossed the Atlantic with Hessian mercenaries during the American Revolution.

Spain, Russia Combine In Unique Film Tree Creation

MADRID—A unique Christmas tree decorated entirely with handmade ornaments won't live to see this Christmas come.

But viewers of the film "Doctor Zhivago" will have a chance to admire it in the Christmas party sequence of the movie made from the Nobel prize-winning book by Boris Pasternak.

Before any ornaments were in being, a staff of researchers made a study of Russian ornaments of the period from 1905 to 1917, checking the native designs, the symbolic representations of various celebrations, the patterns, colors and materials used.

Next sketches were drawn in exact proportion to the models to be constructed.

The Spanish peasants were hired by the film's director, David Lean, to create glistening star-shapes, hand-carved wooden objects and colorful, hand-painted forms. Even the candles were hand-dipped, and shaped to the early 20th century designs, given them a rough, home-made quality to add to the decorating authenticity.

Most of the movie filming was done in Spain: on a large exterior set just outside Madrid, where the central part of Moscow was reconstructed, and outdoors near Soria, a rugged area similar to the steppes of Russia. To film the winter snow scenes there, the course of a river had to be diverted, a dam constructed, a rail-road spur built and an entire village created.

Striped Knit Shirts Becoming Important

Striped knit shirts are going to be mighty important from now on, the bolder the better. Brand new are the ones with a vertical competition stripe on the left side of the shirt, not unlike the striped surfing fleeces seen last summer.

Next big color for the young set in corduroy jeans will be yellow, and bell bottoms are spreading over the country like wildfire, reports the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear.

Christmas Seal Decorating Is Fun

Traditional Seals Have Different Uses

"When you start thinking about gift-wrapping and holiday party decorations, don't overlook the colorful Christmas Seals your mailman brings you."

To prove his point, Manuel created a complete party package from the 1965 Christmas Seal. The seal, named by its Danish-born creator "Kernels of Life," pictures a little girl feeding hungry birds in wintertime.

From the seal Toby has "lifted" the birds and made them the theme of his party invitations, place mats, place cards, table centerpiece and nutcups made entirely from seals.

Home decorations, also, Toby fashions from Christmas Seals. Winging birds, each carrying a Christmas Seal in his beak, make up his festive mantel decoration. Graduated lengths of single seals, stuck back-to-back for additional weight, hang from the molding above Manuel's fireplace to complete an interesting, off-center arrangement.

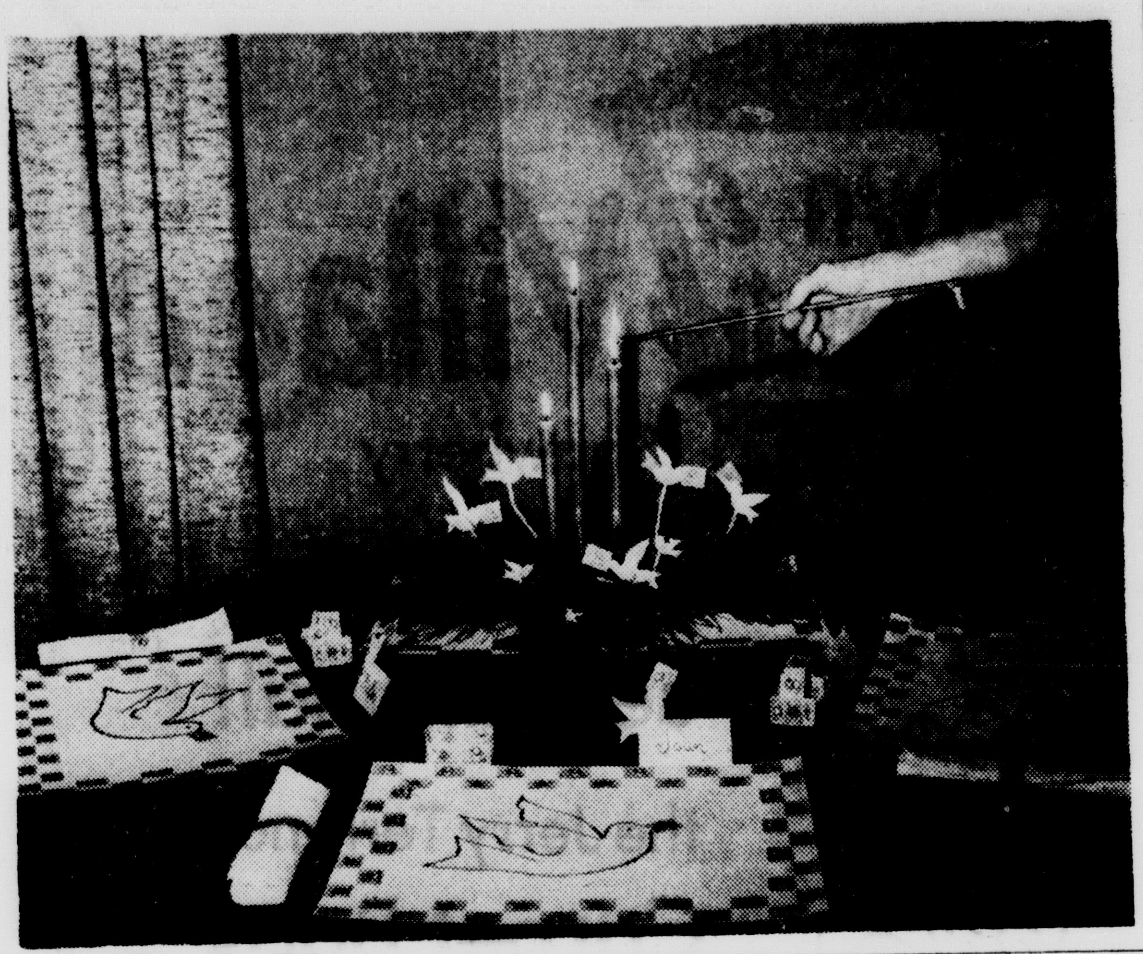
Ribbons of back-to-back single seals are used frequently in Manuel's decorations and gift-wraps, either as bright, looping bows or streamers. A double bow, plus streamers, makes a vivid perch for the graceful white bird that brings alive his pine-bough door decoration.

Two tips toward achieving professional effects are offered by Manuel. To gift-wrappers: Lift seals off the package for a fascinating, three-dimensional design. For instance, border your box thusly: Stick down one Christmas Seal, lift the next, fold the third across, bend the fourth down to the package and stick the fourth. Then repeat until the entire border has been outlined.

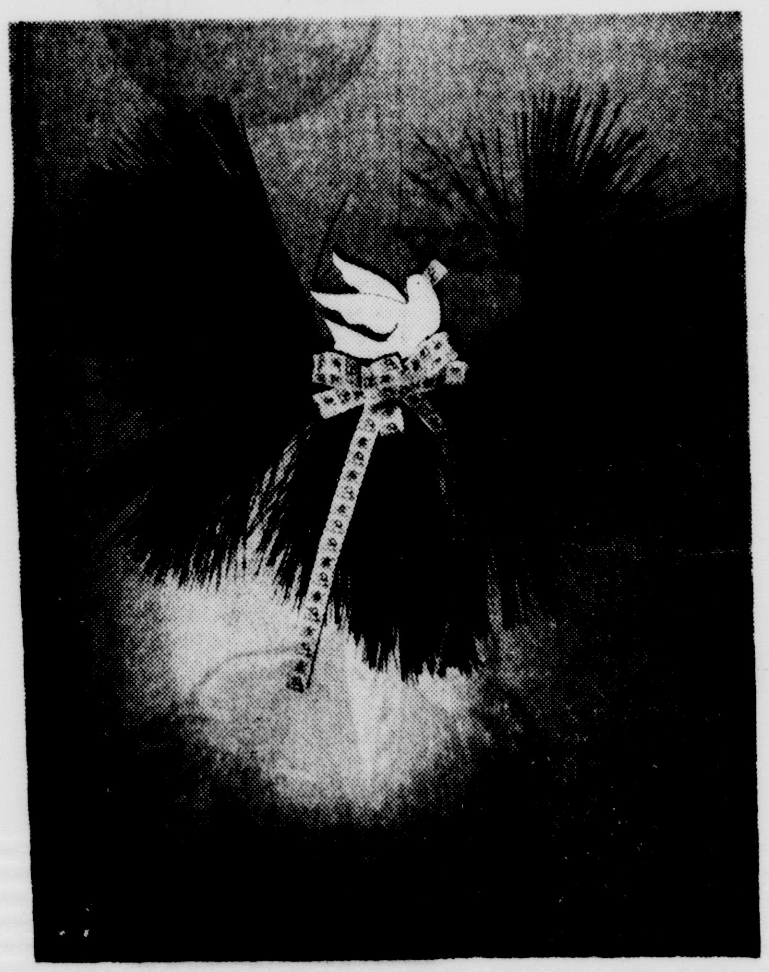
To home decorators Toby reveals this professional secret: There's a greenery and flower preserve available that's known in the trade as "non-spillable water!" Actually, it's a plastic foam that sops up water like a sponge—and holds it around the stems or branches of cut flowers or greenery.

It also holds erect light objects—such as the Christmas Seal-carrying birds (and their pipe cleaner support) that circle Toby's table and mantel arrangements.

"If you haven't yet received your 1965 Christmas Seals," Toby advises, "call the Marin Tuberculosis Assn. They'll send you as many as you need."



PLACE MATS — The Christmas Seal theme has been used for place mats and centerpiece decorations in a holiday party package designed by Toby Manuel of Larkspur.



HOLIDAY WREATH—A novel wreath may be made with the Christmas Seal insignia and a "ribbon" of seals. Seals may be used on packages, in home decorations and on trees for unusual decorations.

TV Performers Help Set Men's Clothes Fashions

Appearance of performers on that little black box has had considerable effect on the apparel habits of John Q. Public.

Some of the fashions have been copied intentionally. Others, perhaps, have had their effect subliminally. Think back to just a few of the items, in recent years, that have swept the country.

The first was probably the squared-off pocket handerchief that took the name of "TV fold" and was worn by practically everyone.

Perry Como's cardigan sweaters, the smartest of formal-wear, the other-than-garish robes worn by wrestlers, the so-called "fun hats" worn by Andy Williams, and others. TV's shaping up as an influential fashion medium.

Wear Narrow Brims

Try wearing a narrower brimmed hat if you want your shoulders to look broader. Long faced men will look less-thin if they wear the wider ties that are now back in the stores. For outdoor work on soft ground, like raking leaves, wear your spiked golf shoes. They give you firmer footing, and give the shoes a workout in the off season.

Pope's Orders

When Pope Gregory I sent out missionaries in 601, he counseled them to let converts weave the harmless features of winter pagan festivals into the spiritual fabric of the Christmas observance.

Enamel Bowls Save Silver

Holiday entertaining calls for bringing out your best in serving pieces.

But some hostesses have learned from sad experience the folly of putting mayonnaise, ripe olives, eggs or salted nuts in their silver bowls, because of the tarnishing or permanent staining and pitting of silver that often follows. To remedy this there are now on the market silver holloware pieces with colorful enamel linings.

Feathers On Tie

A new ready-tied four-in-hand tie being offered is decorated with 7,000 to 10,000 pheasant feathers per tie.

Belgian Children Get Early Gifts

BRUSSELS (UPI) — Belgian children will not find any gifts when they awake on Christmas.

The gift-giving day was St. Nicholas' Day, Dec. 6, when children woke to discover presents and sweets.

But the habit of exchanging gifts on Christmas Eve has increased since the war and customs now are similar to those observed in most countries.

Frosting Cake

If boiled frosting begins to harden before you have frosted a cake completely, soften it by beating in just a spoonful or two of hot water.

Summer Shopping For Christmas

No matter how strenuous her Broadway acting duties may be, Tammy Grimes resolutely and enthusiastically begins her Christmas shopping in August.

The husky-voiced star of "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" and "High Spirits" confesses, "I'm afraid to go overboard at Christmas. I go way out of line. I love to buy everything, clothes, gifts, decorations for the tree.

"The most fun is finding the special gift for someone who is a collector. Sybil Burton loves daisies, and I found her porcelain china with a daisy pattern."

On the receiving end of Christmas, Tammy finds she's embarrassed to be given presents. "It puts me off a bit," she says. "I'd rather give."

The young actress, who manages to mix a chuckle, a bit of Cockney and a broad "a" all at once in her speech, is ambivalent about the location of her holiday activities.

"One year is different from another," she explains. "If I'm free, I take my little girl Mandy to New Hampshire for an old farmhouse Christmas with my parents. There's usually a great snow. We watch the deer and listen to the owls."

If she and Mandy, who is seven, are to stay in their New York home, it simply must snow, announces Tammy. "Snow and nighttime make New York so beautiful."

Tammy's New York Christmas is a showy affair, she says. "There's much festooning in the house. I like the tree beautiful, but not too sparkly. Just so it smells good." Gingerbread cookies are likely to hang from the tree.

Before Christmas, she says, she and Mandy read "lots and lots of stories, and always Dickens. We hang up our stockings Christmas Eve, and Mandy is up at 6 always on Christmas Day. We open a special present first, and somehow have breakfast in between."

The actress particularly enjoys receiving stuffed animals, which she collects along with pears. "Not pears as a fruit," she explains, "but paintings of pears, anything with pears on them."

But her most cherished presents are those Mandy makes her, like the first painting she gave her mother for Christmas. "It's children that make the holiday," says Tammy. "Without children, Christmas loses focus."

Golf Shoes Deserve Good Care In Winter

Take good care of good golf shoes. When you've played your last round of the season, give them a good cleaning, put them on trees, lubricate well and store in shoe bags for the winter.

Today's shirting fabrics, new linings and built-in collar stays eliminate need for starch for collar appearance. Starch shortens the life of shirts, so tell the laundry to forget it.

Gift Of Flowers

Gifts of flowers, plants and decorative greens are always expressive of the Christmas spirit and no matter what other gifts may be given and received, a floral gift adds a warm and most personal extra touch.

Practice Safety At Christmas

NEW YORK (UPI)—Safety for Christmas is the newest wrinkle in stockings hung up for Santa Claus.

For the millions of people who drive cars, a set of seat belts in the fireplace stockings or under the tree might prove to be the most thoughtful gift they've ever received, according to the American Seat Belt Council.

Marine Corps Toy Program In Its Eighteenth Year

BY U.P. INTERNATIONAL

One crisp autumn day three young officers of the U.S. Marine Corps in Los Angeles sat discussing all the youngsters in their area who probably would celebrate Christmas without a single new toy of their own.

Why, they wondered, couldn't a military organization like theirs, with its administrative and organizational resources, spark a worthwhile peacetime project such as this?

The Toys for Tots program was born in 1947. Since then more than 37 million toys have been collected and distributed to local needy youngsters in 200 cities of 46 states.

Last year more than a million children in the United States found toys in their stockings, thanks to the efforts of the Marine Corps program, Shell Oil, which collects the toys at its service stations, and other cooperating volunteer organizations.

Marine reservists work on the program after school or job hours on their own time. They collect new toys or used ones in good condition. The toys then are deposited at one place, and parents who can't afford to buy toys for their youngsters select up to three for each child.

New Shirt Comfortable

A new Dacron-cotton tricot shirt needs no ironing, and also puts the cotton against the body for greater absorption and more comfort. A smart style touch with this season's lined corduroy outercoats is a wool ascot scarf matching the lining and the facing of lapels.

Spain, Russia Combine In Unique Film Tree Creation

CELLULOID CHRISTMAS—A very special Christmas tree is this one cut from a forest outside Madrid, Spain, for the Christmas party sequence in the movie, "Doctor Zhivago." The tree is being painstakingly decorated by a crew member with specially created ornaments characteristic of the Czarist Russia period. Members of the cast are grouped around the tree.

MADRID—A unique Christmas tree decorated entirely with handmade ornaments won't live to see this Christmas come.

But viewers of the film "Doctor Zhivago" will have a chance to admire it in the Christmas party sequence of the movie made from the Nobel prize-winning book by Boris Pasternak.

Before any ornaments were in being, a staff of researchers made a study of Russian ornaments of the period from 1905 to 1917, checking the native designs, the symbolic representations of various celebrations, the patterns, colors and materials used.

Next sketches were drawn in exact proportion to the models to be constructed.

The Spanish peasants were hired by the film's director, David Lean, to create glistening star-shapes, hand-carved wooden objects and colorful, hand-painted forms. Even the candles were hand-dipped, and shaped to the early 20th century designs, given them a rough, home-made quality to add to the decorating authenticity.

Most of the movie filming was done in Spain: on a large exterior set just outside Madrid, where the central part of Moscow was reconstructed, and outdoors near Soria, a rugged area similar to the steppes of Russia. To film the winter snow scenes there, the course of a river had to be diverted, a dam constructed, a rail-road spur built and an entire village created.

Striped Knit Shirts Becoming Important

Striped knit shirts are going to be mighty important from now on, the bolder the better. Brand new are the ones with a vertical competition stripe on the left side of the shirt, not unlike the striped surfing fleeces seen last summer.

Next big color for the young set in corduroy jeans will be yellow, and bell bottoms are spreading over the country like wildfire, reports the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear.

Gifted kitchen coordinates make an inexpensive and delightful present to the homemaker. Shown here is a medley of stylized flowers with the home-spun look in terry towel, potholder, toaster cover and apron.

Try Sleigh Bells

Sleigh bells festooned across the front door not only look Christmas-y but even sound it every time the door is opened.

'Jingle Bells'

A churchman, John Pierpont, composed the gay Christmas song, "Jingle Bells," which has been popular for over a century.

How Christmas Charity Began

The tradition of alms-giving at Christmas began with a legend, as did so many other holiday customs. It was believed at one time that the Christ Child went from door to door during the holiday season, disguised as a beggar, and asking alms, in search of kind and deserving souls.

Since no one knew when or where He might appear, Christians feared to turn beggars from their door lest they unknowingly turn away the Christ Child.

'Grandfather Frost' Gives Toys In Russia

Christmas Seal Decorating Is Fun

Traditional Seals Have Different Uses

"When you start thinking about gift-wrapping and holiday party decorations, don't overlook the colorful Christmas Seals your mailman brings you."

To prove his point, Manuel created a complete party package from the 1965 Christmas Seal. The seal, named by its Danish-born creator "Kernels of Life," pictures a little girl feeding hungry birds in wintertime.

From the seal Toby has "lifted" the birds and made them the theme of his party invitations, place mats, place cards, table centerpiece and nutcups made entirely from seals.

Home decorations, also, Toby fashions from Christmas Seals. Winging birds, each carrying a Christmas Seal in his beak, make up his festive mantel decoration. Graduated lengths of single seals, stuck back-to-back for additional weight, hang from the molding above Manuel's fireplace to complete an interesting, off-center arrangement.

Ribbons of back-to-back single seals are used frequently in Manuel's decorations and gift-wraps, either as bright, looping bows or streamers. A double bow, plus streamers, makes a vivid perch for the graceful white bird that brings alive his pine-bough door decoration.

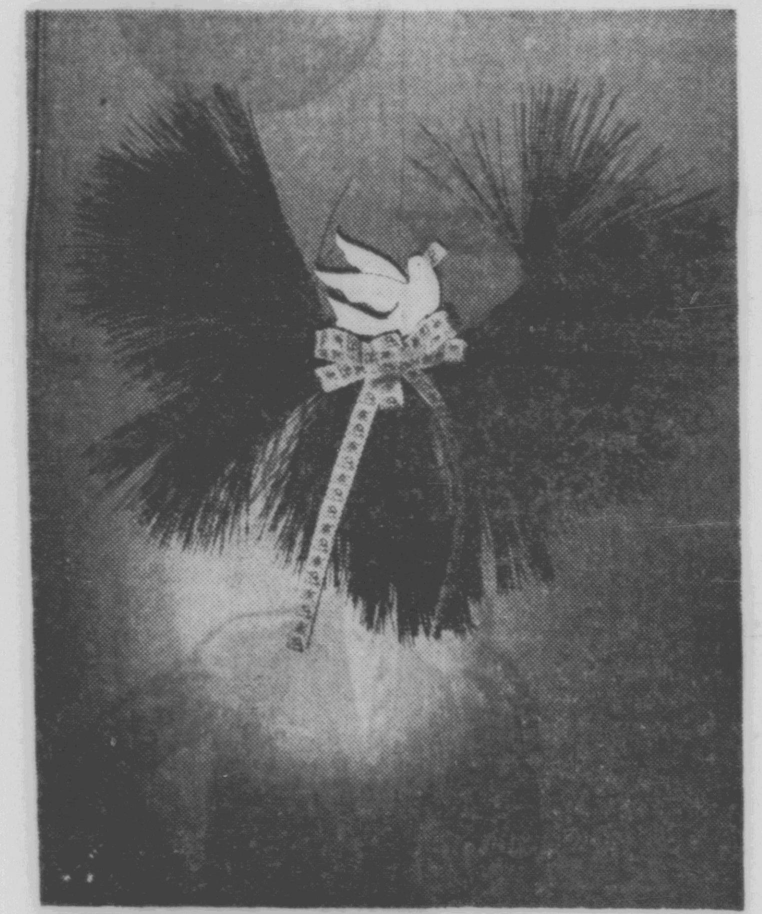
Two tips toward achieving professional effects are offered by Manuel. To gift-wrappers: Lift seals off the package for a fascinating, three-dimensional design. For instance, border your box thusly: Stick down one Christmas Seal, lift the next, fold the third across, bend the fourth down to the package and stick the fourth. Then repeat until the entire border has been outlined.

To home decorators Toby reveals this professional secret: There's a greenery and flower preserve available that's known in the trade as "non-spillable water!" Actually, it's a plastic foam that sops up water like a sponge—and holds it around the stems or branches of cut flowers or greenery.

It also holds erect light objects—such as the Christmas Seal-carrying birds (and their pipe cleaner support) that circle Toby's table and mantel arrangements.

"If you haven't yet received your 1965 Christmas Seals," Toby advises, "call the Marin Tuberculosis Assn. They'll send you as many as you need."

PLACE MATS — The Christmas Seal theme has been used for place mats and centerpiece decorations in a holiday party package designed by Toby Manuel of Larkspur.



HOLIDAY WREATH—A novel wreath may be made with the Christmas Seal insignia and a "ribbon" of seals. Seals may be used on packages, in home decorations and on trees for unusual decorations.

TV Performers Help Set Men's Clothes Fashions

Appearance of performers on that little black box has had considerable effect on the apparel habits of John Q. Public.

Some of the fashions have been copied intentionally. Others, perhaps, have had their effect subliminally. Think back to just a few of the items, in recent years, that have swept the country.

The first was probably the squared-off pocket handerchief that took the name of "TV fold" and was worn by practically everyone.

Perry Como's cardigan sweaters, the smartest of formalwear, the other-than-garish robes worn by wrestlers, the so-called "fun hats" worn by Andy Williams, and others. TV's shaping up as an influential fashion medium.

Wear Narrow Brims

Try wearing a narrower brimmed hat if you want your shoulders to look broader. Long faced men will look less-thin if they wear the wider ties that are now back in the stores. For outdoor work on soft ground, like raking leaves, wear your spiked golf shoes. They give you firmer footing, and give the shoes a workout in the off season.

Pope's Orders

When Pope Gregory I sent out missionaries in 601, he counseled them to let converts weave the harmless features of winter pagan festivals into the spiritual fabric of the Christmas observance.

Enamel Bowls Save Silver

Holiday entertaining calls for bringing out your best in serving pieces.

But some hostesses have learned from sad experience the folly of putting mayonnaise, ripe olives, eggs or salted nuts in their silver bowls, because of the tarnishing or permanent staining and pitting of silver that often follows. To remedy this there are now on the market silver holloware pieces with colorful enamel linings.

Feathers On Tie

A new ready-tied four-in-hand tie being offered is decorated with 7,000 to 10,000 pheasant feathers per tie.

Belgian Children Get Early Gifts

BRUSSELS (UPI) — Belgian children will not find any gifts when they awake on Christmas.

The gift-giving day was St. Nicholas' Day, Dec. 6, when children woke to discover presents and sweets.

But the habit of exchanging gifts on Christmas Eve has increased since the war and customs now are similar to those observed in most countries.

Frosting Cake

If boiled frosting begins to harden before you have frosted a cake completely, soften it by beating in just a spoonful or two of hot water.

Gifts Shouldn't Block Vision

Whether you're driving in town or on the highway, check to see that your vision is not obstructed by a large pile of gifts or luggage that should be in the trunk.

These items on the back seat or on the package shelf by the rear window can easily fly forward during a sudden stop, causing serious injury to passengers.

Most important: Always allow yourself enough time to get where you're going. Hurrying from one place to another only adds to the hazards of holiday driving.

Music For Christmas

The first Christmas music came on the first Christmas—when the Heavenly Host of angels rang out with "Glory to God on the highest."

Snead Likes Tailoring

One Woman Of 1,666 Will Own A Mink Stole Or Coat

There are probably fewer gifts in the world more cherished by women than mink—a fact borne out by surveys.

Whether it be a coat, stole, jacket or wrap, furriers this coming Yuletide season have made gifts of a mink even more tempting.

One lucky woman in 1,666 will own a mink fashion this year.

There is a wide variety of styles from which to choose gifts. Many shades give every woman the added gift of choice of color—to suit her complexion, hair color or personal taste.

High on the list of fur fashions this year are those with casual styling.

One designer has styled the elegant fur into a notch-collared, double-breasted coat with patch pockets and labeled it a daytime fashion.

Yet another designer has fashioned the luscious white fur into a triangular shape, and as an added fillip, has been edged with white ostrich feathers.

But whatever the gift of mink may be, from a circling boa to a floor-length evening coat, the woman who receives it will cherish it like few gifts in the world.

Discard Wrappings

After you have opened your gifts, remove all the wrappings from your living room and dispose of them as a precaution against fire.

Summer Shopping For Christmas

No matter how strenuous her Broadway acting duties may be, Tammy Grimes resolutely and enthusiastically begins her Christmas shopping in August.

The husky-voiced star of "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" and "High Spirits" confesses, "I'm afraid to go overboard at Christmas. I go way out of line. I love to buy everything, clothes, gifts, decorations for the tree.

"The most fun is finding the special gift for someone who is a collector. Sybil Burton loves daisies, and I found her porcelain china with a daisy pattern."

On the receiving end of Christmas, Tammy finds she's embarrassed to be given presents. "It puts me off a bit," she says. "I'd rather give."

The young actress, who manages to mix a chuckle, a bit of Cockney and a broad "a" all at once in her speech, is ambivalent about the location of her holiday activities.

"One year is different from another," she explains. "If I'm free, I take my little girl Mandy to New Hampshire for an old farmhouse Christmas with my parents. There's usually a great snow. We watch the deer and listen to the owls."

If she and Mandy, who is seven, are to stay in their New York home, it simply must snow, announces Tammy. "Snow and nighttime make New York so beautiful."

Tammy's New York Christmas is a showy affair, she says. "There's much festooning in the house. I like the tree beautiful, but not too sparkly. Just so it smells good." Gingerbread cookies are likely to hang from the tree.

Before Christmas, she says, she and Mandy read "lots and lots of stories, and always Dickens. We hang up our stockings Christmas Eve, and Mandy is up at 6 always on Christmas Day. We open a special present first, and somehow have breakfast in between."

The actress particularly enjoys receiving stuffed animals, which she collects along with pears. "Not pears as a fruit," she explains, "but paintings of pears, anything with pears on them."

But her most cherished presents are those Mandy makes her, like the first painting she gave her mother for Christmas. "It's children that make the holiday," says Tammy. "Without children, Christmas loses focus."

Golf Shoes Deserve Good Care In Winter

Take good care of good golf shoes. When you've played your last round of the season, give them a good cleaning, put them on trees, lubricate well and store in shoe bags for the winter.

Today's shirting fabrics, new linings and built-in collar stays eliminate need for starch for collar appearance. Starch shortens the life of shirts, so tell the laundry to forget it.

Gift Of Flowers

Gifts of flowers, plants and decorative greens are always expressive of the Christmas spirit and no matter what other gifts may be given and received, a floral gift adds a warm and most personal extra touch.

Practice Safety At Christmas

NEW YORK (UPI)—Safety for Christmas is the newest wrinkle in stockings hung up for Santa Claus.

For the millions of people who drive cars, a set of seat belts in the fireplace stockings or under the tree might prove to be the most thoughtful gift they've ever received, according to the American Seat Belt Council.

Marine Corps Toy Program In Its Eighteenth Year

BY U.P. INTERNATIONAL

One crisp autumn day three young officers of the U.S. Marine Corps in Los Angeles sat discussing all the youngsters in their area who probably would celebrate Christmas without a single new toy of their own.

Why, they wondered, couldn't a military organization like theirs, with its administrative and organizational resources, spark a worthwhile peacetime project such as this?

The Toys for Tots program was born in 1947. Since then more than 37 million toys have been collected and distributed to local needy youngsters in 200 cities of 46 states.

Last year more than a million children in the United States found toys in their stockings, thanks to the efforts of the Marine Corps program, Shell Oil, which collects the toys at its service stations, and other cooperating volunteer organizations.

Marine reservists work on the program after school or job hours on their own time. They collect new toys or used ones in good condition. The toys then are deposited at one place, and parents who can't afford to buy toys for their youngsters select up to three for each child.

New Shirt Comfortable

A new Dacron-cotton tricot shirt needs no ironing, and also puts the cotton against the body for greater absorption and more comfort. A smart style touch with this season's lined corduroy outercoats is a wool ascot scarf matching the lining and the facing of lapels.

This Year's Cards Not So Commercial

Christmas cards this year will emphasize the spiritual and religious nature of the holiday, in keeping with the drive to avoid over-commercialization of the Yule season.

One series of cards features excerpts from the writings of noted churchmen. The cards, illustrated with reproductions of famous religious paintings of the Renaissance, include messages by the late Pope John, Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, Bishop Fulton J. Sheen, Francis Cardinal Spellman and the late Reverend Peter Marshall, chaplain of the United States Senate.

How Christmas Charity Began

The tradition of alms-giving at Christmas began with a legend, as did so many other holiday customs. It was believed at one time that the Christ Child went from door to door during the holiday season, disguised as a beggar, and asking alms, in search of kind and deserving souls.

Since no one knew when or where He might appear, Christians feared to turn beggars from their door lest they unknowingly turn away the Christ Child.

How To Make Sure Cards Will Arrive

Each year, postal authorities beg people to mail early and accurately at Christmas time. And each year, nearly half a million letters and packages wind up in dead letter bins. Here are some tips to help you make sure you're not one of the offenders.

Write or print names legibly and carefully. Don't be a hasty scrawler or "Fancy Dan" writer.

Be especially careful in writing numbers and abbreviations. A sloppy "N.Y." can be mistaken for "N.J." and "Me." can look like "Md."

Use ZIP code numbers in mailing to all larger cities and be sure to put a return address on your envelopes or packages.

In addressing packages, use a marking instrument that writes a bold, firm line, rather than a fine-line pen point.

And please, mail early!

Unusual Gifts Now Seen In Men's Stores

Unusual gift items seen in the boutiques of men's stores include:

A table cigarette lighter in the shape of a miniature Texas oil well; a wooden valet that unfolds to become a ladder (to reach your top closet shelves); a dozen ingenious new battery-operated items, and even a battery recharger that gives 15 times the original life.

Holiday Outlawed

Abuses of Christmas reached such a pitch in 17th Century England that the Puritan Parliament outlawed the holiday in 1644. Puritan leaders in Massachusetts also banned yule celebrations from 1659 to 1681.

Gardeners' Gift

Seasons Have No Meaning For Models

To top models who pose for holiday fashion pictures, the pre-Christmas season is a problem.

Pictures for the fur coat catalogues are taken in July and August, so on a broiling day when the thermometer nears 100, a model will be found in fur coat, being photographed in New York's Central Park.

Between shots, she tries desperately to gloss up her sagging hairdo before a mirror propped in a tree.

The situation isn't much better in studios. There may be air - conditioning, but fur - lined coats are heavy.

For survival's sake, the model wears nothing under the coat, so the lining begins to feel itchy.

Models working in the outdoor heat are likely to get sick or to faint. One hour's shooting can cost a model $300, if she becomes ill and has to cancel the rest of the day's work.

An additional complication is created by the simultaneous offering of cruise wear, which advertisers wish to photograph in tropical settings.

Christian, Pagan

Christmas in the United States is a blend of Christian, pagan, seasonal and national traditions.

Silly Questions For Christmas

LOUISVILLE (AP)—A youngster picked out a $1 set of earrings for her mother's Christmas gift and handed the clerk two 50 cent pieces.

"What about the tax?" he inquired.

"My mother doesn't use tacks," the girl replied. "She screws them in her ears."

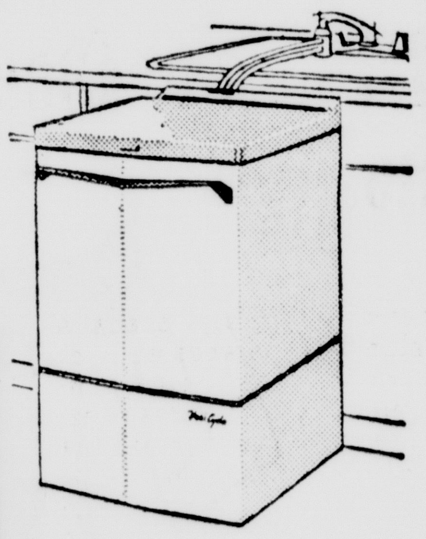
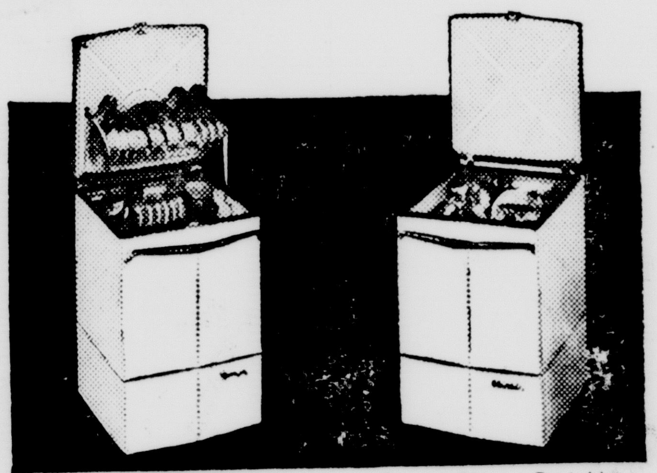
Time for a KitchenAid dishwasher

During the holiday season there are far more important things to do than dishes. That's why we invite you now to come in and see the new KitchenAid portable dishwashers. No installation or remodeling needed. Just roll a KitchenAid portable to the sink, load it, push a button. Roll it away when dishes are done.

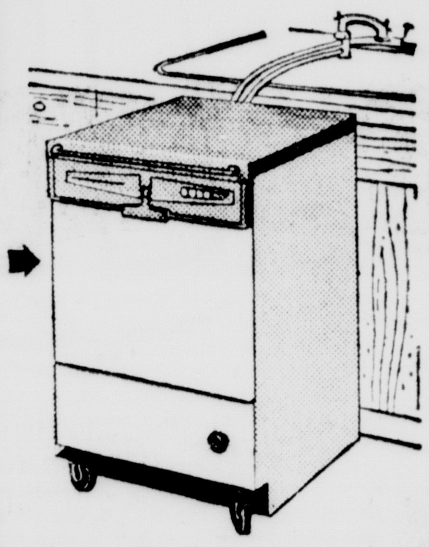
KitchenAid Top-Loading Portables

Porcelain enamel inside and out. In popular, gleaming White or the new Edged Colonialtone they blend with other appliances and cabinets. Features include classic, swept-front styling, full-width Guide Bar, easy-rolling casters, and laminated plastic work surface top.





Classic VariCycle Portable. In Edged Colonialtone or White.
Classic Electra Portable. In gleaming White.



KitchenAid Front-Loading Convertible-Portable. Three series, three price ranges. Use as a portable now. Build in later. Superba VariCycle has four push button cycles including SaniCycle for extra health protection. Available in Edged Colonialtone, Copper Tone or White, with counter-thick maple top. Imperial DuaCycle comes in Copper Tone or White. Has maple top and choice of two cycles. Custom economy model—in White only—has push button operation, Formica top and same high quality performance features as all KitchenAid dishwashers. Automatic Rinse Agent Dispenser is standard on Superba, optional on Imperial and Custom.

All KitchenAid Dishwashers (Portable and Built-in) have:
New 4-Way Hydro Sweep wash that gets dishes sparkling clean without hand-rinsing. ■ Flo-Thru drying that circulates sanitized hot air for safe, thorough drying. ■ Big, versatile capacity. ■ Large multi-compartment Silverware Basket. ■ Automatic Power Cord Reel and Automatic Rinse Agent Dispenser on VariCycle Portable models.

Gifts Shouldn't Block Vision

Whether you're driving in town or on the highway, check to see that your vision is not obstructed by a large pile of gifts or luggage that should be in the trunk.

These items on the back seat or on the package shelf by the rear window can easily fly forward during a sudden stop, causing serious injury to passengers.

Most important: Always allow yourself enough time to get where you're going. Hurrying from one place to another only adds to the hazards of holiday driving.

Music For Christmas

The first Christmas music came on the first Christmas—when the Heavenly Host of angels rang out with "Glory to God on the highest."

Snead Likes Tailoring

If Sam Snead had achieved his first ambition, he would have been a tailor instead of a top golfer.

One Woman Of 1,666 Will Own A Mink Stole Or Coat

There are probably fewer gifts in the world more cherished by women than mink—a fact borne out by surveys.

Whether it be a coat, stole, jacket or wrap, furriers this coming Yuletide season have made gifts of a mink even more tempting.

One lucky woman in 1,666 will own a mink fashion this year.

There is a wide variety of styles from which to choose gifts. Many shades give every woman the added gift of choice of color—to suit her complexion, hair color or personal taste.

High on the list of fur fashions this year are those with casual styling.

One designer has styled the elegant fur into a notch-collared, double-breasted coat with patch pockets and labeled it a daytime fashion.

Yet another designer has fashioned the luscious white fur into a triangular shape, and as an added fillip, has been edged with white ostrich feathers.

But whatever the gift of mink may be, from a circling boa to a floor-length evening coat, the woman who receives it will cherish it like few gifts in the world.

Discard Wrappings

After you have opened your gifts, remove all the wrappings from your living room and dispose of them as a precaution against fire.

Boughs Of Holly

Druids decked their halls with boughs of holly to shelter sylvan spirits threatened by frost and winter winds.

Christmas Catalogs Packed With Wildest Dream Stuff

By SALLY RYAN

NEW YORK (AP) — A sugar plum factory, a leather hippotamus and helpful hints on how to spend a million dollars — there is something for everyone in the Christmas catalogs this year.

Even Neiman-Marcus, the Texas store with dollar-studded ideas, boggles at the possibilities presented by what is shaping up as a record Christmas spending spree.

The store worked its way through a sheepskin-covered mechanical horse, $150; his and her para-sails — "an amazing, ascending nylon parachute that goes from the surface up" for $361 apiece; a five-foot long rustic wagon with a polyfoam mattress, $145; and pink champagne pancakes, $8.

Then, it set out to offer help on how to tender a little affection — say a million dollars worth. On a woman, of course.

You start with $300 lace handkerchief, thumb through a few baubles such as a $465,000 diamond necklace, the usual sable, chinchilla and limousine, a $450 umbrella with a genuine blonde tortoise handle, a 25-day Aegean cruise with your nine dearest friends, an 18-karat gold needle for $15, and still end up $101,787.38 short of the goal.

"A little loose change to fritter away, in case we've forgotten something," Neiman-Marcus advises.

Stores across the land will be glad to help you fritter away the change. Their Christmas catalogs already are in the mail.

Abercrombie and Fitch Co., the sportsmen's spot in New York, Chicago and San Francisco, opens with Alaskan polar bear skins, "subject to availability," for $975, and has handsewn leather footstools for hunters — a 68-inch hippo or rhinoceros, $450.

At F.A.O. Schwarz, the Fifth Avenue toy store, there's lollipop factory, complete with conveyor, cooker, pushbutton automatic ingredient dispenser, mixer, molds and lollipop sticks, $15.

If money is no object, how about:

A Colt Paterson belt pistol, with flared walnut grips and folding trigger, Abercrombie and Fitch, $9,500.

A pointe Milan lace tablecloth, Plummer-McCutcheon, $1,500.

A life-sized tiger, Schwarz, $295.

A seven-room dollhouse with a real electric ceiling light in each room and a stone terrace, Schwarz, $125 unfurnished, $233 furnished.

There are the usual whimsies.

Lord and Taylor, New York department store, has a thermometer holding a ballpoint pen "for his torrid love letters to you and his irate protests to the papers" $8; and a tipsy musical poodle $9.

Back at Neiman-Marcus, there is a cocktail crutch for incapacitated elbow benders, complete with an ash tray, glass holder, pillbox, key chain, and, ahem, a little black book, $20.

For Republicans, there is a life-sized LBJ beagle, Schwarz $25. "The choice of chief executives," the catalog says. "Reinforced ears for that presidential lift."

For the horse player, there is an automatic handicapper. Abercrombie and Fitch, $6. "Handicapper won't guarantee the winner, but it automatically digests vital statistics, rates every horse in an average race," the catalog says.

For spies, a toy U-2 plane with a camera is perched in the Schwartz catalog, ready to soar hundreds of feet and take an automatically timed secret picture in flight, $13.95.

The catalogs are loaded with games.

For future statesmen, there is Diplomacy, with a 1914 map of Europe and instructions to try to deal or double deal your way to control of the continent, $7.50.

Finally there is "Squander," billed as a game for born losers, $3.95.

White House Prepares Greenery For Holidays

WASHINGTON (AP) — Whatever the weather may be here at holiday time, inside the White House it will be a green Christmas.

Evergreen trees will stand at the door of the East Room. Mantlepieces will be adorned with holly and greenery. Evergreen ropes will wind around stairway balustrades.

And in the middle of the Blue Room will stand an 18-foot fir tree adorned with thousands of tiny ornaments.

In the President's family quarters will be another magnificent tree, preferably spruce. Mistletoe will be placed above doorways and white azaleas will be put in strategic decorating spots.

According to President and Mrs. Johnson's wishes, the Blue Room tree probably will be decorated with ornaments reminiscent of and early American Christmas, but somewhere amid the Christmas finery, there'll be a touch of the Texas-Mexican which is part of the President's heritage.

Telephone Lights Up

This year's novelties include an old-fashioned telephone instrument that is an adjustable desk lamp; a small old-fashioned gramophone that is a fine pencil sharpener, and two desk receptacles which are not labeled "Attention" and "File" but the slangy "On Fire" and "On Ice!"

To Remove Gum

Someone drop gum on your new slipcover? Harden the gum by rubbing it with ice. Scrape off as much as possible. Then sponge with trichloroethane (non-flammable Energine). Rinse and launder the item in your atomatic washer.

GORHAM

This graceful silverplated basket leads a double life. It's perfect for fruit, rolls or as a centerpiece. Adding a Swedish crystal liner changes the basket into a dramatic, decorative, all-purpose bowl. (liners available in ruby red, clear or blue.)

Patent Leather Pump Becoming Popular

The patent leather evening pump is coming to the fore again, a new model offering a selection of fabric clip-on bows to match tuxedo's trim in grosgrain, satin, etc.

Whether or not it's the James Bond influence, trenchcoats are certainly going strong in all parts of the country. Many are the authentic double-breasted, belted models with collar tabs and epaulets, while others are adaptations of the original with fewer doodads, according to the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear.

Trini's High Collars

Trini Lopez wears the highest shirt collars in this day and age. We would guess that they must rise at least two-to-three inches above his coat collar in the back.

This Year's Cards Not So Commercial

Christmas cards this year will emphasize the spiritual and religious nature of the holiday, in keeping with the drive to avoid over-commercialization of the Yule season.

One series of cards features excerpts from the writings of noted churchmen. The cards, illustrated with reproductions of famous religious paintings of the Renaissance, include messages by the late Pope John, Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, Bishop Fulton J. Sheen, Francis Cardinal Spellman and the late Reverend Peter Marshall, chaplain of the United States Senate.

How To Make Sure Cards Will Arrive

Each year, postal authorities beg people to mail early and accurately at Christmas time. And each year, nearly half a million letters and packages wind up in dead letter bins. Here are some tips to help you make sure you're not one of the offenders.

Write or print names legibly and carefully. Don't be a hasty scrawler or "Fancy Dan" writer.

Be especially careful in writing numbers and abbreviations. A sloppy "N.Y." can be mistaken for "N.J." and "Me." can look like "Md."

Use ZIP code numbers in mailing to all larger cities and be sure to put a return address on your envelopes or packages.

In addressing packages, use a marking instrument that writes a bold, firm line, rather than a fine-line pen point.

And please, mail early!

Unusual Gifts Now Seen In Men's Stores

Unusual gift items seen in the boutiques of men's stores include:

A table cigarette lighter in the shape of a miniature Texas oil well; a wooden valet that unfolds to become a ladder (to reach your top closet shelves); a dozen ingenious new battery-operated items, and even a battery recharger that gives 15 times the original life.

Holiday Outlawed

Abuses of Christmas reached such a pitch in 17th Century England that the Puritan Parliament outlawed the holiday in 1644. Puritan leaders in Massachusetts also banned yule celebrations from 1659 to 1681.

Gardeners' Gift

An excellent gift for a friend or relative with a green thumb is a set of short handled garden tools. A complete outfit includes a cultivator, rake, trowel, weeding fork, hand weeder, and shears.

Favorite Cookies

Your favorite cookies cut in holiday shapes, are sure to bring appreciative murmurs from friends and family as they toast each others' health and happiness with Christmas egg nog.

Seasons Have No Meaning For Models

To top models who pose for holiday fashion pictures, the pre-Christmas season is a problem.

Pictures for the fur coat catalogues are taken in July and August, so on a broiling day when the thermometer nears 100, a model will be found in fur coat, being photographed in New York's Central Park.

Between shots, she tries desperately to gloss up her sagging hairdo before a mirror propped in a tree.

The situation isn't much better in studios. There may be air-conditioning, but fur-lined coats are heavy.

For survival's sake, the model wears nothing under the coat, so the lining begins to feel itchy.

Models working in the outdoor heat are likely to get sick or to faint. One hour's shooting can cost a model $300, if she becomes ill and has to cancel the rest of the day's work.

An additional complication is created by the simultaneous offering of cruise wear, which advertisers wish to photograph in tropical settings.

Christian, Pagan

Christmas in the United States is a blend of Christian, pagan, seasonal and national traditions.

Silly Questions For Christmas

LOUISVILLE (AP)—A youngster picked out a $1 set of earrings for her mother's Christmas gift and handed the clerk two 50 cent pieces.

"What about the tax?" he inquired.

"My mother doesn't use tacks," the girl replied. "She screws them in her ears."

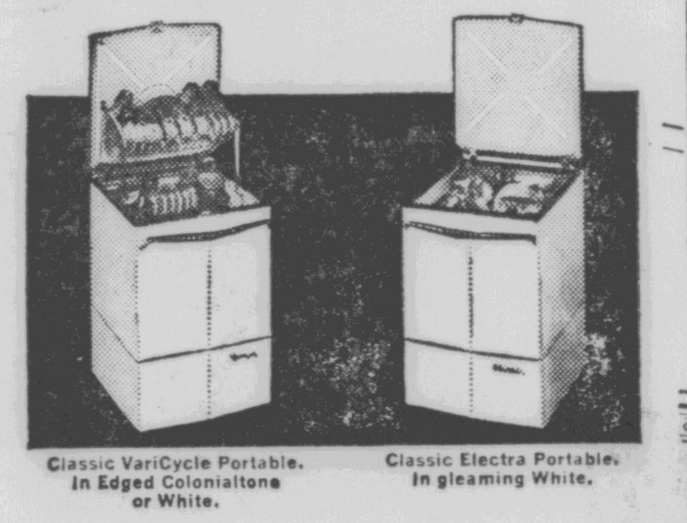
Time for a KitchenAid dishwasher

During the holiday season there are far more important things to do than dishes. That's why we invite you now to come in and see the new KitchenAid portable dishwashers. No installation or remodeling needed. Just roll a KitchenAid portable to the sink, load it, push a button. Roll it away when dishes are done.

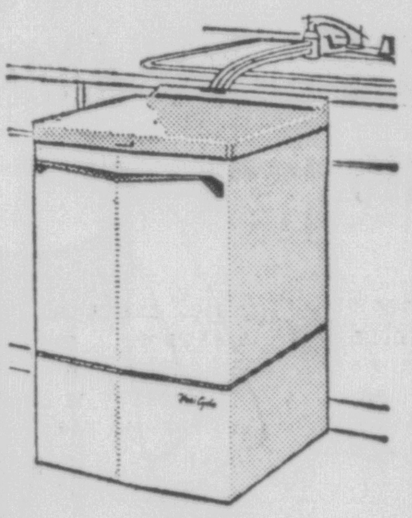
KitchenAid Top-Loading Portables

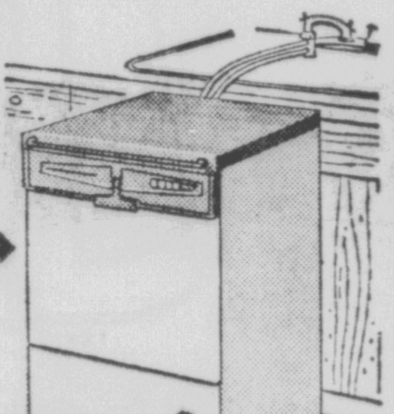
Porcelain enamel inside and out. In popular, gleaming White or the new Edged Colonialtone they blend with other appliances and cabinets. Features include classic, swept-front styling, full-width Guide Bar, easy-rolling casters, and laminated plastic work surface top.



Classic VariCycle Portable. In Edged Colonialtone or White.

Classic Electra Portable. In gleaming White.





KitchenAid Front-Loading Convertible-Portable. Three series, three price ranges. Use as a portable now. Build in later. Superba VariCycle has four push button cycles including SaniCycle for extra health protection. Available in Edged Colonialtone, Copper Tone or White, with counter-thick maple top. Imperial DuaCycle comes in Copper Tone or White. Has maple top and choice of two cycles. Custom economy model—in White only—has push button operation, Formica top and same high quality performance features as all KitchenAid dishwashers. Automatic Rinse Agent Dispenser is standard on Superba, optional on Imperial and Custom.

All KitchenAid Dishwashers (Portable and Built-in) have:
New 4-Way Hydro Sweep wash that gets dishes sparkling clean without hand-rinsing. ■ Flo-Thru drying that circulates sanitized hot air for safe, thorough drying. ■ Big, versatile capacity. ■ Large multi-compartment Silverware Basket. ■ Automatic Power Cord Reel and Automatic Rinse Agent Dispenser on VariCycle Portable models.

SPACE AGE — Christmas in the space age. Model rockets and missiles are exact down to the last detail and provide a miniature look at the world of the future come true today.

Model Kits For Ships, Cars, Planes, Trains

Looking at the model-building kits available this Christmas, you may get the idea that you can build the whole world in miniature. And you won't be far wrong.

The model kits are more authentic than ever, and are attracting hobbyists of all ages.

Scale model cars are one of the most popular items. Everything from a Ford to a Ferrari is available in a model, complete with such items as seat belts, gas-tank caps and radio antennae.

Other models which reflect today's life with amazing accuracy includes planes — everything from Boeings and Caravelles to the U.S. fighter-bomber now in action in Viet Nam. There also are modern diesels and railroad cars, cabin cruisers, speedboats and surfboards.

Present-day Americana is reflected in the miniature buildings to be assembled for table-top train and auto layouts. The familiar railroad station and village church have been joined by supermarkets, skyscrapers, drive-in banks and movies and motels complete with swimming pools.

The Hobby Industry Assn. of America also reports a strong trend toward models for the world of tomorrow. There are space capsules, space stations and fantastic cars which may not be as fantastic as they seem.

First Sale Of Cards

The first sales of Christmas cards by a commercial firm were made in England in 1862.

American Santa

The American Santa, rotund and ruddy aboard his reindeer sleigh, evolved from the St. Nicholas of Dutch colonists in New York.

Irish Christmas

Saint Patrick introduced the celebration of Christmas to Ireland about the year 461.

Careful Choice Of Perfume Needed To Please Receiver

He's been going steady for three whole months—practically a lifetime at the age of 17. It's Christmas and he wants to get his girl a gift. Something romantic, but not sticky. Something individual, but not too personal.

Perfume can be the ideal gift. But what kind?

Exotic fragrances can be too heavy and sophisticated. Floral scents can be too light and childish. The ideal, of course, is somewhere in the middle. No matter what scent is chosen, however, there are certain rules to follow.

First, remember there are three different types of scents — perfume, toilet water and cologne. Perfume is the strongest—and most expensive — and should be applied only as an accent. Toilet water and cologne are lighter and can be used more generously.

Second, each person has a particular body chemistry which causes different perfumes to react differently on different wearers. If you are selecting a new scent, it is wise to buy only a small amouunt as a sort of test.

Third, use perfume sparingly. It is not true that the more perfume used, the longer it will last. An excess amount of perfume is offensive to persons around you. The key to proper application is to place the scent on the pulse spots of the body—the base of the throat, behind the ears, inside the elbows and even behind the knee.

Fourth, make sure the perfume does not clash with shampoo or hair spray that you are using. Keep the perfume as the predominant set.

Christmas Catalogs Packed With Wildest Dream Stuff

By SALLY RYAN

NEW YORK (AP) — A sugar plum factory, a leather hippotamus and helpful hints on how to spend a million dollars — there is something for everyone in the Christmas catalogs this year.

Even Neiman-Marcus, the Texas store with dollar-studded ideas, boggles at the possibilities presented by what is shaping up as a record Christmas spending spree.

The store worked its way through a sheepskin-covered mechanical horse, $150; his and her para-sails — "an amazing, ascending nylon parachute that goes from the surface up" for $361 apiece; a five-foot long rustic wagon with a polyfoam mattress, $145; and pink champagne pancakes, $8.

Then, it set out to offer help on how to tender a little affection — say a million dollars worth. On a woman, of course.

You start with $300 lace handkerchief, thumb through a few baubles such as a $465,000 diamond necklace, the usual sable, chinchilla and limousine, a $450 umbrella with a genuine blonde tortoise handle, a 25-day Aegean cruise with your nine dearest friends, an 18-karat gold needle for $15, and still end up $101,787.38 short of the goal.

"A little loose change to fritter away, in case we've forgotten something," Neiman-Marcus advises.

Stores across the land will be glad to help you fritter away the change. Their Christmas catalogs already are in the mail.

Abercrombie and Fitch Co., the sportsmen's spot in New York, Chicago and San Francisco, opens with Alaskan polar bear skins, "subject to availability," for $975, and has handsewn leather footstools for hunters — a 68-inch hippo or rhinoceros, $450.

At F.A.O. Schwarz, the Fifth Avenue toy store, there's lollipop factory, complete with conveyor, cooker, pushbutton automatic ingredient dispenser, mixer, molds and lollipop sticks, $15.

If money is no object, how about:

A Colt Paterson belt pistol, with flared walnut grips and folding trigger, Abercrombie and Fitch, $9,500.

A pointe Milan lace tablecloth, Plummer-McCutcheon, $1,500.

A life-sized tiger, Schwarz, $295.

A seven-room dollhouse with a real electric ceiling light in each room and a stone terrace, Schwarz, $125 unfurnished, $233 furnished.

There are the usual whimsies.

Lord and Taylor, New York department store, has a thermometer holding a ballpoint pen "for his torrid love letters to you and his irate protests to the papers" $8; and a tipsy musical poodle $9.

Back at Neiman-Marcus, there is a cocktail crutch for incapacitated elbow benders, complete with an ash tray, glass holder, pillbox, key chain, and, ahem, a little black book, $20.

For Republicans, there is a life-sized LBJ beagle, Schwarz $25. "The choice of chief executives," the catalog says. "Reinforced ears for that presidential lift."

For the horse player, there is an automatic handicapper. Abercrombie and Fitch, $6. "Handicapper won't guarantee the winner, but it automatically digests vital statistics, rates every horse in an average race," the catalog says.

For spies, a toy U-2 plane with a camera is perched in the Schwartz catalog, ready to soar hundreds of feet and take an automatically timed secret picture in flight, $13.95.

The catalogs are loaded with games.

For future statesmen, there is Diplomacy, with a 1914 map of Europe and instructions to try to deal or double deal your way to control of the continent, $7.50.

Finally there is "Squander," billed as a game for born losers, $3.95.

White House Prepares Greenery For Holidays

WASHINGTON (AP) — Whatever the weather may be here at holiday time, inside the White House it will be a green Christmas.

Evergreen trees will stand at the door of the East Room. Mantlepieces will be adorned with holly and greenery. Evergreen ropes will wind around stairway balustrades.

And in the middle of the Blue Room will stand an 18-foot fir tree adorned with thousands of tiny ornaments.

In the President's family quarters will be another magnificent tree, preferably spruce. Mistletoe will be placed above doorways and white azaleas will be put in strategic decorating spots.

According to President and Mrs. Johnson's wishes, the Blue Room tree probably will be decorated with ornaments reminiscent of and early American Christmas, but somewhere amid the Christmas finery, there'll be a touch of the Texas-Mexican which is part of the President's heritage.

Telephone Lights Up

This year's novelties include an old-fashioned telephone instrument that is an adjustable desk lamp; a small old-fashioned gramophone that is a fine pencil sharpener, and two desk receptacles which are not labeled "Attention" and "File" but the slangy "On Fire" and "On Ice!"

To Remove Gum

Someone drop gum on your new slipcover? Harden the gum by rubbing it with ice. Scrape off as much as possible. Then sponge with trichloroethane (non-flammable Energine). Rinse and launder the item in your atomatic washer.

GORHAM

This graceful silverplated basket leads a double life. It's perfect for fruit, rolls or as a centerpiece. Adding a Swedish crystal liner changes the basket into a dramatic, decorative, all-purpose bowl. (liners available in ruby red, clear or blue.)

Plan Holidays For Relaxed, Serene Time

Before the holidays roll round, the forthcoming festivities look very gala.

There are parties, large and small, on the calendar. College students in the family have invited foreign friends home. The younger element have parts in Christmas pageants and special choral groups, and parents want to be in the audience.

But when the round of activities actually begins, the schedule begins to look not gala, but gruesome. Too much is packed into too short a period. Tempers begin to rise, household chores assume staggering proportions, and the spirit of Christmas takes its flight.

To have a serene, happy Christmas, it's wise to pre-plan, before saying an enthusiastic yes to everything.

If parents are invited to a large party, of the type where the hostess repays all her social debts by giving one big grand whirl, think before accepting.

What will it be like? Is it worth it to be jammed in a corner of a house swarming with people whose combined voices make quiet conversation impossible, with a hostess so busy greeting and saying goodbye to guests that she hardly knows you're there? If you'd rather see such friends under other circumstances, don't hesitate to decline. Just say, this year you're having a family Christmas, and you'll catch up with your friends later on.

When the children's activities come under consideration, the rule of thumb is: What's most important?

To this parent, attendance at pageants and plays where young children perform is a must. They're counting on you. Fix the dinner casserole early, and be off.

Or if the event collide with the dinner hour (or is very early in the evening), let the teenagers take over the kitchen, and have their own supper for their friends, paper plate style. Or to lighten the load even further. ask their close friends to bring part of the menu.

The brunch style of entertaining can be held at almost any hour, and be as simple or as elaborate as one wishes. And it's a fine way for all the age brackets to meet—and for the parents to have a chance (finally) to talk to the foreign students. If you're up to it, ask a few—very few— of the neighbors in to meet them. Because brunch is a highly informal meal, the hostess can leave her own party early, and go about other household business, if it's necessary.

Combining traditional Christmas events with tea and talk is another way to see friends on a casual basis. Have tea, coffee, and cokes on a cart in the living room for a present-wrapping party, and have a joke gift or token favor for the guests.

If skating or skiing is possible during the holidays, ask the crowd in afterwards for a hot drink before the fireplace fire.

If you build a party around a family event, entertaining is a pleasure, relaxation is at an all-time high, and there'll be peace and pleasure at the Christmas dinner table.

INFORMAL BRUNCH—One of the most flexible methods of entertaining for any age bracket and providing a chance for peaceful conversation is over an informal brunch. The meal can be relatively simple and so preparation is easier on the hostess.

Native Yule Plant

The poinsettia is the one Christmas plant native to America.

Broken Bulbs

To remove stub of a light bulb, which has broken off while in the socket, press a cake of soap over the broken ends. This will give a safe grip for turning the light bulb out. A large cork can also be used in the same manner.

Store Toys In Steel Cabinets

Ask any child what he wants for Christmas and the answer will invariably be "toys!" Small wonder that the day after Christmas finds Mother wondering how to cope with the deluge of toys, all of which seems to be underfoot.

One answer to this problem is to encourage neatness in your youngster by providing him with a place to store his toys. Steel cabinets are practical, inexpensive storage chests that come in many designs.

Floor-standing models accommodate the reach of any child, even a toddler; (shelves can be assigned according to your children's varying height.)

Celebrated First

St. Nicholas Day was first celebrated in Asia Minor in the Fourth Century. The white-haired bishop appeared on Dec. 6, his saint's day, riding a white horse laden with gifts for children.

Roll In Flour

Roll dates in flour before you cut them and they will not cling to the knife or scissors.

Brush Those Costly Wigs

Wigs are expensive enough to be classed as valuable possessions.

And whether or not they're high style, owners have invested enough in these extra coifs that they're going to take good care of them.

Like human hair, wigs look best when free from dust and oily matter. So why not consider giving a wig brush as a novel Christmas gift?

HOW TO BE SANTA CLAUS

A group of would-be Santas listens to a Volunteers of America instructor tell them the correct procedures for being a Santa in New York City. The volunteers collect Christmas-time donations on city streets, ringing a hand bell to remind shoppers to donate.

Three Persons Responsible For Christmas Seal Ideas

The familiar Christmas Seal that appears on letters and packages during the holiday season can be credited jointly to three different people: an American doctor, a Danish postal worker and an American Red Cross worker.

The first person, the American doctor, was Edward Livingston Trudeau. Dr. Trudeau contracted tuberculosis shortly after graduating from medical school. Both his brother and his daughter also had TB, so Dr. Trudeau decided to conduct research on the disease. This led to his establishment of a tuberculosis hospital at Saranac Lake, New York. And subsequently, when the National Tuberculosis Assn. was founded in 1904, Dr. Trudeau was the first president.

In the same year, Encyclopedia International reports, a Danish postal worker, Einar Holbell, came up with the thought that Christmas was a time when people should be reminded of their duty to help the sick and needy children who were suffering from TB.

He proposed to the King of Denmark that penny seals be sold, for affixing to Christmas packages and letters. The king agreed to the idea, and this led to the world's first Christmas seal in 1904.

Also at about the same time, a small TB hospital which had been built in Delaware by a group of doctors, was in trouble for lack of funds. A cousin of one of the hospital's doctors, Red Cross worker Miss Emily Bissell, came up with a solution. She had read a magazine article which described the development of the Christmas Seal in Denmark. And she decided a similar seal should be adopted in the United States.

Miss Bissell designed the seal, and by 1907, the first American Christmas Seal went on sale in Wilmington, Delaware.

Make Your Door Big Yule Package

You can make your door into a huge Christmas package by pinning wide strips of red satiny material to all four sides, and drawing them together into a great bow, adding ornaments and holly for color contrast.

Whatever the materials you decide upon for your decorations make sure they are sturdy and can be fastened securely.

If your entrance is unprotected, weatherproof your designs with a coating of clear shellac or use water-resistant materials such as oilcloth.

Federal Sales Of Christmas Trees

DENVER (UPI)—The federal government sells thousands of Christmas trees to commercial and semi-commercial groups and to individuals each year.

The trees are taken from national forests in a number of states, including Colorado, Wyoming and South Dakota.

In some national forests, individuals are permitted to go into the forest to cut down the family Christmas tree. The cost: $1 per tree. No person is allowed to cut more than one tree in the forest.

The U.S. Forest Service handles the commercial Christmas tree sale much as it sells timber. The area is put up for bid and the firms cut the trees under strict Forest Service supervision.

SPACE AGE — Christmas in the space age. Model rockets and missiles are exact down to the last detail and provide a miniature look at the world of the future come true today.

Careful Choice Of Perfume Needed To Please Receiver

He's been going steady for three whole months—practically a lifetime at the age of 17. It's Christmas and he wants to get his girl a gift. Something romantic, but not sticky. Something individual, but not too personal.

Perfume can be the ideal gift. But what kind?

Exotic fragrances can be too heavy and sophisticated. Floral scents can be too light and childish. The ideal, of course, is somewhere in the middle. No matter what scent is chosen, however, there are certain rules to follow.

First, remember there are three different types of scents — perfume, toilet water and cologne. Perfume is the strongest—and most expensive — and should be applied only as an accent. Toilet water and cologne are lighter and can be used more generously.

Second, each person has a particular body chemistry which causes different perfumes to react differently on different wearers. If you are selecting a new scent, it is wise to buy only a small amouunt as a sort of test.

Third, use perfume sparingly. It is not true that the more perfume used, the longer it will last. An excess amount of perfume is offensive to persons around you. The key to proper application is to place the scent on the pulse spots of the body—the base of the throat, behind the ears, inside the elbows and even behind the knee.

Fourth, make sure the perfume does not clash with shampoo or hair spray that you are using. Keep the perfume as the predominant set.

Model Kits For Ships, Cars, Planes, Trains

Looking at the model-building kits available this Christmas, you may get the idea that you can build the whole world in miniature. And you won't be far wrong.

The model kits are more authentic than ever, and are attracting hobbyists of all ages.

Scale model cars are one of the most popular items. Everything from a Ford to a Ferrari is available in a model, complete with such items as seat belts, gas-tank caps and radio antennae.

Other models which reflect today's life with amazing accuracy includes planes — everything from Boeings and Caravelles to the U.S. fighter-bomber now in action in Viet Nam. There also are modern diesels and railroad cars, cabin cruisers, speedboats and surfboards.

Present-day Americana is reflected in the miniature buildings to be assembled for table-top train and auto layouts. The familiar railroad station and village church have been joined by supermarkets, skyscrapers, drive-in banks and movies and motels complete with swimming pools.

The Hobby Industry Assn. of America also reports a strong trend toward models for the world of tomorrow. There are space capsules, space stations and fantastic cars which may not be as fantastic as they seem.

First Sale Of Cards

The first sales of Christmas cards by a commercial firm were made in England in 1862.

American Santa

The American Santa, rotund and ruddy aboard his reindeer sleigh, evolved from the St. Nicholas of Dutch colonists in New York.

Irish Christmas

Saint Patrick introduced the celebration of Christmas to Ireland about the year 461.

Assembly Line Doll Making Sometimes Is Macabre Job

Pieces Fitted Together, Sewn, Rouged, Glued

DOLLS HEADS — Racks of dolls' heads are lined up at the toy factory, ready for the oven heat treatment that will firmly affix wigs to skulls.

Creating a Christmas supply of blue-eyed, sweetly-smiling dolls can be a macabre business. It involves popping heads into boiling ovens, measuring boxes full of legs to match up perfect pairs, and forcing cottony stuffing into defenseless plastic bodies.

On the seemingly endless assembly lines of a Hollis, N.Y., factory, doll heads move briskly along, to be snatched up by workers who in turn put on touches of lipstick and eye shadow, mark hair lines with a touch of faint beige, so the sewing machine operator will know where to sew on the hair, push in eyes one at a time, glaze them, and rouge the cheeks.

Then the heads are trundled off to the beauty parlor division of the factory, to have wigs sewn on, and the hair washed and set in the proper style. On the trip to the hair dryer, the heads travel in a steaming oven.

Down the assembly line the heads move again, to have the rest of the parts of the bodies put together by hand. Almost simultaneously other workers are grabbing up freshly-ironed dolls' clothes. Down at the end of the line, packers tuck the completed dolls sometimes with accessory clothes, in boxes.

A new 1965 creation in the constant efforts of the doll company to keep one up on their competitors is a doll who comes equipped with hair-tinting so its owner can color her doll's hair red, blond, or brunette. A doll-size bathrobe and a comb complete the doll package.

STUFFING—Stuffing a doll is easier than stuffing a turkey when centrifugal pressure is used to pump synthetic filling into the toy.

HAIR STYLES—The latest in hair styles is created for a doll by the doll maker who cuts and curls. Parts of dolls roll down the assembly line where they are put together in an occasionally macabre operation.

First Santa Claus

Tradition says the original Santa Claus was St. Nicholas, a Fourth Century bishop in Asia Minor who gave gifts to the young and poor.

Vast Store Of Unused Gifts In His Cellar

Have you ever looked through Christmas catalogues and wondered who buys all those gifts that seem utterly useless? And have you ever wondered what happened to them?

Stop wondering. These gifts, bought by acquaintances of ours, are all sitting in the cellar, collecting dust. (We don't know anybody we dislike enough to send these items to.)

An inventory of our cellar reads like a catalogue of "one of a kind" gifts. (They made one and threw out the mold.)

The piece de resistance is a mechanical salad tosser, for the woman who's too lazy to toss her own salad. It's a three piece contraption consisting of a bowl, a lid and a metal frame with a spit and handle for rotating the bowl. This sounds fine.

But the cover doesn't fit, the handle doesn't turn properly and anyone who tries to use it is likely to end up with lettuce all over the table.

This item was retrieved from the cellar for a short time while we tried to use the bottom as an ivy planter, but we couldn't keep it steady long enough to get anything planted.

Another of our more unusual gifts was a large smoked turkey — a very expensive delicacy which is fine for very fashionable, elite-type parties. Unfortunately, our parties aren't the elite type. The turkey was too big for hors d'oeuvres and too small for a full meal. Most of it was finally eaten by a group of college students.

We also have one of those items every house needs—a musical decanter. It's shaped like a lantern, complete with all sorts of intricate wirework which makes the decanter impossible to use. When you pick it up, a music box mechanism plays "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen." (You can get pretty tired of Christmas carols in the middle of summer.)

Of course we do have some more common items that are still just as useless. Into this category fall the mechanical swizzle stick driven by a battery in the shape of an outboard motor; a genuine German beer stein that's impossible to drink from; and an authentic Japanese tea pot. I'm still waiting for the mink back scratcher.

Good Luck Sign

Bayberry candles, which are said to foretell good luck for the coming year if they burn bright at Christmas, were first made by early settlers in America. They dipped bayberry branches in wax and burned them during the holidays.

Plan Holidays For Relaxed, Serene Time

Before the holidays roll round, the forthcoming festivities look very gala.

There are parties, large and small, on the calendar. College students in the family have invited foreign friends home. The younger element have parts in Christmas pageants and special choral groups, and parents want to be in the audience.

But when the round of activities actually begins, the schedule begins to look not gala, but gruesome. Too much is packed into too short a period. Tempers begin to rise, household chores assume staggering proportions, and the spirit of Christmas takes its flight.

To have a serene, happy Christmas, it's wise to pre-plan, before saying an enthusiastic yes to everything.

If parents are invited to a large party, of the type where the hostess repays all her social debts by giving one big grand whirl, think before accepting.

What will it be like? Is it worth it to be jammed in a corner of a house swarming with people whose combined voices make quiet conversation impossible, with a hostess so busy greeting and saying goodbye to guests that she hardly knows you're there? If you'd rather see such friends under other circumstances, don't hesitate to decline. Just say, this year you're having a family Christmas, and you'll catch up with your friends later on.

When the children's activities come under consideration, the rule of thumb is: What's most important?

To this parent, attendance at pageants and plays where young children perform is a must. They're counting on you. Fix the dinner casserole early, and be off.

Or if the event collide with the dinner hour (or is very early in the evening), let the teenagers take over the kitchen, and have their own supper for their friends, paper plate style. Or to lighten the load even further. ask their close friends to bring part of the menu.

The brunch style of entertaining can be held at almost any hour, and be as simple or as elaborate as one wishes. And it's a fine way for all the age brackets to meet—and for the parents to have a chance (finally) to talk to the foreign students. If you're up to it, ask a few—very few— of the neighbors in to meet them. Because brunch is a highly informal meal, the hostess can leave her own party early, and go about other household business, if it's necessary.

Combining traditional Christmas events with tea and talk is another way to see friends on a casual basis. Have tea, coffee, and cokes on a cart in the living room for a present-wrapping party, and have a joke gift or token favor for the guests.

If skating or skiing is possible during the holidays, ask the crowd in afterwards for a hot drink before the fireplace fire.

If you build a party around a family event, entertaining is a pleasure, relaxation is at an all-time high, and there'll be peace and pleasure at the Christmas dinner table.

INFORMAL BRUNCH—One of the most flexible methods of entertaining for any age bracket and providing a chance for peaceful conversation is over an informal brunch. The meal can be relatively simple and so preparation is easier on the hostess.

Broken Bulbs

To remove stub of a light bulb, which has broken off while in the socket, press a cake of soap over the broken ends. This will give a safe grip for turning the light bulb out. A large cork can also be used in the same manner.

Native Yule Plant

The poinsettia is the one Christmas plant native to America.

Store Toys In Steel Cabinets

Ask any child what he wants for Christmas and the answer will invariably be "toys!" Small wonder that the day after Christmas finds Mother wondering how to cope with the deluge of toys, all of which seems to be underfoot.

One answer to this problem is to encourage neatness in your youngster by providing him with a place to store his toys. Steel cabinets are practical, inexpensive storage chests that come in many designs.

Floor-standing models accommodate the reach of any child, even a toddler; (shelves can be assigned according to your children's varying height.)

Celebrated First

St. Nicholas Day was first celebrated in Asia Minor in the Fourth Century. The white-haired bishop appeared on Dec. 6, his saint's day, riding a white horse laden with gifts for children.

Roll In Flour

Roll dates in flour before you cut them and they will not cling to the knife or scissors.

Brush Those Costly Wigs

Wigs are expensive enough to be classed as valuable possessions.

And whether or not they're high style, owners have invested enough in these extra coifs that they're going to take good care of them.

Like human hair, wigs look best when free from dust and oily matter. So why not consider giving a wig brush as a novel Christmas gift?

GLOWING YULETIDE HARVEST—One of the newest additions in Christmas tree decorations is a fiberglas cover in fruit designs that hides the traditional bulb. Included in the selection are pears, apples, oranges, limes, plums and lemons.

Lights May Steal Scene On The Tree

Christmas tree lights, which in the past have stayed in the background as a decorating item, are now moving into first place as designers create lights that are themselves glittery ornaments.

Light bulbs now are fastened behind white plastic snowflakes, to give the tree a snow-drenched look. Others are centered within clear glass star-shaped reflectors. One set of tree lights consists of midget lamps mounted in clear icicles in plastic shades.

Added ornaments are unnecessary if the home decorator chooses strings of light bulbs that are mounted in multi-colored crystal ball reflectors, or some of the lamps that are hidden in glittery sugar bells.

Newest addition in Christmas tree decoration is a fiber glass cover, in fruit designs, that hides the traditional bulb. The decorator can choose from realistic pears, apples, oranges, limes, plums and lemons if he wants to make his tree a fruit-bearing one. The same material is used in pastel-colored snowballs and gay snowmen.

Home For The Holidays Can Be Traumatic For Parents

By LYDIA BICKFORD

Christmas comes but once a year—fortunately.

I don't mean that I am totally devoid of the holiday spirit.

I'm not. I'm actually terribly sentimental.

But in my household, the would-be spirit has trouble emerging from the crushing load of physical and mental endeavors that inevitably accompany Christmas festivities.

Last time around, I naively looked forward to the holidays. All three "young adults" would be home.

The armed forces had graciously given Christmas leave to the new recruit. Number two son, established at the University of London, had found a cheap charter home for the holidays, and would be with us. Weather permitting, the daughter at a Midwestern university would emerge from her local snow banks and fly home, with only short stopovers for de-icing the plane's wings and defrosting the engine.

But the family circle was due to expand. A cable from London informed us that a young American couple we'd met abroad was due to arrive in New York after spending 16 months at the University of Moscow.

Would I meet, please, and do the honors?

It sounded like grand fun: until the arrival schedule began to shape up.

The Moscow students came first, on a chilly windswept day that say me rise at 6 a.m. to be at the dock in time.

Away from New York so long, the two were petrified by the traffic and racket. "Those can't be buses," they muttered. "They're much too big."

I decided to cart them off to the country, and await word from the London son, meanwhile thinking ahead as to what casserole could be prepared most speedily, and how many beds needed clean sheets.

Another cable. "Arrive Aer Lingus 7 p.m. Kennedy." It was now 3 p.m. of the same day.

Pooling what we had of our brain power; we decided the line sounded Scottish, but it wasn't.

A hasty check of the phone book revealed it was Irish, and on time. But a two-hour drive lay between us and the incoming son.

Sacrificing sentimentality for practicality, I messaged son to come home by common carrier, though knowing full well his spirits would be crushed by no familial fanfare at the airport.

Meanwhile, the daughter had phoned to say she was having trouble getting out of Chicago, and would arrive next evening just before midnight.

One more guest to go. A young British friend was due in two days before Christmas, but fortunately was the type of guest who knew when to offer help around the house, and when to fade quietly into the background.

The day before Christmas I felt like a track competitor who has barely enough strength to break the tape. I was wrapping presents, paying a belated visit to the 10-cent store for humorous stocking gifts, refereeing the annual argument of the value of a tree bedecked with many ornaments versus a sophisticated one, answering the telephone, stuffing the turkey, and refusing to get involved in the delicate matter of flower-arranging, several boxes having arrived from the holiday visitors.

I made it safely through dinner.

But then I knew I had to choose. If I wanted to function at all on Christmas Day, I'd have to forego the usual carol sing around the piano.

Once Declining

Christmas observance was declining when Charles Dickens wrote his "Christmas Carol." The heartwarming story helped revive the Christmas spirit and Dickens is often called the father of modern Christmas.

HOW TO BE SANTA CLAUS

A group of would-be Santas listens to a Volunteers of America instructor tell them the correct procedures for being a Santa in New York City. The volunteers collect Christmas-time donations on city streets, ringing a hand bell to remind shoppers to donate.

Three Persons Responsible For Christmas Seal Ideas

The familiar Christmas Seal that appears on letters and packages during the holiday season can be credited jointly to three different people: an American doctor, a Danish postal worker and an American Red Cross worker.

The first person, the American doctor, was Edward Livingston Trudeau. Dr. Trudeau contracted tuberculosis shortly after graduating from medical school. Both his brother and his daughter also had TB, so Dr. Trudeau decided to conduct research on the disease. This led to his establishment of a tuberculosis hospital at Saranac Lake, New York. And subsequently, when the National Tuberculosis Assn. was founded in 1904, Dr. Trudeau was the first president.

In the same year, Encyclopedia International reports, a Danish postal worker, Einar Holbell, came up with the thought that Christmas was a time when people should be reminded of their duty to help the sick and needy children who were suffering from TB.

He proposed to the King of Denmark that penny seals be sold, for affixing to Christmas packages and letters. The king agreed to the idea, and this led to the world's first Christmas seal in 1904.

Also at about the same time, a small TB hospital which had been built in Delaware by a group of doctors, was in trouble for lack of funds. A cousin of one of the hospital's doctors, Red Cross worker Miss Emily Bissell, came up with a solution. She had read a magazine article which described the development of the Christmas Seal in Denmark. And she decided a similar seal should be adopted in the United States.

Miss Bissell designed the seal, and by 1907, the first American Christmas Seal went on sale in Wilmington, Delaware.

Make Your Door Big Yule Package

You can make your door into a huge Christmas package by pinning wide strips of red satiny material to all four sides, and drawing them together into a great bow, adding ornaments and holly for color contrast.

Whatever the materials you decide upon for your decorations make sure they are sturdy and can be fastened securely.

If your entrance is unprotected, weatherproof your designs with a coating of clear shellac or use water-resistant materials such as oilcloth.

Federal Sales Of Christmas Trees

DENVER (UPI)—The federal government sells thousands of Christmas trees to commercial and semi-commercial groups and to individuals each year.

The trees are taken from national forests in a number of states, including Colorado, Wyoming and South Dakota.

In some national forests, individuals are permitted to go into the forest to cut down the family Christmas tree. The cost: $1 per tree. No person is allowed to cut more than one tree in the forest.

The U.S. Forest Service handles the commercial Christmas tree sale much as it sells timber. The area is put up for bid and the firms cut the trees under strict Forest Service supervision.

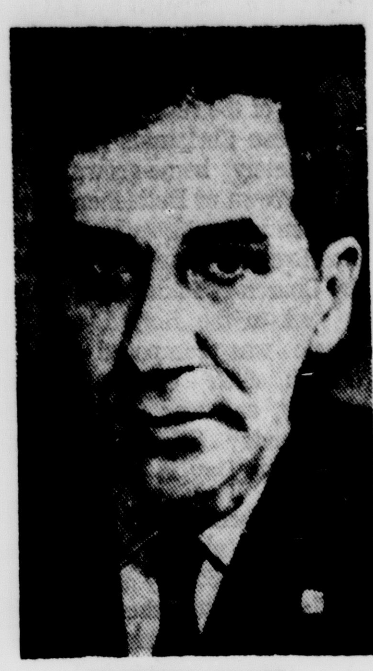
A GAME THAT HAS EVERYTHING—Among toy designer Marvin Glass' creations for this Christmas is this three-dimensional action game. Youngsters play cards to assemble the game, then begin to set it in motion. When the clock is wound, a boxing glove pops out; the glove punches a broom; the broom swats a cat; the cat drops her ball and so on. (By Ideal.)

UNCONVENTIONAL TOYS A SUCCESS

Psychology Student Declares Biggest Hits Are Ideas That Scare Older Firms

"It's the knowledgeable people who hold back progress in the toy industry. They have all the answers, and the answers are always wrong."

These words come from someone who ought to know. He's Marvin Glass, one of the country's top toy designers.



MARVIN GLASS
Toy designer

The 50-year-old Glass is an unconventional man with unconventional ideas. He is a graduate of the University of Chicago with a psychology major who got into the toy business by accident.

He thinks educational toys are a fraud; "When a designer can't think of anything new for a toy, he puts the word 'educational' on the box."

He refuses to test his toys on a panel of children, saying youngsters don't like to judge toys, just buy them.

Glass also claims that toy designers never learn. He says the toys that are the greatest successes are the ones which break all the rules — the toys that manufacturers are hesitant to produce for fear they won't sell.

As an example, he cites the Barbie doll (not one of his own creations). Glass says most people thought Barbie too realistic to be popular; dolls should be babies or little girls; Barbie was too grown up. But it was an instant hit.

Glass notes, however, that the Barbie doll is a success only in the United States. He says, Barbie could only live in a culture like our own, where the evaluation of woman is superficial." Glass says Barbie is every teenage girl's dream—she's pretty, popular, talented and always beautifully dressed. In a culture where the emphasis is on less material things Barbie is more of a one-shot collector's item than a toy for the average girl.

Glass doesn't claim any mystical powers for the ideas he thinks up.

Glass has exclusive rights to produce many of the James Bond toys. He says he realized the James Bond craze would be a big one in the toy industry thanks to the Bond movies.

Colored Shirts Have White Collars, Cuffs

We're seeing more and more colored shirts with white collars and cuffs. According to the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear, plain colored bodies seem to be favorites, with subtle and bolder stripes next. And maize is growing into a very popular shirt color.

Get ready for the bold print sport shirts, all the way from the most colorful Hawaiian-type floral prints to large polka dots and paisleys.

Not All Dryers Require Vents

There are two types of gas clothes dryers. One heats circulating room air and vents moisture to the outside. The other uses a closed air and water condensation system, which condenses moisture from the air and pumps it down the drain. According to the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Assn., the condenser type is selected by tenants who aren't permitted to extend a vent through the landlord's wall.

Outdoor Decorations Share With Others

Christmas is a season of sharing. It's a time to share with family, friends, strangers. Why not let the warm indoor cheer of your Christmas reflect in your outdoor decorations? Wish all who pass your home a gay "Season's Greetings."

Here are some tips for creating ingenious and joyful effects:

1. Begin with a plan.
2. Keep the plan simple, accenting and decorating a single feature — a tree, chimney, or door.
3. If you want to be more elaborate combine several of these features into an eye-appealing over-all scheme.
4. Use your imagination to camouflage flood lights. Pine boughs, tiny figures, or snow banked behind the lights hide them well.
5. Snow banked in front of floodlights adds a special sparkle.
6. Don't overdecorate with lights strung haphazardly from tree to tree, or gate to tree.
7. For lop-sided trees run the lights from the top, to pegs in the ground, teepee-fashion, for a more symmetrical effect.

With ingenuity and a little work your home can be a gay Christmas card proclaiming a message of cheer.

Hampton Wardrobes

Lionel Hampton, who does continuous one-night engagements, maintains six full wardrobes in as many cities around the U.S.

It takes about 28 times longer to hang up an eight-pound load of clothes as it does to put them from the washer into the dryer.

Year-Long, World-Wide Search Produces Holiday Decorations

The Christmas decorations and ornaments used in millions of American homes each year are gathered from all four corners of the globe in a search that goes on the year-round.

One of the men responsible for a lot of these decorations is Ray Grenier and import buyer. Last September Grenier traveled to Europe on a six-week buying trip—for Christmas 1966.

By the middle of July, Grenier has all his ornaments for the coming Christmas lined up and already is beginning to worry about the next year. His scouts abroad keep him posted throughout the year on the latest in Christmas ornaments. Then he looks over the work of 50 or 60 manufacturers and begins his selections.

Certain countries are noted for certain types of decorations. Germany is particularly well-known for Christmas-tree ornments which are carefully handcrafted. Italy is noted for Nativity figures. Hong Kong is popular for artificial flowers. Many of the so-called Italian holly wreaths are made in Hong Kong.

Another country which is beginning to enter the Christmas market in a big way is Japan. Grenier notes that many of the Japanese articles used to lack quality, but says that today they are producing some of the finest decorations and ornaments on the market. Grenier also notes that Santa Claus is even popular in Japan — except he is skinny and has a wispy white goatee instead of flowing beard.

As for Christmas 1965, Grenier expects a return to the old-fashioned decorations with green trees. He says that several years ago, people would go overboard for one color—particularly gold or silver, in ornaments and artificial trees. Now they want the standard green tree with multi-colored ornaments which reflect individual taste.

100 Miles Of Yarn

A man's suit contains fibers that could be spun into 100 miles of yarn.

Two Voltages Used In Dryers

Two types of electric dryers are on the market. One operates on 120 volts provided by the normal circuits in an older home. It is an ideal answer for a family that's renting. The other operates on 240 volts and dries clothes up to two and one-half times faster than the type operating on 120 volts.

Saint Francis Credited With Nativity Scene

Saint Francis of Assisi is credited with introducing the use of the Christmas crib outside the church. He made it popular through his outdoor celebration of the Nativity at Greccio, Italy, on Christmas Eve 1223.

Soak Dried Fruit

Soak raisins and other dried fruit in hot water for a few minutes to keep them from falling to the bottom of cake and cookie batters.

Christmas Tip

When measuring molasses, honey or syrup, first use the cup to measure shortening. The syrup will not stick to a slightly greased cup.

Assembly Line Doll Making Sometimes Is Macabre Job

DOLLS HEADS — Racks of dolls' heads are lined up at the toy factory, ready for the oven heat treatment that will firmly affix wigs to skulls.

Pieces Fitted Together, Sewn, Rouged, Glued

Creating a Christmas supply of blue-eyed, sweetly-smiling dolls can be a macabre business. It involves popping heads into boiling ovens, measuring boxes full of legs to match up perfect pairs, and forcing cottony stuffing into defenseless plastic bodies.

On the seemingly endless assembly lines of a Hollis, N.Y., factory, doll heads move briskly along, to be snatched up by workers who in turn put on touches of lipstick and eye shadow, mark hair lines with a touch of faint beige, so the sewing machine operator will know where to sew on the hair, push in eyes one at a time, glaze them, and rouge the cheeks.

Then the heads are trundled off to the beauty parlor division of the factory, to have wigs sewn on, and the hair washed and set in the proper style. On the trip to the hair dryer, the heads travel in a steaming oven.

Down the assembly line the heads move again, to have the rest of the parts of the bodies put together by hand. Almost simultaneously other workers are grabbing up freshly-ironed dolls' clothes. Down at the end of the line, packers tuck the completed dolls sometimes with accessory clothes, in boxes.

A new 1965 creation in the constant efforts of the doll company to keep one up on their competitors is a doll who comes equipped with hair-tinting so its owner can color her doll's hair red, blond, or brunette. A doll-size bathrobe and a comb complete the doll package.

STUFFING—Stuffing a doll is easier than stuffing a turkey when centrifugal pressure is used to pump synthetic filling into the toy.

HAIR STYLES—The latest in hair styles is created for a doll by the doll maker who cuts and curls. Parts of dolls roll down the assembly line where they are put together in an occasionally macabre operation.

First Santa Claus

Tradition says the original Santa Claus was St. Nicholas, a Fourth Century bishop in Asia Minor who gave gifts to the young and poor.

Vast Store Of Unused Gifts In His Cellar

Have you ever looked through Christmas catalogues and wondered who buys all those gifts that seem utterly useless? And have you ever wondered what happened to them?

Stop wondering. These gifts, bought by acquaintances of ours, are all sitting in the cellar, collecting dust. (We don't know anybody we dislike enough to send these items to.)

An inventory of our cellar reads like a catalogue of "one of a kind" gifts. (They made one and threw out the mold.)

The piece de resistance is a mechanical salad tosser, for the woman who's too lazy to toss her own salad. It's a three piece contraption consisting of a bowl, a lid and a metal frame with a spit and handle for rotating the bowl. This sounds fine.

But the cover doesn't fit, the handle doesn't turn properly and anyone who tries to use it is likely to end up with lettuce all over the table.

This item was retrieved from the cellar for a short time while we tried to use the bottom as an ivy planter, but we couldn't keep it steady long enough to get anything planted.

Another of our more unusual gifts was a large smoked turkey — a very expensive delicacy which is fine for very fashionable, elite-type parties. Unfortunately, our parties aren't the elite type. The turkey was too big for hors d'oeuvres and too small for a full meal. Most of it was finally eaten by a group of college students.

We also have one of those items every house needs—a musical decanter. It's shaped like a lantern, complete with all sorts of intricate wirework which makes the decanter impossible to use. When you pick it up, a music box mechanism plays "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen." (You can get pretty tired of Christmas carols in the middle of summer.)

Of course we do have some more common items that are still just as useless. Into this category fall the mechanical swizzle stick driven by a battery in the shape of an outboard motor; a genuine German beer stein that's impossible to drink from; and an authentic Japanese tea pot. I'm still waiting for the mink back scratcher.

Good Luck Sign

Bayberry candles, which are said to foretell good luck for the coming year if they burn bright at Christmas, were first made by early settlers in America. They dipped bayberry branches in wax and burned them during the holidays.

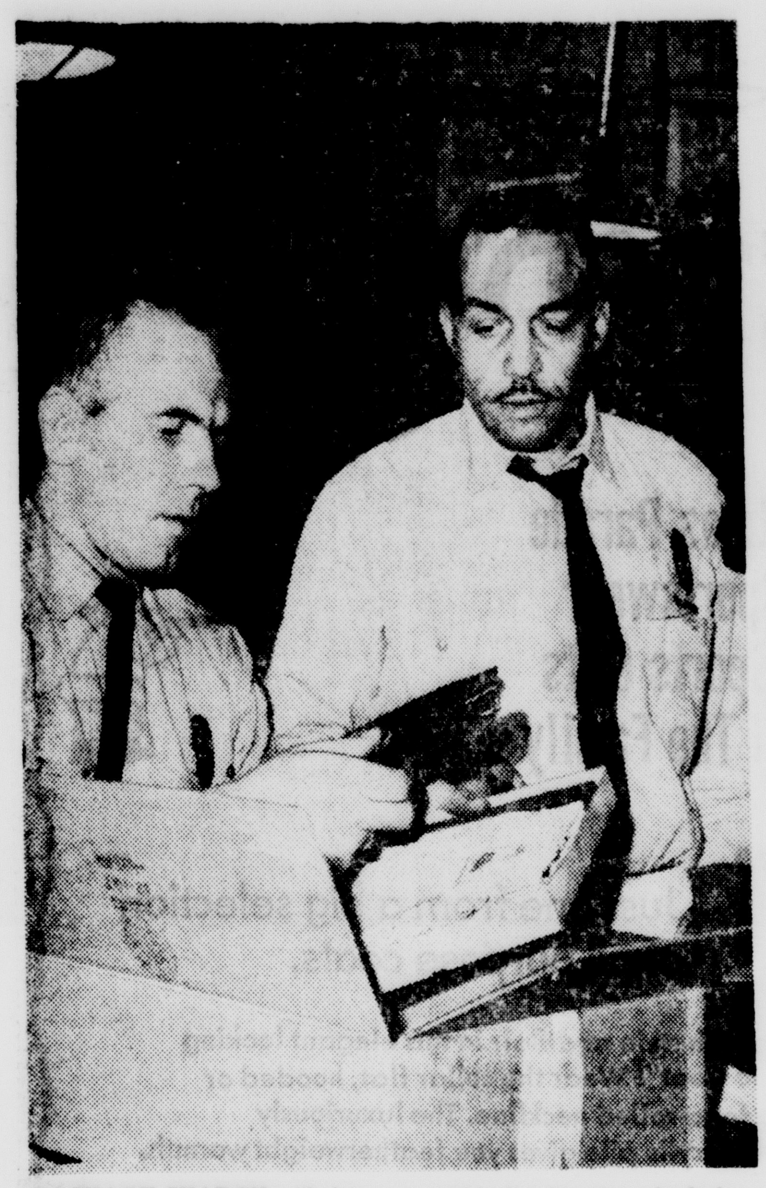
Prison Christmas Has Some Cheer



PACKAGE SEARCH—Christmas at Ohio Penitentiary includes a thorough search of all inmate gift packages to make sure they don't contain contraband. Prisoners watch while guards check the gifts.

Christmas behind prison bars need not be a dreary occasion. Prison officials and charitable organizations work to make sure that some of the holiday spirit reaches the men and women who are behind bars and separated from their families at Christmas.

One sidelight on Christmas at the Ohio Penitentiary, as at others, is the search through the prisoners' holiday packages — just to make sure there is no contraband.

Warden E. L. Maxwell says only a fraction of the 3,000 to 4,000 packages contain forbidden items. The search is carried out in front of the prisoner to whom the package is addressed.

Very little of the contraband is actually dangerous.

Peanut butter, for example, is banned because it could conceal narcotics. Prunes, raisins and dried fruits are forbidden because it's too easy to improvise brandy from them. Transistor radios are outlawed because enterprising prisoners might adapt them for cell-to-cell communications.

Another type of problem faces officials and inmates of the state reformatory for women at Dwight, Ill. Many of the women have children, and the ordinarily-joyful job of choosing presents could turn into tragedy.

This tragedy is averted, however, thanks to the efforts of the Salvation Army.

Each year, about the middle of November, the women file into a gaily decorated room with a toy-laden table in the middle.

The toys are paid for by donations to the Salvation Army. About $1,200 is spent for the toys at Dwight.

Selecting the toys is not an easy task.

"I haven't seen my children in five years," said one mother to a volunteer worker. "Will you help me pick?"

Most mothers try to be nonchalant as they pick out the gifts, but tears often stream down their cheeks as they leave.

After the selections are made, each woman signs a card with a personal message for her child. There are no signs of prison identification on the gift or the card. Some notes are especially poignant. "Be a good boy until Mommy gets home," or "Save all the toys so I can see them."

Make Sure Your Tree Adds To Spirit Of Holiday

What would Christmas be like without a tree?

And, almost as bad, what would Christmas be like with the wrong tree?

To make sure your tree adds as much as possible to the holiday spirit, here are a few guidelines.

Measure the size of the space you'll put the tree in. The American Christmas Tree Council suggests knowing exactly how high and how wide the area is. Don't use guesswork. It's hard to judge size when faced with hundreds of trees.

Decide what type of tree you want. Douglas fir is often preferred as a good, all-around purchase. Red cedar and Virginia pine trees are less expensive, and if you want to splurge, try blue spruce, white spruce or Scotch pine.

Study the tree itself. Look for fir that tapers nicely from a single tip. Check the color of the needles. Brown, dried up patches indicate needles have dropped off. Check to see if the tree is fresh by rubbing your finger across the bottom of the stump to test for sappy moisture.

Erect your tree properly. Place it in a pail of cold water sweetened with a cup of syrup, sugar or molasses. You can also place the tree in a box of wet sand to prevent it from drying out.

Notice Of Gift

MEBANE, N.C. (UPI)—A bedding manufacturer here, promoting the gift value of his product, has designed a miniature mattress to place under Christmas trees as notice a full-sized mattress has been ordered.

Lipstick Comes Out

Lipstick on the collar of a favorite dress? The stain can be loosened with trichloroethane (non-flammable) Energine. Then, rub with a detergent until the stain outline is removed and launder the garment in your automatic washer.

Double-Breasted Suits

Saks Fifth Avenue recently installed a corner window holding nothing but double-breasted suits, which actually stopped male traffic.

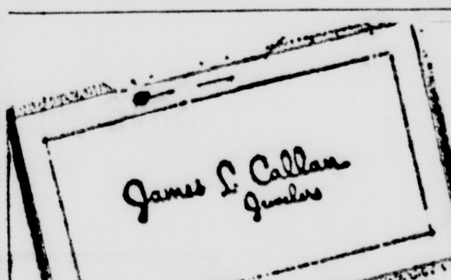
Romantic Gift

For a romantic-looking gift paste a paper doily in center of a package that has already been wrapped; cut second doily to fit corners of box.

Ulcer Patients Have High-Acid Dreams

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The UCLA Medical School has determined that ulcer patients produce large amounts of stomach acid when they are dreaming while ulcer-free persons produce little or none.

Studies are underway to determine if subject matter of dreams regulates acid amounts.



Asks That You Consider Diamonds

GLOWING YULETIDE HARVEST—One of the newest additions in Christmas tree decorations is a fiberglas cover in fruit designs that hides the traditional bulb. Included in the selection are pears, apples, oranges, limes, plums and lemons.

Once Declining

Christmas observance was declining when Charles Dickens wrote his "Christmas Carol." The heartwarming story helped revive the Christmas spirit and Dickens is often called the father of modern Christmas.

Lights May Steal Scene On The Tree

Christmas tree lights, which in the past have stayed in the background as a decorating item, are now moving into first place as designers create lights that are themselves glittery ornaments.

Light bulbs now are fastened behind white plastic snowflakes, to give the tree a snow-drenched look. Others are centered within clear glass star-shaped reflectors. One set of tree lights consists of midget lamps mounted in clear icicles in plastic shades.

Added ornaments are unnecessary if the home decorator chooses strings of light bulbs that are mounted in multi-colored crystal ball reflectors, or some of the lamps that are hidden in glittery sugar bells.

Newest addition in Christmas tree decoration is a fiber glass cover, in fruit designs, that hides the traditional bulb. The decorator can choose from realistic pears, apples, oranges, limes, plums and lemons if he wants to make his tree a fruit-bearing one. The same material is used in pastel-colored snowballs and gay snowmen.

Home For The Holidays Can Be Traumatic For Parents

By LYDIA BICKFORD

Christmas comes but once a year—fortunately.

I don't mean that I am totally devoid of the holiday spirit.

I'm not. I'm actually terribly sentimental.

But in my household, the would-be spirit has trouble emerging from the crushing load of physical and mental endeavors that inevitably accompany Christmas festivities.

Last time around, I naively looked forward to the holidays. All three "young adults" would be home.

The armed forces had graciously given Christmas leave to the new recruit. Number two son, established at the University of London, had found a cheap charter home for the holidays, and would be with us. Weather permitting, the daughter at a Midwestern university would emerge from her local snow banks and fly home, with only short stopovers for de-icing the plane's wings and defrosting the engine.

But the family circle was due to expand. A cable from London informed us that a young American couple we'd met abroad was due to arrive in New York after spending 16 months at the University of Moscow.

Would I meet, please, and do the honors?

It sounded like grand fun: until the arrival schedule began to shape up.

The Moscow students came first, on a chilly windswept day that say me rise at 6 a.m. to be at the dock in time.

Away from New York so long, the two were petrified by the traffic and racket. "Those can't be buses," they muttered. "They're much too big."

I decided to cart them off to the country, and await word from the London son, meanwhile thinking ahead as to what casserole could be prepared most speedily, and how many beds needed clean sheets.

Another cable. "Arrive Aer Lingus 7 p.m. Kennedy." It was now 3 p.m. of the same day.

Pooling what we had of our brain power; we decided the line sounded Scottish, but it wasn't.

A hasty check of the phone book revealed it was Irish, and on time. But a two-hour drive lay between us and the incoming son.

Sacrificing sentimentality for practicality, I messaged son to come home by common carrier, though knowing full well his spirits would be crushed by no familial fanfare at the airport.

Meanwhile, the daughter had phoned to say she was having trouble getting out of Chicago, and would arrive next evening just before midnight.

One more guest to go. A young British friend was due in two days before Christmas, but fortunately was the type of guest who knew when to offer help around the house, and when to fade quietly into the background.

The day before Christmas I felt like a track competitor who has barely enough strength to break the tape. I was wrapping presents, paying a belated visit to the 10-cent store for humorous stocking gifts, refereeing the annual argument of the value of a tree bedecked with many ornaments versus a sophisticated one, answering the telephone, stuffing the turkey, and refusing to get involved in the delicate matter of flower-arranging, several boxes having arrived from the holiday visitors.

I made it safely through dinner.

But then I knew I had to choose. If I wanted to function at all on Christmas Day, I'd have to forego the usual carol sing around the piano.

TAILORS FOR SANTA—Fred and Sonia Gerlatti of Sunset Beach, Calif., make Santa Claus suits in all sizes and shapes to be sent all over the world.

This Tailor Shop Sews Exclusively For Santas

Santa Clauses come in all shapes and sizes—tall and skinny and thin and fat. But no matter what his size, chances are that Santa Claus can find a suit to fit in the Sunset Beach, Calif., store of Fred and Sonia Gerlatti.

The Gerlattis have been manufacturing Santa suits for 16 years as a part of their drygoods and fabric store. They started in the business when Sonia was trying to find a Santa suit for a Christmas party for some orphans.

Mrs. Gerlatti says the store she tried featured "an obnoxious clerk" and only four suits—none of them appropriate.

Every suit the Gerlattis make is adjustable to fit anyone. Thanks to towels, pillows and safety pins, the suits are adjustable to fit a waist of up to 52 inches. Once, Gerlatti explains, they even made a special suit for someone with a 62-inch waist.

Three of the Gerlattis' suits have been sent to Russia. Others went to Europe, Mexico and even the Fiji Islands.

Gerlatti says grandfathers are usually the best customers. But he says they're often a bit optimistic, buying suits "for the benefit of children who are only five or six weeks old."

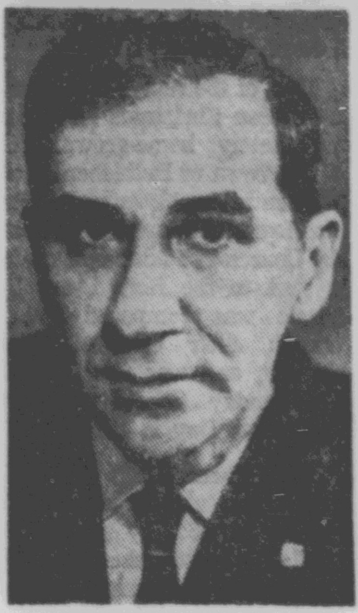
A GAME THAT HAS EVERYTHING—Among toy designer Marvin Glass' creations for this Christmas is this three-dimensional action game. Youngsters play cards to assemble the game, then begin to set it in motion. When the clock is wound, a boxing glove pops out; the glove punches a broom; the broom swats a cat; the cat drops her ball and so on. (By Ideal.)

UNCONVENTIONAL TOYS A SUCCESS

Psychology Student Declares Biggest Hits Are Ideas That Scare Older Firms



MARVIN GLASS
Toy designer

"It's the knowledgeable people who hold back progress in the toy industry. They have all the answers, and the answers are always wrong."

These words come from someone who ought to know. He's Marvin Glass, one of the country's top toy designers.

The 50-year-old Glass is an unconventional man with unconventional ideas. He is a graduate of the University of Chicago with a psychology major who got into the toy business by accident.

He thinks educational toys are a fraud; "When a designer can't think of anything new for a toy, he puts the word 'educational' on the box."

He refuses to test his toys on a panel of children, saying youngsters don't like to judge toys, just buy them.

Glass also claims that toy designers never learn. He says the toys that are the greatest successes are the ones which break all the rules — the toys that manufacturers are hesitant to produce for fear they won't sell.

As an example, he cites the Barbie doll (not one of his own creations). Glass says most people thought Barbie too realistic to be popular; dolls should be babies or little girls; Barbie was too grown up. But it was an instant hit.

Glass notes, however, that the Barbie doll is a success only in the United States. He says, Barbie could only live in a culture like our own, where the evaluation of woman is superficial." Glass says Barbie is every teenage girl's dream—she's pretty, popular, talented and always beautifully dressed. In a culture where the emphasis is on less material things Barbie is more of a one-shot collector's item than a toy for the average girl.

Glass doesn't claim any mystical powers for the ideas he thinks up.

Glass has exclusive rights to produce many of the James Bond toys. He says he realized the James Bond craze would be a big one in the toy industry thanks to the Bond movies.

Colored Shirts Have White Collars, Cuffs

We're seeing more and more colored shirts with white collars and cuffs. According to the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear, plain colored bodies seem to be favorites, with subtle and bolder stripes next. And maize is growing into a very popular shirt color.

Get ready for the bold print sport shirts, all the way from the most colorful Hawaiian-type floral prints to large polka dots and paisleys.

Not All Dryers Require Vents

There are two types of gas clothes dryers. One heats circulating room air and vents moisture to the outside. The other uses a closed air and water condensation system, which condenses moisture from the air and pumps it down the drain. According to the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Assn., the condenser type is selected by tenants who aren't permitted to extend a vent through the landlord's wall.

Outdoor Decorations Share With Others

Christmas is a season of sharing. It's a time to share with family, friends, strangers. Why not let the warm indoor cheer of your Christmas reflect in your outdoor decorations? Wish all who pass your home a gay "Season's Greetings."

Here are some tips for creating ingenious and joyful effects:

1. Begin with a plan.

2. Keep the plan simple, accenting and decorating a single feature — a tree, chimney, or door.

3. If you want to be more elaborate combine several of these features into an eye-appealing over-all scheme.

4. Use your imagination to camouflage flood lights. Pine boughs, tiny figures, or snow banked behind the lights hide them well.

5. Snow banked in front of floodlights adds a special sparkle.

6. Don't overdecorate with lights strung haphazardly from tree to tree, or gate to tree.

7. For lop-sided trees run the lights from the top, to pegs in the ground, teepee-fashion, for a more symmetrical effect.

With ingenuity and a little work your home can be a gay Christmas card proclaiming a message of cheer.

Year-Long, World-Wide Search Produces Holiday Decorations

The Christmas decorations and ornaments used in millions of American homes each year are gathered from all four corners of the globe in a search that goes on the year-round.

One of the men responsible for a lot of these decorations is Ray Grenier and import buyer. Last September Grenier traveled to Europe on a six-week buying trip—for Christmas 1966.

By the middle of July, Grenier has all his ornaments for the coming Christmas lined up and already is beginning to worry about the next year. His scouts abroad keep him posted throughout the year on the latest in Christmas ornaments. Then he looks over the work of 50 or 60 manufacturers and begins his selections.

Certain countries are noted for certain types of decorations. Germany is particularly well-known for Christmas-tree ornments which are carefully handcrafted. Italy is noted for Nativity figures. Hong Kong is popular for artificial flowers. Many of the so-called Italian holly wreaths are made in Hong Kong.

Another country which is beginning to enter the Christmas market in a big way is Japan. Grenier notes that many of the Japanese articles used to lack quality, but says that today they are producing some of the finest decorations and ornaments on the market. Grenier also notes that Santa Claus is even popular in Japan — except he is skinny and has a wispy white goatee instead of flowing beard.

As for Christmas 1965, Grenier expects a return to the old-fashioned decorations with green trees. He says that several years ago, people would go overboard for one color—particularly gold or silver, in ornaments and artificial trees. Now they want the standard green tree with multi-colored ornaments which reflect individual taste.

Two Voltages Used In Dryers

Two types of electric dryers are on the market. One operates on 120 volts provided by the normal circuits in an older home. It is an ideal answer for a family that's renting. The other operates on 240 volts and dries clothes up to two and one-half times faster than the type operating on 120 volts.

Saint Francis Credited With Nativity Scene

Saint Francis of Assisi is credited with introducing the use of the Christmas crib outside the church. He made it popular through his outdoor celebration of the Nativity at Greccio, Italy, on Christmas Eve 1223.

Soak Dried Fruit

Soak raisins and other dried fruit in hot water for a few minutes to keep them from falling to the bottom of cake and cookie batters.

Christmas Tip

When measuring molasses, honey or syrup, first use the cup to measure shortening. The syrup will not stick to a slightly greased cup.

Religious Symbols In Orbit Deepen Christmas Meaning

By GEORGE DAVIS
National City Christian Church
Washington, D.C.

When Major Edward White carried into space the symbols of our nation's three major religious faiths—the Star of David, a St. Christopher medal, and the Cross — one could not be surprised.

That is, one who knew his parents, would have somehow expected the same or even greater excellence in their son. In Wichita Falls, Tex., when I served as minister of the First Christian Church, and Ed's father, Major General Edward H. White was commanding officer of Sheppard Air Force Base, my contacts with the general and Mrs. White, were so rewarding that those symbols seemed very right indeed with Ed White in outer space, so much in character.

But are those symbols at home in the Space Age?

Think for a moment of the Star of David, and one must contemplate the Ten Commandments in their truly highest sense, and such central Old Testament themes. "What does the Lord require of you, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with your God". Reflect also upon the Cross, and a St. Christopher medal. And if we are sensitive to values, into our minds will come flooding thoughts of the Lord's Prayer as a jewel by itself, or the entire Sermon on the Mount, and of Jesus Himself.

Are all of these ruled out by whoever man finds "out there", can one honestly imagine those symbols have nothing to say to the outer limits?

The burden of proof must rest upon anyone who raises the question. And his part in a dialogue must confront not only how far man has failed to reflect the values hidden in the symbols, but must honestly deal with the difference made when man did reflect them, if only partially, and the greater difference one may with integrity imagine to be the result, if at anytime, anywhere, those values fully dominated the human scene.

Now let us ponder Christmas, for here we see brought to focus the brightest beam of divine light shining from the truth symbolized in the Star of David, and here we see the inspiration giving meaning to the Cross, and the medal of St. Christopher. It is possible to rule out the essential necessity of "love", and "good-will" in any serious consideration toward finding solutions in our world now, or in any other world out beyond the edge of space?

And whatever the profounder theological meanings, Christmas is dependable love, and good will in action, intended for universal acceptance and practice.

And of course "profounder theological meanings" is a way of saying, "Dependable love and good will in action, are the real nature of things", the only way things in any world will stay on the track.

This has been proved in the laboratories of man's behavior across the centuries, both by positive and negative experiments, both by those who practiced, and those who denied or ignored. I find it impossible to see how the Space Age can twist, or change, or destroy those three symbols Ed White carried into space, or how that age could tarnish Christmas.

Let those symbols then inspire us to continue our quest to translate their meanings for this planet, and wherever man goes out yonder as a co-worker with God. In fact the observation of one noted American, at this point is very pertinent:

"What was once a prayer, is now imperative as action, if man is to survive."

House Pets Having Population Boom

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The California branch of the Humane Society of the United States says a population explosion among house pets is taking place.

The society says 1,000 puppies and kittens are born in California every hour and that about $24 million is spent each year by cities, counties and private institutions for animal control.

Whittlers, Chewers Draw Grand Jury Ire

RICHMOND, Ky. (AP)—The remodeled Madison County Courthouse drew the praise of a county grand jury.

The panel added a suggestion: Officials should "keep it free of loafers of the whittling and tobacco chewing variety."

Dryers Popular

The Gas Appliance Manufacturers Assn. reports that more than 400,000 homes are equipped with automatic gas clothes dryers. Last year alone, 536,000 were installed in home laundries.

Official Says Wheat Decline Alright

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman is assuring the nation there is no need for concern over this country's declining stocks of wheat.

The secretary told a farm outlook conference that "if the need arose, for example, we could double the nation's wheat production in two years — with most of the increase in the first year."

Hair Styling Shop

A shop described as "San Francisco's first authentic grooming establishment," which features hair-styling for men, also features, according to its announcement, "a beautiful receptionist, and lovely ladies for pedicures and shoe shines."

Politician's Advice On Politicians

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP)—Advice to a meeting of high school student council representatives from Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J.:

"The politician who tells you he is on your side at all times, who tells you that he has your interests in mind at all times, is dangerous. Shun him."

Use Enough Ashtrays

Reduce the danger of fire and protect your furnishings by supplying enough ashtrays at your parties. If you do not have enough ashtrays, improvise with aluminum foil shaped into ashtray size.

Missing Stop Signal Leads To Auto Crash

LOUISVILLE (AP)—Two motorists collided at an intersection in suburban Pleasure Ridge Park.

It didn't take police long to spot the cause: vandals had stolen a stop sign on one of the streets.

For Teen-Age Boys

Contrary to popular belief, teen-age boys are not a special breed . . . they have individual preferences, just like grown-ups.

Most teens are sports conscious though, and would be delighted with a pair of tickets to a favorite sports event.

Word For Impressing Keeper Of The Wine

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—If you want to impress the wine steward the next time you're in a posh restaurant, mumble something about "ullage" as he presents your bottle.

Ullage is the amount of wine lost from a container by leakage or evaporation, the Wine Institute notes.

Dry Safely

A variety of drying heats can be thermostatically controlled on your flameless electric dryer. For example: Using the "no heat" control setting, snow suits, small rugs, shoes, and overshoes can be safely dried.

European Carols Were Brought To America With Immigrants

Christmas carols, like many of our holiday traditions, originated in Europe and came to this country with the immigrants who settled here.

The word "carol" itself may be even older than Christmas. Many scholars believe it stems from the Greek word "choros," meaning a circling dance that was part of Attic drama.

Carols truly came into their own at Christmas during the medieval period when Latin began slipping out of use as a universal language. The folk quality of the carols provided a musical means by which a church congregation could take part in the nativity pageantry in a really popular way.

Legend has it that St. Francis of Assisi was one of the earliest and most enthusiastic promoters of carol-singing. It was his notion that, via these Christmas songs, not only the priesthood, but the humblest member of the congregation could participate in the Christmas observance.

As the centuries passed, carols became an increasingly important part of the Christmas festivities — too important, in fact, from the point of view of some of the sterner, more authoritarian minded members of the clergy. When the Puritans took over England, they not only banned the singing of carols, but the celebration of Christmas itself.

Thanks to an 18th century American leather worker, however, the carol did not die in the U.S. This tanner, William Billings, composed the first Christmas carol ever published in the United States.

Billings' composition, though hardly ever sung today, spurred a renaissance in Christmas songs, both in America and abroad.

"Adeste Fideles," or, "Oh, Come All Ye Faithful," is believed to date back to the early 17th or 18th century in France or Germany. The words to "Silent Night" were written in the 1850's by the parish priest of a small church at Arnsdorf, near Salzburg, Austria, with music by the church organist, Franz Gruber. "Hark! The Herald Angels Sing!" also comes from Europe. The words to "Joy To The World" were written by an English theologian and hymn-writer named Isaac Watts, but the melody was contributed by a Massachusetts-born musician named Lowell Mason.

Most of the rest of the favorite American Christmas hymns are completely home-grown. "Oh, Little Town of Bethlehem," was written in the 1860's by Dr. Phillips Brooks, rector at Holy Trinity Church in Philadelphia, after a visit to the Holy Land. The music was composed by the church choir director, Lewis Redner, and was first sung by his Sunday School pupils on Christmas Day in 1868.

"We Three Kings of Orient Are" was written and set to music in 1857, by an Episcopalian minister, the Reverend John Henry Hopkins, Jr., of Vermont.

Even "Away in a Manger," usually credited to Martin Luther, was actually a made-in-America Christmas product. The text is of local origin, and appeared in print in Pihladelphia for the first time in 1885. The most popular tunes to which the words were sung were written by James R. Muray and William James Kirkpatrick.

More Americans Going To Canada

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Americans are migrating to Canada by increasing numbers, the Canadian Immigration Service says, but more Canadians are coming south.

More than 13,500 persons have entered Canada from the United States by permanent residence in 1965, compared to 12,565 in 1964. Three times as many Canadians annually settle in the United States, the service said.

Rushing Yule Season

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The Tucson Post Office reported receipt of the first 1965 letter for Santa Claus on July 18. Asst. Postmaster N. L. Pritchard said it would be at the top of the pile when the Christmas season arrives.

Girls Face Tough Time As Scientists

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—High school girls interested in studying physics have more than just tough subject matter to contend with, according to UCLA professor Derek Prowse.

"They are frequently discouraged by their parents or boy friends if they show any inclination toward scientific or engineering careers," he says.

In a recent region-wide test of 842 high school physics students, the 100 girls who took part lagged far behind the boys, he said.

Pump Dispenses Drink

The men's stores are showing a miniature Old American pump, which holds and dispenses a fifth of spirits and, as a music box, plays "Yankee Doodle Dandy."

Winter Window Box

Empty window boxes are settings for winter greenery. Strips of chicken wire in the boxes will help evergreen branches stand up straight.

For The Gamester

Many enthusiasts collect chess sets made of various materials. A distinctive wooden, ivory or plastic set for their collections would make a fine holiday gift.

Gas Dryer Makes Fine Gift For Busy Young Mothers

It takes a lot of planning and a ship-shape budget these days to bring a new baby into the world. The demands on mother's time and energy seem unending. Then it seems there's always something new that's needed for the youngster.

These are reasons why an electric or gas dryer is appreciated by the mother of small youngsters and also by the young wife who is about to become a mother. It is a convenience all year 'round and actually a necessity for many homemakers during the rainy winter months.

The automatic clothes dryer can cut clothes costs as well as saving time and effort for new mothers. It is estimated that the average basic layette costs $139 for a family without a dryer. The family with a dryer, though, can do very nicely with a layette costing only $94.51.

Romans Feasted

Ancient Romans feasted, exchanged gifts and decorated with evergreens during Saturnalia, a December festival honoring the god Saturn. Also relics of pre-Christian midwinter celebrations are mistletoe, the yule log and the wassail bowl.

Georgia Baptists' School Aid Asked

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Georgia Baptists have been asked to increase their donations to keep the denomination's six colleges operating as accredited institutions without the help of federal grants.

The state convention's 1,500 delegates unanimously adopted an education commission report which said: "Georgia Baptists are strongly committed to religious liberty and to the principle of separation of church and state."

Cows Give Up

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—There still is a 200-acre dairy farm within the limits of Lansing, a city of 113,000 persons, but the cows are just about to leave the area to the people. Martin H. Kahres, one of the proprietors, says he has sold the property to real estate developers.

Chiropractic Ranks Shrinking In State

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California Department of Professional and Vocational Standheards says that while population continues to grow in the state, the number of chiropractors has dipped slightly.

The department says there were 4,706 chiropractic licenses in effect at the end of the last fiscal year, down 67 from the year before.

PACKAGE SEARCH—Christmas at Ohio Penitentiary includes a thorough search of all inmate gift packages to make sure they don't contain contraband. Prisoners watch while guards check the gifts.

Prison Christmas Has Some Cheer

Christmas behind prison bars need not be a dreary occasion. Prison officials and charitable organizations work to make sure that some of the holiday spirit reaches the men and women who are behind bars and separated from their families at Christmas.

One sidelight on Christmas at the Ohio Penitentiary, as at others, is the search through the prisoners' holiday packages — just to make sure there is no contraband.

Warden E. L. Maxwell says only a fraction of the 3,000 to 4,000 packages contain forbidden items. The search is carried out in front of the prisoner to whom the package is addressed.

Very little of the contraband is actually dangerous.

Peanut butter, for example, is banned because it could conceal narcotics. Prunes, raisins and dried fruits are forbidden because it's too easy to improvise brandy from them. Transistor radios are outlawed because enterprising prisoners might adapt them for cell-to-cell communications.

Another type of problem faces officials and inmates of the state reformatory for women at Dwight, Ill. Many of the women have children, and the ordinarily-joyful job of choosing presents could turn into tragedy.

This tragedy is averted, however, thanks to the efforts of the Salvation Army.

Each year, about the middle of November, the women file into a gaily decorated room with a toy-laden table in the middle.

The toys are paid for by donations to the Salvation Army. About $1,200 is spent for the toys at Dwight.

Selecting the toys is not an easy task.

"I haven't seen my children in five years," said one mother to a volunteer worker. "Will you help me pick?"

Most mothers try to be nonchalant as they pick out the gifts, but tears often stream down their cheeks as they leave.

After the selections are made, each woman signs a card with a personal message for her child. There are no signs of prison identification on the gift or the card. Some notes are especially poignant. "Be a good boy until Mommy gets home," or "Save all the toys so I can see them."

Double-Breasted Suits

Saks Fifth Avenue recently installed a corner window holding nothing but double-breasted suits, which actually stopped male traffic.

Romantic Gift

For a romantic-looking gift paste a paper doily in center of a package that has already been wrapped; cut second doily to fit corners of box.

Ulcer Patients Have High-Acid Dreams

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The UCLA Medical School has determined that ulcer patients produce large amounts of stomach acid when they are dreaming while ulcer-free persons produce little or none.

Studies are underway to determine if subject matter of dreams regulates acid amounts.

Make Sure Your Tree Adds To Spirit Of Holiday

What would Christmas be like without a tree?

And, almost as bad, what would Christmas be like with the wrong tree?

To make sure your tree adds as much as possible to the holiday spirit, here are a few guidelines.

Measure the size of the space you'll put the tree in. The American Christmas Tree Council suggests knowing exactly how high and how wide the area is. Don't use guesswork. It's hard to judge size when faced with hundreds of trees.

Decide what type of tree you want. Douglas fir is often preferred as a good, all-around purchase. Red cedar and Virginia pine trees are less expensive, and if you want to splurge, try blue spruce, white spruce or Scotch pine.

Study the tree itself. Look for fir that tapers nicely from a single tip. Check the color of the needles. Brown, dried up patches indicate needles have dropped off. Check to see if the tree is fresh by rubbing your finger across the bottom of the stump to test for sappy moisture.

Erect your tree properly. Place it in a pail of cold water sweetened with a cup of syrup, sugar or molasses. You can also place the tree in a box of wet sand to prevent it from drying out.

Notice Of Gift

MEBANE, N.C. (UPI)—A bedding manufacturer here, promoting the gift value of his product, has designed a miniature mattress to place under Christmas trees as notice a full-sized mattress has been ordered.

Electric Dryer Easy To Install

Easy installation is one reason why more people are buying flameless electric clothes dryers, according to the live better electrically program of the Edison Electric Institute. Two out of every three dryers sold this year are electric.

Installation is a simple matter because an electric dryer requires only one connection to the source of energy. And since electric clothes drying is clean and flameless, it doesn't produce any of the usual by-products of combustion.

This eliminates the need to install flues or vents and gives the homemaker greater flexibility in choosing a convenient location for the dryer. The appliance dealer's statement "dry your clothes on the day of delivery," is not an empty promise.

Give Yourself To Decorating

Christmas entertaining today, as always, is traditionally festive and gay. Modern hostesses take delight in decorating the house and displaying their talents for do-it-yourself projects as at no other time of the year.

It's easy to go out and buy the things that make Christmas look like Christmas at your home. But somehow Christmas feels more like Christmas when there's something of you in the decorations that spell out the holiday spirit.

With a little time and imagination, you can make charming adornments for your home. And it's so simple with the help of Christmas gift wrapping papers, in themselves so in keeping with the spirit of the season.

TAILORS FOR SANTA—Fred and Sonia Gerlatti of Sunset Beach, Calif., make Santa Claus suits in all sizes and shapes to be sent all over the world.

This Tailor Shop Sews Exclusively For Santas

Santa Clauses come in all shapes and sizes—tall and skinny and thin and fat. But no matter what his size, chances are that Santa Claus can find a suit to fit in the Sunset Beach, Calif., store of Fred and Sonia Gerlatti.

The Gerlattis have been manufacturing Santa suits for 16 years as a part of their drygoods and fabric store. They started in the business when Sonia was trying to find a Santa suit for a Christmas party for some orphans.

Mrs. Gerlatti says the store she tried featured "an obnoxious clerk" and only four suits—none of them appropriate.

Every suit the Gerlattis make is adjustable to fit anyone. Thanks to towels, pillows and safety pins, the suits are adjustable to fit a waist of up to 52 inches. Once, Gerlatti explains, they even made a special suit for someone with a 62-inch waist.

Three of the Gerlattis' suits have been sent to Russia. Others went to Europe, Mexico and even the Fiji Islands.

Gerlatti says grandfathers are usually the best customers. But he says they're often a bit optimistic, buying suits "for the benefit of children who are only five or six weeks old."

Three Kings Day Big One In New York City

For families living in one of New York's Puerto Rican communities, Christmas Day takes second place to the area's traditional Three Kings Day, celebrated as an all-day festival on Jan. 6.

The morning parade participants may be wearing mittens and galoshes, but the atmosphere is as enthusiastic as it would be on their sunny native island.

The day begins with Sunday School children, 100 strong, parading through the streets wearing cardboard camels five feet high, the artistic efforts of the staff of two neighborhood Episcopal churches. Heading the procession are the three kings, wearing gold-plated crowns. Occasionally a horse, borrowed for the occasion, joins the marchers.

A parish-wide church service follows, and at night, the entire neighborhood gathers for a festival dinner, featuring a huge roast pig. Families arrive bearing pots of rice, beans, spaghetti and typical Puerto Rican dishes as their share of the festival.

An impromptu musicale is held after dinner, for those who play the guitar or the violin are in great demand as accompanists for group singing.

When the day is over and the horse has been returned, the camels put back into storage, and the cooking pots taken back home, the neighborhood agrees that never has there been such a festival day.

Restaurants' Costs

CHICAGO (UPI) — Food purchases by all food service establishments are estimated at $9.5 billion in 1965 by the National Restaurant Assn.

SLIPPERS GIVE COMFORT

Comfort for her begins with beautiful slippers such as those shown here. All are smartly styled in elegant leather with exquisite details.

Objectors' Manual Offered To Libraries

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A high school pacifist group has offered to place a manual for conscientious objectors in the guidance libraries of area high schools.

James Havelin, 17, president of Area Students for the Peace and Internationalism Required for Existence — ASPIRE — said his group also will ask that graduate counselors be permitted to give information on conscientious objection. The manual outlining Selective Service requirements for draft exemption, would be purchased by Citizens against the Viet Nam War, an adult peace group.

Reinforced Concrete

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The first reinforced concrete bridge in the United States was built here in 1899. The 20-foot span is still in use.

Cows Argue, Fight Just Like People

DAVIS, Calif. (UPI) — Agricultural experts at the University of California here say that cows, like people, "argue and fight," especially when they are eating.

Animal scientist Kenneth A. Wagnon said cows gain more weight if they are fed from numerous feeders rather than a single, large self-feeder. He said this helps overcome "social dominance problems in a mixed-age herd of cows."

McArthur Launched

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey ship McArthur, a 175-foot long, 995-ton vessel, has been launched here. The ship is named for Lt. William P. McArthur, a Geodetic Survey officer who conducted the first major survey of the Pacific coast in the 1840s. The ship will be based at Seattle, Wash.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

Religious Symbols In Orbit Deepen Christmas Meaning

By GEORGE DAVIS
National City Christian Church
Washington, D.C.

When Major Edward White carried into space the symbols of our nation's three major religious faiths—the Star of David, a St. Christopher medal, and the Cross — one could not be surprised.

That is, one who knew his parents, would have somehow expected the same or even greater excellence in their son. In Wichita Falls, Tex., when I served as minister of the First Christian Church, and Ed's father, Major General Edward H. White was commanding officer of Sheppard Air Force Base, my contacts with the general and Mrs. White, were so rewarding that those symbols seemed very right indeed with Ed White in outer space, so much in character.

But are those symbols at home in the Space Age?

Think for a moment of the Star of David, and one must contemplate the Ten Commandments in their truly highest sense, and such central Old Testament themes. "What does the Lord require of you, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with your God". Reflect also upon the Cross, and a St. Christopher medal. And if we are sensitive to values, into our minds will come flooding thoughts of the Lord's Prayer as a jewel by itself, or the entire Sermon on the Mount, and of Jesus Himself.

Are all of these ruled out by whoever man finds "out there", can one honestly imagine those symbols have nothing to say to the outer limits?

The burden of proof must rest upon anyone who raises the question. And his part in a dialogue must confront not only how far man has failed to reflect the values hidden in the symbols, but must honestly deal with the difference made when man did reflect them, if only partially, and the greater difference one may with integrity imagine to be the result, if at anytime, anywhere, those values fully dominated the human scene.

Now let us ponder Christmas, for here we see brought to focus the brightest beam of divine light shining from the truth symbolized in the Star of David, and here we see the inspiration giving meaning to the Cross, and the medal of St. Christopher. It is possible to rule out the essential necessity of "love", and "good-will" in any serious consideration toward finding solutions in our world now, or in any other world out beyond the edge of space?

And whatever the profounder theological meanings, Christmas is dependable love, and good will in action, intended for universal acceptance and practice.

And of course "profounder theological meanings" is a way of saying, "Dependable love and good will in action, are the real nature of things", the only way things in any world will stay on the track.

This has been proved in the laboratories of man's behavior across the centuries, both by positive and negative experiments, both by those who practiced, and those who denied or ignored. I find it impossible to see how the Space Age can twist, or change, or destroy those three symbols Ed White carried into space, or how that age could tarnish Christmas.

Let those symbols then inspire us to continue our quest to translate their meanings for this planet, and wherever man goes out yonder as a co-worker with God. In fact the observation of one noted American, at this point is very pertinent:

"What was once a prayer, is now imperative as action, if man is to survive."

Official Says Wheat Decline Alright

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman is assuring the nation there is no need for concern over this country's declining stocks of wheat.

The secretary told a farm outlook conference that "if the need arose, for example, we could double the nation's wheat production in two years — with most of the increase in the first year."

Hair Styling Shop

A shop described as "San Francisco's first authentic grooming establishment," which features hair-styling for men, also features, according to its announcement, "a beautiful receptionist, and lovely ladies for pedicures and shoe shines."

House Pets Having Population Boom

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The California branch of the Humane Society of the United States says a population explosion among house pets is taking place.

The society says 1,000 puppies and kittens are born in California every hour and that about $24 million is spent each year by cities, counties and private institutions for animal control.

Whittlers, Chewers Draw Grand Jury Ire

RICHMOND, Ky. (AP)—The remodeled Madison County Courthouse drew the praise of a county grand jury.

The panel added a suggestion: Officials should "keep it free of loafers of the whittling and tobacco chewing variety."

Dryers Popular

The Gas Appliance Manufacturers Assn. reports that more than 400,000 homes are equipped with automatic gas clothes dryers. Last year alone, 536,000 were installed in home laundries.

A VERY COMPLETE LITTLE DOLL

Mommy in miniature! This seven-and-a-half inch doll comes with all her own accessories, including crib, bathinette which really holds water and bath toys and towels. It's lots of fun to be a little girl when you can have a little dolly to play with.

Politician's Advice On Politicians

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP)—Advice to a meeting of high school student council representatives from Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J.:

"The politician who tells you he is on your side at all times, who tells you that he has your interests in mind at all times, is dangerous. Shun him."

Use Enough Ashtrays

Reduce the danger of fire and protect your furnishings by supplying enough ashtrays at your parties. If you do not have enough ashtrays, improvise with aluminum foil shaped into ashtray size.

Missing Stop Signal Leads To Auto Crash

LOUISVILLE (AP)—Two motorists collided at an intersection in suburban Pleasure Ridge Park.

It didn't take police long to spot the cause: vandals had stolen a stop sign on one of the streets.

For Teen-Age Boys

Contrary to popular belief, teen-age boys are not a special breed . . . they have individual preferences, just like grown-ups.

Most teens are sports conscious though, and would be delighted with a pair of tickets to a favorite sports event.

Word For Impressing Keeper Of The Wine

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—If you want to impress the wine steward the next time you're in a posh restaurant, mumble something about "ullage" as he presents your bottle.

Ullage is the amount of wine lost from a container by leakage or evaporation, the Wine Institute notes.

Dry Safely

A variety of drying heats can be thermostatically controlled on your flameless electric dryer. For example: Using the "no heat" control setting, snow suits, small rugs, shoes, and overshoes can be safely dried.

United Nations Staff Has Many Christmas Customs

In Ethiopia, Christmas is celebrated on Jan. 6, the giving of material presents is unheard of, and the family dinner is likely to feature goat or mutton, slain and shared by the entire neighborhood.

Norwegians, on the other hand, have their family Christmas on Christmas Eve, wearing traditional costume, and sitting down to a standard meal of spare ribs and sauerkraut, boiled potatoes and whortleberries, gathered by the whole family on the mountains.

And in Peru, Christmas extends from Dec. 25 to Jan. 6, with a great fiesta taking place on the latter date in honor of the "Day of the Kings."

Such diverse ways of celebrating the holiday season, so dissimilar to American customs, were related by members of the United Nations Secretariat, who were only too happy to put aside more serious concerns to talk about their homeland holidays.

CLAD IN KILTS—Scottish-born Mrs. Andreas Zachariassen examines the Christmas dinner cloth inherited from her Finnish husband's family. The family traditionally plans a Finnish Christmas, the only exception being the kilts! Both the Zachariassens are associated with the United Nations secretariat.

Shifferaw Zelleke, whose home is Ethiopia, explains that though Santa Claus—or his counterpart—doesn't exist in his country, the Jan. 6 celebration is a day for children.

"Parents will give their children little homemade cakes and cookies, and later the children will visit neighbors and receive more cakes, but there is nothing in the way of commercial presents.

"The holiday meal is held at noon, and it may be eaten in the family home, or perhaps it will literally be a movable feast, eaten one course at a time in relatives' homes. Ethiopian families are extensive, and in one village, one is likely to have many cousins and aunts. For the adults, a special drink called Tej is served, made from honey."

Zelleke explains the most exciting part of the day for the children is a grand march to the palace where the emperor gives the children candies, oranges, or perhaps a knitted pullover. Almost all of the morning is consumed with filing through the streets of the capitol for this event.

January 6, he says, is the traditional Christmas because in Ethiopia's Coptic Orthodox Church this is the date when Christ was presumed to be baptized. Because the church's calendar is totally different from the Western, New Year's comes on Sept. 11.

Transplanted to the United States, the Zelleke family now celebrate Christmas in Western style. Zelleke's wife is American, and if her husband is lucky enough to be in the country on Christmas Day, he is quite content with American turkey.

In Norway, there are no variations from year to year in the holiday rituals, says Mrs. Andreas Zachariassen, a Scot married to a Norwegian.

"We always have a Norwegian Christmas in America," explains the vivacious young woman, "and there are certain food items that must be served during the three or four days of holiday which begins on Christmas Day.

"Lutefisk, which is like cod pickled in brine, must be served once. And each homemaker must make nine sorts of little cookies. Cloudberries, which are like yellow raspberries, are served at the Christmas dinner, if they are available. The crop comes only once in seven years, and this is the year. We picked them in August, and have 100 jars at my husband's home in Norway. The berries are folded into whipped cream for a traditional dessert."

Another unswerving custom, she says, is to serve aqua vit with the dinner. The holiday table is covered with a special cloth, used at no other time than Christmas Eve, and is embroidered with elves and angels and other folklore designs. And always there is an empty place laid for the unexpected guest.

The Norwegian Christmas tree must stand in the center of the room and stretch from floor to ceiling. It is decorated not with baubles, but with the country's flags, and many candles.

A strong religious atmosphere is at the heart of the Peruvian Christmas, according to Mrs. Amalia Machado.

"According to Catholic religious customs," she says, "the 'pesebre' or manger, is set up in the living room. In the center of the manger are placed little images of Jesus, Mary and Joseph, together with the Wise Men, and surrounded by figurines of the manger animals. Also pots of wheat are placed around as well as other ornamental objects.

Smoking In Bed Draws 10-Day Jail Sentence

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — Marvin Nodland has drawn a $50 fine and a 10-day city jail sentence because of smoking in bed.

City Judge Joseph Christoff imposed the sentence on Nodland, a tavern owner, after firemen were called to his apartment for the third time to put out a blaze that began after he fell asleep while smoking.

Penalty Box Party

HOUSTON (UPI)—Newsmen getting ready to cover the Houston Apollos hockey team this season were wondering in what high regard they were held by the team's front office. Callers asking about a press party were told to report to the penalty box in the rink at the coliseum.

Wonderful New Idea For Wrapping Gifts

Wondering what to do with those bulky or oddly shaped gifts that seem to defy wrapping paper, ribbon or tape? Here's a wonderful new idea for wrapping with a covering that serves as a second gift in itself.

To make a "gift bag," cut two square or rectangular pieces of fabric large enough to hold gift when sewn together. Place right sides of the fabric together, and machine or hand sew on three sides. Hem the open top edges or trim by cutting the edges with pinking scissors.

Turn the bag right side out, spray with Faultless spray-on starch, and iron. Repeat until the fabric bag is starched to a fresh, crisp finish. Place gift in bag, gather the top as you would a paper bag, tying a bright bow around the neck.

Use any color of fabric for your gift bag, adding monogram of appliques if desired by sewing them on or ironing them on with colored mending tape.

A drawstring ribbon in the top hem will make it a personal laundry bag, or convert it to a carry-all for hair rollers and clips.

There are no end to the uses to which these attractive gift bags can be put after the fun of opening them on Christmas morning.

Glue Helps Drillers

HOUSTON (UPI)—Even glue has played a part in the work of producing oil. Petroleum scientists have used an adhesive to bind grains of sand together when sand clogs up a well. When the binding is complete, spaces between the sand grains are left to free the oil for production.

Travel Time Delays Set By Horse Pace

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—State legislators remember the horse and buggy days fondly in this jet age.

A new code of criminal procedure continues to grant members of the state House and Senate immunity from arrest during sessions and while traveling to and from the sessions. Travel time immunity — based on an 1876 law — is one day for every 20 miles.

ACCUTRON "412" by BULOVA
ACCUTRON SPACEVIEW "H" by BULOVA

This Christmas give him the newest timepiece since 1664.

That was the year they put the balance wheel into the watch and started watches ticking. Now the tick tock is obsolete. After 300 years, it's been replaced by the tiny Accutron® tuning fork which keeps time through vibrations. The result: a very faint hum and the most precise wrist timepiece ever.

LOOKING FOR NEW TRICKS

Toy designing is serious business for these members of the research and development division of the Milton Bradley Co., who are looking for new tricks with a James Bond game. Many of these new games, based on the fictional character created by the late Ian Fleming, are available in stores for this Christmas.

Gas Dryer Makes Fine Gift For Busy Young Mothers

It takes a lot of planning and a ship-shape budget these days to bring a new baby into the world. The demands on mother's time and energy seem unending. Then it seems there's always something new that's needed for the youngster.

These are reasons why an electric or gas dryer is appreciated by the mother of small youngsters and also by the young wife who is about to become a mother. It is a convenience all year 'round and actually a necessity for many homemakers during the rainy winter months.

The automatic clothes dryer can cut clothes costs as well as saving time and effort for new mothers. It is estimated that the average basic layette costs $139 for a family without a dryer. The family with a dryer, though, can do very nicely with a layette costing only $94.51.

Romans Feasted

Ancient Romans feasted, exchanged gifts and decorated with evergreens during Saturnalia, a December festival honoring the god Saturn. Also relics of pre-Christian midwinter celebrations are mistletoe, the yule log and the wassail bowl.

Georgia Baptists' School Aid Asked

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Georgia Baptists have been asked to increase their donations to keep the denomination's six colleges operating as accredited institutions without the help of federal grants.

The state convention's 1,500 delegates unanimously adopted an education commission report which said: "Georgia Baptists are strongly committed to religious liberty and to the principle of separation of church and state."

Cows Give Up

LANSING, Mich. (AP)— There still is a 200-acre dairy farm within the limits of Lansing, a city of 113,000 persons, but the cows are just about to leave the area to the people. Martin H. Kahres, one of the proprietors, says he has sold the property to real estate developers.

Chiropractic Ranks Shrinking In State

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California Department of Professional and Vocational Standheards says that while population continues to grow in the state, the number of chiropractors has dipped slightly.

The department says there were 4,706 chiropractic licenses in effect at the end of the last fiscal year, down 67 from the year before.

Electric Dryer Easy To Install

Easy installation is one reason why more people are buying flameless electric clothes dryers, according to the live better electrically program of the Edison Electric Institute. Two out of every three dryers sold this year are electric.

Installation is a simple matter because an electric dryer requires only one connection to the source of energy. And since electric clothes drying is clean and flameless, it doesn't produce any of the usual by-products of combustion.

This eliminates the need to install flues or vents and gives the homemaker greater flexibility in choosing a convenient location for the dryer. The appliance dealer's statement "dry your clothes on the day of delivery," is not an empty promise.

Give Yourself To Decorating

Christmas entertaining today, as always, is traditionally festive and gay. Modern hostesses take delight in decorating the house and displaying their talents for do-it-yourself projects as at no other time of the year.

It's easy to go out and buy the things that make Christmas look like Christmas at your home. But somehow Christmas feels more like Christmas when there's something of you in the decorations that spell out the holiday spirit.

With a little time and imagination, you can make charming adornments for your home. And it's so simple with the help of Christmas gift wrapping papers, in themselves so in keeping with the spirit of the season.

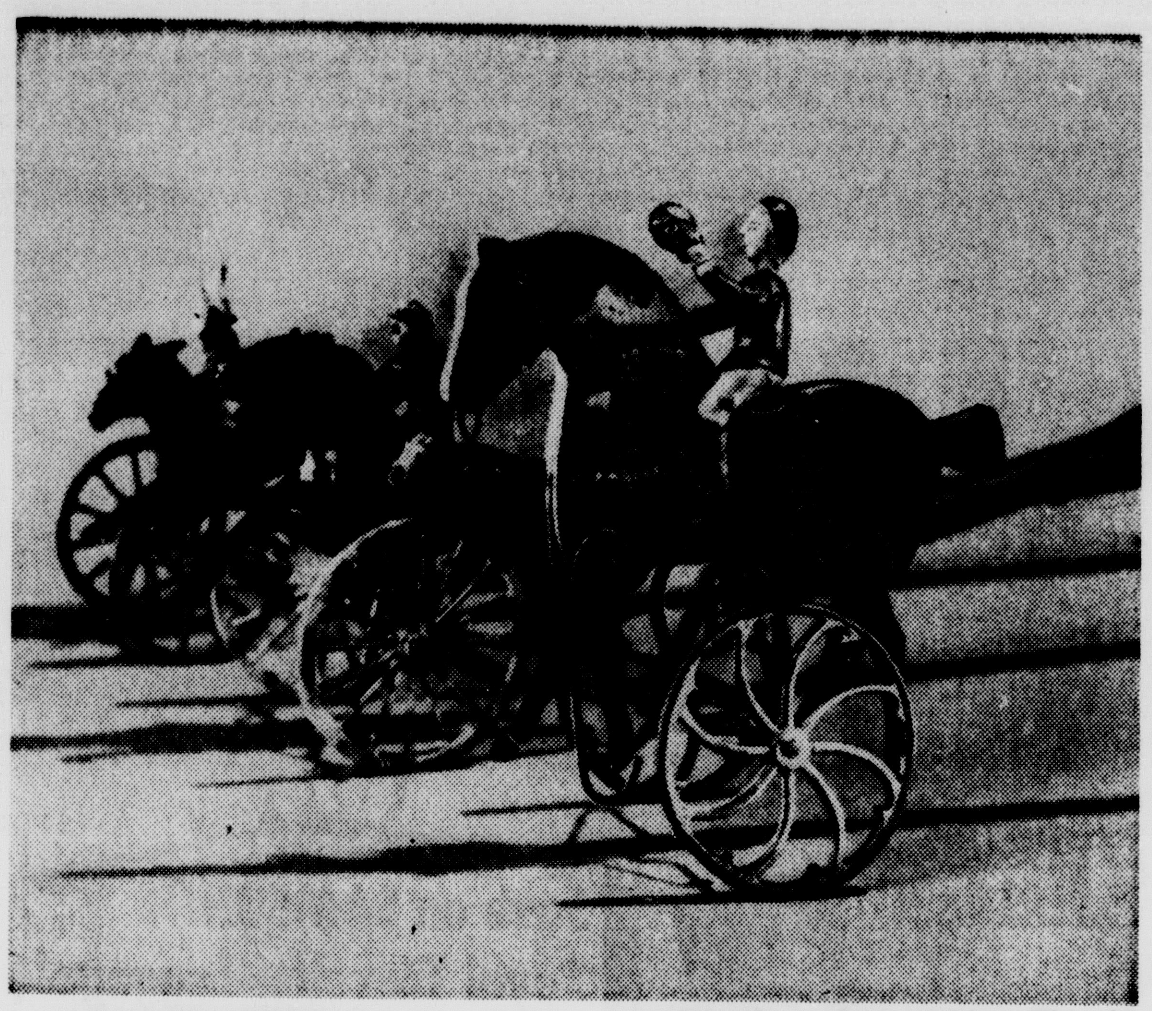
HAPPY HOOLIGAN figured in many toys about the turn of the century. Here, a police patrol escorts Happy in a wagon whose turning wheels also raise and lower a billy club onto the prisoner's head. The traffic cop's arm has a wind-up mechanism to signal a turn.



ANIMATED PUSH toys have been favorites with children from the earliest days of toy making. This tin, iron and wood jockey probably was made in 1890.

Male Dancers Better On Style

A certain Broadway musical show has a large contingent of chorus girls and an equally big cast of male singers and dancers. An experiment was conducted:

Selecting five girls and five men and letting them loose in a big New York men's store, with instructions to select merchandise at will to coordinate three tasteful outfits for men—business, sportswear and informal-evening.

Both groups thought hard before offering their selections to a panel of five men's fashion experts who served as judges. The judges didn't have to devote much time to arriving at a decision—they tabbed the men as easy winners, hands down.

TOYS TO MAKE THEM HAPPY!

Two toys which are sure to make any youngster happy this Christmas are these shaggy stuffed dogs. At left, a golden brown collie with snowy white chest and fluffy tail. At right, a soft and cuddly sheep dog which can be curried and combed like a regular pet. Both are made of Almac pile. (By Ideal.)

Grownup Youngsters Like Playthings Of Years Past

The Christmas toys that dazzled American children between 1850 and 1920 are captivating antique collectors today and are filling in a little-known page of our history.

One antique toy collector, Jerry Smith, says, "You can follow the development of this country through its toys. Also, you can mark the time when people stopped making things at home and started to buy manufactured goods."

Smith, an auto dealer from Kansas City, has collected about 2,000 toys since he started in the 1950's while trying to find a small iron tractor like the one he got for a present when he was six years old.

Smith's special interest is iron toys, especially those produced about 1880. His collection, part of which is on display for the Christmas holiday at the Hallmark Gallery in New York, also includes tin and wooden toys; electric, steam and clockwork toys and pull toys. His oldest piece dates back to the 1840's.

Smith says that between 1850 and 1920 American toys led the world in craftsmanship and originality. He points to such items as cap pistols and cannons, fiddling bears, flaming fire-fighting equipment, circus wagons and merry-go-rounds and an unending stream of realistic trains, autos and horse-drawn vehicles.

R. H. Macy's is reportedly the first department store which stocked toys throughout the year instead of only at Christmas time. Wanamaker's in Philadelphia was the first store to install a direct line to Santa Claus in its toy department.

Smith says that despite the great number of toys produced during the 19th century, they are scarce today, even for the serious collector, and bring a good price. The use of toys in interior decoration in recent years has raised prices and increased the competition for rare items, he says.

Egg Nog Part Of Christmas

For many of us, Christmas just isn't Christmas without the tasty treat of egg nog.

A welcome holiday sight is the traditional silver punch bowl at Christmas gatherings, and an equally welcome quick refreshment for friends who've dropped in unexpectedly, egg nog is the perfect holiday drink for young and old alike.

If you're planning a party or expecting friends and family over on Christmas Eve, bring out the punch bowl and stock up on bottled egg nog from your favorite dairy. You'll find today's ready-made egg nog better than most home-made versions and it saves so much extra work.

Brazilian Special Christmas Dinners

Christmas dinner in Brazil centers around turkey or chicken, stuffed with mandioca flour.

Other traditional dishes are codfish cakes and rabanada, a sweet made of bread dipped in milk, sugar and beaten egg yolks, then fried in butter and spread with sugar and cinnamon.

Three Kings Day Big One In New York City

For families living in one of New York's Puerto Rican communities, Christmas Day takes second place to the area's traditional Three Kings Day, celebrated as an all-day festival on Jan. 6.

The morning parade participants may be wearing mittens and galoshes, but the atmosphere is as enthusiastic as it would be on their sunny native island.

The day begins with Sunday School children, 100 strong, parading through the streets wearing cardboard camels five feet high, the artistic efforts of the staff of two neighborhood Episcopal churches. Heading the procession are the three kings, wearing gold-plated crowns. Occasionally a horse, borrowed for the occasion, joins the marchers.

A parish-wide church service follows, and at night, the entire neighborhood gathers for a festival dinner, featuring a huge roast pig. Families arrive bearing pots of rice, beans, spaghetti and typical Puerto Rican dishes as their share of the festival.

An impromptu musicale is held after dinner, for those who play the guitar or the violin are in great demand as accompanists for group singing.

When the day is over and the horse has been returned, the camels put back into storage, and the cooking pots taken back home, the neighborhood agrees that never has there been such a festival day.

Restaurants' Costs

Objectors' Manual Offered To Libraries

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A high school pacifist group has offered to place a manual for conscientious objectors in the guidance libraries of area high schools.

James Havelin, 17, president of Area Students for the Peace and Internationalism Required for Existence — ASPIRE — said his group also will ask that graduate counselors be permitted to give information on conscientious objection. The manual outlining Selective Service requirements for draft exemption, would be purchased by Citizens against the Viet Nam War, an adult peace group.

Reinforced Concrete

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The first reinforced concrete bridge in the United States was built here in 1899. The 20-foot span is still in use.

Cows Argue, Fight Just Like People

DAVIS, Calif. (UPI) — Agricultural experts at the University of California here say that cows, like people, "argue and fight," especially when they are eating.

Animal scientist Kenneth A. Wagnon said cows gain more weight if they are fed from numerous feeders rather than a single, large self-feeder. He said this helps overcome "social dominance problems in a mixed-age herd of cows."

McArthur Launched

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey ship McArthur, a 175-foot long, 995-ton vessel, has been launched here. The ship is named for Lt. William P. McArthur, a Geodetic Survey officer who conducted the first major survey of the Pacific coast in the 1840s. The ship will be based at Seattle, Wash.

WHY

do stores start Christmas before Thanksgiving?

That's a question that's often asked, and it deserves a sincere answer!

★ Your newspaper appreciates the spirit that prompts many of the objections to early Christmas shopping promotions.

★ However, when the reasons for the urge to "Shop Early" are examined, the most critical agree it's MORE than a problem for stores alone.

★ So we're happy to take this opportunity of presenting some of the problems that confront all stores at holiday time.

★ Every successful store directs its best effort toward perfecting a helpful service to ALL its customers. And since many customers ask stores to make it easier for them to complete their gift shopping before the crowded post-Thanksgiving period, Christmas merchandise and displays are brought forward early to accommodate them.

★ And scarcely a major store in the nation could cope with the store traffic that would be generated if any part of early Christmas shopping was postponed until after Thanksgiving. Even under present circumstances most stores are strained to capacity during the peak of the season, to maintain the kind of store service all shoppers have learned to expect.

★ When you recall the extremely crowded conditions of stores the final two or three weeks before Christmas the problem becomes evident.

★ If no early Christmas shopping were done this condition would be multiplied many fold. (Actually there would not be enough room behind store counters for enough sales people to serve shoppers during this period between Thanksgiving and Christmas.)

★ The same condition exists in regard to the children's visits to Santa Claus. Thousands of children and their parents, look forward to their annual visit with him, and unless he makes an early appearance, many hundreds would be doomed to disappointment simply because it's physically impossible to reach him in a shorter time.

★ Those in the store business know that an extremely large percentage of the Christmas gifts that are selected are items that are in plentiful supply the entire year.

★ If you were to ask the thousands of retail employees—and as a group they represent one of the largest employee groups in Marin County—they would tell you that much of the stress and strain of their Christmas would be relieved if the shopping public would anticipate Christmas shopping throughout the year. Then you'd seldom hear your friends in retailing remark, "I'm simply worn down to my knees by Christmas Eve."

★ Granted that the problem is not a one-sided one, it should be recognized that stores are faced with the problems of convenient service to customers, of maintaining helpful employee relations, of providing a place where those of the public who cannot, or do not, plan ahead may select the traditional gifts for their loved ones and friends.

★ We are sure that if all of our storekeppers could chat with you, personally and informally, that you would be convinced of their sincerity, and that in the true spirit of Christmas, they would not be criticized for their efforts to perform a helpful service to their shopping public.

★ Finally, for all these reasons, and for others which will occur to you, don't you agree that beginning Christmas shopping early makes that task for you easier, faster and a whole lot more pleasurable?

★ So do yourself and your favorite stores a favor . . . start shopping now . . . while selections are at their best . . . while you have plenty of time to compare before choosing . . . while sales personnel can give you the kind of service you prefer.

United Nations Staff Has Many Christmas Customs

In Ethiopia, Christmas is celebrated on Jan. 6, the giving of material presents is unheard of, and the family dinner is likely to feature goat or mutton, slain and shared by the entire neighborhood.

Norwegians, on the other hand, have their family Christmas on Christmas Eve, wearing traditional costume, and sitting down to a standard meal of spare ribs and sauerkraut, boiled potatoes and whortleberries, gathered by the whole family on the mountains.

And in Peru, Christmas extends from Dec. 25 to Jan. 6, with a great fiesta taking place on the latter date in honor of the "Day of the Kings."

Such diverse ways of celebrating the holiday season, so dissimilar to American customs, were related by members of the United Nations Secretariat, who were only too happy to put aside more serious concerns to talk about their homeland holidays.

Shifferaw Zelleke, whose home is Ethiopia, explains that though Santa Claus—or his counterpart—doesn't exist in his country, the Jan. 6 celebration is a day for children.

"Parents will give their children little homemade cakes and cookies, and later the children will visit neighbors and receive more cakes, but there is nothing in the way of commercial presents.

"The holiday meal is held at noon, and it may be eaten in the family home, or perhaps it will literally be a movable feast, eaten one course at a time in relatives' homes. Ethiopian families are extensive, and in one village, one is likely to have many cousins and aunts. For the adults, a special drink called Tej is served, made from honey."

Zelleke explains the most exciting part of the day for the children is a grand march to the palace where the emperor gives the children candies, oranges, or perhaps a knitted pullover. Almost all of the morning is consumed with filing through the streets of the capitol for this event.

January 6, he says, is the traditional Christmas because in Ethiopia's Coptic Orthodox Church this is the date when Christ was presumed to be baptized. Because the church's calendar is totally different from the Western, New Year's comes on Sept. 11.

Transplanted to the United States, the Zelleke family now celebrate Christmas in Western style. Zelleke's wife is American, and if her husband is lucky enough to be in the country on Christmas Day, he is quite content with American turkey.

In Norway, there are no variations from year to year in the holiday rituals, says Mrs. Andreas Zachariassen, a Scot married to a Norwegian.

"We always have a Norwegian Christmas in America," explains the vivacious young woman, "and there are certain food items that must be served during the three or four days of holiday which begins on Christmas Day.

"Lutefisk, which is like cod pickled in brine, must be served once. And each homemaker must make nine sorts of little cookies. Cloudberries, which are like yellow raspberries, are served at the Christmas dinner, if they are available. The crop comes only once in seven years, and this is the year. We picked them in August, and have 100 jars at my husband's home in Norway. The berries are folded into whipped cream for a traditional dessert."

Another unswerving custom, she says, is to serve aqua vit with the dinner. The holiday table is covered with a special cloth, used at no other time than Christmas Eve, and is embroidered with elves and angels and other folklore designs. And always there is an empty place laid for the unexpected guest.

The Norwegian Christmas tree must stand in the center of the room and stretch from floor to ceiling. It is decorated not with baubles, but with the country's flags, and many candles.

A strong religious atmosphere is at the heart of the Peruvian Christmas, according to Mrs. Amalia Machado.

"According to Catholic religious customs," she says, "the 'pesebre' or manger, is set up in the living room. In the center of the manger are placed little images of Jesus, Mary and Joseph, together with the Wise Men, and surrounded by figurines of the manger animals. Also pots of wheat are placed around as well as other ornamental objects.

CLAD IN KILTS—Scottish-born Mrs. Andreas Zachariassen examines the Christmas dinner cloth inherited from her Finnish husband's family. The family traditionally plans a Finnish Christmas, the only exception being the kilts! Both the Zachariassens are associated with the United Nations secretariat.

Smoking In Bed Draws 10-Day Jail Sentence

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — Marvin Nodland has drawn a $50 fine and a 10-day city jail sentence because of smoking in bed.

City Judge Joseph Christoff imposed the sentence on Nodland, a tavern owner, after firemen were called to his apartment for the third time to put out a blaze that began after he fell asleep while smoking.

Penalty Box Party

HOUSTON (UPI)—Newsmen getting ready to cover the Houston Apollos hockey team this season were wondering in what high regard they were held by the team's front office. Callers asking about a press party were told to report to the penalty box in the rink at the coliseum.

Wonderful New Idea For Wrapping Gifts

Wondering what to do with those bulky or oddly shaped gifts that seem to defy wrapping paper, ribbon or tape? Here's a wonderful new idea for wrapping with a covering that serves as a second gift in itself.

To make a "gift bag," cut two square or rectangular pieces of fabric large enough to hold gift when sewn together. Place right sides of the fabric together, and machine or hand sew on three sides. Hem the open top edges or trim by cutting the edges with pinking scissors.

Turn the bag right side out, spray with Faultless spray-on starch, and iron. Repeat until the fabric bag is starched to a fresh, crisp finish. Place gift in bag, gather the top as you would a paper bag, tying a bright bow around the neck.

Use any color of fabric for your gift bag, adding monogram of appliques if desired by sewing them on or ironing them on with colored mending tape.

A drawstring ribbon in the top hem will make it a personal laundry bag, or convert it to a carry-all for hair rollers and clips.

There are no end to the uses to which these attractive gift bags can be put after the fun of opening them on Christmas morning.

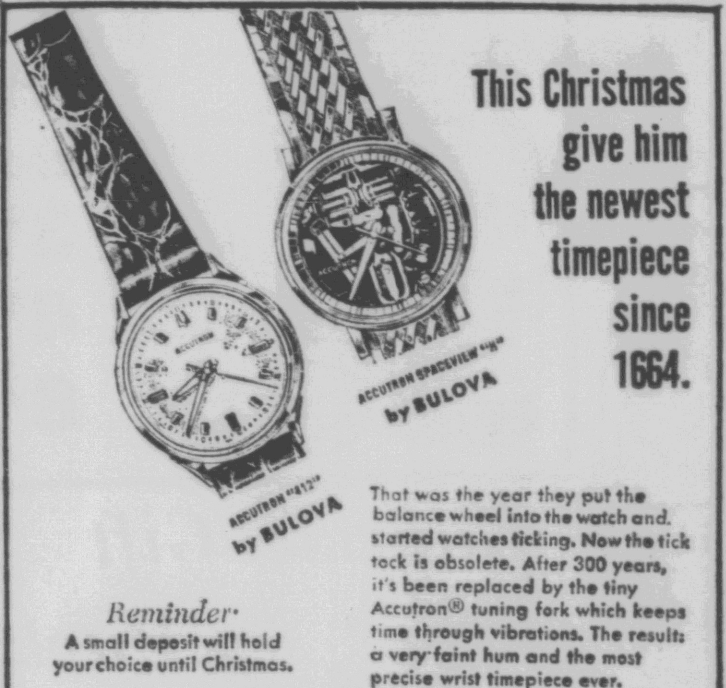
Glue Helps Drillers

HOUSTON (UPI)—Even glue has played a part in the work of producing oil. Petroleum scientists have used an adhesive to bind grains of sand together when sand clogs up a well. When the binding is complete, spaces between the sand grains are left to free the oil for production.

Travel Time Delays Set By Horse Pace

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—State legislators remember the horse and buggy days fondly in this jet age.

A new code of criminal procedure continues to grant members of the state House and Senate immunity from arrest during sessions and while traveling to and from the sessions. Travel time immunity — based on an 1876 law — is one day for every 20 miles.



This Christmas give him the newest timepiece since 1664.

That was the year they put the balance wheel into the watch and started watches ticking. Now the tick tock is obsolete. After 300 years, it's been replaced by the tiny Accutron® tuning fork which keeps time through vibrations. The result: a very faint hum and the most precise wrist timepiece ever.

How To Have Really Expensive Christmas

If you're really up a tree to find something to give the girl-who-has-everything for Christmas, you might emulate the 15th century English swain who wooed his lady love with a "Partridge and a Pear Tree."

Right away you're a bit put to by the famous old madrigal. The pear tree isn't hard to find ($5 will buy a small one in the ground). But a partridge is.

Unless you can trap one of your own, you'll have to order one from England.

On the second day of Christmas you'll need two turtle doves. Though there's been no call for them for years, the going rate is $5 a dove.

French hens are guineas, and these are best substituted unless your true love is a purist. A vulturine guinea fowl is $25; a Yokohama fowl as much as $100. You need three, so figure $75.

The fourth day of Christmas poses a real problem. A "coly" bird is found in the Congo. You can fly over there and get one for about $1,045, but this is not advised. We suggest a chickadee, which is similar to the mouse bird of the Congo except for its longer tail. At $35, the fourth day of Christmas comes to $140.

Five golden rings from Tiffany's can cost as little as $50 without tax, so you're up to $305. Six laying geese, another $60.

Seven boys singing could probably be arranged for by a $25 donation to your church, plus car fare and hot dogs, say another $10. You're up to $400 now.

Eight maids a milking are a rarity these days, what with automation in the cowbarns. Minimum wage is $1.25 an hour; you'd have to rent the cows and pails, unless you live on a farm, of course.

Nine ladies dancing can be booked through a theatrical agency for $30 an hour each—though the rate is cheaper by the week, as the Rockettes will dance for $107 a week. By the end of the ninth day you've rung up $680.

The 10th, 11th and 12th days present problems, unforeseen by the first singers of the love song who apparently were royalty. The Scottish version substitutes "King and his Lady" for "My True Love and Me," and it was probably no trouble at all for a king to find 10 lords a leaping, 11 pipers piping, and 12 drummers drumming right in his own courtyard.

The modern-day lover would have a time finding 10 genuine lords in America. It would probably be easier to round them up in England, fly them round-trip to New York for $399 each. You'd have to negotiate directly with the lords for the leaping.

Since any boy can pipe a pipe and drum a drum, we suggest hiring the choir boys again and buying fifes at $4.50 each; drums at $20.

This comes to a grand total of $5,029, not counting postage, delivery charges, taxes, tips, rent of cows and pails, and wrapping paper.

How About Plane Trip, Gourmet Box

Anyone with money jingling in his pocket can walk into a department store and come out with a perfectly gorgeous Christmas present.

But something more than money is needed for the completely successful Christmas present, the kind that the recipient didn't really even dream of, but totally enjoys.

Here are some ideas to spark your thinking:

For the young student couple living on a tight budget, a luxury gift, like the monthly arrival of a gourmet box, a pair of opera tickets, or the price of a 21-day plane trip, to be used whenever.

For the in-a-rut executive, not the golf club he desires, but something to jazz up his way of living. A museum membership card, perhaps? A lesson course in playing the piano? Or, if he's totally disinterested in playing, give him a player piano, with rolls of old hit tunes familiar in his youth.

For the mother of a new baby, something glamorous like a superb hostess gown. Or a labor-saving device, such as the cost of a Saturday night baby sitter through the year.

For grandparents, news from home. Make a scrapbook with clippings and photos of the grandchildren in daily action. School programs where these children have leads in plays, win athletic honors, or give prize-winning speeches, can be mounted in the book for fond perusal.

For the reluctant cook, too tied to frozen foods, a cookbook of exotic recipes, but with ingredients really available.

For the forever practical, something way out, like a book on palm-reading, or a collection of spoofy poems, or a set of finger paints, or a child's flute.

Not so hard, once you start thinking, is it?

Wash Any Day; Rain Or Shine

Rainy washdays are no joke, as every homemaker well knows. According to U.S. Weather Bureau statistics, they roll around more often than most of us realize.

The bureau reports, for example, that the sun shines only 59 per cent of the year in Chicago, 56 per cent in Nashville and Duluth, and only 45 per cent in Seattle. Things are a little better in Dallas, where they see the sun 66 per cent of the time.

But when you start subtracting the sub-freezing days in northern areas, or days when the soot hangs low, or the kids want to go to the beach or the bridge club meets, those sunny washdays become even fewer. But no matter where you live, home matter where you live, you can wash any day—rain or shine—if you have an automatic clothes dryer.

Flameless Dryers Liked By Renters

This year nearly a million home owners and renters will purchase electric dryers. Renters are particularly interested in the uncomplicated installation which makes it easy to take the appliance with them when they move.

Ease of installation, lower purchase price and economical maintenance appeal to renters and homeowners.

Indoor Winter Heat

One can get just as warm in heated indoors in winter, as they do outdoors in summer. Have detachable underarm shields tacked in your new fall and winter suits, too. Young men, now going into tweed or soft homespun suits, probably never heard of having the knees lined by the neighborhood tailor—to keep the trousers from getting baggy.

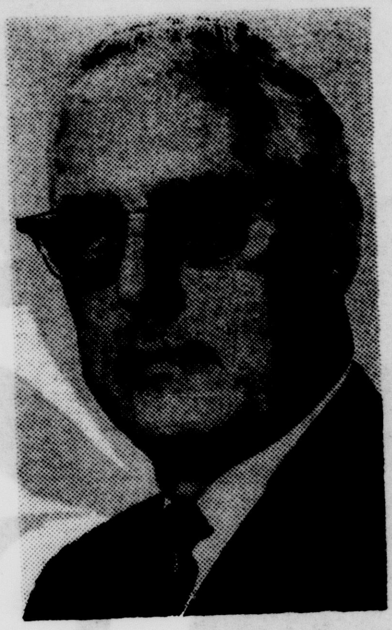
Eighth Granat Brothers Store Opens Next Month

The eighth store of Granat Bros. opening early in December is a milestone in a long period of expansion and development that began before the San Francisco earthquake.

The first Granat Bros. jewelry establishment was a manufacturing shop on Van Ness Avenue. Fortunately it was on the west side of the street—the only side left after the earthquake and fire of 1906. The two Granat brothers, Joseph and Leo, kept their shop going through the difficult period that followed, and later moved to a more central location on Grant Avenue in one of the first downtown buildings to be rebuilt.

In 1915, a Granat Bros. retail store and factory were established on Mission Street and was so constructed that it afforded bypassers the opportunity to watch Granat artisans and craftsmen making diamond jewelry. In 1923 the firm chose a location on Geary Street and later moved to its present headquarters at Grant Avenue and Geary. Since 1961 Granat has expanded from three Bay Area stores to its present eight.



SANFORD WOLFSON
President of Granat Bros.

Sanford L. Wolfson, who has been with the company since 1940 and its president since 1961, said he anticipates peak hiloday volume at the Northgate store and that this outlet will be the most modern store in the chain.

Granat Bros. holds scores of patents for designs and devices which the firm has created. Its best known origination, the patented Wed-Lok diamond ring ensemble, has been distributed nationally for many years.

The company has been affiliated with the Fine Jewelers Guild since 1961. This affiliation links Granat Bros. stores with Guild stores across the nation, and makes available buying facilities in New York, Antwerp, London, Tel Aviv and other leading jewelry centers of the world.

In recent years the company has set as many as a quarter of a million diamonds annually.

Northgate To Have Spectacular Christmas Light, Sound Display

A spectacular lighting display to be seen at Northgate Shopping Center this Christmas season, will be based on the electronic synchronization of color and sound. Northgate has planned a large tree covered with colored lights. As choirs sing and music is heard throughout the Center, these lights respond by changing color in absolute unison to the music.

The designers of this electronic console have been able to break down the frequencies of music into three ranges. Each frequency is associated with a different color so that, as the music is heard, high frequencies will activate green and blue lights respectively. When various frequencies are combined (and this is really what music is—a series of multigrouped sound frequencies) you will see each of the colors blending in the proper intensity and brilliance:—a phenomenal presentation of sight and sound.

The equipment was originally designed for deaf children to appreciate music visually. This learning process is achieved when a child holds a tuning fork which is struck—this gives off varied vibrations transmitted to the child through the hand. High tingling vibrations activate a red light, medium vibrations activate a green light and low vibrations activate a blue light. Thus, once the child associates the vibration with a color, he is then able to see what he should be hearing. Hearing, of course, is only the vibrations of the small bones in the inner ear activated by sound waves at various frequencies. The concept here, then has been to send a vibration through the hand while associating visual color through the eye.

The equipment used in this process is now being used in experimental work by several schools across the nation to teach deaf children the appreciation of music through a visual medium. It is the same equipment that will be used to activate Northgate's Singing Christmas tree.

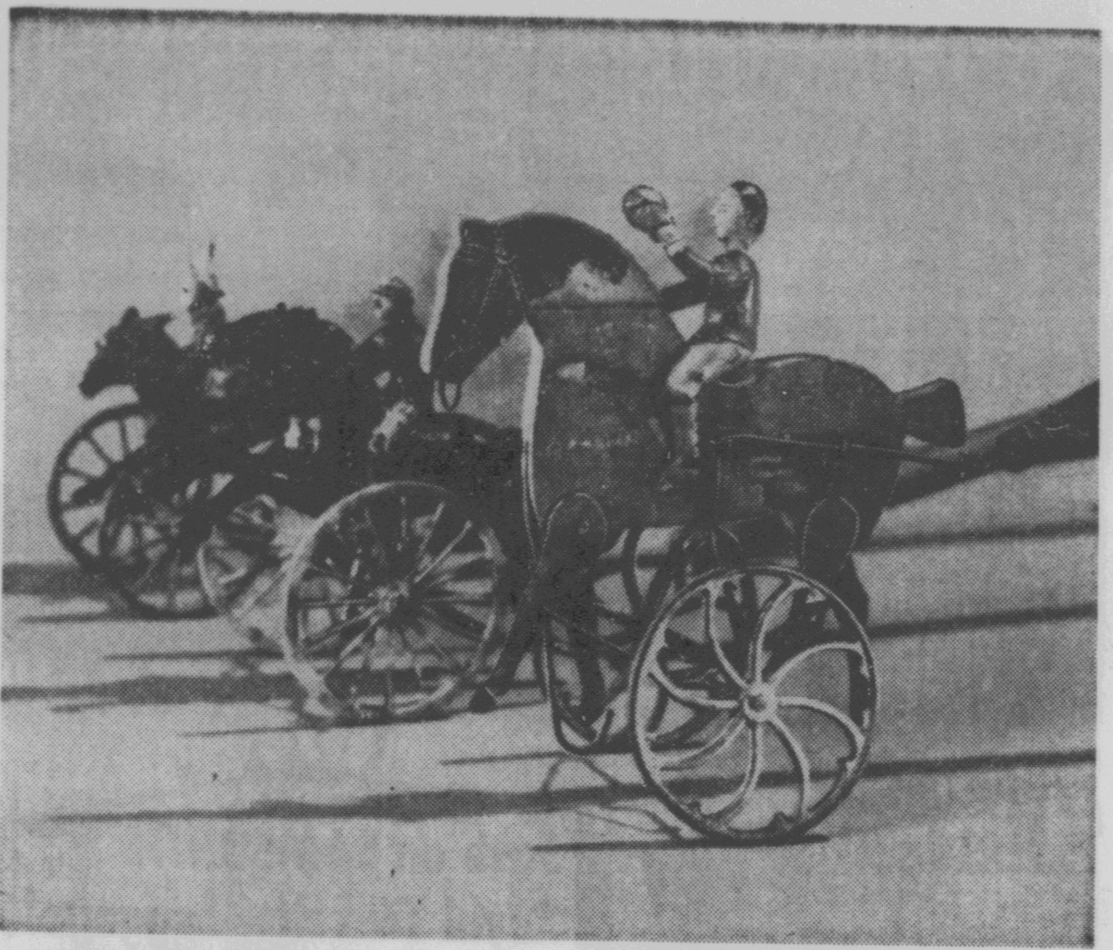
HAPPY HOOLIGAN figured in many toys about the turn of the century. Here, a police patrol escorts Happy in a wagon whose turning wheels also raise and lower a billy club onto the prisoner's head. The traffic cop's arm has a wind-up mechanism to signal a turn.



ANIMATED PUSH toys have been favorites with children from the earliest days of toy making. This tin, iron and wood jockey probably was made in 1890.

Male Dancers Better On Style

A certain Broadway musical show has a large contingent of chorus girls and an equally big cast of male singers and dancers. An experiment was conducted:

Selecting five girls and five men and letting them loose in a big New York men's store, with instructions to select merchandise at will to coordinate three tasteful outfits for men—business, sportswear and informal-evening.

Both groups thought hard before offering their selections to a panel of five men's fashion experts who served as judges. The judges didn't have to devote much time to arriving at a decision—they tabbed the men as easy winners, hands down.

Russians fished Alaskan waters long before the Alaskan purchase.

TOYS TO MAKE THEM HAPPY!

Two toys which are sure to make any youngster happy this Christmas are these shaggy stuffed dogs. At left, a golden brown collie with snowy white chest and fluffy tail. At right, a soft and cuddly sheep dog which can be curried and combed like a regular pet. Both are made of Almac pile. (By Ideal.)

Grownup Youngsters Like Playthings Of Years Past

The Christmas toys that dazzled American children between 1850 and 1920 are captivating antique collectors today and are filling in a little-known page of our history.

One antique toy collector, Jerry Smith, says, "You can follow the development of this country through its toys. Also, you can mark the time when people stopped making things at home and started to buy manufactured goods."

Smith, an auto dealer from Kansas City, has collected about 2,000 toys since he started in the 1950's while trying to find a small iron tractor like the one he got for a present when he was six years old.

Smith's special interest is iron toys, especially those produced about 1880. His collection, part of which is on display for the Christmas holiday at the Hallmark Gallery in New York, also includes tin and wooden toys; electric, steam and clockwork toys and pull toys. His oldest piece dates back to the 1840's.

Smith says that between 1850 and 1920 American toys led the world in craftsmanship and originality. He points to such items as cap pistols and cannons, fiddling bears, flaming fire-fighting equipment, circus wagons and merry-go-rounds and an unending stream of realistic trains, autos and horse-drawn vehicles.

R. H. Macy's is reportedly the first department store which stocked toys throughout the year instead of only at Christmas time. Wanamaker's in Philadelphia was the first store to install a direct line to Santa Claus in its toy department.

Smith says that despite the great number of toys produced during the 19th century, they are scarce today, even for the serious collector, and bring a good price. The use of toys in interior decoration in recent years has raised prices and increased the competition for rare items, he says.

Egg Nog Part Of Christmas

For many of us, Christmas just isn't Christmas without the tasty treat of egg nog.

A welcome holiday sight is the traditional silver punch bowl at Christmas gatherings, and an equally welcome quick refreshment for friends who've dropped in unexpectedly, egg nog is the perfect holiday drink for young and old alike.

If you're planning a party or expecting friends and family over on Christmas Eve, bring out the punch bowl and stock up on bottled egg nog from your favorite dairy. You'll find today's ready-made egg nog better than most home-made versions and it saves so much extra work.

Brazilian Special Christmas Dinners

Christmas dinner in Brazil centers around turkey or chicken, stuffed with mandioca flour.

Other traditional dishes are codfish cakes and rabanada, a sweet made of bread dipped in milk, sugar and beaten egg yolks, then fried in butter and spread with sugar and cinnamon.

Chewing Problems Found More Common

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — UCLA Dental School orthodontist Dr. M.M. McCann says the incidence of poor teeth alignment, known as malocclusion, may afflict one in three persons instead of one in five as previously believed.

He says faulty teeth alignment may lead to nutritional problems, gum disease and early loss of teeth.

Men's Shoes Staid Colors On Way Out

Color makes the big news in men's shoe fashions for fall. The swing away from staid blacks and browns began last season with the introduction of such colors as weathered moss; and the success of weathered moss has opened the way for a splurge of new colors to complement the hues of new suits and sports attire.

The importance of the red tones in fall apparel has led to a variety of winey shades in men's shoes. The most strongly noted of these shades is vintage burgundy, which is proving popular in every section of the country. Even more vivid color is provided by the bold golden tones featured by many of the leading shoe manufacturers, which are designed to be worn with the brighter shades of sports clothing being shown for the coming season.

A review of the Florsheim line shows the increased importance of "comfort" shoes — shoes specifically constructed to deliver greater lasting comfort. These shoes are being offered in a wide range of classic, popular styles which completely mask their comfort construction.

Classic styling is also very much in evidence with the campus group, too. Florsheim at Northgate is showing an array of saddle oxfords in practically every fashion color combination in calf, including weathered moss with a black saddle, and the long-standing favorite—cordovan, both brown and black. For the correctly dressed collegian, too, genuine moccasins and long wing brogues are considered a must.

For fall, Florsheim adds to its extensive brogue collection an authentic long wing style in a choice of fashion colors, crafted to quality standards, yet priced within raech of the younger man's pocketbook. This brogue is rapidly becoming one of the nation's largest selling styles.

WHY

do stores start Christmas before Thanksgiving?

That's a question that's often asked, and it deserves a sincere answer!

★ Your newspaper appreciates the spirit that prompts many of the objections to early Christmas shopping promotions.

★ However, when the reasons for the urge to "Shop Early" are examined, the most critical agree it's MORE than a problem for stores alone.

★ So we're happy to take this opportunity of presenting some of the problems that confront all stores at holiday time.

★ Every successful store directs its best effort toward perfecting a helpful service to ALL its customers. And since many customers ask stores to make it easier for them to complete their gift shopping before the crowded post-Thanksgiving period, Christmas merchandise and displays are brought forward early to accommodate them.

★ And scarcely a major store in the nation could cope with the store traffic that would be generated if any part of early Christmas shopping was postponed until after Thanksgiving. Even under present circumstances most stores are strained to capacity during the peak of the season, to maintain the kind of store service all shoppers have learned to expect.

★ When you recall the extremely crowded conditions of stores the final two or three weeks before Christmas the problem becomes evident.

★ If no early Christmas shopping were done this condition would be multiplied many fold. (Actually there would not be enough room behind store counters for enough sales people to serve shoppers during this period between Thanksgiving and Christmas.)

★ The same condition exists in regard to the children's visits to Santa Claus. Thousands of children and their parents, look forward to their annual visit with him, and unless he makes an early appearance, many hundreds would be doomed to disappointment simply because it's physically impossible to reach him in a shorter time.

★ Those in the store business know that an extremely large percentage of the Christmas gifts that are selected are items that are in plentiful supply the entire year.

★ If you were to ask the thousands of retail employees—and as a group they represent one of the largest employee groups in Marin County—they would tell you that much of the stress and strain of their Christmas would be relieved if the shopping public would anticipate Christmas shopping throughout the year. Then you'd seldom hear your friends in retailing remark, "I'm simply worn down to my knees by Christmas Eve."

★ Granted that the problem is not a one-sided one, it should be recognized that stores are faced with the problems of convenient service to customers, of maintaining helpful employee relations, of providing a place where those of the public who cannot, or do not, plan ahead may select the traditional gifts for their loved ones and friends.

★ We are sure that if all of our storekeppers could chat with you, personally and informally, that you would be convinced of their sincerity, and that in the true spirit of Christmas, they would not be criticized for their efforts to perform a helpful service to their shopping public.

★ Finally, for all these reasons, and for others which will occur to you, don't you agree that beginning Christmas shopping early makes that task for you easier, faster and a whole lot more pleasurable?

★ So do yourself and your favorite stores a favor . . . start shopping now . . . while selections are at their best . . . while you have plenty of time to compare before choosing . . . while sales personnel can give you the kind of service you prefer.

Students Organize 'Tender Tiger' Plan

CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — Students at Pennsylvania Military College are organizing what they call "Operation Tender Tiger."

Patrick Brennan, president of the student council, said the project is an effort to "do something positive to show our feelings" about the current Viet Nam conflict. Students will seek to raise a minimum of $5,000 to finance "adoption" of an orphanage or a village in Viet Nam. Brennan said the project "will show our GIs that not all college students are dirty little people who carry signs and burn draft cards."

How To Have Really Expensive Christmas

If you're really up a tree to find something to give the girl-who-has-everything for Christmas, you might emulate the 15th century English swain who wooed his lady love with a "Partridge and a Pear Tree."

Right away you're a bit put to by the famous old madrigal. The pear tree isn't hard to find ($5 will buy a small one in the ground). But a partridge is.

Unless you can trap one of your own, you'll have to order one from England.

On the second day of Christmas you'll need two turtle doves. Though there's been no call for them for years, the going rate is $5 a dove.

French hens are guineas, and these are best substituted unless your true love is a purist. A vulturine guinea fowl is $25; a Yokohama fowl as much as $100. You need three, so figure $75.

The fourth day of Christmas poses a real problem. A "coly" bird is found in the Congo. You can fly over there and get one for about $1,045, but this is not advised. We suggest a chickadee, which is similar to the mouse bird of the Congo except for its longer tail. At $35, the fourth day of Christmas comes to $140.

Five golden rings from Tiffany's can cost as little as $50 without tax, so you're up to $305. Six laying geese, another $60.

Seven boys singing could probably be arranged for by a $25 donation to your church, plus car fare and hot dogs, say another $10. You're up to $400 now.

Eight maids a milking are a rarity these days, what with automation in the cowbarns. Minimum wage is $1.25 an hour; you'd have to rent the cows and pails, unless you live on a farm, of course.

Nine ladies dancing can be booked through a theatrical agency for $30 an hour each—though the rate is cheaper by the week, as the Rockettes will dance for $107 a week. By the end of the ninth day you've rung up $680.

The 10th, 11th and 12th days present problems, unforeseen by the first singers of the love song who apparently were royalty. The Scottish version substitutes "King and his Lady" for "My True Love and Me," and it was probably no trouble at all for a king to find 10 lords a leaping, 11 pipers piping, and 12 drummers drumming right in his own courtyard.

The modern-day lover would have a time finding 10 genuine lords in America. It would probably be easier to round them up in England, fly them round-trip to New York for $399 each. You'd have to negotiate directly with the lords for the leaping.

Since any boy can pipe a pipe and drum a drum, we suggest hiring the choir boys again and buying fifes at $4.50 each; drums at $20.

This comes to a grand total of $5,029, not counting postage, delivery charges, taxes, tips, rent of cows and pails, and wrapping paper.

How About Plane Trip, Gourmet Box

Anyone with money jingling in his pocket can walk into a department store and come out with a perfectly gorgeous Christmas present.

But something more than money is needed for the completely successful Christmas present, the kind that the recipient didn't really even dream of, but totally enjoys.

Here are some ideas to spark your thinking:

For the young student couple living on a tight budget, a luxury gift, like the monthly arrival of a gourmet box, a pair of opera tickets, or the price of a 21-day plane trip, to be used whenever.

For the in-a-rut executive, not the golf club he desires, but something to jazz up his way of living. A museum membership card, perhaps? A lesson course in playing the piano? Or, if he's totally disinterested in playing, give him a player piano, with rolls of old hit tunes familiar in his youth.

For the mother of a new baby, something glamorous like a superb hostess gown. Or a labor-saving device, such as the cost of a Saturday night baby sitter through the year.

For grandparents, news from home. Make a scrapbook with clippings and photos of the grandchildren in daily action. School programs where these children have leads in plays, win athletic honors, or give prize-winning speeches, can be mounted in the book for fond perusal.

For the reluctant cook, too tied to frozen foods, a cookbook of exotic recipes, but with ingredients really available.

For the forever practical, something way out, like a book on palm-reading, or a collection of spoofy poems, or a set of finger paints, or a child's flute.

Not so hard, once you start thinking, is it?

Wash Any Day; Rain Or Shine

Rainy washdays are no joke, as every homemaker well knows. According to U.S. Weather Bureau statistics, they roll around more often than most of us realize.

The bureau reports, for example, that the sun shines only 59 per cent of the year in Chicago, 56 per cent in Nashville and Duluth, and only 45 per cent in Seattle. Things are a little better in Dallas, where they see the sun 66 per cent of the time.

But when you start subtracting the sub-freezing days in northern areas, or days when the soot hangs low, or the kids want to go to the beach or the bridge club meets, those sunny washdays become even fewer. But no matter where you live, home matter where you live, you can wash any day—rain or shine—if you have an automatic clothes dryer.

Flameless Dryers Liked By Renters

This year nearly a million home owners and renters will purchase electric dryers. Renters are particularly interested in the uncomplicated installation which makes it easy to take the appliance with them when they move.

Ease of installation, lower purchase price and economical maintenance appeal to renters and homeowners.

Indoor Winter Heat

One can get just as warm in heated indoors in winter, as they do outdoors in summer. Have detachable underarm shields tacked in your new fall and winter suits, too. Young men, now going into tweed or soft homespun suits, probably never heard of having the knees lined by the neighborhood tailor—to keep the trousers from getting baggy.

Timmer Moves Realty Office To Northgate

A new real estate office has been added to the many business services and stores at Northgate Unit One.

TIMMER

This is the first branch office of William Timmer, Realtor, who up to now has concentrated all his activities in his downtown San Rafael office at Third and B Streets. He has been in business for himself as a real estate broker for 12 years and he is one of the biggest sellers of residential property in the county.

The new office which has an address of 208 Northgate Shopping Center is a spacious one, with 2,000 square feet of floor area/ It was designed for a staff of nine salesmen who will concentrate much of their activities in the Terra Linda, Santa Venetia, Marinwood and Las Gallinas Valley areas and even north to Novato.

Timmer opened last week with an initial staff of five: Charles Dewalt, Hank Greenberg, Jack Ludwig, Timothy O'Leary and Robert (Nook Ryan.

Check Labels For European Hair In Wigs

Mrs. Lorene Miller, owner of the Marin Style House at Northgate Shopping Center, suggests these checkpoints on purchasing a wig:

Check the label. If the wig has 100 per cent first quality European human hair, it will say so on the label. But beware of misleading copy, such as 100 per cent European made," or "100 per cent human hair - European made." The first could have hair from other parts of the world.

It is a federal offense to remove the country of origin label from any imported product until it reaches the consumer.

Check the adjustment. Is it easily accessible - just necessary to pin or tack down—or does the wig require a razor to cut into the foundation to enlarge it?

Check the construction. Look to see how the wig comes to a center. The ideal construction is to have this area hand-tied and ventilated so there are no styling problems. This section should be well back from the hair line. Beware of "bald spots" or large 'pony tails" in the center of the wig.

Marin Style House features only 100 per cent European hair in all the latest colors, styles and shapes.

Singing Christmas Tree Will Flash

Northgate Shopping Center's "Singing Christmas Tree," a combination of traditional Christmas and the age of electronics will be dedicated to Marin County tomorrow, at 7:30 p.m. on the Northgate Mall.

Singing before gathered dignitaries and spectators will be the Sweet Adelines, Marin County's popular women's group. The tree is electronically controlled to sort out the frequency of the voices and to illustrate the sound in three lighting colors. Both range and intensity are played back in sight and sound.

The Northgate tree has been taken from the same system used on the nation's White House Christmas Tree each year. At Northgate, the effect should be given even more depth because the tree, 25 feet high, will be on the island in the middle of the central mall reflecting pond.

The Presbyterian Choir of Santa Venetia, Dec. 9 at 7:00 p.m.; The Tamalpais High School Choir, Dec. 10 at 8:00 p.m.; The Peace Lutheran Choir, Dec. 15 at 7:00 p.m.; The Bay School Choir, Dec. 16 at 7:00 p.m.; The Faith Lutheran Choir, Dec. 17 at 8:00 p.m.

Organizations interested in singing before the tree are requested to write to "Northgate Singing Christmas Tree," 3400 Northgate Shopping Center, San Rafael, Calif., requesting a date with two alternatives.

Candles Come From Factory In San Rafael

Tapers and Christmas candles manufactured by Colonial Sales Co. are to be found on the department store shelves of Emporium Marin.

Colonial Sales started business in San Rafael in 1946 in two quonset huts. Business expansion has caused the company to move four times since then.

A new candle factory was built in 1960 for Colonial Wax Products, a separate company which supplies Colonial Sales with finished materials. The latter now has its own factory in the rear of the building and has started pouring its own candles.

The company also purchases from many other manufacturers and now offers its accounts many selections of colors in candles as well as holders and other accessories. The concern employs 60 people — most of them residents of Marin County.

Eighth Granat Brothers Store Opens Next Month

The eighth store of Granat Bros. opening early in December is a milestone in a long period of expansion and development that began before the San Francisco earthquake.

The first Granat Bros. jewelry establishment was a manufacturing shop on Van Ness Avenue. Fortunately it was on the west side of the street—the only side left after the earthquake and fire of 1906. The two Granat brothers, Joseph and Leo, kept their shop going through the difficult period that followed, and later moved to a more central location on Grant Avenue in one of the first downtown buildings to be rebuilt.

SANFORD WOLFSON
President of Granat Bros.

In 1915, a Granat Bros. retail store and factory were established on Mission Street and was so constructed that it afforded bypassers the opportunity to watch Granat artisans and craftsmen making diamond jewelry. In 1923 the firm chose a location on Geary Street and later moved to its present headquarters at Grant Avenue and Geary. Since 1961 Granat has expanded from three Bay Area stores to its present eight.

Sanford L. Wolfson, who has been with the company since 1940 and its president since 1961, said he anticipates peak hiloday volume at the Northgate store and that this outlet will be the most modern store in the chain.

Granat Bros. holds scores of patents for designs and devices which the firm has created. Its best known origination, the patented Wed-Lok diamond ring ensemble, has been distributed nationally for many years.

The company has been affiliated with the Fine Jewelers Guild since 1961. This affiliation links Granat Bros. stores with Guild stores across the nation, and makes available buying facilities in New York, Antwerp, London, Tel Aviv and other leading jewelry centers of the world.

In recent years the company has set as many as a quarter of a million diamonds annually.

Northgate To Have Spectacular Christmas Light, Sound Display

A spectacular lighting display to be seen at Northgate Shopping Center this Christmas season, will be based on the electronic synchronization of color and sound. Northgate has planned a large tree covered with colored lights. As choirs sing and music is heard throughout the Center, these lights respond by changing color in absolute unison to the music.

The designers of this electronic console have been able to break down the frequencies of music into three ranges. Each frequency is associated with a different color so that, as the music is heard, high frequencies will activate green and blue lights respectively. When various frequencies are combined (and this is really what music is—a series of multigrouped sound frequencies) you will see each of the colors blending in the proper intensity and brilliance:—a phenomenal presentation of sight and sound.

The equipment was originally designed for deaf children to appreciate music visually. This learning process is achieved when a child holds a tuning fork which is struck—this gives off varied vibrations transmitted to the child through the hand. High tingling vibrations activate a red light, medium vibrations activate a green light and low vibrations activate a blue light. Thus, once the child associates the vibration with a color, he is then able to see what he should be hearing. Hearing, of course, is only the vibrations of the small bones in the inner ear activated by sound waves at various frequencies. The concept here, then has been to send a vibration through the hand while associating visual color through the eye.

The equipment used in this process is now being used in experimental work by several schools across the nation to teach deaf children the appreciation of music through a visual medium. It is the same equipment that will be used to activate Northgate's Singing Christmas tree.

New Savings Center Said Doing Well

American Savings and Loan Assn. of California has reported a magnificent public response to the September opening of its newest savings center in Northgate Shopping Center, according to manager Kenneth L. Boosey.

"During the month of October," Boosey said "our branch took in net savings of over a half-million dollars. We are greatly pleased with the reception of Marin County people to our services, and welcome an opportunity to serve them and and thank them for the tremendous support they have given us.

"While our open house was in progress, we were able to give out some 1500 cookbooks and more than 500 Great American Document folders. The activity has truly been noteworthy and we are most grateful."

The San Rafael-Northgate branch became the 31st for American Savings, which has the largest savings and loan branch network in the United States. It is the largest savings and loan association in northern California, and has assets of over a billion dollars. The company's real estate loan portfolio is also valued in excess of a billion dollars. American Savings' has loaned nearly $15 million in Marin County this year.

SPECIAL COMFORT — The up-to-the minute good looks of these new Florsheim shoes hide the fact that they are designed for the man who treats his feet to a life of ease. Features include an arch prop and cushioned insole. At the Florsheim Northgate store in black dolce or perfecto dolce calf.

Chewing Problems Found More Common

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — UCLA Dental School orthodontist Dr. M.M. McCann says the incidence of poor teeth alignment, known as malocclusion, may afflict one in three persons instead of one in five as previously believed.

He says faulty teeth alignment may lead to nutritional problems, gum disease and early loss of teeth.

Men's Shoes Staid Colors On Way Out

Color makes the big news in men's shoe fashions for fall. The swing away from staid blacks and browns began last season with the introduction of such colors as weathered moss; and the success of weathered moss has opened the way for a splurge of new colors to complement the hues of new suits and sports attire.

The importance of the red tones in fall apparel has led to a variety of winey shades in men's shoes. The most strongly noted of these shades is vintage burgundy, which is proving popular in every section of the country. Even more vivid color is provided by the bold golden tones featured by many of the leading shoe manufacturers, which are designed to be worn with the brighter shades of sports clothing being shown for the coming season.

A review of the Florsheim line shows the increased importance of "comfort" shoes — shoes specifically constructed to deliver greater lasting comfort. These shoes are being offered in a wide range of classic, popular styles which completely mask their comfort construction.

Classic styling is also very much in evidence with the campus group, too. Florsheim at Northgate is showing an array of saddle oxfords in practically every fashion color combination in calf, including weathered moss with a black saddle, and the long-standing favorite—cordovan, both brown and black. For the correctly dressed collegian, too, genuine moccasins and long wing brogues are considered a must.

For fall, Florsheim adds to its extensive brogue collection an authentic long wing style in a choice of fashion colors, crafted to quality standards, yet priced within raech of the younger man's pocketbook. This brogue is rapidly becoming one of the nation's largest selling styles.

Chinese Art Copied For Marin

The national art treasures of China are not totally inaccessible to the Western world as long as there are skilled artists to copy them with the same techniques the ancients used, according to Jack Wertenbach, buyer for the Emporium.

On his last trip to the Far East, Wertenbach visited Kyoto, the ancient capitol of Japan and still considered its cultural center. In a gallery famous for its screens he recognized one he was sure he had seen before in a San Francisco museum.

The salesman said he was correct—he had seen it in an exhibit of the National Treasures of China collection, which had been presented in five American cities.

While it is against the law to copy these treasures in China, other artists in other countries with the use of camera and catalog have the pictures for copying. The buyer is asked to name his color preference, for each screen is painted to order for the individual customer's taste, and by highly skilled artists of Japan. Two such screens are now available at the Emporium's gift department.

Also from Japan are some famous Kutani porcelains made in Kyoto, favorites of porcelain collectors. From Hong Kong are teakwood furniture and screens inlaid with ivory, soapstone and mother of pearl, and brasses for the table.

Among the most impressive imports are Siamese antique bronzes from the 12th and 17th centuries. Their graceful elegance is due to the fact that Thailand has been casting bronze for some 700 years.

From the Philippines come the translucent mats and boxes made of Kapis shell (spelled Cappa in Hong Kong) — also monkey pod wood bowls, dishes and trays.

Not all is exotic in the Emporium's gift department, however. Thoroughly contemporary, practical and American designs are in abundance and — a Christmas tip: Chafing dishes are hot this year!

Yule Spirits Bottled In Unusual Holiday Decanters

Wines, liqueurs, brandies and other spirits make excellent gifts for the man of the house—or to have available for holiday guests.

This year, many of the spirits are in unusually designed containers. Distillers have gone all out to make their packaging attractive and novel. For the man who seems to have everything, numerous bar supplies are available at the Bourbon Shop's Northgate store. Here, too, free gift wrapping is supplied.

For party entertaining, the Bourbon Shop carries virtually any kind of refreshment or mixer made. Ice is free; glassware can be loaned.

Students Organize 'Tender Tiger' Plan

CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — Students at Pennsylvania Military College are organizing what they call "Operation Tender Tiger."

Patrick Brennan, president of the student council, said the project is an effort to "do something positive to show our feelings" about the current Viet Nam conflict. Students will seek to raise a minimum of $5,000 to finance "adoption" of an orphanage or a village in Viet Nam. Brennan said the project "will show our GIs that not all college students are dirty little people who carry signs and burn draft cards."

Modern Eve

SAN RAFAEL
NORTHGATE
NOVATO

'TWAS THE NIGHT AFTER CHRISTMAS

And all through the house
Everybody was joyous,
Especially the spouse.

'Cause the head of the family
Was quick to perceive
That the wise way to shop
Was at chic MODERN EVE.

For Nancy he chose
A fun skirt and sweater,
For Sue lingerie
And he couldn't choose better.

Accessories unusual
(Number one on her list)
Was his choice for Margaret
And he knew he'd be kissed.

For Grandma his gift
Was a fragrance divine
With matching bath oil
For this lady so fine.

He selected an outfit
For the "light of his life,"
Coat, hat, dress and furs
And she's one happy wife.

Gift wrapping was done
With no charge if you please.
When in doubt a gift order
Made his shopping a breeze.

So the moral of this story—
Shop easy and NOW!
At Modern Eve it's a pleasure,
Come in and see how.

Timmer Moves Realty Office To Northgate

A new real estate office has been added to the many business services and stores at Northgate Unit One.

This is the first branch office of William Timmer, Realtor, who up to now has concentrated all his activities in his downtown San Rafael office at Third and B Streets. He has been in business for himself as a real estate broker for 12 years and he is one of the biggest sellers of residential property in the county.

TIMMER

The new office which has an address of 208 Northgate Shopping Center is a spacious one, with 2,000 square feet of floor area/ It was designed for a staff of nine salesmen who will concentrate much of their activities in the Terra Linda, Santa Venetia, Marinwood and Las Gallinas Valley areas and even north to Novato.

Timmer opened last week with an initial staff of five: Charles Dewalt, Hank Greenberg, Jack Ludwig, Timothy O'Leary and Robert (Nook Ryan.

Check Labels For European Hair In Wigs

Mrs. Lorene Miller, owner of the Marin Style House at Northgate Shopping Center, suggests these checkpoints on purchasing a wig:

Check the label. If the wig has 100 per cent first quality European human hair, it will say so on the label. But beware of misleading copy, such as 100 per cent European made," or "100 per cent human hair - European made." The first could have hair from other parts of the world.

It is a federal offense to remove the country of origin label from any imported product until it reaches the consumer.

Check the adjustment. Is it easily accessible - just necessary to pin or tack down—or does the wig require a razor to cut into the foundation to enlarge it?

Check the construction. Look to see how the wig comes to a center. The ideal construction is to have this area hand-tied and ventilated so there are no styling problems. This section should be well back from the hair line. Beware of "bald spots" or large 'pony tails" in the center of the wig.

Marin Style House features only 100 per cent European hair in all the latest colors, styles and shapes.

Singing Christmas Tree Will Flash

Northgate Shopping Center's "Singing Christmas Tree," a combination of traditional Christmas and the age of electronics will be dedicated to Marin County tomorrow, at 7:30 p.m. on the Northgate Mall.

Singing before gathered dignitaries and spectators will be the Sweet Adelines, Marin County's popular women's group. The tree is electronically controlled to sort out the frequency of the voices and to illustrate the sound in three lighting colors. Both range and intensity are played back in sight and sound.

The Northgate tree has been taken from the same system used on the nation's White House Christmas Tree each year. At Northgate, the effect should be given even more depth because the tree, 25 feet high, will be on the island in the middle of the central mall reflecting pond.

The Presbyterian Choir of Santa Venetia, Dec. 9 at 7:00 p.m.; The Tamalpais High School Choir, Dec. 10 at 8:00 p.m.; The Peace Lutheran Choir, Dec. 15 at 7:00 p.m.; The Bay School Choir, Dec. 16 at 7:00 p.m.; The Faith Lutheran Choir, Dec. 17 at 8:00 p.m.

Organizations interested in singing before the tree are requested to write to "Northgate Singing Christmas Tree," 3400 Northgate Shopping Center, San Rafael, Calif., requesting a date with two alternatives.

Candles Come From Factory In San Rafael

Tapers and Christmas candles manufactured by Colonial Sales Co. are to be found on the department store shelves of Emporium Marin.

Colonial Sales started business in San Rafael in 1946 in two quonset huts. Business expansion has caused the company to move four times since then.

A new candle factory was built in 1960 for Colonial Wax Products, a separate company which supplies Colonial Sales with finished materials. The latter now has its own factory in the rear of the building and has started pouring its own candles.

The company also purchases from many other manufacturers and now offers its accounts many selections of colors in candles as well as holders and other accessories. The concern employs 60 people — most of them residents of Marin County.

New Savings Center Said Doing Well

American Savings and Loan Assn. of California has reported a magnificent public response to the September opening of its newest savings center in Northgate Shopping Center, according to manager Kenneth L. Boosey.

"During the month of October," Boosey said "our branch took in net savings of over a half-million dollars. We are greatly pleased with the reception of Marin County people to our services, and welcome an opportunity to serve them and and thank them for the tremendous support they have given us.

"While our open house was in progress, we were able to give out some 1500 cookbooks and more than 500 Great American Document folders. The activity has truly been noteworthy and we are most grateful."

The San Rafael-Northgate branch became the 31st for American Savings, which has the largest savings and loan branch network in the United States. It is the largest savings and loan association in northern California, and has assets of over a billion dollars. The company's real estate loan portfolio is also valued in excess of a billion dollars. American Savings' has loaned nearly $15 million in Marin County this year.

Parties Call For Formal Attire

Gala times call for gala dress, according to the American Institute of Men's and Boy's Wear. The vastly increased use of formalwear proves its point as the holiday season approaches and more and more "black tie" and "white tie" dinner parties and dances are being scheduled.

Particularly notable in the past several years are the many "at home" black tie parties. The fair sex attending those semi-formal evening events prefer cocktail-length gowns and they enjoy the flattering effect of escorts in dinner jackets.

The "at home" formal — it's really semi-formal — has grown to the extent that many host coats have been designed for the "lord and master." It is an acknowledged privilege of the host and hostess to dress a bit differently—perhaps a bit more imaginatively than their guests — and the distaff side has taken advantage of that right with exotic costumes ranging from hostess gowns to formal pajamas.

Now, the man of the house has a choice of distinctive semi-formal attire, outfits that are as easy to wear as sport coats and slacks, some in rich moires and others in richly hued silks and velvets.

Some of the host coats may be worn with an ascot knotted under the dress shirt collar instead of the more usual bow. Of course, it is wise to avoid the use of patterns in those ascots. Usually of silk or a silk-like fabric, they should be solid colored to harmonize with or match the color of the host coat or trousers.

The rules for the men at "at home" affairs can be relaxed a bit, too. They can wear deep-toned blues, grays, golds, burgundies and greens in silk or silk-type fabric dinner jackets and, of course, they can also use the black moires and brocades. Guests, however, should complement their outfits with either an evening waistcoat or cummerbund with a bow that picks up the fabric of either the vest, cummerbund or the facing of the lapels.

Semi-formal affairs at the theater or on the town call for black, midnight blue or char-gray tuxedos or dinner suits. The same type of event in Southern resort areas or aboard cruise ships leaves the wearer the choice of either the darks or summery versions such as madras, seeksuckers, pastel shades and whites.

The strictly formal "white tie" invitations — of which there are a growing number — make the wearing of an evening tailcoat mandatory. However, even this most formal of all formalwear has been rendered "painless" to the wearer. Lightweight fabrics, new constructions and easier fitting lines make the new tailcoats as easy to wear as a business suit. Improvements and modifications in dress shirts and wing collars find them more flexible, lighter in weight and just as comfortable at the end of the evening as they are at the beginning.

Many men are perfectly groomed in their formalwear until it comes to their shoes. Here are a few tips that will assure the correctness of an evening kit from top to toe:

WITH THE TUXEDO: (dinner suit/dinner jacket)

Hat: Black felt— occasionally black silk— with snap brim or black felt homburg.

Shoes: Black calf or patent leather pumps or lightweight plain toe oxfords. (You can't get by with street shoes!)

WITH THE TAILCOAT: (white tie)

Hat: Either high silk "topper" or collapsible silk opera hat.

Shoes: Either patent leather or black calf (highly polished) pumps or lightweight plain-toe evening oxfords.

The topcoat must be either black, navy blue or oxford gray. In warm climates, black poplin, gabardine or silk. Gloves with dinner jackets should be gray mocha, with the tailcoat either white fabric or kid. Choose a white silk scarf for tails, a gray or black for the dinner coat.

FORMAL RENTALWEAR—Parties, dinners, weddings, the opera or a posh state occasion—whatever the event, detailed formalwear can be rented at Roos-Atkins' Northgate store. Stocks include sartorically perfect tuxedos as shown above—white dinner jackets, cutaways and stripes and formal full dress, with a full choice of accessories.

Chinese Art Copied For Marin

The national art treasures of China are not totally inaccessible to the Western world as long as there are skilled artists to copy them with the same techniques the ancients used, according to Jack Wertenbach, buyer for the Emporium.

On his last trip to the Far East, Wertenbach visited Kyoto, the ancient capitol of Japan and still considered its cultural center. In a gallery famous for its screens he recognized one he was sure he had seen before in a San Francisco museum.

The salesman said he was correct—he had seen it in an exhibit of the National Treasures of China collection, which had been presented in five American cities.

While it is against the law to copy these treasures in China, other artists in other countries with the use of camera and catalog have the pictures for copying. The buyer is asked to name his color preference, for each screen is painted to order for the individual customer's taste, and by highly skilled artists of Japan. Two such screens are now available at the Emporium's gift department.

Also from Japan are some famous Kutani porcelains made in Kyoto, favorites of porcelain collectors. From Hong Kong are teakwood furniture and screens inlaid with ivory, soapstone and mother of pearl, and brasses for the table.

Among the most impressive imports are Siamese antique bronzes from the 12th and 17th centuries. Their graceful elegance is due to the fact that Thailand has been casting bronze for some 700 years.

From the Philippines come the translucent mats and boxes made of Kapis shell (spelled Cappa in Hong Kong) — also monkey pod wood bowls, dishes and trays.

Not all is exotic in the Emporium's gift department, however. Thoroughly contemporary, practical and American designs are in abundance and — a Christmas tip: Chafing dishes are hot this year!

Yule Spirits Bottled In Unusual Holiday Decanters

Wines, liqueurs, brandies and other spirits make excellent gifts for the man of the house—or to have available for holiday guests.

This year, many of the spirits are in unusually designed containers. Distillers have gone all out to make their packaging attractive and novel. For the man who seems to have everything, numerous bar supplies are available at the Bourbon Shop's Northgate store. Here, too, free gift wrapping is supplied.

For party entertaining, the Bourbon Shop carries virtually any kind of refreshment or mixer made. Ice is free; glassware can be loaned.

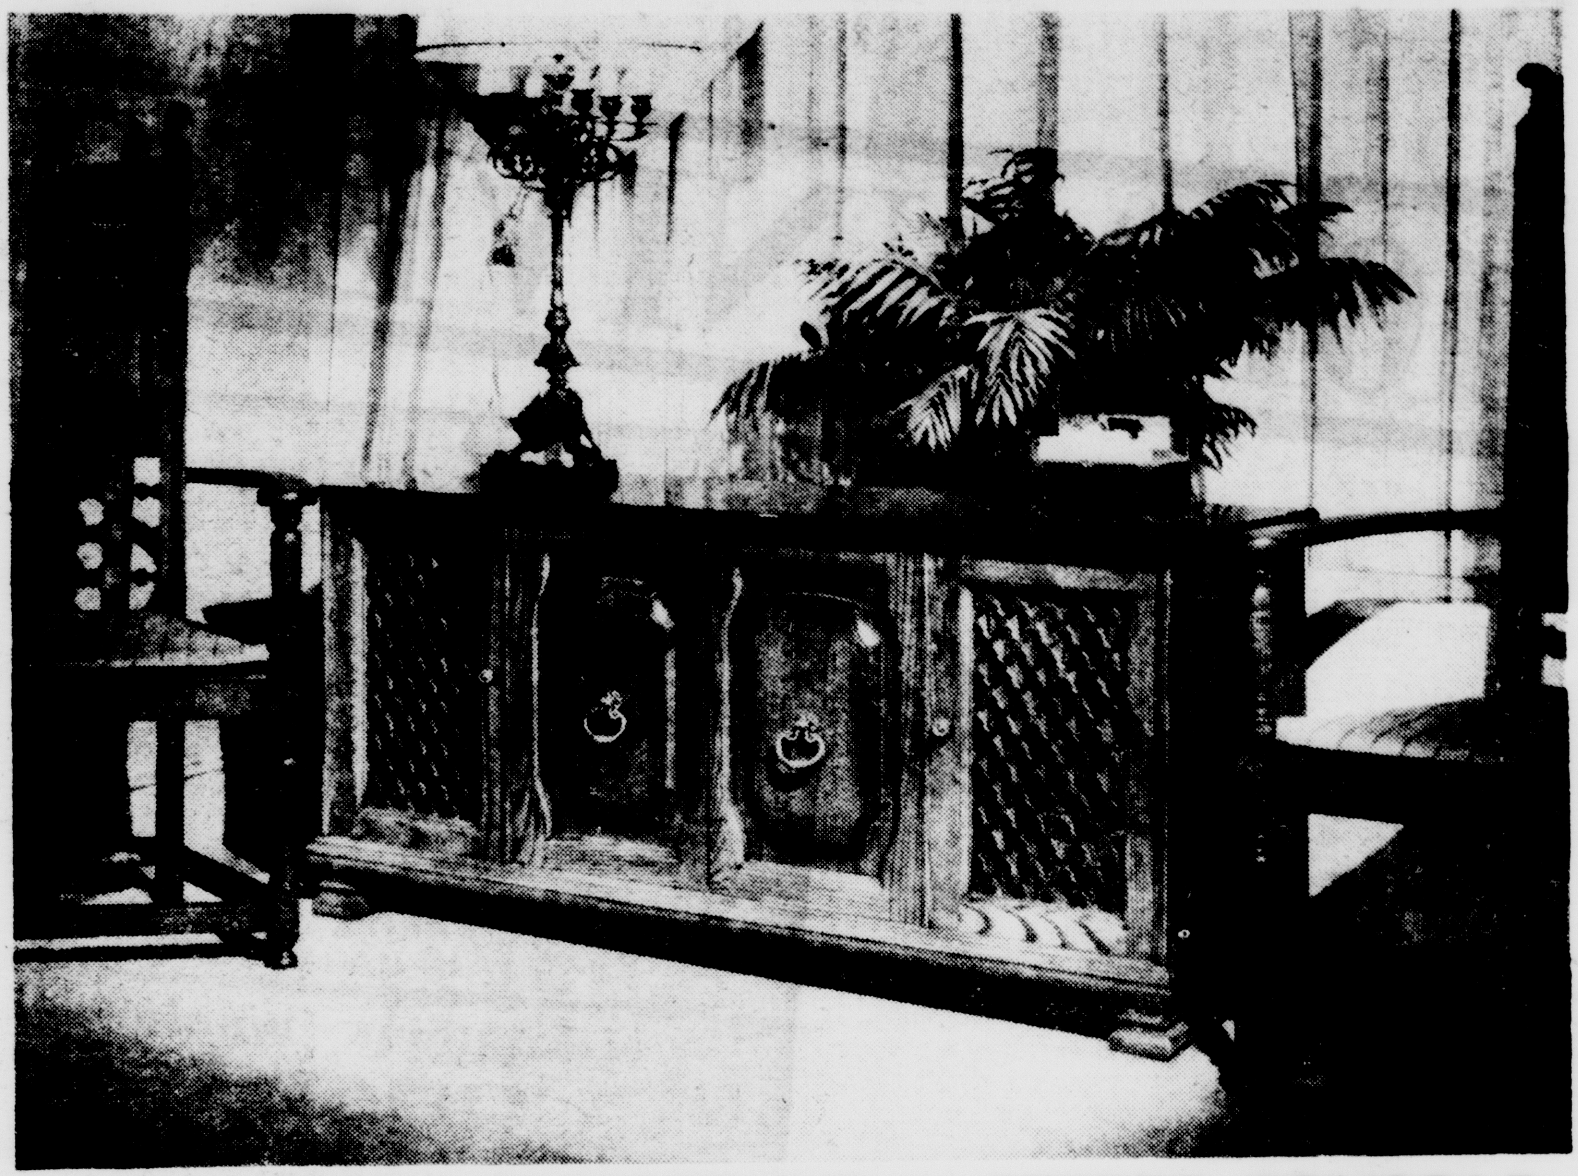
OSTRICH FLIP—This cocktail dress from the holiday collection of H. Liebes, Northgate is an example of the up-dated 1920s look which goes mad over feathers or glittery touches and wild about crepes and extravagant brocades. It is the flapper look with a naughty flair in the skirt—compelling and sophisticated.



BERKEYEY MEDITERRANEAN STEREO CONSOLE

This handsome console of hand rubbed oak is a fine piece of furniture as well as housing for an all new stereo unit by Scott and handled exclusively by Kim's Sound Center, Northgate. Luxury pleated fabric over speaker grilles at each end is readily removed for cleaning or replacement to match decor.

Sterling Still Is Traditional Bridal Gift

By long established tradition, sterling silver flatware is the parents' gift to the bride and it is the most meaningful and appropriate gift they can present to their daughter, according to Stribley's Northgate store which has a complete selection of this giftware.

Said Mrs. Karel Stribley, "The modern way to care for sterling flatware is to use it and enjoy it. Used regularly, it seldom needs polishing — and it can be put in your dishwasher."

If proper water temperatures and detergents are used, silverware can be safely washed daily.

Mrs. Stribley notes that fine china made prior to 1954 should not be washed regularly in a dishwasher lest some pattern fading and cracking of glaze should occur.

But fine china patterns made after this date can be used daily, washed in the dishwasher daily — and will last a lifetime if some simple rules are followed.

Avoid harsh detergents; preferably use only those products recommended by the china manufacturer. Never use more detergent than the amount specified by the manufacturer of the dishwasher.

Temperature is important. Fine china is safest when the water temperature is not above 140 degrees. It can be checked with a home meat thermometer.

A hydrogen bomb is known as a thermonuclear weapon due to the high amount of heat required to start the fusion process.

'TWAS THE NIGHT AFTER CHRISTMAS

And all through the house
Everybody was joyous,
Especially the spouse.

'Cause the head of the family
Was quick to perceive
That the wise way to shop
Was at chic MODERN EVE.

For Nancy he chose
A fun skirt and sweater,
For Sue lingerie
And he couldn't choose better.

Accessories unusual
(Number one on her list)
Was his choice for Margaret
And he knew he'd be kissed.

For Grandma his gift
Was a fragrance divine
With matching bath oil
For this lady so fine.

He selected an outfit
For the "light of his life,"
Coat, hat, dress and furs
And she's one happy wife.

Gift wrapping was done
With no charge if you please.
When in doubt a gift order
Made his shopping a breeze.

STILL FAVORITE

Sweaters Please As Yule Present

The all-time favorite, the sweater, still remains among the Top-10 holiday gifts for every woman or girl on anybody's list.

Soft mohairs, loopy wools, flat-knit wools and wool blends, fur fiber blends, cashmeres and imports are welcome in any wardrobe and the importance of sweaters has never been more deserved since designers have gone all out to make them exciting with ruffles, buttons; laced and trimmed with crochet banding and literally drenched with color from the palest pastels to the most sizzling shock shades.

For the girl who loves to wear "party pants," Roos-Atkins' Northgate store has shirts, finely tailored and the newest in high-fashion looks. These, too, come in smashing colors, solids and dramatic prints — some short sleeved, others with elegant, long French-cuffed sleeves.

For the more casual life, an ideal Roos-Atkins gift idea is to "give a sport-about top." These include cotton knit T-tops, turtle or crew-necked, and the famous ribbed skinny top, now known in the fashion world as the Elle top, having originated on the pages of the French magazine.

Soft cotton velour and cotton suede tops are finding much favor as mix-and-match-ups for pants and skirts. Roos-Atkins has several of these in a rainbow of colors.

This holiday season, gift counters are filled to bursting point with little items that are of maximum fashion import. The scarf will do many wonderful things for almost any costume—and never more so than now, when the oracles tell us to tie a wasp of chiffon high at the throat, wind a strip of silk around the waistline or weave a streak of multi-color chiffon through the new-look cutout motifs on dresses.

Even handbags show up this season with scarfs braided around shoulder straps or tied through the rings of a tote. Featured at the Roos-Atkins North gate store are all these and more, destined to be placed beneath a Yule tree, come Christmas day.

CLASSIC DOTTED SILK ROBE

This season's robes reflect an interest in classic design and pattern and luxury fabrics. This navy and white model features a shawl collar, long sash and two patch pockets.

Slot Car Takes Lead From Toy Electric Train

The toy electric train is not quite extinct, but it no longer occupies the same position it once enjoyed, according to Wayne Wirth, manager of Northgate Toys and Hobbies.

Slot car racing now holds the top spot both as a toy and a hobby and it's all done at home or at a commercial coin-operated track.

The fad developed in Europe after World War II and soon spread to this country, notes Wirth. Its original growth was along the toy line until manufacturers starting making equipment and sets that would appeal to the most demanding hobbyist. Many a parent has purchased a toy slot for junior — only to find he is also smitten with the fun.

A large number of manufacturers now make complete sets which include power supply, track layouts and two or more cars — and for those who prefer to build their own sets an extensive selection of equipment is available.

The car itself offers interest because the selection of transmissions, body styles and parts can be interchanged.

Parties Call For Formal Attire

Gala times call for gala dress, according to the American Institute of Men's and Boy's Wear. The vastly increased use of formalwear proves its point as the holiday season approaches and more and more "black tie" and "white tie" dinner parties and dances are being scheduled.

Particularly notable in the past several years are the many "at home" black tie parties. The fair sex attending those semi-formal evening events prefer cocktail-length gowns and they enjoy the flattering effect of escorts in dinner jackets.

The "at home" formal — it's really semi-formal — has grown to the extent that many host coats have been designed for the "lord and master." It is an acknowledged privilege of the host and hostess to dress a bit differently—perhaps a bit more imaginatively than their guests — and the distaff side has taken advantage of that right with exotic costumes ranging from hostess gowns to formal pajamas.

Now, the man of the house has a choice of distinctive semi-formal attire, outfits that are as easy to wear as sport coats and slacks, some in rich moires and others in richly hued silks and velvets.

Some of the host coats may be worn with an ascot knotted under the dress shirt collar instead of the more usual bow. Of course, it is wise to avoid the use of patterns in those ascots. Usually of silk or a silk-like fabric, they should be solid colored to harmonize with or match the color of the host coat or trousers.

The rules for the men at "at home" affairs can be relaxed a bit, too. They can wear deep-toned blues, grays, golds, burgundies and greens in silk or silk-type fabric dinner jackets and, of course, they can also use the black moires and brocades. Guests, however, should complement their outfits with either an evening waistcoat or cummerbund with a bow that picks up the fabric of either the vest, cummerbund or the facing of the lapels.

Semi-formal affairs at the theater or on the town call for black, midnight blue or char-gray tuxedos or dinner suits. The same type of event in Southern resort areas or aboard cruise ships leaves the wearer the choice of either the darks or summery versions such as madras, seeksuckers, pastel shades and whites.

The strictly formal "white tie" invitations — of which there are a growing number — make the wearing of an evening tailcoat mandatory. However, even this most formal of all formalwear has been rendered "painless" to the wearer. Lightweight fabrics, new constructions and easier fitting lines make the new tailcoats as easy to wear as a business suit. Improvements and modifications in dress shirts and wing collars find them more flexible, lighter in weight and just as comfortable at the end of the evening as they are at the beginning.

Many men are perfectly groomed in their formalwear until it comes to their shoes. Here are a few tips that will assure the correctness of an evening kit from top to toe:

WITH THE TUXEDO: (dinner suit/dinner jacket)

Hat: Black felt— occasionally black silk— with snap brim or black felt homburg.

Shoes: Black calf or patent leather pumps or lightweight plain toe oxfords. (You can't get by with street shoes!)

WITH THE TAILCOAT: (white tie)

Hat: Either high silk "topper" or collapsible silk opera hat.

Shoes: Either patent leather or black calf (highly polished) pumps or lightweight plain-toe evening oxfords.

The topcoat must be either black, navy blue or oxford gray. In warm climates, black poplin, gabardine or silk. Gloves with dinner jackets should be gray mocha, with the tailcoat either white fabric or kid. Choose a white silk scarf for tails, a gray or black for the dinner coat.

FASHION WITH A BRITISH ACCENT

There's a touch of London in Hart Schaffner and Marx's fall Racquet Club natural shoulder collection—provided by a handsome grouping of all-wool worsted fabrics in a choice of "dusted" chalk and clear pin stripings. Called Saville Stripes, the fabrics are styled with trim lines that accent the classic approach. Racquet Club suits are tailored with vests. Available at Hastings in the Northgate Shopping Center.

Fashion Board Picks Gifts For Marin's Teen-Agers

"High School Fashion Board" members at Emporium Marin have come up with these suggestions for Christmas buyers:

A price limit of $1 to $30 is fair—except for a family gift, that is, one in which the whole family participates for father or mother or each other. For instance, a stereo or tape recorder, golf clubs or fur neckpiece.

For boys: Sweaters—v-necks or turtle necks in burgundy, olive or camel black; sport shirts with short sleeves; blazers, sport jackets, T-shirts. Also tie tacks, chess games, qualtiy automobile accessories and tools (by someone who knows how to select.) Sports equipment, desk accessories, books, gift certificates.

For girls: Sweaters - finer knits (not bulky), classic, round neck pullovers. Long-sleeved blouses, lightweight - smocking and feminine detail, but not too fussy. Solid and plaid wool capris, white duck bell bottoms. Three-quarter coats; fringe detail has some interest. Fake fur - double breasted. Various types of jewelry, also gloves (black leather), small handbags and small pieces of luggage - and lingerie.

Other recommended items include bird cage hats, magazines and books, stuffed animals, decorator items for the room, typewriters, notions, sporty wool scarfs, school supplies and cosmetics.

For any young member of the family: pets.

WOODROW WILSON SERVICE PLATE

This Lenox service plate was designed to be part of the first American-made dinnerware to be used at the White House in 1918 by the country's World War I president. Its rim is of cobalt blue with an outer border of etched gold rim. Although it is not for sale, Lenox china in "New Dimension Shapes" is now on display at Stribley's Northgate store.

OSTRICH FLIP—This cocktail dress from the holiday collection of H. Liebes, Northgate is an example of the up-dated 1920s look which goes mad over feathers or glittery touches and wild about crepes and extravagant brocades. It is the flapper look with a naughty flair in the skirt—compelling and sophisticated.

BERKEYEY MEDITERRANEAN STEREO CONSOLE

This handsome console of hand rubbed oak is a fine piece of furniture as well as housing for an all new stereo unit by Scott and handled exclusively by Kim's Sound Center, Northgate. Luxury pleated fabric over speaker grilles at each end is readily removed for cleaning or replacement to match decor.

Sterling Still Is Traditional Bridal Gift

By long established tradition, sterling silver flatware is the parents' gift to the bride and it is the most meaningful and appropriate gift they can present to their daughter, according to Stribley's Northgate store which has a complete selection of this giftware.

Said Mrs. Karel Stribley, "The modern way to care for sterling flatware is to use it and enjoy it. Used regularly, it seldom needs polishing — and it can be put in your dishwasher."

If proper water temperatures and detergents are used, silverware can be safely washed daily.

Mrs. Stribley notes that fine china made prior to 1954 should not be washed regularly in a dishwasher lest some pattern fading and cracking of glaze should occur.

But fine china patterns made after this date can be used daily, washed in the dishwasher daily — and will last a lifetime if some simple rules are followed.

Avoid harsh detergents; preferably use only those products recommended by the china manufacturer. Never use more detergent than the amount specified by the manufacturer of the dishwasher.

Temperature is important. Fine china is safest when the water temperature is not above 140 degrees. It can be checked with a home meat thermometer.

A hydrogen bomb is known as a thermonuclear weapon due to the high amount of heat required to start the fusion process.

Madisonville Needs No Taxes

MADISONVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Mayor David Parish says the people of Madinsonville are "the luckiest in the world."

For the past 11 years, the townspeople have paid no city tax of any kind.

Madisonville operates its own light and water plants and derives enough income from these sources to meet all expenses of city government.

Marriage In Tavern

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Charles Turnbill and Marian Bolton picked a tavern for their wedding because "it was very appropriable to our good times together here." On top of that, no one had to go very far when it was announced that drinks were on the house after the "I dos" were exchanged.

NEW COLORS AND PRINTS AT LIEBES

Perfect for all figure types with a beautifully easy fit are the small, neat and wonderfully chic town prints in one and two-piece styles at H. Liebes' Northgate store. They resist wrinkle, wash like nylons and dry care-free in a wink.

STILL FAVORITE

Sweaters Please As Yule Present

The all-time favorite, the sweater, still remains among the Top-10 holiday gifts for every woman or girl on anybody's list.

Soft mohairs, loopy wools, flat-knit wools and wool blends, fur fiber blends, cashmeres and imports are welcome in any wardrobe and the importance of sweaters has never been more deserved since designers have gone all out to make them exciting with ruffles, buttons; laced and trimmed with crochet banding and literally drenched with color from the palest pastels to the most sizzling shock shades.

For the girl who loves to wear "party pants," Roos-Atkins' Northgate store has shirts, finely tailored and the newest in high-fashion looks. These, too, come in smashing colors, solids and dramatic prints — some short sleeved, others with elegant, long French-cuffed sleeves.

For the more casual life, an ideal Roos-Atkins gift idea is to "give a sport-about top." These include cotton knit T-tops, turtle or crew-necked, and the famous ribbed skinny top, now known in the fashion world as the Elle top, having originated on the pages of the French magazine.

Soft cotton velour and cotton suede tops are finding much favor as mix-and-match-ups for pants and skirts. Roos-Atkins has several of these in a rainbow of colors.

This holiday season, gift counters are filled to bursting point with little items that are of maximum fashion import. The scarf will do many wonderful things for almost any costume—and never more so than now, when the oracles tell us to tie a wasp of chiffon high at the throat, wind a strip of silk around the waistline or weave a streak of multi-color chiffon through the new-look cutout motifs on dresses.

Even handbags show up this season with scarfs braided around shoulder straps or tied through the rings of a tote. Featured at the Roos-Atkins Northgate store are all these and more, destined to be placed beneath a Yule tree, come Christmas day.

Slot Car Takes Lead From Toy Electric Train

The toy electric train is not quite extinct, but it no longer occupies the same position it once enjoyed, according to Wayne Wirth, manager of Northgate Toys and Hobbies.

Slot car racing now holds the top spot both as a toy and a hobby and it's all done at home or at a commercial coin-operated track.

The fad developed in Europe after World War II and soon spread to this country, notes Wirth. Its original growth was along the toy line until manufacturers starting making equipment and sets that would appeal to the most demanding hobbyist. Many a parent has purchased a toy slot for junior — only to find he is also smitten with the fun.

A large number of manufacturers now make complete sets which include power supply, track layouts and two or more cars — and for those who prefer to build their own sets an extensive selection of equipment is available.

The car itself offers interest because the selection of transmissions, body styles and parts can be interchanged.

IT STARTED IN PARIS

The skinny little back-zip glove-leather boot started with Courreges and has become young America's favorite footing for the great kicky look of the short, short skirts. Qualicraft changes its look from white to black. Now at Leed's, Northgate.

Madisonville Needs No Taxes

MADISONVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Mayor David Parish says the people of Madinsonville are "the luckiest in the world."

For the past 11 years, the townspeople have paid no city tax of any kind.

Madisonville operates its own light and water plants and derives enough income from these sources to meet all expenses of city government.

Marriage In Tavern

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Charles Turnbill and Marian Bolton picked a tavern for their wedding because "it was very appropriable to our good times together here." On top of that, no one had to go very far when it was announced that drinks were on the house after the "I dos" were exchanged.

NEW COLORS AND PRINTS AT LIEBES

Perfect for all figure types with a beautifully easy fit are the small, neat and wonderfully chic town prints in one and two-piece styles at H. Liebes' Northgate store. They resist wrinkle, wash like nylons and dry care-free in a wink.

Merchants Council Buys Mentally Retarded Gifts

This year Christmas comes before business at the Corte Madera Center in the form of dozens of toys which have been donated or purchased by the Corte Madera Center Merchants Council for presentation to some 80 youngsters between ages 6 and 8 in the mentally retarded Sonoma State Hospital.

It all started with a plea from a Marin County mother of a retarded child at Sonoma, according to Hollie L. Smith, secretary-manager of the merchants council.

In September, the council was asked if Corte Madera Center merchants would help brighten the days in the Sonoma mentally retarded ward. The council responded by voting unanimously to spend some $200 on toys and also to ask for donations from center businessmen. The response was overwhelming.

Since September, the center has purchased or received from its merchants 100 wagons, 10 tricycles, 25 stuffed animals, 43 children's record albums, a record player, six toy pianos, and more than 75 pull toys, trucks, blocks and miscellaneous playthings.

All toys are new, wrapped, and ready for presentation to the children at Christmas.

The idea of Christmas help for worthy organizations has sparked other programs — a joint effort of the Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce and the Corte Madera Center Merchants Council.

NEW SCULPTURE—Jacques Overhoff, Dutch-born sculptor, stands beside his work "The Universal Nerve" in San Francisco. The piece is composed of 26 pieces of cast bronze, and symbolizes present-day social and psychological tensions. (UPI Telephoto)

IN BRONZE

World Tension Depicted In Art

By RODNEY GUILFOIL

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — It doesn't make sense the first time you look at it, perhaps, but sculptor Jacques Overhoff is quite willing to give you plenty of time.

Several years, in fact. Then you might begin to be aware of what Overhoff intended when he welded 26 pieces of cast bronze together in a 12-foot-high composition.

The piece of sculpture stands in San Francisco's new Golden Gateway redevelopment area, a group of apartment towers and business offices now rising along the waterfront. It took Overhoff eight months to complete the work.

At first glance, it looks like a number of torn-up pieces of cardboard carton stuck together haphazardly. But that is not quite what Overhoff had in mind. He calls the work "Universal Nerve."

"As a person living in the world today," he says, "I'm aware of social tensions and forces working against each other. I've tried to translate this feeling into my work.

"It makes sense if you look at it long enough. It's a symbol of our times and it has a growing quality. In a couple of years, it might seem to you to be twice as big."

Overhoff, born in the Netherlands a lean and friendly man of 32, calls himself an architectural environmental artist. To this end, he works closely with architects and designers so his works can harmonize with their settings.

He and three Dutch friends have opened a bronze foundry in San Francisco's industrial district, using the "lost wax" method of casting. There are only three other such foundries in this country capable of casting big works — two in New York and one in Detroit.

"There hasn't been too much demand yet for the kind of thing we do," Overhoff says, "because artists in this country are unaccustomed to working in cast bronze. Most of them have been doing the so-called 'junk sculpture' using scrap metal and welding it together. We have to educate artists to work in wax."

For example, Overhoff started his Golden Gateway sculpture entirely with a full scale model. When he had it assembled to his liking, he cut the pieces apart with a hot knife and then cast them in a process involving "positive" and "negative" molds.

When he had his 26 pieces all cast in bronze, he welded them back together again. Each of the sections weighs an average of 150 pounds. Then he applied a greenish patina to make the work look a bit aged.

Right now, Overhoff is working on a three-dimensional sculpture in concrete for the Wilshire Metropolitan Medical Center in Los Angeles. It's 12 feet high and 16 feet wide.

Little Mateless Shoe Has Been Around

A small slipper that has been a wanderer since it was lost by a 19th Century mystery woman has left San Francisco.

Spool heeled, of leather and cloth design, the dainty shoe once moved strong men to poetry and dreams of the Cinderella who wore it.

Now, after exhibit at Wells Fargo Bank's History Room it is being returned to the man who discovered it, Grahame Hardy, of Carson City, Nevada, president of the Truckee Railroad.

The slipper's story began in 1896 when it was left behind at a Wells Fargo office in Vacaville. It was forwarded to the next stage stop with this poetic note of inquiry written on the waybill:

"My mate I'm on this journey to see
Though it take, many a week
But! When found and returned home,
My reception will be cordial and second to none."

The little shoe was passed from agency to agency—85 in all—in California and Oregon in search of its owner. Waybill tags and labels attached to the shoe were covered with rough poems and messages. Some agents wrote on the shoe itself or applied their wax seals to it.

In July 1896, the slipper left Honcut, California with this poem by the agent:

"Take me up gently, handle with care
I'm only a slipper and don't pay any fare.
The foot of a maiden, I once did adorne
Now I am lonely, sad, and forlorn".

From Forest Grove, Oregon, 1897:

"Could I but know the maiden fair,
Who wore this dainty shoe,
Could I but stroke her sunny hair,
Her ruby lips kiss, too,
I'd straightway join the married State,
Hereafter buy her shoes
I'm single, poor and twenty-eight
Goodby dear. George R. Hughes"

The little shoe endeared itself to many a lonesome Wells Fargo agent living in an isolated frontier town on the California-Oregon express routes. Their thoughts are reflected in this poem from Newport, Oregon:

"We hope this shoe will keep its strength
As it goes from state to state
For truly we know how to sympathize
We, too, are without a mate.

The slipper brought out the poet in everybody and it became a tradition among express agents to keep it going.

After three years of wandering, the accumulated tags almost obscured the slipper.

The shoe never found its mate or its owner. Now 70 years later, it continues on its sad solitary journey.

STILL WITH NO MATE—This wayfaring slipper has spent 70 years looking for a mate. It traveled from one Wells Fargo agent to another, as each added his tag and often a note.

Segregation Stays, Official Declares

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—Aileen C. Hernandes, Rhode Island's commissioner of equal employment opportunity, says the 1964 Civil Rights Act has not worked to desegregate more than an "infinitesimal" number of schools.

"This is true in the North as well as the South," Mrs. Hernandes said in a talk to the Urban League of Rhode Island and the Equal Employment Opportunity Council.

Against Measles

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—The Rhode Island Medical Society has announced plans to inoculate in one day every school child in the state against measles. The program is scheduled for some date in January.

Igor Lives Cramped Life In Moscow, But He's Lucky

MOSCOW (UPI) — Igor is a 25-year-old Muscovite with a good job, a steady income and one tiny bedroom to call his own.

He hesitates to marry, because both he and his wife then would have to squeeze into the two-room apartment he shares with his parents. Only if they had children would they qualify as an "urgent case" and get a small apartment of their own.

The possibility of an apartment all for himself, or even of sharing a flat with another man is out of the question. All apartments are reserved for families.

Yet, Igor figures he is lucky. In a city with one of the worst housing problems in the Western world, a young man with a room of his own, even if it is less than five square yards, has no complaints.

In recent years the Soviet government has tried to solve this problem with a crash building program. Towering cranes dominate the skyline, especially on the city's outskirts.

But the problem exists. One statistic explains why. Every day there are 300 new apartments opened in Moscow. Every day 300 couples are married here. And every day 300 new Muscovites are born.

City officials profess confidence that, at the current building rate, the problem will be solved by 1980.

By that time, they say, rapid building plus control of the city's population will mean that every person in town will have 13 square yards of housing space to himself.

Both Moscow residents and Westerners here have their doubts, just as they doubt the official claim that the current figure is 8.5 square yards to a person.

The figure is distrusted because there are just too many people who have demonstrably less space — couples with three children crammed into two rooms, or even two families living in the same room.

Freeway Intersection Creates Smog Woes

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A cloverleaf stack of freeways at the Los Angeles Civic Center is the worst smog area in the city, a study shows.

Unless the city wants to avoid a "fantastic smog problem" in the future, says UCLA Prof. Albert F. Bush of the engineering department, it should study the possibility of spacing major freeway intersections at least five miles apart.

Students Rate Teachers In New Stanford Plan

STANFORD (UPI) — Stanford University is giving prospective teachers a look at problems of the classroom by paying students to criticize their teaching performances.

It's all part of a program called "micro-teaching," which consists of giving trainees the opportunity to conduct classroom lectures for small groups of students. At the same time, the performance is recorded on video tape.

When the lecture is over, the students rate the teacher's effectiveness, and the trainee's colleagues criticize the videotape.

"Micro-teaching breaks down the complex art of teaching into segments so that learning becomes easier for the beginner," said Dr. Dwight Allen, co-director of the project.

The course is now in its fifth year. Comparisons in past years have shown that students who had participated in the program perform better as teachers with less hours of training than other groups receiving traditional instruction.

State's Poverty

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California Finance Department has estimated that of the state's 3,991,509 families, 14 per cent live in poverty, 16 per cent live under conditions of deprivation, and 30 per cent are subject to both.

German Girl Finds Frantic Teen Pace

If the frantic pace of the American teen-ager's world seems hard for parents to understand, imagine how it looks to a German girl who speaks no English.

Such a girl is 16-year-old Monika Pree, who arrived in San Rafael from her native Bamberg just before classes started at San Rafael High School in September.

Among the problems Monika faces are the transition from a vastly different education system, learning the American teen-ager's complicated tribal customs—and finding out how to keep up with the action in a high school football game.

Monika, who speaks no English, was interviewed recently by a student reporter who spoke no German. With the aid of other students who knew a little of Monika's language, the reporter learned these facts:

She was born in Bamberg, in southeastern Germany, and lived there until now, making a few visits to Italy and France.

She went to school only one day a week, Monday, since the German school system allows youngsters to spend most of their week in on-the-job training. From Tuesdays through Saturdays, she was a teacher's assistant in a kindergarten.

On her one day in class, she remained in the same room—filled with girls only—to study history, mathematics, cooking, art and physical education.

With other teen-agers, she went to the movies or danced to a live band in a coffee house. German law allows those over 16 to stay out until 10, while 18-year-olds can stay until midnight.

Monika's mother, Mrs. Thomas B. Harm, first came to this country when her husband, an Air Force sergeant, was transferred back home from Germany in 1955. Uncertain of his future assignments, they left Monika and her two sisters with Mrs. Harm's parents in Bamberg.

Sergeant Harm was later transferred to Africa, and his wife elected to let her daughters stay in Germany. When, at last, they came back to America—and to Hamilton Air Force Base—Mrs. Harm felt it was time for the younger two, Monika and 13-year-old Doris, to come over.

While Monika was enrolling at San Rafael High, Doris started classes in the seventh grade at Davidson School.

The oldest daughter, 18-year-old Hanne, chose to stay in Bamberg. It will be up to her, Mrs. Harm explained yesterday, to decide whether she will come to this country eventually or spend her life in Germany.

As for the rest of the family, she said, they will go where Sergeant Harm goes. But when it comes time for him to retire from the Air Force, they plan to call America home.

Monika still hopes, as she did in Germany, to become a kindergarten teacher. There, however, one can achieve this goal without a college degree.

Will she go to college here? "She will have to learn English first, then we will decide about that," said her mother.

Vermont Hay Rides May Be Brighter

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP) — Moonlight in Vermont will get some artificial aid if the motor vehicle commissioner, James E. Malloy, has his way.

Malloy wants to erase a law allowing hay wagons and logging sleds on the roads at night without a lighted lantern in back. The law dates to a time when kerosene lamps could have started a fire. A tail light should be required, Malloy said, even on hay rides.

NEW SCULPTURE—Jacques Overhoff, Dutch-born sculptor, stands beside his work "The Universal Nerve" in San Francisco. The piece is composed of 26 pieces of cast bronze, and symbolizes present-day social and psychological tensions. (UPI Telephoto)

IN BRONZE

World Tension Depicted In Art

By RODNEY GUILFOIL

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — It doesn't make sense the first time you look at it, perhaps, but sculptor Jacques Overhoff is quite willing to give you plenty of time.

Several years, in fact. Then you might begin to be aware of what Overhoff intended when he welded 26 pieces of cast bronze together in a 12-foot-high composition.

The piece of sculpture stands in San Francisco's new Golden Gateway redevelopment area, a group of apartment towers and business offices now rising along the waterfront. It took Overhoff eight months to complete the work.

At first glance, it looks like a number of torn-up pieces of cardboard carton stuck together haphazardly. But that is not quite what Overhoff had in mind. He calls the work "Universal Nerve."

"As a person living in the world today," he says, "I'm aware of social tensions and forces working against each other. I've tried to translate this feeling into my work.

"It makes sense if you look at it long enough. It's a symbol of our times and it has a growing quality. In a couple of years, it might seem to you to be twice as big."

Overhoff, born in the Netherlands a lean and friendly man of 32, calls himself an architectural environmental artist. To this end, he works closely with architects and designers so his works can harmonize with their settings.

He and three Dutch friends have opened a bronze foundry in San Francisco's industrial district, using the "lost wax" method of casting. There are only three other such foundries in this country capable of casting big works — two in New York and one in Detroit.

"There hasn't been too much demand yet for the kind of thing we do," Overhoff says, "because artists in this country are unaccustomed to working in cast bronze. Most of them have been doing the so-called 'junk sculpture' using scrap metal and welding it together. We have to educate artists to work in wax."

For example, Overhoff started his Golden Gateway sculpture entirely with a full scale model. When he had it assembled to his liking, he cut the pieces apart with a hot knife and then cast them in a process involving "positive" and "negative" molds.

When he had his 26 pieces all cast in bronze, he welded them back together again. Each of the sections weighs an average of 150 pounds. Then he applied a greenish patina to make the work look a bit aged.

Right now, Overhoff is working on a three-dimensional sculpture in concrete for the Wilshire Metropolitan Medical Center in Los Angeles. It's 12 feet high and 16 feet wide.

Little Mateless Shoe Has Been Around

A small slipper that has been a wanderer since it was lost by a 19th Century mystery woman has left San Francisco.

Spool heeled, of leather and cloth design, the dainty shoe once moved strong men to poetry and dreams of the Cinderella who wore it.

Now, after exhibit at Wells Fargo Bank's History Room it is being returned to the man who discovered it, Grahame Hardy, of Carson City, Nevada, president of the Truckee Railroad.

The slipper's story began in 1896 when it was left behind at a Wells Fargo office in Vacaville. It was forwarded to the next stage stop with this poetic note of inquiry written on the waybill:

"My mate I'm on this journey to see
Though it take, many a week
But! When found and returned home,
My reception will be cordial and second to none."

The little shoe was passed from agency to agency—85 in all—in California and Oregon in search of its owner. Waybill tags and labels attached to the shoe were covered with rough poems and messages. Some agents wrote on the shoe itself or applied their wax seals to it.

In July 1896, the slipper left Honcut, California with this poem by the agent:

"Take me up gently, handle with care
I'm only a slipper and don't pay any fare.
The foot of a maiden, I once did adorne
Now I am lonely, sad, and forlorn".

From Forest Grove, Oregon, 1897:

"Could I but know the maiden fair,
Who wore this dainty shoe,
Could I but stroke her sunny hair,
Her ruby lips kiss, too,
I'd straightway join the married State,
Hereafter buy her shoes
I'm single, poor and twenty-eight
Goodby dear. George R. Hughes"

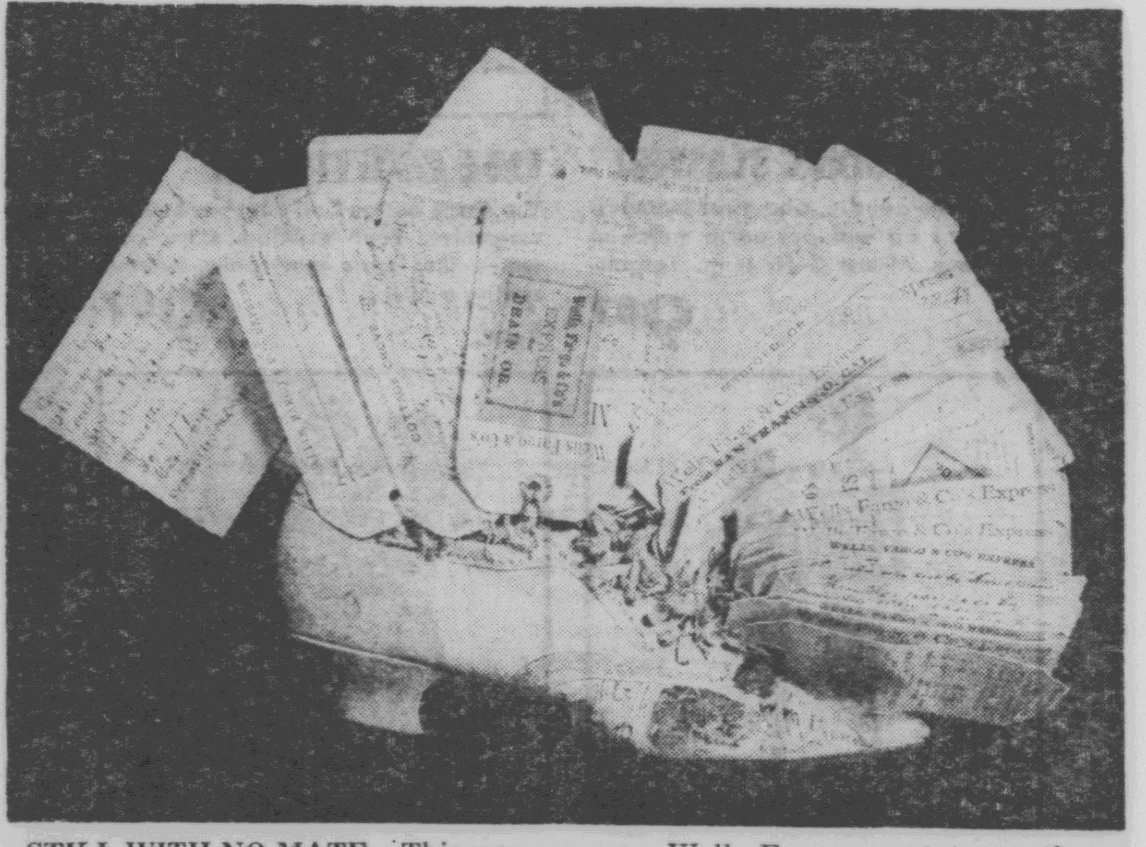
The little shoe endeared itself to many a lonesome Wells Fargo agent living in an isolated frontier town on the California-Oregon express routes. Their thoughts are reflected in this poem from Newport, Oregon:

"We hope this shoe will keep its strength
As it goes from state to state
For truly we know how to sympathize
We, too, are without a mate.

The slipper brought out the poet in everybody and it became a tradition among express agents to keep it going.

After three years of wandering, the accumulated tags almost obscured the slipper.

The shoe never found its mate or its owner. Now 70 years later, it continues on its sad solitary journey.



STILL WITH NO MATE—This wayfaring slipper has spent 70 years looking for a mate. It traveled from one Wells Fargo agent to another, as each added his tag and often a note.

Segregation Stays, Official Declares

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—Aileen C. Hernandes, Rhode Island's commissioner of equal employment opportunity, says the 1964 Civil Rights Act has not worked to desegregate more than an "infinitesimal" number of schools.

"This is true in the North as well as the South," Mrs. Hernandes said in a talk to the Urban League of Rhode Island and the Equal Employment Opportunity Council.

Against Measles

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—The Rhode Island Medical Society has announced plans to inoculate in one day every school child in the state against measles. The program is scheduled for some date in January.

Eye Operations Said Successful

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Leonard H. Heise, president of the Eye Bank Assn. of America, says more than 90 per cent of corneal transplants to blind persons have been successful.

Heise said "This is relative. One person may not feel such an operation is a success unless he can read the daily papers or look up a number in the telephone book. Another totally blind person may feel it's a success if he can see well enough to get around."

Speed Kills

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—The 1,000th person to die on the roads of the State of New South Wales was a youth whose car hit a tree at high speed in suburban Wetherill Park. He wasn't identified immediately but these words were tattooed on his right arm: "Speed Kills."

Kenya Is Planning To Exploit Barren Area Of 200-Mile Lake

NAIROBI, Kenya (UPI) — Plans are now being drawn in Nairobi to open up the arid north of Kenya, bring a better life to its people and lure tourist money to the areas by developing the vast but neglected Lake Rudolph.

The lake stretches through nearly 200 miles of barren country, beginning west of Marsabit and ending inside the Ethiopian border. It teems with fish and crocodiles, but its potential has never been expoilted.

Recently, a few tough tourists have trekked to the lake's shores lured by the promise of giant Nile perch. the Perch average around 100 pounds each and have been know to weigh up to 300 pounds. Unlike other lake game fish such as the fighting Tiger Fish of Central Africa, they make excellent eating.

Unlike coastal tribesmen, the Lake natives have never learned to construct a crude canoe. Droughts have killed off their herds but the lake, which could supply their food needs, goes untouched.

Various international relief organizations such as Oxfam, the Freedom from HUNGER Campaign and the World Health organization, have conducted surveys of the tribesmen's plight and all have come to the conclusion that exploitation of the lake's fish population is the key to relieving the situation.

Now the Kenya government, backed to some measure by these international organizations, plans to push roads into the area, initiate commercial fishing and establish a freezing plant on the lake shore to export the prized perch fillets all over East Africa.

HAZARD OF SCHOOL: A FINGER IN THE DESK

Greg Phipps, 13-year-old eighth grader at Adaline E. Kent School in Kentfield, put his left forefinger through a hole used for cleaning out his school desk yesterday, and it wouldn't come out. School officials called the Kentfield Fire Department, and what followed is shown above. At left, Fire Marshal Rolf Stahlbaum saws from the top as Fireman Rom Darington (only his arm visible) lies on floor to guide the saw away from Greg's hand under the desk. At center, a piece of the desk, cut away around the trapped finger, is removed with tin snips by Don Ippolito, a volunteer fireman. At right, Greg looks at his swollen finger with evident satisfaction that it's still there. The swelling subsided and Greg was "fine" today as he started Thanksgiving vacation, reported his foster mother, Mrs. Alexander Gilroy of 15 Los Perros Drive, Greenbrae. HIGHWAY DEATH ON EVE OF HOLIDAY — California Highway Patrolman Edward W. Radelich checks car at right in which Amy May Hayden, 44, of Sonoma was killed yesterday when it veered across Highway center strip (left of picture) and was hit by station wagon in center, driven by Joseph C. Black Point Head-On Crash Kills San Anselmo Worker

A 44-year-old bookkeeper for a San Anselmo realty firm was killed in an auto crash yesterday afternoon on Highway 37 at Black Point, only a few miles from where her only sister was killed by an auto just two weeks less than a year ago.

Amy May Hayden of Sonoma, a bookkeeper for Fardin Realty of San Anselmo, left work for home a little early to start the Thanksgiving holiday.

At 3:05 p.m., as she drove east on Highway 37 about four-tenths of a mile east of Atherton Avenue, Novato, her car suddenly veered across the dirt center divider and broadsided into a westbound station wagon driven by Joseph C, Brewster, 36, of Manzanita Place, Mill Valley.

Miss Hayden was dead on arrivel at Novato General Hospital at 3:30 p.m.

Brewster, a prominent Southern Marin horseman and former member of the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission, suffered severe cuts and bruises of face and arms. He was treated at the Novato hospital, then transferred to Marin General Hospital, where he was reported in good condition today.

Brewster told California Highway Patrol officers he was driving west at about 50 miles an hour in the left lane and had just crossed the Petaluma Creek Bridge when he saw Miss Hayden's eastbound car.

As it approached, it suddenly crossed the divider and slid broadside, he said. "I tried to hit the brakes, but couldn't do so in time to avoid hitting her," he said.

Highway Patrol officers seeking to determine what caused Miss Hayden's car to swerve, took the right front tire and wheel and a portion of the suspension system for tests. The right front tire was flat, but it could not be determined at the scene whether it had gone flat before the crash.

Asst. Coroner William C. Bradley reported that Miss Hayden had no history of any illness that would cause an attack or a blackout.

Miss Hayden's car was demolished in the crash. Brewster's car, owned by J & B Ford Leasing, Mill Valley, was damaged at the front and side. Nei-

Sun Returns To Marin For Holiday

The clouds made way for sunshine today in time for Thanksgiving dinner.

Winds had subsided, after they pushed a trimaran owned by Charles Thornton of Santa Rosa onto rocks off Belvedere just after noon yesterday.

The boat dragged its anchor before the wind, coming to shore on the west side of Belvedere Island. It apparently was undamaged, Belvedere police reported.

Wind also brought a tree crashing down on the old Bolinas-Olema Road at Horseshoe Hill about noon yesterday, blocking the road for a time and pulling down some telephone wires.

By this morning residents of Southern Marin were reporting

Ex-Belmont Mayor Found Dead In Canal

Christopher Lovick Jordan, 77, who served as city councilman and mayor of Belmont during the decade 1930-1940, was found dead in the San Rafael Canal yesterday, victim of either drowning or a heart attack.

Jordan's body was found in the canal at the rear of his home at 1 Third Street, with one hand clutching a rope at the stern of his boat and his face down in the water, Asst. Coroner William C. Bradley reported.

Jordan had a heart condition and hardening of the arteries. He either suffered a heart attack and fell into the water or fell overboard and drowned, Bradley said. An autopsy is scheduled at Harry M. Williams Mortuary.

Mrs. Jordan said she returned from a shopping trip shortly before 4 p.m. and could not locate her husband around the house.

"Then I checked the dock and saw him in the canal," she said.

Mrs. Jordan began screaming. Lester Wilford Simmonds of 520 Canal Street, Apt. 6, hearing the screams, rowed across the canal in his dinghy to hold Jordan's head above water, Bradley

Eight Feared Dead In Hotel Inferno

LAKEWOOD, N.J. (UPI) — Fire flashed through a three-story residence hall housing employees of a hotel in this resort community early today and authorities feared eight persons perished.

Firemen recovered three bodies and searched for five other persons believed trapped on the fire-swept third floor of the half-century old building. At least a dozen other persons escaped the fast-spreading blaze.

Petition Asks New Marincello Debate

The "Marin protest" began yesterday with circulation of petitions calling on the County Board of Supervisors to reconsider its Nov. 12 approval of the master plan for Marincello.

Chairman of the protest group is rancher George W. Wheelwright, who this week signed an agreement to make his Green Gulch Ranch three miles up the coast from Marincello an agricultural preserve.

The petition reads that "unfair advantage has been granted Gulf Oil Co. and Frouge Corp. in that:

"1. The approved 20,000 population (3.5 dwelling units per acre) provides three times the planned density of Novato and Mill Valley, double that of Tiburon, and substantially more than that of Corte Madera and Fairfax.

"2. Previously, consideration of any sizable development in this county has been deferred until either a master plan or at least guides for the area have been established. In this instance, existing zoning and densities for adjoining areas in Sausalito and Tamalpais Valley have been overridden.

"3. This crowded development, with tower apartments and industrial buildings at the boundaries of Marin Headlands State Park, will create a built-in blight and over-use of this new park, which is being financed by the people of the whote state.

"4. There are still facts concerning this park, use of its roads as access, and traffic congestion on the Redwood Highway and the Golden Gate Bridge which have not been adequately analyzed."

Petition chairmen are Mrs. Franklin J. McClain and Mrs. Hugh Rodman of Mill Valley.

Commissioner Blasts Bruce Suggestion

Julius H. Selinger, chairman of the Marin County Personnel Commission, has warned that the commission is in danger of becoming a "mere letterhead" in county government.

Selinger, writing in reply to a recommendation on the future of the commission by County Administrator Alan Bruce, said that "it is not realistic" to think the commission can recommend policy to supervisors by having tasks assigned it occasionally as Bruce proposes.

Bruce suggested that the commission should primarily be an appeals board for aggrieved employees, with policy recommendations and special studies taken on at the direction of the board of supervisors.

Selinger said a "continuous interaction" between the board of supervisors, administrator and commission is necessary if the commission is to be effective.

"Its contribution will be in finding solutions to real situations before they arise," his letter says.

Supervisors are expected to discuss Selinger's letter Tuesday.

Seven Die In Iowa Armory

KEOKUK, Ia. (UPI) — Rescue workers today searched the smoking ruins of a National Guard Armory ripped by an explosion at the height of a gala Thanksgiving eve square dance. Seven persons were killed and at least 47 others injured.

It was feared more bodies might be found in the rubble-filled basement of the brick and concrete block armory.

ROOF FALLS

The sudden explosion blasted out three walls of the building at about 9:40 CST last night and sent the roof crashing to the dance floor, where members of the "Swing Easy Square Dance Club" were promenading in a holiday atmosphere.

Three of the dead were identified as William Bennett, his 7-year-old son Tony and Alice Summers. The others were burned so badly identification was as difficeult.

VICTIM AFIRE

"I saw people screaming and timbers lying on top of some of them. One man came running through the hall all ablaze," said square dance caller Kenny Anderson, who was blown through a door by the blast.

"I picked myself up and looked back," he said. "It was an awful mess. One couple I know quite well came running out without any clothes on. The clothing had been burned off . . . it was a mass of human fire. Everybody was burning."

Igor Lives Cramped Life In Moscow, But He's Lucky

MOSCOW (UPI) — Igor is a 25-year-old Muscovite with a good job, a steady income and one tiny bedroom to call his own.

He hesitates to marry, because both he and his wife then would have to squeeze into the two-room apartment he shares with his parents. Only if they had children would they qualify as an "urgent case" and get a small apartment of their own.

The possibility of an apartment all for himself, or even of sharing a flat with another man is out of the question. All apartments are reserved for families.

Yet, Igor figures he is lucky. In a city with one of the worst housing problems in the Western world, a young man with a room of his own, even if it is less than five square yards, has no complaints.

In recent years the Soviet government has tried to solve this problem with a crash building program. Towering cranes dominate the skyline, especially on the city's outskirts.

But the problem exists. One statistic explains why. Every day there are 300 new apartments opened in Moscow. Every day 300 couples are married here. And every day 300 new Muscovites are born.

City officials profess confidence that, at the current building rate, the problem will be solved by 1980.

By that time, they say, rapid building plus control of the city's population will mean that every person in town will have 13 square yards of housing space to himself.

Both Moscow residents and Westerners here have their doubts, just as they doubt the official claim that the current figure is 8.5 square yards to a person.

The figure is distrusted because there are just too many people who have demonstrably less space — couples with three children crammed into two rooms, or even two families living in the same room.

LONDON (UPI) — The House of Commons today unanimously approved Prime Minister Harold Wilson's program for crushing the Rhodesian independence rebellion by all means short of military force.

British Lack Bread

LONDON (AP) — A three-day bakers' strike threatened 20 million Britons today with a breadless weekend. After small lightning strikes for a 30 per cent wage increase, the bakers' union called out 9,000 members in half of England — including London.

News Strike Seen

NEW YORK (AP)—The AFL-CIO New York Newspaper Guild says it will strike the New York Daily News at 6 p.m. Wednesday unless agreement on a new contract is reached by then. John J. Gaherin, president of the Publishers Association of New York City, says six other newspapers in the association probably will shut down if the news is prevented from publishing.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Texas Warmest

NEW YORK (UPI) — The lowest temperature reported this morning to the U.S. Weather Bureau, excluding Alaska and Hawaii, was 2 degrees below zero at Cut Bank, Mont., and Devil's Lake, N.D. The highest reported yesterday was 93 at Junction, Tex.

Reds Accuse India

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China today accused Indian troops of shelling Chinese frontier guards on the border between China and the Indian protectorate of Sikkim. It was the second such charge in two days.

G.I.'s Play Host

BERLIN (UPI) — The Army invited 250 West Berlin officials to Thanksgiving dinner at the U.S. Officers Club today. Approximately 2,000 German orphans will dine with enlisted men.

Plane Crew Saved

KALAMATA (UPI) — A U.S. Navy C-117 transport plane ditched in the Mediterranean 15 miles south of here today when it developed engine trouble. The six crew members were picked up by a Greek ship.

Twin Doing Well

FLORENCE, Italy (UPI) — Doctors said today 10-day-old Giovanni Becattini, who was separated from his Siamese twin hours after birth, is "progressing satisfactorily." The twins were joined at the lower back and doctors separated them on the day of their birth because of the deterioration of one who later died.

Nickel Quarters Giving Trouble

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—This city's biggest vending machine company is having trouble with the new nickel-plated copper quarters.

Leslie McCleary, owner of SF Operators Service, said yesterday, the machines are rejecting 20 per cent of the new coins.

Several other San Francisco vending machine firms reported little trouble.

Bloodless Coup Shakes Up Congo

Mobuto

Kasavubu

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—A military coup today toppled the Congo's shaky civilian government. The commander of the army, Lt. Gen. Joseph Mobutu, seized power and installed himself as president for five years.

There was no violence.

Mobutu, 35, deposed President Joseph Kasavubu and Premier-designate Evariste Kimba and ordered Col. Leonard Mulamba to take over as premier and form a government of national union.

The upheavel was the climax to several weeks of bitter political infighting between Kasavubu and former Premier Moise Tshombe. Kasavubu fired Tshombe six weeks ago.

Mobutu said the battle for power between Tshombe and Kasavubu had plunged the Congo into "permanent political crisis."

In a further attempt to stifle the political bickering between Tshombe and Kasavubu, Mobutu announced that he would ask Parliament to change the constitution so as to cancel next February's presidential elections.

'Voices' Blamed For Fire Bombs

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A brilliant electronics expert who says he was conducting a crusade against Communist agitators and Negro rioters has been charged with dropping home-made fire bombs on five homes from a rented airplane.

The engineer, Lon David Shaw told a newsman, "It was pure psychological warfare," he said as he talked yesterday about the night flights during the past year, during which he hurled gallon jugs of flammable liquid out the open cockpit windows.

However, all of the bombs, similar to giant Molotov cocktails, exploded harmlessly on lawns or backyards except one that landed on an awning and set a room ablaze.

Shaw, a native of Bellefontaine, Miss., with an IQ of 150, said "secret voices" supplied him with information about Communist activities in Dade County.

Thanksgiving Lull Reported In Viet Nam

SAIGON (UPI) — Fighting slacked off throughout most of South Viet Nam today and thousands of American GIs celebrated Thanksgiving with traditional turkey dinners.

A U.S. military spokesman said the combat lull gave "more troops than were normally expected" a chance to enjoy the holiday.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of all American forces in Viet Nam, flew to Phan Rang to eat dinner with paratroopers of the 1st Brigade, 101st Airborne.

Communist snipers opened fire on one military truck rushing turkey dinners to Marines manning a defense perimeter, but the truck got through and the food was still hot.

Helicopters rush piping-hot dinners to other isolated posts in the hinterlands.

At Da Nang, U.S. Marines presented a set of swings to Vietnamese school children.

Maj. Gen. Lewis Walt, commander general of the Third Marine Amphibious Force, paid a call on the civilian hospital in Da Nang and offered the services of a military electrician to repair the hospital's laundry unit.

In another gesture in the spirit of Thanksgiving, Walt offered American airplanes to fly medical supplies to Da Nang from Saigon.

Princess Returns To London Rain

LONDON (AP) — Princess Margaret and her husband, Lord Snowdon, returned from their American tour today to London rain.

Dressed in a mink coat and a hat of gold ostrich feathers, the princess walked to her waiting car under an umbrella.

After their three-week visit to the United States, the princess and her husband flew to London from New York via Bermuda where the princess presented colors to the Bermuda regiment during a six-hour stay.

Southern California Hopes Rise For End To Downpours

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Storm-weary Southern Californians cast wary eyes at a gray sky today, willing to settle for a cloudy Thanksgiving in place of the drenching rains that have wrought havoc over the past two weeks.

The forecast called for overcast skies, light rains and occasionally gusty winds today, with clearing skies Friday and excellent prospects for a sunny, brisk weekend.

Even gloomy weather today was a welcome relief from many days of thundering downpours that left a record 11 inches of rain and caused widespread death and destruction.

Authorities said at least eight Southern Californians perished in floods and another five persons, four of them children, were killed in the Mexican border town of Tijuana.

A fourth storm expected to follow on the heels of the preceding trio began drifting east instead of south, removing the threat from already-sodden Southern California.

Weather was also expected to improve today in Northern California, where main highways over the Sierras were blocked by snow.

In other parts of the nation, heavy snow covered Western mountain areas from Arizona to Montana. Four inches of snow fell in a one-hour period at Great Falls, Mont. The snow spread into the upper Great Lakes region with one to three inches across areas of northern Wisconsin. Amounts of six inches were reported in some sections.

German Girl Finds Frantic Teen Pace

If the frantic pace of the American teen-ager's world seems hard for parents to understand, imagine how it looks to a German girl who speaks no English.

Such a girl is 16-year-old Monika Pree, who arrived in San Rafael from her native Bamberg just before classes started at San Rafael High School in September.

Among the problems Monika faces are the transition from a vastly different education system, learning the American teen-ager's complicated tribal customs—and finding out how to keep up with the action in a high school football game.

Monika, who speaks no English, was interviewed recently by a student reporter who spoke no German. With the aid of other students who knew a little of Monika's language, the reporter learned these facts:

She was born in Bamberg, in southeastern Germany, and lived there until now, making a few visits to Italy and France.

She went to school only one day a week, Monday, since the German school system allows youngsters to spend most of their week in on-the-job training. From Tuesdays through Saturdays, she was a teacher's assistant in a kindergarten.

On her one day in class, she remained in the same room—filled with girls only—to study history, mathematics, cooking, art and physical education.

With other teen-agers, she went to the movies or danced to a live band in a coffee house. German law allows those over 16 to stay out until 10, while 18-year-olds can stay until midnight.

Monika's mother, Mrs. Thomas B. Harm, first came to this country when her husband, an Air Force sergeant, was transferred back home from Germany in 1955. Uncertain of his future assignments, they left Monika and her two sisters with Mrs. Harm's parents in Bamberg.

Sergeant Harm was later transferred to Africa, and his wife elected to let her daughters stay in Germany. When, at last, they came back to America—and to Hamilton Air Force Base—Mrs. Harm felt it was time for the younger two, Monika and 13-year-old Doris, to come over.

While Monika was enrolling at San Rafael High, Doris started classes in the seventh grade at Davidson School.

The oldest daughter, 18-year-old Hanne, chose to stay in Bamberg. It will be up to her, Mrs. Harm explained yesterday, to decide whether she will come to this country eventually or spend her life in Germany.

As for the rest of the family, she said, they will go where Sergeant Harm goes. But when it comes time for him to retire from the Air Force, they plan to call America home.

Monika still hopes, as she did in Germany, to become a kindergarten teacher. There, however, one can achieve this goal without a college degree.

Will she go to college here? "She will have to learn English first, then we will decide about that," said her mother.

Vermont Hay Rides May Be Brighter

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP) — Moonlight in Vermont will get some artificial aid if the motor vehicle commissioner, James E. Malloy, has his way.

Malloy wants to erase a law allowing hay wagons and logging sleds on the roads at night without a lighted lantern in back. The law dates to a time when kerosene lamps could have started a fire. A tail light should be required, Malloy said, even on hay rides.

Freeway Intersection Creates Smog Woes

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A cloverleaf stack of freeways at the Los Angeles Civic Center is the worst smog area in the city, a study shows.

Unless the city wants to avoid a "fantastic smog problem" in the future, says UCLA Prof. Albert F. Bush of the engineering department, it should study the possibility of spacing major freeway intersections at least five miles apart.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Robert M. White, former chief of the U.S. Weather Bureau, says a new international cooperative venture, the World Weather Watch, should be operating by 1971.

Students Rate Teachers In New Stanford Plan

STANFORD (UPI) — Stanford University is giving prospective teachers a look at problems of the classroom by paying students to criticize their teaching performances.

It's all part of a program called "micro-teaching," which consists of giving trainees the opportunity to conduct classroom lectures for small groups of students. At the same time, the performance is recorded on video tape.

When the lecture is over, the students rate the teacher's effectiveness, and the trainee's colleagues criticize the videotape.

"Micro-teaching breaks down the complex art of teaching into segments so that learning becomes easier for the beginner," said Dr. Dwight Allen, co-director of the project.

The course is now in its fifth year. Comparisons in past years have shown that students who had participated in the program perform better as teachers with less hours of training than other groups receiving traditional instruction.

State's Poverty

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California Finance Department has estimated that of the state's 3,991,509 families, 14 per cent live in poverty, 16 per cent live under conditions of deprivation, and 30 per cent are subject to both.

Taylor Predicts A Slow Victory

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, a former ambassador to Saigon, predicts the Republic of South Viet Nam eventually will win the war there.

But Taylor would not put what he called a "terminal date" on the conflict as he spoke yesterday at LaSalle College.

He said he is certain the Communist North Viet Nam government will never seek negotiations to end the war until it is convinced it cannot win.

Two Cars Stolen In San Rafael

Two cars were reported stolen in San Rafael yesterday.

Mary L. Carpenter of 11 Third Street, San Rafael, told police that her 1962 Buick convertible was stolen from her residence during the night. The keys were not in the car, she said.

Ingrid Hickey of 30 Main Street, San Quentin Village, told police that her 1953 Ford was stolen from the city parking lot at Second and Lindaro Streets on Tuesday. The keys were not in the car, she said.

Disability Definition Change Adds Benefits

An important change in the definition of "disability" under the social security law has been made in amendments to the law passed this year, Patrick Stevens, Social Security district manager said yesterday.

People are now eligible for monthly benefits if they have a disabling condition which has lasted, or is expected to last, at least 12 months.

Under the old regulations, benefits were granted only if the disability was expected to last indefinitely.

But as before, only people who cannot do any substantial gainful work can receive benefits.

The amendments leave unchanged two other important provisions, said Stevens.

Benefits are available only if a person has had social security credit for at least five years of work in a 10-year period prior to becoming disabled. Cash benefits do not begin until after the first six months of disability.

These and other changes in the law are noted in a pamphlet available free from the Social Security Office, 1245 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

Novato Bright For Yule Season

Motorists on Highway 101 through Novato this Christmas season will find six of the trees in the center islands brightly lighted.

This is just one of the new Christmas decorations which will be used in the city during the holiday season, said Roscoe Morgan, chairman of the trade bureau committee of the Novato Chamber of Commerce.

The main business district will be decorated with 75 elves and four Santa Clauses on poles in front of business houses along Grant Avenue, he said.

Morgan expects the decorations to be up by Dec. 4.

Decorations Discussed By Rec Board

The Corte Madera Parks and Recreation Commission last night discussed Christmas decorations and suggested a fir tree be planted in front of the new public safety building at Tamalpais and Pixley avenues.

The commission suggested traditional lighting used on the old fire house at Tamalpais and Willow avenues. Flood lighting at Menke Park was also suggested.

The commission approved $288 for a backstop for the tennis courts at the town park adjacent to Neil Cummins School.

Extension of the chain link fence at the tiny tot park was approved. The park is adjacent to the new public safety building. Relocation of the park's fence from Pixley Avenue to the park's service road, to get it away from the firemen's emergency entrance, was also proposed.

First patent registered was in 1790.

Judge Sees Point Of Motorcycle Parkers'' Gripe

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two of the six motorcyclists who got $5 traffic tickets for parking their vehicles in two metered parking places have won their points.

Four paid their fine by mail, but David McCann of Redwood City and Milton Swanson of South San Francisco appeared in court to argue.

Municipal Judge Fitz-Gerald Ames dismissed the charges against them yesterday.

"Suppose 40 cyclists came to the city and occupied 40 stalls," he said. "Think how that would reduce parking for motorists."

In the public interest, he said, it's good practice to squeeze as many motorcycles into a single stall as possible.

Louis Armstrong began blowing his jazz horn in 1917.

Talley Resigning Planner Position

Planner R. Ross Talley of the Marin County Planning Department has resigned as of Jan. 1 to become manager of the Cooperative Center Federal Credit Union to be established at Corte Madera.

Membership in the credit union will be for members of the Marin Center of the Consumer Cooperative of Berkeley, soon to be built in Corte Madera.

Talley, a graduate of San Francisco State College, has been with the county planning department five years.

A FAMILIAR SIGHT OF THE FUTURE?—This is artist's conception of what a hydrofoil would look like passing under the Golden Gate Bridge. Such a boat will be placed in service early next year by Hydrofoils, Inc., headed by John Fell Stevenson of San Francisco. When commute schedules will be started remains indefinite, however.

Hydrofoil Firm Proposes Eventual Commute Service

A hydrofoil boat that can skim from Tiburon to San Francisco in 10 minutes will be put in use on the Bay by February, but any daily commute schedule is somewhere in the indefinite future.

This was disclosed by John Fell Stevenson, president of the newly formed Hydrofoils, Inc., at a press conference in San Francisco's Fairmont Hotel late yesterday.

The company's initial 48-passenger hydrofoil, to be christened the San Francisco, is scheduled for delivery early next month, Stevenson said. It will be put in use by February for sight-seeing trips.

Sometime later, the company will receive a 150-passenger hydrofoil which will make possible the start of commuter service.

"We cannot hope to satisfy the mass transportation demand," said the 29-year-old son of the late ambassador to the United Nations, "but we can alleviate the present situation and fill the interim period until rapid transit tubes become a reality."

The hydrofoil, identical with boats in use in New York and abroad, will travel at 40 miles an hour.

Stevenson's company was granted a lease yesterday for docking facilities at Pier 43 on the San Francisco Marina. Where the hydrofoil will dock in Tiburon is not yet assured, however.

Stevenson, whose announcement came on the heels of an upsurge of interest in restoring ferry service across the Bay and the Golden Gate, said:

"I see the day when water transportation will be serving large areas, with trains running up to the ferry buildings."

(That's the way it was here before the Golden Gate Bridge was built).

Stevenson said he first realized the potential of hydrofoil ferrries "in 1958 when I rode down the Volga River in one."

He disclosed his company may seek a federal government subvention to expand from sightseeing to commuter service.

"Washington likes the idea of the boats very much," said Stevenson, whose father was twice Democratic candidate for President.

United Fund Ordered To Approve Merger

With somewhat less than complete freedom of choice, members of the Marin United Fund are being instructed to approve the fund's merger with four others next month into a single United Bay Area Crusade.

The decision is scheduled to be made at the Marin fund's annual dinner meeting, scheduled for 8 p. m., Dec. 14 at Peacock Gap Country Club.

Directors will meet 30 minutes before the dinner session. They, too, are being instructed to ratify the merger.

In twin letters to the directors and the entire membership, Marin United Fund president S. J. Hugh Allen explained the situation.

To the directors, Allen explained that, "to pave the way for approval of the merger . . . you are reluctantly advised that it is an absolute must that the board of directors adopt a formal resolution approving the merger and authorizing the officers to sign appropriate documents."

In his letter to members, Allen said a two-thirds vote of the entire membership would be needed for approval.

"The general terms of the proposed merger are that all of the assets of each such United Fund will be transferred to, and all of its outstanding contracts and liabilities will be assured by, United Bay Area Crusade," Allen wrote.

answered emergency calls for aid. The injured were rushed to hospitals. The Air Force flew blood to Keokuk from Chanute Air Force Base in Rantoul, Ill.

Graham Hospital said today 28 persons had been admitted, 15 in serious condition two in critical condition. St. Joseph's Hospital reported 17 admitted, although three were later transferred to hospitals in other towns. Others were treated and released.

Three cranes working in the glare of emergency floodlights lifted huge chunks of the roof from the dance floor while authorities looked for survivors or victims during the night.

Jim Regan, who lives in a trailer park near the armory, said he rushed into the building after the blast in an attempt to rescue the square dancers.

"I heard small cries of children apparently coming from the basement," Regan said. "Everyone was screaming and hollering. I heard some yell, 'Come and get me. I can't get out.' "

Regan said when he ran into the armory he saw a man and woman trapped by fallen timbers from the roof.

Keokuk Fire Chief John Breheny said a preliminary investigation indicated the tragedy was caused by a gas explosion.

The armory building was about 100 feet long and 50 feet wide. The roof as set on giant arches. Police said only the back wall of the building was left standing after the explosion.

said.

San Rafael police and United Ambulance attendants attempted artificial respiration and the San Rafael Fire Department inhalator was called, but Jordan was dead on arrival at San Rafael General Hospital at 4:15 p.m.

Bradley said that Jordan's body might have been in the water "for a couple of hours."

Jordan, a retired Belmont heavy construction contractor, had been a resident of Marin for 18 years. He was a member of the San Rafael Yacht Club, and was known to members as "Cap."

A native of Norway, he had been a resident of California for 60 years. He served in the Navy during World War I.

Surviving is his wife, Anna. The couple had no children.

CRASH

ther driver was thrown out, the highway patrol reported.

Witnesses estimated Miss Hayden's car was going about 50 miles an hour. Highway patrolmen said the tires left no skid marks before the car crossed the divider.

The death was the 25th this year in Marin County traffic. Last year to Nov. 25, the county had 37 traffic fatalities.

Miss Hayden had resided in Sonoma about two and one-half years—about the same length of time she was employed by Fardin Realty. Prior to that she lived on Bungalow Court and Prospect Drive in San Rafael and was employed by a San Rafael accounting firm.

"She was a very careful driver. The tire must have blown to cause her to cross the divider," said her employer, Gene Fardin.

Miss Hayden's sister, Mrs. Ella Marie Boyce, 47, of Santa Venetia, was killed by a car on Dec. 9, 1964, as she ran across Highway 101 north of Entrada Drive, Novato.

Mrs. Boyce and her son, Jerry, 17, were en route to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee Hayden of Boyes Springs. Mrs. Boyce had car trouble and stopped by the side of the road, sending her son back to a service station to telephone her husband for help. As the youth was returning to the car, she started across the highway.

William D. Luff, 26, of Petaluma, a house painter driving home from a job in Terra Linda, said she suddenly "froze" as his car approached. It struck her, killing her instantly.

Only her parents survive Miss Hayden.

WEATHER

a sign of a break in the rain when a complete double rainbow was sighted, but it was seen through rain which began to fall after a starry night. Sun and rain came together in the Chevy Chase area of Larkspur to form another rainbow this morning.

Those who gave up turkey for skiing found the snow supply plentiful, in some places even too much, at northern California ski resorts.

Snow reports ranged from 20 inches at Dodge Ridge to 108 inches on Mount Shasta, with 30 to 40 inches the average. Snow closed some roads yesterday, but they were reported opened by today for those heading for the snow.

Hail, sleet, winds were the closest Marin came to snow yesterday. Thunder and lightning were reported with the rain that fell on the East Bay.

Highest rainfall reading this morning in Marin was .78 of an inch in San Rafael for the 24 hours to 9 a.m. Chevy Chase (Larkspur) had .36, Sausalito .35, Belvedere .30, Woodacre and San Anselmo .25, Tamalpais Valley .19, Mill Valley .16, Novato .15, Point Reyes .13.

Liquir Stolen

Sue E. Bradley of 40 Madrona Avenue, Ross, reported to sheriff's deputies at 9:22 p.m. yesterday that her summer home on Crescent Avenue in Bolinas had been entered and six bottles of liquor stolen. A small cabinet in the home had been broken open, damages estimated at $15 to the cabinet. Officers said entry was apparently through an unlocked window.

OBITUARIES

Elizabeth G. Gates Dies At 85

Mrs. Elizabeth Gertrude Gates, a Marin resident for 55 years, died yesterday in a local hospital after a short illness.

She was one of the original owners of the Princess Theater (now the Gate Theater) in Sausalito and once owned the Stationery Store in Sausalito.

Mrs. Gates, 85, was born in Long Island, N.Y. She came to Sausalito in 1909 and lived there for 40 years. She moved to Strawberry in 1953, living there until about eight months ago when she entered a convalescent home.

She was a member of St. Hilary's Catholic Church, Tiburon.

Mrs. Gates is survived by three daughters, Mrs. N. W. Foran of Glen Ridge, N.J and Elizabeth Lucille and Charlotte M. Gates, of Tiburon, and a son, Ralph Joseph Gates of San Rafael. Also surviving is her brother, William Monahan of Grosse Isle, Mich.

Requiem Mass will be celebrated at 9 a.m. Saturday at St. Hilary's Church. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Russell and Gooch Mortuary, Mill Valley. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

GEORGE MARTIN

Funeral for George Martin, 63, of 30 Diane Lane, Larkspur, will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday at the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

Martin died Tuesday at a local hospital after a brief illness.

A native of Seattle, he had lived in California for 37 years and in Marin County for nine years. He was supervisor of the stock transfer department of Pacific Gas and Electric Co., San Francisco, having worked for the company for 28 years.

He was a member of Far West Lodge 673, Free and Accepted Masons; San Francisco Chapter 1, Royal Arch Masons; California Commandery 1, Knights Templar; Islam Temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, and Pacific Service Employees Assn.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Jean M. Martin of Larkspur; a daughter, Patricia Ann Martin of Santa Monica, and a sister, Mrs. Gertrude Bishop of Seattle.

Cremation will be private.

VERNA CHENEY

Funeral for Mrs. Verna Lee Cheney, 55, who died Tuesday at Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital after a long illness, will be held at 11 a.m. tomorrow at the Redwood Chapel Funeral Home in Novato.

Mrs. Cheney, a native of Roanoke, Va., worked as a secretary for the federal government in Washington, D.C., and later in Puerto Rico, where she met and married her husband, Col. Howard A. Cheney.

She and her husband lived in England and Venezuela as well as at various military bases in the United States. They were stationed at Hamilton Air Force Base from 1958 to 1960. They moved back to Novato when he retired last April.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by a daughter, Lee Ellen Cheney of Novato; her mother, Mrs. A. W. Fleshman, and four brothers, Arthur Jr., Mason, Richard and Turner Fleshman, all of Roanoke.

Burial will be in Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno.

MRS. NOLASCO

Funeral will be held Saturday for Josephine Nolasco, mother of Mrs. Catherine Carlson of San Rafael.

Mrs. Nolasco, 86, died Tuesday at the St. Helena Sanitarium. A native of Italy, she had lived in Calistoga for 64 years where she and her husband, the late Louis Nolasco, were grape growers.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Carlsen and Mrs. Rose Williams of Gilroy, and three sons, John and Charles Nolasco of Calistoga and Peter of Concord, and 14 grandchildren and 12 great grandchildren.

Services will be held at 9:45 a.m. Saturday at the Simic Funeral Home, Calistoga. Burial will be in Holy Cross Cemetery, St. Helena.

MARTIN E. SIEM

Private funeral for Martin E. Siem, 85, of 673 Cascade Drive, Fairfax, was held yesterday at the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

Siem died yesterday at a local convalescent home after a long illness. A native of Germany, he moved to California as a young boy. He was an electrician in the Bay Area for 52 years, and a Marin County resident for 15 years. He was a member of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, San Francisco Local 6.

He is survived by a son, Martin Shiem Jr. of Fairfax, and a daughter, Marguerite Siem of San Francisco.

MERLE PRESTON

Funeral for Merle L. Preston, mother of Joseph W. Preston of Mill Valley, will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow at N. Gray and Co., San Francisco.

Mrs. Preston, 81, a lifelong resident of San Francisco, died Tuesday at a San Francisco hospital.

Her father, Capt. Robert Lawson, was a skipper who sailed the West Coast on trading schooners. Mrs. Preston, who was one of the earliest graduates of Sarah Dix Hamilton School and a member of the alumni association, was active in Republican politics.

She is survived by her son, Joseph, a news correspondent in Saigon who is in the Bay Area for a week, one grandson and four great-grandsons.

Burial will be in Cypress Lawn Cemetery, Colma.

CONRAD M. WEBB

Conrad Mason Webb of San Mateo, a 51-year-old chauffeur, suffered a fatal heart attack at the Fountain Motel, 155 Shoreline Highway, Manzanita, at 3:20 p.m. Tuesday.

Webb, chauffeur for Charles W. Huse of San Francisco, vice president of the Western Division of U. S. Steel Corp., had driven Mrs. Huse on a shopping trip to the Town and Country Shopping Center at Strawberry, Asst. Coroner William C. Bradley reported.

He complained of being ill and Mrs. Huse suggested that he go to a motel and rest, Bradley said. Shortly after they arrived at the motel, Mrs. Huse heard Webb fall in the bathroom.

Webb was taken to Marin General Hospital but was dead on arrival. The body was sent to San Mateo County where funeral is scheduled tomorrow.

Webb, a native of North Carolina, had been a resident of California for 23 years and a chauffeur for the Huses for 16 years. He is survived by a wife and five children in San Mateo County.

JAMES W. WADE

Private funeral for James William Wade, 73, of San Rafael, who died yesterday in a local hospital, will be held tomorrow.

Wade was a retired painting contractor. He resided with his wife, Enona, at 17A Taylor Street.

Wade was born in Houston, Tex., and had lived in California for 33 years, the past 11 years in Marin. He was a member of the Marin Rod and Gun Club.

He is survived by his wife.

Friends may call until noon tomorrow at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael. Following the private service, inurnment will be at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

ATTILIO PINOCCI

Requiem Mass for Attilio Pinocci, 56, of 203 Scenic Avenue, San Anselmo, will be offered at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at St. Anselmo's Church, San Anselmo.

Pinocci died Tuesday of a heart attack.

Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

Hospital Board Hires Architectural Firm

The Marin Hospital District board Tuesday night agreed to hire the architectural firm of Rex Whitaker Allen and Associates of San Francisco to prepare a master plan for Marin General Hospital.

The board stipulated that the contract call for production of the master plan within six months at a cost of not more than $10,000.

Dr. T. Scott Strathairn, hospital chief of staff, said the Allen firm was recommended by the hospital's medical advisory board. The firm specializes in hospital planning, he said.

The board also authorized creation of the $20-25,000 a year position of medical director, beginning in the 1967 fiscal year.

The new post would be designed to take some work from the chief of staff. The medical director would act as liason between the staff, administration and board.

In authorizing the position, directors said they planned to review their decision in May, before including funds of the job in the budget.

The Marin Hospital District board also:

1. Spent a half hour in closed session for the stated purpose of "evaluating" public relations consultant Jules Becker.

2. Heard that the hospital volunteers council has $4,000 to donate for an X-ray machine for surgery. Hospital Administrator William W. Turner suggested the volunteers consider carpeting of floors in patient areas as a future project.

3. Named Dr. Thomas P. Lowry and County Public Works Supt. Donald R. Frost to the architectural review board of the proposed mental health center.

Board president Marion C. Ibach was absent.

Eye Operations Said Successful

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Leonard H. Heise, president of the Eye Bank Assn. of America, says more than 90 per cent of corneal transplants to blind persons have been successful.

Heise said "This is relative. One person may not feel such an operation is a success unless he can read the daily papers or look up a number in the telephone book. Another totally blind person may feel it's a success if he can see well enough to get around."

Speed Kills

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—The 1,000th person to die on the roads of the State of New South Wales was a youth whose car hit a tree at high speed in suburban Wetherill Park. He wasn't identified immediately but these words were tattooed on his right arm: "Speed Kills."

Kenya Is Planning To Exploit Barren Area Of 200-Mile Lake

NAIROBI, Kenya (UPI) — Plans are now being drawn in Nairobi to open up the arid north of Kenya, bring a better life to its people and lure tourist money to the areas by developing the vast but neglected Lake Rudolph.

The lake stretches through nearly 200 miles of barren country, beginning west of Marsabit and ending inside the Ethiopian border. It teems with fish and crocodiles, but its potential has never been expoilted.

Recently, a few tough tourists have trekked to the lake's shores lured by the promise of giant Nile perch. the Perch average around 100 pounds each and have been know to weigh up to 300 pounds. Unlike other lake game fish such as the fighting Tiger Fish of Central Africa, they make excellent eating.

Unlike coastal tribesmen, the Lake natives have never learned to construct a crude canoe. Droughts have killed off their herds but the lake, which could supply their food needs, goes untouched.

Various international relief organizations such as Oxfam, the Freedom from HUNGER Campaign and the World Health organization, have conducted surveys of the tribesmen's plight and all have come to the conclusion that exploitation of the lake's fish population is the key to relieving the situation.

Now the Kenya government, backed to some measure by these international organizations, plans to push roads into the area, initiate commercial fishing and establish a freezing plant on the lake shore to export the prized perch fillets all over East Africa.

East Mill Valley Zone Plan Recommended

Mill Valley Planning Commission Tuesday night recommended rezoning of the East Mill Valley area in accordance with recommendations made in the recently adopted East Mill Valley General Plan.

These include zoning of Project 17 as open area; rezoning the large area at the intersection of Camino Alto and Miller Avenue from public and special commercial to commercial-recreational, and dividing the Enchanted Park area, near Enchanted Knolls, among three zones: single family planned residential, multi-family residential and professional-administrative.

The commission recommended eliminating the warehousing and light industry zone, now applying in the area of East Blithedale Aveune and Camino Alto, and rezoning that area general commercial.

Alto Bowl No. 1 annexation was taken from an interim zoning requiring 15,000 square feet per single family unit to planned residential, and Alto Corridor No. 1 annexation from unclassified to general commercial. The Biggio property at Camino Alto and Sycamore Avenue was recommended to be changed to commercial-recreational from single family residential.

Commissioners took under study a revised zoning and sign ordinance.

The commission will hold a study session on the future of downtown Mill Valley at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Outdoor Art Club, with businessmen and other interested persons.

Novato Fire Insurance Cost To Drop

Residents of the Novato Fire District will receive substantial decreases in fire insurance rates because of a new rating received today by the Novato Fire District from the Pacific Fire Rating Bureau, according to Fire Chief George Cavallero.

The district, which has had ratings of classes 5, 8 and 9 in the past, will have only classes 4 and 8. The new ratings are effective at once.

The district was surveyed last year for a possible change in insurance rates. In lowering the rates, the bureau complimented the district on the changes it has made to keep up with the growing community, Cavallero said.

The class 4 rating applies to all the area in which there are fire hydrants, and the class 8 rating is for Black Point and the ranches in the district, he said.

Cavallero estimated a 9.5 per cent decrease in fire insurance rates for commercial areas.

Millard Miles, insurance agent, said that the change from class 5 to class 4 on $20,000 house policy would be from $92.64 to $87.88 for a three-year policy. The change in coverage on a $20,000 rural home from class 9 to class 8 would drop the insurance from $175.15 to $123.85, Miles said.

Reapportionment On Radio Panel

State Sen. John F. McCarthy (R-San Rafael) and Assemblyman William T. Bagley (R-San Rafael) will discuss "Reapportionment" on the Radio KTIM discussion program, "Marin Sounding Board," tomorrow at 9 a.m.

The program, conducted by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be recorded and rebroadcast Sunday at 12:30 p.m. Postponed from today because of the holiday, "Sounding Board" will return to its usual scheduled time on Thursday next week.

Eleven Novato Girls To Vie For Queen

Eleven Novato High School senior girls will compete for the "Novato Junior Miss" title in a pageant at 8 p.m., Dec. 11, at the Novato Community House, sponsored by the Novato Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The top winner will receive a $400 scholarship and a trip to the state Junior Miss contest in Garden Grove in January to compete for a $6,000 scholarship. The Novato girl in second place will receive a $200 scholarship and the third place winner, $100.

Contestants are: Marsha Baccaglio of 1526 South Novato Boulevard, Nanette Baget of 1410 Buchanan Street, Vicki Bennett of 1400 Vallejo Avenue; Kathleen Ann Heyman of 1412 Buchanan Street, Sheila Hodges of 1431 Buchanan, Barbara Jones of 17 Kristy Court, Diane La Ferriere of 1645 Center Road, Louise Morrow of 1420 Dawes Street, Terri Scott of 15 Theresa Court, Charlene Swan of 17 Nave Court, and Kathy Wollam of 805 Diablo Avenue.

Each girl will appear three times during the pageant, said Paul Dock, Junior Chamber of Commerce production committee chairman: in evening dress, in sports attire, and in a talent appearance.

The girls will be judged on personality, character, charm, intelligence and beauty.

Judges of the pageant will be Ernest Young, vice president of the Bank of America; Col. B. H. McDovall, chief personnel division at Hamilton Air Force Base; Virgil S. Hollis, Marin County superintendent of schools, and Mrs. Margaret Morrison, president of the Novato Business and Professional Women's Club.

Dimes Kickoff

Kickoff dinner for the 1966 March of Dimes in Marin has been scheduled for 8 p.m. Monday at Rancho Nicasio.

Crash Places Two In Hospital

Two Marin men were injured yesterday when the car they were in hit a utility pole in San Rafael.

Jack F. Martin, 23, of 191 Canal Street, San Rafael, and his passenger, Elmo A. Sasseli, 23, of 80 Mohawk Avenue, Corte Madera, were reported in good condition at San Rafael General Hospital following the accident at 1:05 a.m. at Second Street and Grand Avenue.

The car struck the pole after it slid on wet pavement as Martin attempted to make a right turn from Second Street onto Grand Avenue, reported police.

Martin suffered chest injuries and face cuts, and Sasselli, head injuries and a broken right leg, reported the hospital.

Sales Of Bonds

U.S. Savings Bond sales in Marin County totaled $125,968 in October, reports the county bonds chairman, D. C. Davis. Total sales in Northern California during the month were $11,139,748, bringing the amount bought so far this year to $112,133,109.

Terra Linda Announces Winners Of Top Grades

Terra Linda High School senior Robert E. Owens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert V. Owens of 44 Elena Circle, San Rafael, received A grades in all his seven subjects in the first grading period of the school year.

Earning six A grades at Terra Linda High were William Follette, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Follette of 748 Beachnut Court, San Rafael, and Robert L. King, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland R. King of 40 Oak View Drive, San Rafael Meadows.

Seventy-nine others earned recognition for high honors, meaning at least four A and two B grades. They are:

Larry Amans, Linda Domeier, John Hart, Richard Honey, Mike Krambs, Marie Nenes, Dale White, Terray Boggs, Linda Eastes, Elizabeth Glass, Althea Jordan, Doug Adams.

Karen Clippinger, Lorrie Enos, Robin Fagg, Charles Freschl, Joyce Gustafson, Holly Hempton, Kit Kirkpatrick, Russell Koehler, Marian Manning, Tom Micheletti, Frederick Mulhaupt, Susan Owens, Arthur Quon, Mary Upshaw, and Nancy Wilkinson.

Drunken Driving Sentences For Three Men

Maurice Lionel Thomas, 29, of Rohnert Park, Sonoma County, was fined $193 and placed on a year's probation Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving. He was arrested on Redwood Highway by Novato police Nov. 12.

Delmer Leo Howerton, 56, of 2000 Redwood Highway, San Rafael, was also fined $193 for drunken driving. He was placed on six months probation. Howerton was arrested on San Anselmo Avenue by San Anselmo police Oct. 23.

Arthur Tilman Abernathy, 52, San Francisco, was placed on two years supervision probation and ordered to pay about $339 restitution, also for drunken driving. He was arrested by San Rafael police at Second Street and Francisco Boulevard on Sept. 28.

Danish people are well-educated.

Sausalito Gives Art Works Back

Sausalito, city of artists, surrendered three paintings and three art objects from the Tong Dynasty in China Tuesday night to their original owner, C. Frederick Faude.

Faude, who operates an antique gallery in Sausalito, had given the pieces of art to the city for a proposed city museum, but he later decided it would be wiser to make his offer to Marin Museum Assn. to develop a Marin County museum at the Civic Center.

Mayor Jan Paul Dyk authorized return of the gifts and City Mgr. Charles A. Brown said the insurance on the art objects would be cancelled.

Defense Budgeting Greatly Changed

By DONALD ZYLSTRA
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — The newest defense budget, now taking definite shape at the Pentagon, brings into sharp focus the techniques of "cost effectiveness" and "systems analysis" put to work by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara.

Defense spending for the next fiscal year is likely to account for more than half the national budget, which is expected to exceed $100 billion.

A final hard look at what defense items are to be included or left out remains for President Johnson and McNamara sometime between Thanksgiving weekend and mid-December, when the federal budget goes to press.

Thus, big Military outlays—partly a result of the Viet Nam buildup, give added importance to budget-making procedures at the Pentagon.

Secretaries of defense who held the office before 1960 would have difficulty recognizing some of the budget process installed by McNamara.

So important has the function of "programming" or analysis become that its leading Pentagon practitioner, Alan Enthoven, has been elevated to the newest top-level secretariat, "assistant secretary of defense for systems analysis."

Pentagon spokesmen see few changes in defense budget-making, insofar as Congress is involved, since the last official reorganization of the department in 1953.

But it soon became plain that preparing a defense budget, a year-round task for a growing corps of Pentagon programmers, analysts and accountants, would never be the same again after McNamara arrived in 1961.

The new secretary took an entirely new approach to the military budget.

He wasn't as interested in the budget itself or in its money totals as he was in decisions, thousands of decisions that determined what the budget funds would buy in a given year.

His predecessors worked from the top down, determining the defense budget from a money ceiling given them annually by the president and dividing available funds among the three armed services.

But McNamara chose to work from the bottom up, instead of down from a pre-set ceiling limit. A new ingredient began to appear.

Instead of calculating how many aircraft carriers, or how many army divisions could be squeezed from the slice of the budget pie given to the Air Force, Navy or Army, McNamara's questions began to force generals, admirals and service secretaries to worry about other matters.

How many B-52 heavy bombers would have to be flown to retaliate against a massive enemy nuclear attack?

In the event of wars such as those in Korea or Viet Nam how many aircraft carriers and airplane squadrons would be needed while leaving enough forces to watch other potential trouble spots?

How may divisions of ground troops should the United States maintain to cover world emergencies?

More important, how many of these could be kept fully equipped, ready for action, and who would airlift them or ferry them into combat?

Answers to such questions had first priority under McNamara. He demanded not just "educated guesses" but detailed facts, backed up by homework overnights and weekends for people at every Pentagon level.

Sentiment has no place in McNamara's view of the defense job. Often the secretary finds himself in complete disagreement with the results of studies he has ordered.

Often the detail-hungry defense secretary is a "disbelieving minority of one" when confronted with an impressive array of data.

Frequently, defense accountants find the rejected result of months of research by top Pentagon analysts dumped on their desks. Or, accountants may find they have toiled weeks and months over a study only to have their material rejected and bundled away to an analyst's office.

Once McNamara and his Pentagon civilian associates have determined to their satisfaction what defense needs seem to be, the next step is to provide the men, weapons, supplies and training that will do the job.

Congress continues to vote money to each of three armed services to: (1) Pay wages; (2) Operate and maintain bases and equipment; (3) Buy weapons and supplies; (4) Conduct research and engineering for new weapons, and (5) Construct bases and sites throughout the world.

But McNamara lists defense needs in a different set of categories.

Since 1961, packages of forces, weapons and supplies have been assembled according to total defense needs or missions. Whether elements in these packages come from Army, Navy, Marines or Air Force, is of no concern. What is needed to accomplish a given mission or program, projected over a five-year period, is the important thing.

McNamara and his former defense comptroller, Charles J. Hitch, developed a list of these "program packages." Some of them included: (1) Strategic forces (the bomber aircraft and nuclear missiles to retaliate a mass enemy nuclear attack); (2) Continental defense forces; (3) Forces for local or limited wars; (4) Airlift and sealift for troops and their supplies, and (5) Development of new weapons.

Once the McNamara team has determined the nation's defense needs in terms of these and other packages, an official budget is drawn.

But money for the package items is requested by each armed service department, Army, Navy and Air Force, under the customary budget headings required by congress.

Merit Pay Still Is Under Study

By ALAN P. CUNNINGHAM

One of the best ways to start an argument among teachers might well be to voice the words "merit pay."

The idea catches in the throat of many teachers, who see such salary plans as unfair, arbitrary or a disguise for inadequate pay.

Others will concede that the words sound lovely, but say such plans prove unworkable when they are tried.

The philosophy of merit pay undoubtedly will come up for much discussion within the next few months in San Rafael, where at least three studies have begun on whether to work merit pay provisions into the elementary and high school districts' salary schedule.

A full-scale study has been in the offing since spring, when the board of education found itself in its annual tug of war over salaries and vowed it would take a long, hard look at the philosophy, needs and goals upon which the pay schedule is constructed.

Only this month, however, (when the salary question again became a hot issue), has any real work begun on the project.

One group, a newly formed committee to advise Schools Supt. Bert C. Corona on finance matters, held its first study session in Corona's office last Friday.

Another study has been promised by the salary committee of the San Rafael Teachers Assn. Still another has been started by the Marin Federation of Teachers (AFL-CIO), which has many members in San Rafael.

Throughout the public references to such studies, however, lies a note of caution which amounts almost to skepticism on the part of teachers and administrators alike.

While the idea has been promoted vigorously in the past year by State Supt. of Public Instruction Maxwell T. Rafferty, no one in the San Rafael schools will openly declare he hopes to see such a plan go into effect here.

Alan L. Hopkins, chairman of the SRTA committee, said his group would be glad to discuss it with the board of education, but added quickly that he was not a proponent of it himself.

F. Ewing Bone, chairman of the teachers new negotiating council, said most teachers doubt that merit pay plans are workable.

Corona, too, voiced doubts.

"I think that it fundamentally sounds like a good principle," he said, "but in practice I have many doubts about whether it can be equitably administerable or unbiased."

Merit plans, briefly, create a bonus of some sort which can be added to the basic, scheduled pay of teachers who are rated as outstanding.

As Corona sees it, the biggest problem in making such a plan work comes in finding an accurate or fair yardstick for excellence.

"One teacher can be most effective with one group of youngsters, yet not so effective with another," he explains. How, then, is this effectiveness to be measured?

Scrutiny of California districts with salary schedules bearing the "merit pay" label, said Corona, shows that most do not actually have a system based on merit alone.

One district most often mentioned is Palo Alto, where a two-year study is about to result in recommendations to the district board. Even there, however, the study group is not pushing its adoption, but merely is saying "if you decided to try a merit pay plan, here is one you could use," according to Corona.

Some districts which have gone into full-fledged merit pay experiments have dropped the whole idea within a short time, Corona said.

If this much pessimism surrounds the subject, why is it being studied in San Rafael?

Corona's answer was simple: because the board, or at least some of its members, want to study it.

"And there is always the hope that something which can be accepted by the staff, the administration and the community could come out of it."

Board members Walter J. Doll and Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. said they are eager to see the outcome of the studies. Kramer said he had been working on details of a proposal, but was waiting for the right moment to spell it out publicly.

The closest San Rafael schools previously have come to the issue in recent years, said Corona, was in 1962, when a citizen finance committee mulled it over, then recommended that the board forget it.

"There has been no organized, intensive study on the part of the staff since I have been here," he said.

What could turn out to be the last word on the subject, however, was voiced in print almost seven years ago by a member of Corona's staff who has remained silent on the question of merit pay while in San Rafael.

When with a Michigan school district, Asst. Supt. William C. Jordan—who runs the elementary district under Corona — wrote an article in a teachers' journal titled "The Missing Link in the Merit Controversy."

In it, Jordan contended that "those who advocate merit pay are not talking about the superior teacher, they are talking about the artist in the classroom!"

As a result, he concluded, merit pay plans are futile.

"The artist teacher cannot be purchased. That same teacher would continue to teach at super-superior level if his salary were cut in half!" claimed Jordan.

"This, then, is the missing link in the merit question. You cannot purchase a commodity that is not for sale."

Children Given Warnings About Strangers

Ross Police Department has distributed 500 pamphlets to the town's schoolchildren, warning them not to take rides with strangers, following complaints of a man molesting a 6-year-old girl.

And on the day they were given out last Thursday, a second complaint was received about a similar incident in the same area, Shady Lane.

Asst. Police Chief Alexander Mendoza Jr. said yesterday patrols were being stepped up around Shady Lane as a result of the two reports.

"It is rather difficult to give a description of the man as we had conflicting reports," said Mendoza. The car used on both occasions is blue, he added.

Judge May Throw Out Tiburon Meeting Plea

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court yesterday indicated he likely will dismiss a writ ordering Tiburon City Council to hold a special meeting to consider an appeal of a use permit application by Tiburon Tidelands Co. for development of a harbor and shops on 18 shoreline and underwater acres.

His noted rulings that all administrative remedies must be exhausted before the court has the right to intervene. However, Judge Wilson said he will withhold judgment until 4 p.m. Monday so further points of authority can be submitted.

The City of Tiburon moved to quash Judge Wilson's Nov. 16 writ instructing the city council to hold a special meeting between Dec. 7 and 14 for considering the appeal.

The writ also stipulated that Mayor Gordon W. Strawbridge, Councilman Anne L. Ellinwood, City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose, and planning administrator Leslie Gross be disqualified from participating at the special meeting, or that City of Tiburon appear yesterday to show cause why the special meeting should not be called.

Judge Wilson said yesterday, however, he felt the court could not presume that the council members would act with bias, as contended by Tiburon Tidelands Co.

Robert I. Conn, Tiburon city attorney, maintained that "attempts to coerce the . . . city council to perform the clearly discretionary act of passing on the qualifications of its members" is illegal.

Frederick E. Watson of Berkeley, attorney for the plaintiffs, contended the court should order the special hearing and give his clients the right to question council members and expose possible bias.

Conn said the council is only required to hear the appeal at the next regular meeting, Dec. 13, and not at any special meeting.

Robert Moor and his wife, Nella, president and secretary of Tiburon Tidelands Co., filed a $1,750,000 suit against City of Tiburon on Oct. 14. They claim a conspiracy exists to prevent their company from constructing a proposed 180-berth yacht harbor and restaurant-shops building between Main and West Streets.

The Tiburon Planning Commission turned down the Tidelands application for a permit after action on it was delayed by the commission and council for many months. The Moors appealed the turndown.

Marin Doctor Due In Viet Nam

Dr. James S. Vanderhoof of Ross will fly to South Viet Nam Dec. 3 to begin two months with a medical team sponsored by Project Viet Nam.

Vanderhoof, who practices in San Rafael, will give medical aid to civilians who are ill or who have been injured in the fighting there.

The project, administered by the People to People Health Foundation, already has sent 24 doctors to Viet Nam in an effort to relieve the shortage of physicians in the war-torn nation.

Tarantula Bites Woman's Toe

A Corte Madera housewife said yesterday she was bitten bya 10-legged tarantula in a closet at her home and was given five injections—including an anti-tetanus shot — at Marin General Hospital.

Mrs. Keith Williams, 417 Sausalito Avenue said: "The bite was on a toe and extremely painful. Luckily, it was treated quickly."

Tarantulas are large venomous spiders which are seen locally from time to time. There have been few reports of the spiders biting.

Ray White is executive manager of Associated Heating and Sheet Metal Contractors, Inc.

Self-Admitted Red Student Leads Vote

BERKELEY (AP) — An admitted Communist led all candidates in a University of California election to pick a committee which will give advice on revising campus rules.

Bettina Aptheker, who declared herself a Communist before the election, led all candidates in the voting yesterday although individual totals were not made public. Only 5,900 of the Berkeley campus' 27,500 students voted.

Miss Aptheker, 21, was a leader in the Free Speech Movement which disrupted the campus Dec. 2 and 3 with a sit in, demanding more student political rights. The movement, as such, has since disappeared.

Miss Aptheker, a history major, wrote a letter to the Daily Californian, student newspaper, before the election. In it she said she had been a member of the Communist Party for three years and intended to remain one. She said she thought it would be unfair to keep her membership a secret from voters.

In a concurrent election, students chose 60 persons to rewrite the constitution of the Associated Students of the University of California. Of the 60, 49 were candidates put forward by either SLATE or the Graduate Coordination Committee, both of which were active in the Free Speech Movement. Every candidate put up by the two organizations won.

Planner Urges Define Goals,

The need for community support in preparing a city's master plan was emphasized in an address Tuesday night to the Fairfax Citizens Planning Committee by Santa Clara County Planning Director Carl Belser.

Belser told the audience of 50 that a consensus of community planning goals should be gathered before actual planning can begin.

The committee will break into smaller groups next month to begin gathering information to be used in a Fairfax master plan.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, Nov. 25, the 329th day of 1965 with 36 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first quarter; the morning star is Jupiter; the evening stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn.

In 1783, more than 6,000 British troops evacuated New York City following the peace treaty ending the Revolutionary war.

In 1944, the U.S. War Refuge Board charged Germany with mass murder during World War II.

In 1960, John Fitzgerald Kennedy Jr. was born.

In 1963, President John F. Kennedy was buried in Arlington National Cemetery.

A Thought for the Day — President Abraham Lincoln said: "Towering genius disdains a beaten path. It seeks regions hitherto unexplored."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Light-face type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

Stealing Candy From Babies Can Be Easier Than Winning Tricks

Stealing the ninth trick is as easy as taking candy from a baby.

Exactly how easy this is depends on the baby, as a veteran English champion discovered last September during the European Championships.

Opening lead — ♠ 8

West opened the eight of spades, East played the jack, and South won with the queen. South immediately returned the jack of hearts.

VETERAN, BABY

South was Joel Tarlo, an Engliesh solicitor (lawyer) who has played for England in several European championships and in the world championship of 1950.

West was Andrzej Wilkosz, of the young Polish team, only half Tarlo's age and with only four years of experience in international play.

A soft baby would play a low heart from the West hand in the hope that South would finesse and lose the queen of hearts.

Most defenders automatically play low in this situation.

WOULD MAKE CONTRACT

South would make the contract if West played a low heart. Declarer would run the four clubs, and East would have trouble discarding twice.

If East threw two hearts, South would give him four spade tricks and force East to lead diamonds to give up the last three tricks.

As it turned out, Wilkosz was a tough baby.

He stepped up with the ace of hearts at the second trick and led his other spade.

East took four spade tricks, and Tarlo got a raspberry instead of candy.

The British team won the match in spite of the setback on this hand, but Poland finished in tenth place—an excellent position for a team with so few years of experience in international competition.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one notrump, showing 16 to 18 points with balanced distribution and strength in at least three suits.

(In the diagram, South opened with one club because the English were using a weak opening bid of one notrump, to show only 12 to 14 points.)

Sea Worms Rise Off Fiji Island Shores

SUVA, Fiji (AP) — Millions of sea worms rose to the surface off islands in the Fiji group this week. One observer reported they were so thick in some places that they could almost be walked on.

The worms, called balolo by the Fijians, rise once a year — usually when the sun and moon are in certain positions — to breed.

ALL DRESSED UP IN VELVETEEN

Waiting for the holidays is extra fun when a little girl is dressed in soft and pretty velveteen. Gerson and Gerson treats their high waisted dress, left, of black velveteen from Cone Mills to a bright sunburst of crisp pink pleats, topped with a matching rosette and dainty roll collar. The styling allows lots of freedom for an active tomboy without losing any of its femininity. Sweet day dreams and visions of sugar plums come true for the little girl who makes her grand entrance in this velveteen smock, right. Gerson and Gerson accents its high waisted party dress, of brilliant-azure velveteen, with old fashioned lace and a snow-white, crystal-pleated blouse.

Family Style Turkey Dinners Are On The Menu In Marin

By MOLLY MARIN

Many Marinites are celebrating Thanksgiving family dinners out rather than "at home" this year. Among those who are having a big turkey carved family - style at their table at West End Villa are Mr. and Mrs. John Crosetti of Greenbrae; the Lloyd Chellis and Stephen Chelli of Greenbrae (their daughter and family); Mr. and Mrs. Julio Barsotti of San Francisco (Mrs. Crosetti's sister and husband); and the Jules Barsottis of Sausalito (the Barsottis' son and wife). Also, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Larke Jr. of Fairfax and their daughter and family, the Donald M. Gordons, and Anne and Janet of San Rafael, the Philander Beadles of Ross, the John Prices and their children, Stanley and Jane, of San Anselmo, the Neil Burtons of Kentfield with their three daughters, Betsy, Anne, and Molly.

ON DEC. 4 Weslynn Webster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Webster of Lyford's Cove, Tiburon, will celebrate her ninth birthday with a Tahitian party which she has planned herself. Adults and children invited to Weslynn's Tamaaraa are Mr. and Mrs. Marcel Hugon of San Bruno and their son, Ronnie, Mr. and Mrs. Mate Keene of San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Jones of Vallejo, former owners of the Bel Aire Hotel in Tahiti, Mr. and Mrs. George Firmignac of Sonoma, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hildahl of Agua Caliente, Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Borgfeldt of Daly City, Mr. and Mrs. George Berticevich of Tiburon and their son, George, and Mrs. Hubert Nimau of San Francisco and her son, John.

MR. AND MRS. Edwin Hoppe of Wauwatosa, Wis., are visiting their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hoppe at Seafirth, Tiburon. Frequent visitors to Marin, the older couple arrived in time for Thanksgiving and will remain for three weeks.

MR. AND MRS. OMER COTTERELL of Novato are entertaining for their Thanksgiving day dinner Mrs. Cotterell's 83 year old mother, Mrs. R. J.

SEEING THE SOVIET

Check, Check And Check —The Guarderobe Prevails

One of a series of articles on a just completed trip through Russia and India.

By BARBARA HOSMER

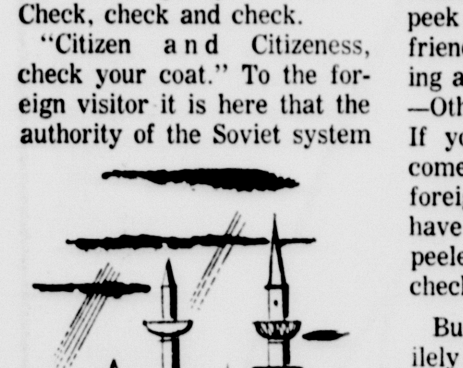
"Citizen and Citizeness, check your coat." To the foreign visitor it is here that the authority of the Soviet system is most strongly felt. Americans encounter guarderobia and immediately become guarderobe-phobes, but it is a losing battle because coat checking in the "guarderobe" of every Russian building is one of the most universal and persistent institutions in the Soviet Union. No one but an independently-cussed Westerner would dream of balking, for there is simply no room for resistance.



The country seemingly cannot function without it and even at mid-summer when a sweater is too heavy, attendants man the spacious coat-check rooms day and night all over the country, though not a single hook may have been filled in months.

But the winter weather makes guarderobia a must. You cannot enter a cafe, theater lobby, or office without shedding your coat and surrendering any packages, umbrellas or scarves you may have. The door attendants are so persistent about it at restaurants that you cannot even peek inside to see if your friend is there if you are wearing a coat. It's uncover or else —Otherwise nyet, nyet, nyet! If you wear a coat it must come off, and the persistant foreigners have been known to have their wraps literally peeled off them and forcibly checked.

But most foreigners go docilely enough to the guarderobe after their first experiences, and the checking attendants, male or female, are efficient and generally courteous, gentlemen often helping the ladies on with their coats if the counter is not over-busy. There is no charge, of course. Checking attendants like everyone else, are paid by the state.

The checkers are courteous enough, but they are invariably puzzled by foreign coats and it becomes a quite good sport for us Americans to wait for the bafflement of the attendants—it seems in capitalistic systems capitalist tailor and garment makers don't put cloth tabs inside coat collars for easy and efficient guarderobing. A Western-made coat is a foreign thing indeed to the earnest citizens who normally hook up the Soviet topcoats so well and quickly.

Nevertheless, they too, learn to go docilely about guarderobing the foreign coats, usually after a comment and shaking of the head . . . Travel is so enlightening for both sides.

Now Its 'Flats' For The Men In The Form Of Leisure Shoes

By WALTER LOGAN

NEW YORK (UPI)—Women call them "flats" because they have such flat heels. They're shoes which usually have plain toes and are cut low along the sides like a ballet slipper. They're so comfortable women never throw them away. Now they're making them for men.

The man largely responsible for this development is John M. (Jack) Settle III who at 33 has worked his way through the labyrinth of corporate politics to become president of the Johnston & Murphy Shoe Co., of Nashville, Tenn., a part of the vast and sprawling industrial complex known as Genesco.

SETTLE'S FLATS are not called that. They are called shell construction leisure shoes and the emphasis is on a combination of looks, style and comfort. You wouldn't wear them for a tramp in the woods but they're sturdy enough for less strenuous outdoor activities.

At first glance they would remind you of a loafer but when you pick one up you find it weighs only 10½ ounces on a postal scale. The soles are about ⅛ of an inch thick compared with the quarter inch or more on a loafer or the as much as ¾ of an inch of ordinary shoes.

THE QUARTER, the distance from heel to top, is only 1⅞ inches whereas an ordinary shoe is about 2½ inches. They come in calf, grain calf, suede and patent leather for evening with a grosgrain buckle which reminds you of Pilgrim shoes.

Settle is wildly enthusiastic about this new approach to comfort and good looks. But then he is also wildly enthusiastic about J. & M.'s 100-year-old record of making shoes by hand and waxes evangelical about something known as "DFC," a new way of measuring feet. The same goes for his new golf spikes and "forward thrust" soles.

Settle is a native of Nashville where he attended Vanderbilt and is a veteran of three years in the Navy as an engineering officer aboard the U.S.S. Beale, an advanced antisubmarine destroyer, where his duties included taking the DDE471 out of its mooring and bringing it in. He also was instrumental in detecting three Soviet submarines while serving with the Atlantic and Mediterranean Advance Antisub force, not that anything much came of that. But it was good leadership training.

GENESCO, WHICH owns almost everything that has to do with the clothing industry, sent Settle to its executive training school and he ended up as president, displacing the aging (41) Duke Rose who went upwards to even greater corporate rewards.

The U.S. Army is partly responsible for the "DFC" feet measurements since it measured the feet of 100,000 men and discovered they were wearing shoes according to Civil War standards and that 92.5 per cent had shoes which do not fit.

J. & M. engineers took it a step further and worked out a three-dimensional measurement they called the "Dynamic Fitting Concept." (DFC). Now instead of buying say a 9C you might end up with size 1226 which in some way expresses length and contour.

ANOTHER OF Settle's pet projects is some new golf spikes which don't dimple the greens. This is accomplished by making the flange flat and recessing them. The spikes screw into two separate plates instead of one for added flexibility.

Another is the sole called the forward thrust which works on a rocker principle to help propel you forward. If you were a child who rocked in a rocking chair you probably found yourself moving forward. Well, these soles have three ridges on the sole which leave the toe higher off the ground than with the commonplace sole, and you rock a bit. Settle says it helps tourists, doctors, salesmen, or anyone who does a lot of walking.

Judith Ann Miller Mill Valley Bride

Judith Ann Miller became the bride of Robert Frederick Fewster of San Francisco last evening at the Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley. The Rev. D. Murray Hammond officiated at the double ring ceremony at 7:30 o'clock.

When Judith, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Miller of Mill Valley, was given in marriage by her father, she was wearing a full length ivory peau de soie gown fashioned in empire style with cathedral train and trimmed with cameo lace.

Her attendants were Mrs. Victor Lewkowitz of San Jose, matron of honor; and bridesmaids Carole Fewster of San Francisco, the bridegroom's sister; Suzanne Bonzell of San Francisco, Mrs. William E. Mason of Los Gatos, and Mrs. Thomas Astengo of El Cerrito.

All were attired in full length crepe empire gowns in empire style with sage green bodices and ivory skirts.

Petronio D. Urrea of San Francisco was best man for the bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley E. Fewster of San Francisco. Serving as ushers were Richard Miller of Mill Valley, the bride's brother; Michael Callahan of San Mateo, Robert Urrea of San Francisco and Kenneth McManigal of San Francisco.

A reception was held at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley following the wedding, and the young couple left afterwards for a honeymoon at Lake Tahoe. They will live in San Francisco.

He is the grandson of Mrs. Frederick Fewster of San Francisco and William Myatt of San Francisco.

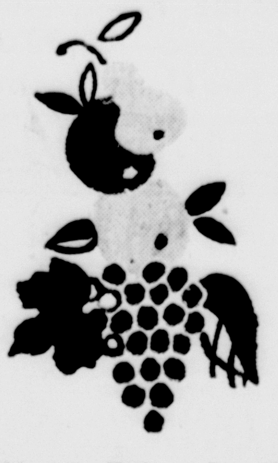
First Thanksgiving Had Lots Of Game

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Food Editor

NEW YORK — The first American Thanksgiving was in Virginia, not Massachusetts. And it was a fast, not a feast, says Mrs. Helen Duprey Bullock, an architectural historian and expert on early American cookery.

In an interview here, Mrs. Bullock added that even the Thanksgiving that we associate traditionally with the Pilgrims was supposed to have been observed in Virginia, but a navigational error put the Pilgrims ashore at Plymouth Rock instead.

MRS. BULLOCK is director of information for the National Trust for Historic Preservation, Washington, D.C., author of one historic cookbook, historical consultant on another, and collaborator on the recently published "The First Ladies' Cookbook," (Parents' Magazine Press).



Mrs. Bullock calls her latest publication "a look book as well as a cookbook" because it contains many color illustrations as well as text about first families' eating habits and preferences.

SHE ADDED that the first Thanksgiving was based on sealed orders from the Berkeley Company carried by Capt. John Smyth aboard the Margaret. The orders called for a day of fasting and prayers of thanksgiving, which the settlers observed when they landed at the Berkeley Grant in 1619, one year before the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock.

Mrs. Bullock speculated that the Virginians' early Thanksgiving meals contained lots of game, including wild turkey, and raw and scalloped oysters.

MANY JELLIED dishes looked better than they tasted, she said, because no unflavored gelatine existed as we know it now. Instead liquids were jellied with calves feet, which left a consomme flavor, and with isinglass, which left a fishy taste, since isinglass came from fishes' swim bladders.

Lacking modern vegetable colorings, early cooks used such things as spinach and beet juice and a little red bug called cochineal, she said.

Measurements weren't always as monumental as they sounded. Mrs. Bullock said that Martha Washington's cake receipe that began "Take 40 eggs . . ." was based on eggs that were far smaller than the ones we use today. They were more the size of pullet eggs.

Mrs. Bullock also said that early American cookbooks leaned toward fancy recipes such as bride's cake and mincemeat because women were supposed to know how to cook simple, every-day foods. They wrote down mainly the ones they wanted to pass on to future generations.

MRS. BENJAMIN Harrison's fig pudding was a favorite Thanksgiving and Christmas dish with the family of the 23rd president, said Mrs. Bullock. The following recipe is an up-to-date version from "The First Ladies' Cook Book."

Pour 1 cup of boiling water over 1 cup of cut-up dried figs and 2 tablespoons of shortening. Beat 1 egg and stir in 1 cup of molasses. Blend in figs. Sift together 1½ cups of flour and teaspoon each of salt and soda. Stir into wet mixture. Pour into well-greased 1 quart mold. Steam 2 hours. Serve with hard sauce or foamy sauce. Makes 6-8 servings.

Carole Lynn Hogrefe Weds In San Francisco Nuptials

St. Peter's Episcopal Church in San Francisco was the setting on Nov. 14 for the wedding of Carole Lynn Hogrefe of Greenbrae to Robert Lee Timmel of San Rafael.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman C. Hogrefe Jr. of Greenbrae.

The Rev. John A. Collins officiated for the 2 p.m., single ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white peau de soie and Alencon lace.

Mrs. Curtis Rodrigs of San Jose served the bride as matron of honor and bridesmaids were Kathleen Stephens, Joanne Jaenicke and Christine Larsen.

Debra and Patricia Timmel, the bridegroom's sisters, served as flower girls.

James Timmel was best man for his brother and ushering were Stephen Hogrefe, the bride's brother, and Michael and Raymond Timmel, the bridegroom's brothers.

A reception followed the ceremony at the St. Francis Yacht Club in San Francisco.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Timmel of San Rafael. Susan and Kathleen Timmel are also his sisters.

Following a wedding trip to Carmel, the couple will reside in San Rafael.

St. Anne's Guild To Hold Festival

DAVE RUBINOFF
To play famed violin in Novato

Novato Violin Concert To Benefit Lions Program

Violinist Dave Rubinoff, familiar to radio listeners of the pre-television years, will appear in recital Dec. 8 at 8:15 p.m. in the old gymnasium of Novato High School, sponsored by the Novato Lions Club.

Earlier the same day, Rubinoff will give half-hour free concerts at Hill and San Jose junior high schools.

His evening concert will include a medley of television theme songs, a medley of square dance tunes, plus classical numbers.

Russian-born Rubinoff began playing the violin at the age of 5, and was graduated from the Warsaw Conservatory at 14.

He appeared on many famous radio shows, but was best known for his roles with Eddie Cantor on that comedian's long-running show.

His Novato concert will be as a benefit for the Lions Club's eye care program.

Seven Pass Fire Exam

Seven men passed the examination for appointment to the San Anselmo Fire Department, according to a list presented to the city council this week.

There is one vacancy in the department, but Fire Chief Frank Souza and City Administrator Douglas J. Flautt said they were not yet ready to recommend one of the seven successful candidates for appointment.

Passing the examination were: Regan O'Brien, who topped the list with a score of 86.2; Robert M. Paulist, 80.6; Peter C. Elfers, 80.41; David A. Oliva, 79.85; Wayne R. Kovacs, 75.8; David R. Rohner, 74.47, and Fred C. Fischer, 72.47.

British Narcotics Changes Sought

LONDON (AP)—The British government's committee on drug addiction recommended today that Britain's system of prescribing heroin and cocaine for addicts be tightened because of a "disturbing rise" in addiction, especially among the young.

It urged that loopholes be tightened, that confirmed addicts be treated only at special centers instead of by local doctors and that they be required to go through withdrawal treatment.

The recommendations represented a reversal of policy for the committee, which endorsed the present system in 1961.

Governor Proclaims Thanksgiving Views

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Many Americans are marking this Sunday as a day of prayer for Americans and South Vietnamese caught up in the Viet Nam war. Gov. Brown issued this statement Wednesday in support of the observance:

"California joins President Johnson, the nation and the world in a plea for peace and freedom. We pray for an end to the struggle which has torn the county . . . We pray for an honorable peace . . ."

Ike Joins Family In Thanksgiving Feast

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and members of his immediate family planned to have their Thanksgiving Day turkey dinner today in the hospital suite where he is recuperating from his recent heart attack.

Dr. Thomas W. Mattingly, the former president's physician, said indications are Eisenhower will be able to try walking in about two we eks. If his present rate of recovery continues, he may be able to go home to his Gettysburg, Pa., farm by Christmas.

FILM REVIEW

Underground Cinema, Film Poets May Be Pulling Viewers' Limbs

By JOHN. F. KEARNEY

Nearly every seat was taken five minutes before the start of the movie.

By the time the wall lights in the Gate Theater, Sausalito, were dimmed, a middle-aged couple had squeezed into the last remaining space, a few feet from the screen set up on the stage.

Whatever their motives, members of the audience were in high spirits to witness the arrival in Marin of an American phenomenon known as the Underground Cinema.

There were those curious to see movies made in cellars and back yards on a shoestring by arty people who, until a couple of years ago, expressed themselves only in the relatively introvert world of canvas and paint.

Then there was the fun crowd, anxious not to miss a thing considered "in," even if it meant having its collective leg pulled from time to time.

Others came to criticize. "Gee whiz, this is terrible," said a voice in the row behind as geometric shapes flashed and jiggled their way across the screen.

Although the Underground Cinema is playing to full houses across the nation from San Francisco to New York, some of the movies defy description.

They lack the symmetry of conventional films, story lines are vague (non-existent in some cases) and images blurred and overexposed in the hands of the "film poets."

The film-makers themselves are among the first to admit their movies lack the professional touch, but, they point out, their works are pulling in festival awards and the consideration of serious critics.

One of the movies shown on the first of a series of weekend showings of Underground Cinema at Sausalito was described as "very pineapple" by the New York Herald Tribune. Its plot was a breakthrough in modern cinema or pickled with innuendo and eroticism, according to taste.

Another called "Oh Dem Watermelons" was shown this year at the San Francisco Film Festival and was described on the program as a "top money award winner."

Watermelons were systematically squashed, mashed, thumped, sliced and kicked until one of them fought back. Anyway, it excited a more vocal reception than the last time Rock Hudson and Doris Day walked hand in hand into the sunset.

The "11 o'clock Underground" (11 p.m. is the starting time) tomorrow and Saturday at the Gate will feature the world premiere of "Quixote," an experimental film which might qualify among the world's lowest budget movies.

It was produced and photographed by Bruce Baillie, who spent 13 months traveling around the U. S. in a Volkswagen filming the scenes. Donations from well-wishers enabled him to eat and buy film, he claims.

Two other Baillie films, "A Hurrah for Soldiers" and "Mass," will also be shown.

Preceding the "underground" is the San Francisco Mime Troupe with its "Civil Rights in a Cracker Barrel" minstrel show, opening at 8:30 p.m. That will also be staged Sunday at 8 p.m. for its final showing.

Actor Alfred Lunt Licks Pneumonia

CHICAGO (AP)—Actor Alfred Lunt, 70, undergoing treatment for virus pneumonia at Passavant Hospital since Nov. 8, is "doing nicely but needs plenty of rest," a hospital spokesman reports.

Lynn Fontanne, his wife—and stage partner since 1924, is staying with friends in Chicago during Lunt's convalescence.

San Rafael High Gives Up Plans For Annual Drama

Due to a combination of circumstances, San Rafael High School will not present a school play this year.

Principal Alfred N. Thomson and dean of students Florence Abraham said the annual play was abandoned because the auditorium was closed in October to permit its renovation.

The San Rafael Board of Education originally hoped to open bids on the work Nov. 1, according to schools business manager Charles L. Condrotte, but the bid opening date has been postponed three times because state officials have not yet approved the work. It is currently scheduled for Dec. 22.

The auditorium was used once after the main building which houses it was closed, Condrotte said, but workmen later began stripping it so that it could not be used for rehearsals.

Also involved is the pending loss of dramatics teacher Albert Cereghino, who will leave in January after one semester on the faculty.

Thomson said Cereghino was not interested in directing a school play, although he will continue to teach through the period when the play would have been held.

The school's annual musical production will be held in the gymnasium next spring.

Railroads Continue Servicemen's Fares

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reduced furlough fares for military personnel traveling in uniform at their own expense will continue indefinitely.

The lower rates had been due to expire Dec. 31. But yesterday the Assn. of American Railroads announced an indefinite extension of the reductions of up to 50 per cent for coach fares.

122 Marin Gridders Set For San Diego Bowl Games

By RALPH CHATOIAN

One hundred and twenty two boys, 11 coaches, 38 parents and 10 cheer leaders, all from Marin County, will be boarding airplanes Friday morning to wind up Pop Warner football in big league fashion.

The Marin delegation will be going to San Diego to take part in three bowl games against teams from San Diego County. And for most of the kids, it will be their first plane ride.

San Rafael, Novato and Terra Linda teams in the Marin County Pop Warner Football League tied for the championship this season, all with 4-1 league records, so all three will be taking part in bowl games. San Diego has some 46 teams in its Warner program, and three of them will be hosting the teams from Marin.

San Rafael Junior Bulldogs will take on Grossmont, Novato Junior Hornets will play Lemon Grove, and the Terra Linda Junior Trojans will go against Kearny Mesa. All three games will be played on the University of San Diego field, Saturday.

Schedules for the kids are as follows:

San Rafael Junior Bulldogs—Will leave San Francisco International Airport Friday at 8:45 a.m. on United Flight 505/877, with a stop in Los Angeles, and arrive in San Diego at 11:15 a.m. They will leave San Diego Airport Saturday at 5 p.m. on United Flight 554, to arrive at San Francisco Airport at 6:10 p.m.

Terra Linda Junior Trojans—Will leave San Francisco International Airport Friday at 7:15 a.m. on United Flight 501 and arrive in San Diego at 9 a.m. They will leave San Diego Airport at 7:20 p.m. Saturday on United Flight 536 and arrive in San Francisco at 9:10 p.m.

Novato Junior Hornets — Will leave San Francisco Airport at 10:30 a.m. Friday on Western Airlines Flight 311 and arrive in San Diego at 12:19 p.m. Some will return in San Francisco Saturday on Western Airlines Flight 332 at 6:38 p.m., and others will arrive on United Flight 554 a little earlier, at 6:10 p.m.

Some parents of the 12, 13 and 14-year-old youngsters will be driving their own automobiles to San Diego. The Marin players will be staying overnight Friday in homes of San Diego Pop Warner football players.

Gene Fox, sales director from United Airlines, will accompany the players on one of the planes to make sure everything goes all right. The Marin County Boys Club sponsors the Marin Pop Warner league, and boys club members, plus coaches, parents and players of the three teams have been raising the money needed for the trip.

Those making the trip include:

SAN RAFAEL

JIM MURRAY

Clay Can Improve As A Human Being

LAS VEGAS — There is a saying — perhaps attributable to the real Moslems and not the road company we are subjected to here—that, in the kingdom of the blind, the one-eyed man is king.

And so the simple proposition is that Cassius Marcellus Clay, the Conquering Lion of Judah, is the one-eyed king of the heavyweight world.

It is an eminence which does not make him dizzy at all. Like Napoleon, he put the crown on his own head sometime ago. But he comes on now braying like a lesser animal, assaulting the ears of the world with "I am the greatest there ever was. There never has been another so fast. Patterson come out and say I 'might be' a great fighter. 'Might be'? I not only am, I am the greatest the world has ever seen. None of them, not Joe Louis, not Rocky Marciano, not nobody could stay with me. They don't have my speed."

IT WENT on like that at the press conference they called for the champion and the challenger in Las Vegas' Dunes Hotel Tuesday morning. The unmarked champion became subdued only when Floyd Patterson limped into view, a victim of a left hook which some historians rate no better than Jack Sharkey's and a boxing style modeled after a guy running away from a bank robbery, and a muscular back spasm which is one of man's most excruciating pains.

It is fruitless to compare champions of another in anything except comportment. Here, Cassius couldn't carry Joe Louis' gloves.

DID HE "carry" Floyd Patterson? Well, of course he did. For sure in the first round. He didn't throw a punch. He made Floyd look like a guy swatting flies, or trying to chase a bee off his nose.

Joe Louis carried opponents. There are times when prudence dictates it. There are more times when economics dictate it. Future gate receipts are at stake.

BUT LOUIS did it in such a way as to leave his opponent a shred of dignity. Cassius did it in such a way as to let the whole world know it and to make a laughingstock buffoon out of his opponent. Cassius did it after braying for a week he was going to do it.

Cassius sternly lectured the press the other morning after the fight that "you better say something nice about the man" and you have to resist the temptation to say "get him!" or "look who's talking!?"

NO, THE proposition is that Cassius Clay is like a hyena feeding on the dead bones of a lion and proclaiming "look at me, I am the king of beasts! Am I not feeding on a lion?" He is heavyweight champion of 1966 and I suspect this is a much different thing from being heavyweight champion of 1936. He did not conquer the fight game, he survived it.

By sheer weight of numbers, the competition had to be more ferocious for the Depression champion than for the Atomic champion. There were thousands of fighters in those days where there are a dozen now. There are many more ways to fill a lunch pail today than at the price of your frontal lobes.

CASIUS IS a magnificent fighter for his time. But there are guys who are magnificent pitchers—for the International League. And they can't get the side out in the major league. There are football teams which can stack up the Ivy League. But Michigan State would beat them with the scrubs. I well recall one time when a college baseball team tried out the Coliseum for baseball and stroked 11 home runs or so In one afternoon. When the Dodgers deplaned, someone brought the breathless news to Pee Wee Reese, then captain of the Dodgers. Pee Wee was unimpressed. "Just tell me one thing," he instructed. "Who was pitching?"

WITH CASSIUS, you have to ask, Who is catching? Competition is the leveler. Cassius is the heavyweight champion of the Ivy League or the International League. He is the undisputed ruler of the twilight zone of boxing.

It's not his fault. But it ill becomes him to be bellowing braggadocious. The creatures of the jungle pay no attention to the laughing boasts of the hyena, the braying of the jackal. They have nothing to fear from them so long as they are alive.

HATE CAN carry you a long way. If you don't think so, just go over Ty Cobb's lifetime records. But with hate there is implicit fear. You only hate a thing because you fear it. Joe Louis confided the other day he didn't even hate Max Schmeling. He just destroyed him as a matter of pride. And he didn't pig-stick him. He just ripped him out like a page in a book.

CASSIUS WORKS himself up into hate. He is, at odd moments in his life, a nice, personable young man. He is, at other times, that most intolerable of human types — the all-purpose bully.

Floyd Patterson now goes down in history as a "dead game" fighter. I hope he leaves it at that. Because it has been my experience that "dead game" guys end up dead, period, guys.

He got to his feet in the sixth round when he got the benefit of four seconds extra count because Mighty Mouth, as usual, refused to go to his neutral corner. Cassius thinks the Marquis of Queensberry rules are for the Marquis of Queensberry. He did not get away with it this time because the fight had a professional referee in the ring and not a professional celebrity.

BUT NOBODY was complaining about the "long count," just the long fight.

It is the proposition in some corners today that Cassius has some improving to do as a fighter. I don't think so. Not unless Jack Johnson comes back to life or 1925 or 1935 come back in this century. Cassius' improvement as a pugilist is not needed. His improvement as a human being is something else again. The competition is a good deal deeper there.

Canucks Defeat Seals, 3-1

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The San Francisco Seals will have a new match with a Western Hockey League leader tomorrow when the Victoria Maple Leafs come to town.

The Seals defeated Portland 7-3, last Saturday when the Buckaroos led the league. Victoria is now on top, two points ahead of Portland.

The Vancouver Canucks gained a firmer grip on third place last night when they downed the Seals, 3-1, at San Francisco. The fourth - place Seals now trail Vancouver by four points.

San Francisco led 1-0 in the first period before Ray Brunel began Vancouver's scoring.

Canuck center Larry Popein scored a goal in the second period and Bruce Carmichael connected in the third. San Francisco wing Wayne Connelly made the game's first goal, a six-foot tap at 2:55.

San Francisco's record now stands at five wins, seven losses and two ties.

First period—1, SF, Connelly (Hodgson, Cyr), 2:55. 2, Van Brunel (Kabel, Duke), 16:11. Penalties—Gravel SF 11:53; Carmichael Van, 13:53.

Two Raiders Heroes Share League Defensive Honors

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Gus Otto and Dave Grayson of the Oakland Raiders shared the honors as co-holders of The Associated Press defensive player of the week in the American Football League.

Otto picked off a pass by John McCormick, stealing the ball out of the hands of Hewritt Dixon. The rookie linebacker from Missouri ran 67 yards for a touchdown just as he had rambled in his college days as a fullback. Otto's touchdown broke a 14-14 tie and started the Raiders on the way to a 28-20 victory over Denver.

Grayson, veteran defensive back from Oregon, stole a screen pass intended for Cookie Gilchrist and sped 47 yards for a touchdown. In the case of both Otto and Grayson, there was nobody to interrupt their romps into the end zone.

Ross O'Hanley recovered a fumble by Curtis McClendon one foot from the Boston goal when the Patriots and Kansas City played to a 10-10 tie.

McClinton had run 32 yards on a halfback draw before he fumbled when hit by both O'Hanley and Tom Addison. The play was disputed with the Chiefs claiming they had recovered.

The New York Jets intercepted four Houston passes while Joe Namath was connecting for four touchdowns in a 41-14 romp over the Oilers. Willie West and Ralph Baker's interceptions set up touchdowns, and Dainard Paulson and Bill Baird added the others.

With Buffalo and San Diego awaiting their holiday game, only three AFL games were played last Sunday.

Bodyguards Of Clay Nix Court

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Four Black Muslim bodyguards of heavyweight champion Cassius Clay failed to appear in court yesterday to answer a charge of disturbing the peace during Monday's fight.

Justice of the Peace James Brennan said each would forfeit $25 bail.

The four men were arrested during the championship fight between Clay and Floyd Patterson.

Sheriff's deputies said they walked to the $100-a-seat ringside area, and stood, arms folded, blocking the view of spectatotors.

When the deputies attempted to evict them, about 15 other Negroes sprang from the crowd. A brief melee followed before the defendants were handcuffed and taken to a security room in the Convention Center.

The arrested men were identified as Robert Deckard, 34, and Deliano Grant, 28, both of Los Angeles; Otis Perlotte, 36, of Miami, Fla., and Issac Starks, 40, of Oakland, Calif.

A Friendly Nonwager On Rosebowl

SACRAMENTO, Calif (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown jovially accepted Michigan Gov. George Romney's "nonwager" yesterday involving the UCLA—Michigan State Rose Bowl football game New Year's Day.

Earlier this week, Romney said he would feed 50 hungry Californians if the California squad downed the Michigan team. Romney insisted he is not a betting man, so everyone called it a "nonbet."

Wednesday, Brown wired Romney:

"The terms of your nonwager are altogether agreeable. The only question now remaining is whether we will dine in Michigan or make you ship the food to California."

49ers Lose 'Flip' For NFL Draft Saturday

NEW YORK (AP) — Coin flips involving nine teams were necessary to determine the order of drafting in the National Football League selection of college seniors Saturday.

The order was determined by the combined conference standings of last Sunday night but there were ties with Dallas and Washington, each 4-6; Detroit, Minnesota, San Francisco, St. Louis and New York, each 5-5, and Green Bay and Cleveland, each 8-2. Dallas, Minnesota and Green Bay won the flips but the orders will be reversed in subsequent rounds.

The order for the first round:

1. Atlanta, 2, Los Angeles, 3, Pittsburgh, 4, Philadelphia, 5, Dallas, 6, Washington, 7, Minnesota, 8, St. Louis, 9, Detroit (held by Green Bay), 10, New York, 11, San Francisco, 12, Chicago, 13, Green Bay, 14, Cleveland, 15, Baltimore, 16, Atlanta (extra choice in each of first five rounds).

Green Bay got Detroit's first round choice as part of the deal by which the Lions signed Ron Kramer after he played out his option with the Packers.

Atlanta will have 25 selections in the 20 rounds, Philadelphia, Baltimore 22, Detroit, Chicago, Cleveland, San Francisco and Los Angeles, 21, St. Louis, Washington and Green Bay 20, New York and Dallas 19, Minnesota 18, Pittsburgh 15.

Two Marinites On Little All-Coast

BY JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Little All West Coast might be a misnomer for the men picked to The Associated Press club honoring star football players from smaller colleges along the Pacific. Some of these fellows are huge.

(Two former Marin County stars—both from Tamalpais High School—were named on the squad: Elmer Collett of San Francisco State was picked as first team offensive guard; and Art Foster of Santa Clara was named second team defensive end.)

Both on offense and defense, the first 11 picked weigh a ton—plus 332 pounds.

Los Angeles State's offensive tackle Jim Weatherwax shoves the scale the highest—265. His teammate, Don Davis, goes 254 at defensive tackle.

Lightest man on the first team is Mel Stanton of Eastern Washington at 184, a speedy, hard hitting halfback who has been one of the nation's scoring leaders.

Six of the 22 first team players are repeaters — and Gary Garrison of San Diego State and halfbacks Bob Miranda of Santa Clara and Tom Piggee of San Francisco State on offense plus tackle Bob Burles of Willamette, Gary Genggli of Pacific Lutheran and George Youngblood of Los Angeles State on the defensive platoon.

Combined weight of the first offensive team hits 2,332 pounds. The defenders go a shade more at 2340. Per man, that's about 212.

Named on offense are ends Garrison and George Elliott of Whitworth, tackles Weatherwax and George Wilfort of Santa Clara; guards Roy Schmidt, Long Beach State, and Elmer Collett, San Francisco State; center Marv Peterson, Pacific Lutheran; and backs Ray Jones, Los Angeles State, Stanton, Miranda and Piggee.

Defensively, the team has Bruce Anderson, Willamette, and Perry Parks, Los Angeles State, at ends; Burles and Davis at tackles; Bill Kook, Humboldt State, Ray Johnson, Whitorth and Gary Renggli, Pacific Lutheran as linebackers and backs Fred Oppezzo, University of California at Santa Barbara, Dave Plump, Fresno State, Les Rucker, Pacific Lutheran and Youngblood.

No sophomores made the first units this year but five are juniors — Elliott, Collett, Wilfert, Parks and Youngblood.

Pacific Game Is Cancelled

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP)—University of the Pacific announced yesterday that its football game scheduled Saturday with Los Angeles State has been cancelled because rain has rendered fields in the Los Angeles area unplayable.

The UOP-LA State game was scheduled for the Rose Bowl but officials there said a game would severely damage the field.

Cancellation was by mutual consent. UOP thus finishes its season with a 1-8 record. LA State is 8-1 and due to play in the Camellia Bowl at Sacramento Dec. 11.

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS
I-J Fish and Game Writer

Forecast For Weather, Fish: Steelhead No, Stripers Yes

STEVENS

Just for a change, let's talk about the weather and whether or not it is worth while to go fishing these cold, dreary days. Okay?

The answer is an emphatic "no" if you would hunt the winter steelhead in our coastal stream, tide water or above. Jim Roads of the Klamath River Guide Service reported the fishing for both steelhead and salmon as poor. All streams are high and very, very colored.

The Sacramento and San Joaquin river systems are likewise in a highly unfishable condition because of the muddy waters draining into them.

But the answer is an equally emphatic "Yes" if you are willing and anxious to pit your skill—and luck—against that of his majesty, Roccus saxatilis.

It has taken the striped bass a long time to make up his mind about raising a family, but that he and his roe-filled wife have at last done so is evident by the action being had in a very large area.

Talking to Tony Caruso, I learned that while none of the salmon fleet is trying for salmon in the S.F. Bay region, many boats are taking out parties for striped bass, and are scoring with limits and near-limits. Incidentally, Caruso informed me that his boat, the Corino No. 2, leaves the harbor in Sausalito at 8 a.m. each day. Should you desire to check for type of fishing (trolling, live bait and cut sardines), and the cost per trip, I suggest you call Caruso's harbor.

There doesn't seem to be any one or two spots where the action is fastest. Caruso reported that bass are being caught all over the bay. Carl Bennett of Rodeo Marina reported that on Saturday, in spite of cold weather and choppy water, Ron Burrows and Chet Anderson took nice limits of large bass using bullheads.

Hal Boenner of Lee Anderson's in Oakland reported that the boat, R. S. P., limited for all aboard. Fish ran to 10½ pounds. The duke No. 2 had a somewhat unusual catch on Monday: The skipper netted a 21, two 22s and a 24.

Hal also reported Howard Samuel catching 18- and 16-pound bass in Broad Slough.

Back country fishing is strictly spotty, to say the most. Patrick's Resort, near Three-Mile Slough, reported a total of seven bass over the weekend. "Even the catfish seem to have gone to sleep," said Mrs. Patrick.

With a big wish for better weather and better reports — Chow!

AAU Walking Race At Northgate Sunday

Two former Olympic Games athletes are expected to compete Sunday in Marin County's first 30-kilometer walking championship.

Mike Brodie, from the 1964 team, and John McLaughlin, from the 1960 team, both of whom competed in the 50-kilometer Olympic walking event, will join about 30 other hopefuls in the Pacific Assn. championship of the A.A.U.

Bill Ranney, assistant Commissioner of race walking for the Pacific Assn., has announced that the race will start at 10 a.m. in front of the Emporium in Northgate. The course will be a one-mile loop just outside the shopping center, and it will take more than 19 circuits of the loop to complete the prescribed 30 kilometers.

Additional entries are welcome; all that prospective walkers need do is show up before the race.

Mrs. Harleen Las Gallinas Golf Champ

Mrs. Carl Harleen defeated Mrs. Charles Vincent Tuesday to win the Las Gallinas Women's Golf Club handicap championship.

Results of finals matches in other flights:

First Flight — Mrs. William Irish d. Mrs. J. L. Agnew; Second Flight—Mrs. Robert Green d. Mrs. Al Newman; Third Flight—Mrs. Ned DiGrazia d. Mrs. Charles Royce; Fourth Flight—Mrs. Walter Schwartz d. Mrs. Glenn Reick.

Low gross honors went to Mrs. Vincent with a 66 and low net was scored by Mrs. Alten Edwards, 67-13—54. Mrs. Barry Marsh won consolation prize with a 35-6—29 and Mrs. Irish won a hole-in-one competition by placing her tee shot 10 feet, 3½ inches from the pin.

Troy Will Retire Garrett's Jersey

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Southern California announced yesterday it will retire Mike Garrett's No. 20 jersey after his final collegiate football game Saturday.

The Heisman Trophy winner will be honored in a special ceremony after the USC-Wyoming game in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

Already holder of Pacific Athletic Conference and university records for both single season and career rushing, Garrett is within 58 yards of shattering Ollie Matson's national career rushing record of 3,166.

USC is a 20-point favorite, despite last week's 20-16 loss to UCLA.

The Trojans concentrated on pass defense in a 1½-hour workout. They looked for ways to stop the Cowboys' all-time top passer, Tom Wilkinson, who holds the career and single season passing records at Wyoming.

Wyoming is 6-3 for the season against USC's 6-2,1 record.

Linebacker Stephens Is Tam's MVP

Linebacker Gary Stephens was named as Tamalpais High School's Most Valuable Player for the 1965 football season Tuesday night at the Tam Boosters' Annual Fall Sports Awards ceremonies. Awards were distributed to the football teams and to the Class C basketballers.

For varsity football, the awards were as follows: Gary Stephens, most valuable player; Mike Fowler, most valuable back; Gary Cotten, most inspirational player; Horace White, most improved. Stagg awards, given by the Amos Alonzo Stagg Foundation, were presented to John Henry Bennett, Miles Miludi, Brian Collett, Don Jen, Ken Blasingame and Dave Salaun.

Also presented were the Tam varsity Player of the Week trophies, sponsored by the Mill Valley Record. They went to Paul Austin, Fowler, Kirk Sparks, Jerry Geisinger, Gary Stephens, Barry Warnock, White and Don Smith.

For the Junior Varsity, the awards went to Phil Simpson, most inspirational, and James Webb, most improved, Stagg awards went to Reggie Walker, Richard Geisinger and Larry Adams.

Freshman football awards went to Luther Brown, most improved; and to Ken Bolstead and Charles Hamilton, Stagg awards.

In "C" basketball, Mike Harris was voted most improved, while the Stagg awards went to Jack Nancarrow and Mike Castano.

Kentucky Coach Going To Iowa?

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Two newspapers reported yesterday that University of Kentucky football Coach Charlie Bradshaw is being considered for the head coaching job at the University of Iowa.

The Lexington Herald and the Louisville Courier-Journal both said Bradshaw was in line for the position vacated last week by Jerry Burns.

PRO GRID INJURIES CONTINUE TO MOUNT

Independent-Journal Sports

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Munson of the Los Angeles Rams is out for the season and Bill Nelsen of Pittsburgh is a doubtful starter as injuries continue to plague the quarterbacks in the National Football League.

Munson suffered a knee injury in the Rams' defeat by San Francisco and underwent an operation after the game. His place will be taken by Roman Gabriel, the man he beat out for the job, when the Rams play Green Bay Sunday in the Coliseum.

Guard Don Chuy of the Rams has undergone surgery on his nose and is out of the game. Tackle Charlie Cowan and fullback Dick Bass are doubtful. The Packers expect Paul Hornung back after missing a game due to a groin injury.

If Nelsen can't work for the Steelers in their home game with the Cleveland Browns it will be Tommy Wade at quarterback. Pittsburgh already has lost receiver Roy Jefferson and center Art Hunter for the season. The Browns have no new injuries but Paul Warfield, out all season, won't return for to more weeks.

Ronnie Bull, Chicago fullback, is very doubtful for the game at New York. The Giants list end Aaron Thomas as very doubtful but expect defensive tackle John LoVetere, and defensive ends Andy Stynchula and Jim Katcavage and offensive tackle Rosey Brown to play.

Earl Gros, Philadelphia fullback, is a doubtful factor because of a gashed forehead and the St. Louis Cardinals are hopeful that Charley Johnson will be able to resume at quarterback.

Safety man Jerry Stovall and fullback Joe Childress are out, probably for the season. The Cards will have Bill Thornton available for the game at St. Louis.

Dallas regains the services of halfback Dan Reeves, out with a broken hand, but Washington probably will be without tackle Fran O'Brien and defensive back Paul Krause for its home game with the Cowboys.

Tommy Mason may miss a third straight Minnesota game due to a sore knee but San Francisco will be healthy when it invades the Vikings' home stadium.

Baltimore listed running back Tony Lorick and flanker Jimmy Orr as doubtful for Thursday's game at Detroit. The Lions don't know how much to expect from halfback Joe Don Looney, halfback Tommy Watkins and defensive back Wayne Rasmussen.

Celt Si Green Hangs Them Up

BOSTON (AP) — Sihugo Green announced his retirmenet from professional basketball yesterday after being placed on waivers by the Boston Celtics.

Green was placed on waivers to make room on the Celtics roster for Woody Sauldsberry, allowed to play by a federal court directive pending a full hearing on Sauldsberry's anti-trust suit against the National Basketball Association.

Green spent nine years in the NBA. He was the league's No. 1 draft pick in 1956 after earning All-America honors at Duquesne.

Green was drafted by the now defunct Rochester Royals and moved with the franchise to Cincinnati. He also played for St. Louis and Baltimore before being purchased from Baltimore this fall by the Celtics.

Green said he decided to "pack it in" to enable him to devote full time to a real estate business in Baltimore.

MRS. ARA PARSEGHIAN

Life Of A Coach's Wife: Tension And Excitment

The following was written by the wife of Ara Parseghian, Notre Dame's head football coach, for the Associated Press.

By KATHLEEN PARSEGHIAN

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—On a Notre Dame football Saturday at the Parseghian home, the butterflies we've had since early morning feel more like eagles as the game gets closer. Then it's all over and, suddenly, there's relaxation at our informal open-house for out-of-town friends and, later, at Father Hesburgh's school president Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh reception.

That is a simple description of a hectic football weekend replete with tension, excitement and responsibilities that go along with being in a coaching family.

After 15 years in this profession—with Ara at Miami of Ohio, Northwestern University and now Notre Dame—the children and I have grown accustomed to our somewhat disrupted way of family life.

The children, Karan, 15; Kristan, 13, and Mike, 10, have learned that football is a demanding job.

We know Ara will not be home for dinner from Sept. 1 until the end of the season. Sunday mornings are really about the only time the family has together.

We have grown accustomed to Christmas on Dec. 15, because five of the last eight years, we have gone with Ara to post-season games.

Thanksgiving is another practice day and spring vacation is also spring football practice.

We can always count on Ara, though, for Feb. 27 because Kriss, Mike and I all have birthdays that date.

But we have learned that moving is not the end of the world, even though it seems so. Within a week of our moving here from Northwestern University, the children loved their school and South Bend. They helped plan our new, two-story colonial house, and it wasn't too long before they caught the amazing spirit of Norte Dame.

We have been a part of three fine universities; worked with fine boys; enjoyed praise for Ara; boiled at any criticism; thrilled through the big wins; and suffered through the losses.

And none of us would trade any of it.

To all the young girls who think it would be exciting to marry a football coach I say: Pick one who is intelligent, personable, enthusiastic and lucky. It takes a little of all these things to survive the whims of an elusive, little ball, and the skills and emotions of a group of young men. And, even with the best you will have rough days.

We've all had our thrills.

I've met celebrities and have been treated as one. Karan has sat in a box with Richard Nixon and peeked at Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy nearby. Mike has traveled with the team and gets to visit the locker room with "our heroes."

Kriss loves the Saturday telegrams from people like Sen. Kennedy, Scott Brady and just Nanny and Grandpa.

We have a listed phone number and receive all kinds of calls.

They may be about tickets. Someone may ask about sweatshirts to be sent out. A couple of chaps will want an argument settled. It may be a wish for good luck, or, "You did a lousy job last week."

The most aggravating calls are the ones from the West Coast — persons who forget the time difference and phone in the middle of the night.

Ara arises every morning at 5:30 and is gone before we are up. He will have coffee and the newspapers downtown, and start a staff meeting at 7 a.m.

We know he won't be home before 10 p.m., on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday and 9 p.m., on Wednesday and Thursday.

There's a Friday morning ritual of good-luck kisses. Then Ara is off with the team for the rest of the day and night.

We know when the season is over, Ara will be gone for banquets, alumni meetings and clinics. Last year, he was home for dinner only 17 times from Sept. 1 until March 1.

Our Mike, built like a little Ara, is arriving at the athletic age — football with the neighborhood gang, Little League baseball and grade school basketball.

I wonder sometimes if my nerves will stand another generation of sports. So don't be surprised if I encourage him to be anything but a coach, not that football ISN'T a great game—to watch without a worry in the world.

A little after lunch these fall Sundays, after the last guests have gone and Ara has returned to his office, I collapse on the couch and announce: "Do not disturb."

1965— Hard-Luck Year For Tars

By GEOFFREY DUNHAM

College of Marin Tars ended a bad season on an even worse note, absorbing a 20-0 shutout at the hands of arch-rival Santa Rosa last Friday in their traditional season finale.

The loss was the fourth straight for the Tars, who won only two of nine games in 1965. Their last four losses—to Yuba, 0-13; to Napa, 14-15; to Shasta, 6-27; and to Santa Rosa, 0-20—gave Marin a final 1-4 record in Golden Valley Conference play, and left its overall mark at 2-6-1. The final standings were as follows: The Shasta Knights, 5-0, won the championship; the Yuba 49ers, 4-1, took second; the Santa Rosa Bear Cubs, undefeated champions in 1962-63-64, finished at 3-2, good for third place; the Napa Chiefs, 2-3, were fourth; Marin, 1-4, was fifth; and the hapless Sierra Wolverines, 34-16 losers to Marin, finished in the cellar with an 0-5 mark. A win in the "big game" last Friday night would have moved the Tars up to a third-place tie with Napa and Santa Rosa.

WEIGHT ADVANTAGE

Despite the lop-sided score, it was definitely not a rout; it was a great deal closer than, say, Marin's 27-6 loss to Shasta in the previous game. The Bear Cubs were expected to utilize their great weight advantage to grind out yardage on the ground, but both teams found their attacks bogged down in the Kentfield Stadium mud. The game took on the general appearance of a punting duel, mostly in Tar territory; the first first down of the game didn't come until the last play of the opening quarter.

Twice in the early stages, Marin Head Coach Dick Read elected to play it safe, punting on third down from inside the Marin 10. Both coaches seemed to be content to sit back and wait for the breaks. Ordinarily that is pretty sound strategy, but the breaks have not gone to Marin all season and they were not about to start.

KEY PLAY

The key play was the original fluke interception. Marin had a drive going, with quarterback Mike Kemp clicking on a series of passes to split end Bill Hall. Hall ran his pattern to the right side, and Kemp threw a lovely, chest-high aerial. But Hall's feet slipped in the mud, and he was the second-most surprised man on the field as he found himself flat on his back. The first-most surprised man was the Santa Rosa defender, who found his arms full of unexpected football.

There were other breaks, too—Kemp threw four interceptions—but the Tars showed, as they did against Shasta, that they simply could not maneuver on a wet field.

The defense, as it had been all season, was excellent despite the great weight advantage of the Bear Cubs. You can't say enough about Marin's defense, coached by Pete Limm. The former Terra Linda High mentor did a job that had to be rated as little short of miraculous. His unit, which held opponents to two TD's or less on six occasions, far outclassed the unsteady offense. Their excellence was recognized when the All-Conference selections came out: Tackle Pete Dornbach, end Bob Edelstein, and safety Dave Cericola made the first team; and linebacker Norm Kreuter, who often played both ways, received honorable mention. Two other defensive players, cornerback Jim Schmidt and linebacker Steve Minuteli, would almost certainly have made it had they not missed several games because of injuries. Schmidt, a vicious tackler, was rated by many as the finest defensive back in the league when he was healthy; he picked off three interceptions against Menlo and two against Santa Rosa.

Veteran coach Ed Grimm did an outstanding job with a crippled offensive backfield, despite losses for various reasons that often left his unit at half strength. Quarterback Kemp did a fine job with no relief; Auerbach and Dave Bowman played well despite injuries, and the fullbacking of Fred Rodoni and Ray Miller was solid.

Graduations will hurt the team as most of the regulars were sophomores. On offense, the second-year men were quarterback Mike Kemp, halfback Dave Auerbach, fullbacks Ray Miller and Brian Laurie, end Ray Gonzales, tackles Kris Barnett and Ed Fellows, guards Bob Stock, and center Bob Hermsmeyer.

The defense will lose tackles Pete Dornbach, Mike Congdon and John Fedorchak, middle guard Fred Fellows, linebackers Steve Minutoli, Norm Kreuter and Lou Pharms, cornerbacks Tom Corbett and Jim Schmidt, and safety Dave Cericola.

It will hurt to lose their great defense, a unit which has improved so much over last year's. The 1964 defense allowed 225 points; this year, Limm's first, they allowed 165. The offense scored only 94 points last year; this year it tallied 99.

The Tars have not won a title since 1956, but they are bound to get some breaks sooner or later—aren't they?

Not Guilty Plea By Jesse Owens

CHICAGO (AP) — Jesse Owens, 1936 Olympic track star, pleaded innocent Tuesday to charges of failing to file income tax returns from 1959 to 1962 on income of $59,024.52.

Judge Joseph Sam Perry of U.S. District Court gave Owens' attorneys 20 days in which to file motions and the government 10 days to reply.

Outside the court room, the 52-year-old former athlete, now a disk jockey and public relations counselor, told reporters he had no comment on advice of his lawyer.

If convicted, Owens could receive a maximum penalty of four years in prison and a $40,000 fine. He is free on $1,000 bond.

New Red Wing Shoes To Open; Quality Auto Repair Is Sold

Scheduled to open tomorrow in San Rafael is Matson's Red Wing Shoes at 802 Fourth Street (corner of Lincoln Avenue).

The store is owned by Arthur Matson, a native of Fort Bragg, where he has been in the shoe business for 17 years. At the moment, he and his family are living in Ukiah, but intend to move to Marin at the end of the present school semester.

Matson specializes in Red Wing brand work shoes for men, special fitting — and "big feet." He has sizes up to 16 on hand. He also stocks some boots for women and some for boys, and a line of Freeman men's dress shoes.

He expects to maintain hours from about 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily—and probably will remain open longer on Friday nights.

QUALITY AUTO REPAIR at 491 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, has been sold by Clifford N. Snow to James N. Kambur, who will take possession Dec. 1.

Kambur, a resident of Terra Linda, owns Mill Valley Shell Service on East Blithedale, Mill Valley. He will split his time between the two businesses. Name of the repair shop will remain the same.

Snow, who has had the shop about two years, is returning to the Midwest.

INTERNATIONAL TUTORING SERVICES has moved from 538 Fourth Street a block west to 1108 Irwin Street, San Rafael. This is where the Marin County Heart Assn. was formerly located. International has taken over the entire building and has much more space than before.

R. A. Lindskog, owner of the property at 538 Fourth Street, is remodeling here and will move his real estate offices to this building from 910 Irwin Street by the first of the year.

Gonella

Hunt

NEW HEAD of Timeplan at Bank of America's San Rafael office is Philip B. Gonella, who has served as head of that department at the Colma branch for the past two years.

He joined the bank at his native Merced in 1936 and worked in several branches before World War II. In 1946 he returned to the bank and served in Bakersfield. He was Timeplan district manager five years before being promoted to assistant vice president at the bank's headquarters in 1958.

JOHN (BILL) HUNT of San Rafael has been appointed industrial communications representative for Motorola Communications and Electronics, Inc. He has been with the company since last year and was previously sales manager for Klein's TV in San Rafael. Hunt recently returned from a month-long training school with Motorola in Chicago.

WINNER of last Saturday's drawing at the Corte Madera Shopping Center was Mrs. Margie Walker of 4 Mohawk Avenue, Corte Madera. She won a 1949 Packard automobile filled with groceries valued at $266. The Corte Madera Center merchants council, sponsor of the contest, also gave away 50 turkeys—and wouldn't you know it? Mrs. Walker's name was drawn twice—first for a turkey, then for the car!

HAROLD C. HOUTS of Mill alley, ship bunker fuels representative covering the West Coast for Shell Oil Co., has received an emblem and honors for his 15 years of service. Houts joined Shell in Chicago and served in sales posts in the Midwest before coming to San Francisco in 1963. He is a native of Seattle.

President of Marin Motion Picture and TV Council is Mrs. David Lawrence, and Mrs. Willard Vernon is chairman.

Co-Op Buys Unused Store

Consumers Cooperative of Berkeley, Inc., has purchased property recently vacated by Safeway Stores at Shattuck Avenue and Cedar Street in Berkeley.

Total area of the property is 30,000 square feet, including the store building, parking lot adjoining it.

The consumer organization now numbers 37,000 Bay Area shareholding families, with seven shopping centers in Berkeley, El Cerrito and Castro Valley. A Marin County center is due to open about the middle of 1966 at 65 Tamal Vista Road, Corte Madera.

We've A Lot To Be Grateful For This Thanksgiving Day

Today we join the nation in offering thanks for the many bounties we enjoy.

The physical comforts of home, food and clothing, and the freedom from want and fear, which we take for granted, did not and do not come easily.

We owe these blessings to the courageous Americans who cleared the West, tilled the soil and fought for the ideal—a free society with equality and justice for all. Those are ideals toward which we still strive.

But uppermost in our minds today are other courageous Americans who are braving muck, mud, fire and steel in far off countries so that the rest of us can live in freedom. To them, we give humble thanks.

On the home front, despite the rioting and bloodshed, this has been a year of accomplishments.

"We have guaranteed the right to vote to all our citizens," the President noted. "We have pledged dignity to our elderly — even in sickness. We have added new dimensions to the education of our youth. We have broadened the horizons of opportunity for our poor . . ."

And he called for prayers that "the forces of violence, indifference and intolerance may soon vanish from the face of the earth."

By a quirk of fate, we might just as well have been born in a hovel, sleeping in the streets, dodging bullets, grateful for enough rice each day to keep body and soul together, with rags and scraps of cloth for clothing, without hope of education or a chance to break out of the encompassing circle of proverty.

Instead, we can afford to indulge in the luxury of grumbling about the overdone turkey, the inclement weather, the congested traffic, or poor TV reception.

We can never repay all of those who have and are sacrificing to insure us our luxuries.

The least we can do to give expression to our gratitude is to help ease the sufferings of those around us, with little acts of kindness of which we are all capable.

No amount of "sacrifice" within the comforts of our home and community can begin to compare with sacrifices paid by others so that we can be free and secure.

We have much for which to be grateful on this Thanksgiving Day.

The Uncommonly Common Cold

Not only are colds uncommonly common right now, but they are also commonly uncommon. Ask anyone who has one. A cold is only common to the fellow who doesn't have it.

Marin's rainy season must be a time of rejoicing for the stores that stock those tissues for blowing. Winter and viruses are buddies.

They make a nasty pair.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

EVERYONE IS NEEDED

The comedian, Sam Levensen, once said: "When my immigrant father came over here from the old country, he found out 3 things:

1. that the streets were not paved with gold;
2. that most of the streets were not even paved;
3. that he had to help pave them."

Heartfelt thanks is due to those who do the pioneering in any country. They usually learn the hard way that they must make their own dreams come true. And, in doing this, they help countless others as well as themselves.

A far greater responsibility rests on those who are blessed with food, shelter, medical assistance, schooling, countless technological advantages, as well as the inspiration of religion. They should work much harder to be of service to those less fortunate than themselves.

Strive to bring about in your community, nation and world the temporal and spiritual conditions that contribute to the peace and prosperity of all people.

"Thanks be to God for His unspeakable gift."
(2 Corinthians 9:15)

Grant me the vision and strength, O Holy Spirit, to do my part to bring about a better world.

Real Estate Spokesman Contends Few Home Sellers Showing Bias

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO — Although Californians have the right, as expressed through the adoption of Proposition 14 last year, to restrict sales of their own property to whom they wish to sell it, rent it, or lease it, this right is not being exercised to provide discrimination, at least so far as sales are concerned.

This is the observation of David N. Robinson, Berkeley, president of the California Real Estate Assn., which led the battle to retain the property owner's rights in handling his own property.

AFTER ALMOST a year of operation under the constitutional provision, which was hailed by its opponents as a move to effect discrimination throughout California, Robinson says less than half of one per cent of those who put their property up for sale through multiple listing stipulate as to whom it can be sold.

The association made the survey to get at the facts. It found total listings processed by reporting multiple listing boards, which constitute nearly all the members of the association; amounted to 185,768. Out of these listings only 1,036 were restricted as to whom the property could be sold.

"We wanted to know," Robinson said, "what effect, if any, passage of Proposition 14 by the voters a year ago had on the amount of housing available to minority groups.

"The answer is clear. The people of California are not, as so loudly predicted, slamming the door in the faces of minorities wanting housing.

"Housing, at least that which is for sale, according to this survey, is available to anyone who wants and can afford it, with very few exceptions.

"I THINK it's high time that those who claim they want to combat racial and religious discrimination stop accusing property owners of California and realtors who carry out their instructions of fostering such discrimination."

The report presents some evidence to the effect that opponents of the proposition lacked understanding of the thinking on the part of property owners and clearly points to the fact that, as Robinson says, retention of a traditional right was the motivating factor behind the tremendous vote chalked up in favor of the measure, a vote which was better than three to one in its favor.

IN OTHER WORDS, from the action and operation during the last year, discrimination had little to do with adoption of the amendment, but the fact certain elements of society were attempting to deprive certain other elements of the populace from rights enjoyed over a couple of centuries played a much greater role in the final vote.

You'll Be Sorry, Tears Won't Help

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Won't it be great when all these lovely people who are thronging to Marvelous Marin with their little children, and who love everything about it but the taxes, and who stayed away from the voting booths by the hundreds on Nov. 16, grow older, have teen-agers in the house and wonder why the high schools are so over crowded and inadequate?

Just you wait, all you people, just you wait! You'll be sorry, but your tears will be too late!

VDC Goals Same As Goals Of The U.S.A.

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The goals of the VDC are no more than the stated goals of American democracy — "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness." Contrary to what the John Birch Society would have us believe, the blessings of American democracy have not been bestowed upon the people of South Viet Nam by our troops in Southeast Asia. Freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom of assembly—all of these have consistently been denied to the South Vietnamese. The free elections promised in 1957 have never been held. The present ruler of South Viet Nam, Premier Ky, is nothing more than a petty dictator who seized power in a palace coup.

There are those who will attempt to evade the issue at hand by telling us that conditions under communism would be much worse than they are today under the South Vietnamese brand of "democracy." This is not the point. The U. S. has promised certain democratic reforms in South Vietnam—has told the world that this is what we are fighting for—and yet, over a period of 10 years, we have failed to deliver the goods. Instead we have been content to sit back and watch a totalitarian regime shuttle innocent peasants into "strategic hamlets" styled after concentration camps. The next time the casualty figures roll in from Viet Nam, ask yourself one question: "Is Premier Ky's government really worth it?"

U.S. Must Be Free Of United Nations

Editor, Independent-Journal:

It seems inconsistent for freedom-loving U. S. to oppose freedom for Rhodesia, while we are fighting and dying for Viet Nam freedom! We need to remember that white settlers went to South Africa about the time our forefathers pioneered America, and without the whites there would be no civilization!

President Johnson said the Viet Nam operation is in accordance with the SEATO agreement. That means it is under direction of the U. N. Military Committee, whose chairman always is a Russian!

A declaration of war would have necessitated defining the enemy, which is the Communist conspiracy.

Being under U. N. direction could be the reason aid and trade with the enemy is encouraged — why we are disarming, unilaterally — and the reason we are not permitted to accept help offered by our staunchest ally, Nationalist China.

According to U. S. News and World Report, Chiang Kai-shek said " . . . we are confident that Asian manpower co-ordinated with American technology and supplies will result in the greatest politico - military power in history for the maintenance of peace."

Until we free ourselves from the U. N. stranglehold, how can we free Vietnamese or anyone else?

Reader's Cheers For Pre-School

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Re: "Sausalito Pre-School," Nov. 17, 1965, page 1.

It is a pleasure to have an opportunity to espouse the cause of a pre-school program — in this instance, the one in question seems to be that of Sausalito.

With all due respect to the medical profession and Dr. Ira Degenhart in particular, it would seem obvious that we homo sapiens have great difficulty living in amity today, regardless of 'higher or lower" incomes. The gregariousness of the human animal seems to demand that we learn to live together and the earlier we "get with it" in the formative years, whatever the label of a few, the better citizens we may hope to produce!

Cheers and huzzahs to our pre-school program and to Sausalito's in particular! This, from the mother of three nursery school trained children, two nursery school trained grand-children and a contemporary county kindergarten teacher - with a sense of humble thanks for a growing awakening in our community.

Reason Suggested For Bond Defeat

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Re: The defeat of the Tamalpais High School District bond issue.

One factor, which the architects of the proposal chose to ignore, could conceivably have spelled the difference between passage and defeat. And that is—in the proposal for the new San Geronimo High School, the planners announced to the parents of 750 children that these "expendables" stood to be pulled out of the school to which they had adjusted, and be placed, possibly in the middle of a school year, into a new school which would have a "nearly equivalent program."

Why—since the school was not to be built for a full enrollment, anyway, couldn't they have settled for beginning with a ninth grade only—and build from there?

Other districts have done this, and have suffered fewer "growing pains" than those encountered in trying to create and staff a full high school all at once.

Granted, such a program would not relieve the overcrowding as rapidly, but what have the trustees accomplished by insisting upon a full solution? Absolutely nothing will be done this year.

I hope that the next time this issue comes before the voters, the trustees will show less rigidity of thought.

Because a two-thirds majority is so difficult to obtain, they cannot afford to antagonize a sizable block of potential "yes" voters, particularly where a reasonable compromise is so patently apparent.

"In that case," asked the judge, "why didn't you go the whole hog and rob a bank?" "But Your Honor," said the character who obviously didn't get all the sentence he deserved, "food I like, banks I don't have any interest in."

ONE OF Casey Stengel's more improbable yarns concerns a game about 1910 in which he claims he played centerfield in the famed metropolis of Shelbyville, Ky. The park had no fence, and when the cleanup hitter on the opposing nine belted a ball on the nose, Casey began backpedaling frantically toward a river just beyond the field. He never stopped. He ended up in four feet of water, emerging with the ball in one hand and a catfish in the other.

WISE BEYOND her years is a little girl in the Sunday school of a Lutheran church in Pennsylvania. The pastor asked her, "What are the Epistles?" She answered promptly, "The wives of the Apostles."

Johnson Combines Strong Points Of Many Previous Presidents

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Lyndon B. Johnson, now starting his third White House year, is different from any of his predecessors in this century with its brilliant examples of how to run the presidency, and how not to.

While Theodore Roosevelt and William Howard Taft were both conservatives, Roosevelt, his batteries always charged, was conscious of changing needs and sought to meet some of them. Like Woodrow Wilson later, he tried to provide new ideals.

BUT HE NEVER stopped being a bit of a cowboy and it confused his image in the public mind. Taft, who can be called the father of the income tax because revenue was needed at the time, was no social innovator.

He never rocked the boat. He oiled the machinery of government.

Wilson, idealistic and liberal but only up to a point, never learned the president is not a private person. He isolated himself and became remote. More a prophet than a statesman, one commentator said.

In dealing with Congress, despite all he wrote on government, Wilson was an amateur compared with someone like Johnson. And he paid for it dearly.

Warren G. Harding was the country's best example of how not to be a president while Calvin Coolidge, the silent type, showed few words may mean few ideas and that the White House is no place for the country store outlook.

Franklin D. Roosevelt's presidency demonstrated there can be more action in the mind than the biceps. A paralytic in a wheelchair throughout his presidency, he changed the spirit and direction of his country.

HE RESPONDED to chaos with imagination and concern, combining his actions with eloquence and a miraculous voice, which revealed how a politician who can create a father image of himself, based on performance, is unbeatable.

Harry S. Truman, no intellectual, was proof that a man can be a great president without a Ph.D. He didn't have learning, he had judgment. He didn't have charm, he had guts.

Together they enabled him to make tough decisions — and some mistakes — fact which, put another way, meant he had the willingness and sturdiness to encounter and conquer crises, or try to.

Dwight D. Eisenhower's eight years in office will not put him among the great or even the near-great presidents.

Yet Eisenhower, a soldier without political experience, wound up one of the best politicians of the century, if political success is to be judged by the attitude of voters.

John F. Kennedy's presidency can never be fully appraised since the final judgment would have had to rest with the future which, for him, never came.

IN TIME, judging from his popularity abroad, he might have been a great world leader. Because his chances and therefore his achievements were limited, his popularity at home has its own lesson: The magic personality, even without great performance, can bring a president not only acclaim but even adulation.

Johnson has some of Theodore Roosevelt's bounce, some of Taft's concern with the machinery of government, and none of their conservatism. He speaks in the idealistic terms of Wilson, but not nearly so well, although he was shown himself more truly liberal. Wilson was withdrawn; Johnson is anything but.

By his actions in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic he has shown the same determination as Truman and the same willingness to face decisions. He lacks Kennedy's grace, wit and ease but has far more ability in getting things done.

MORE THAN any president in this century he is a master politician — so far — in obtaining what he wants.

Poverty Warriors Seek To Play House

By ROBERT S. ALLEN
and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Anti-poverty planners want to "play house" with American families.

UNDER STUDY by program-formulating officials of the Office of Economic Opportunity are unique proposals to install entire families in special training camps to live government-ordered lives.

The fathers would be trained in new job skills; the mothers would be taught homemaking techniques and attitudes; and their children would attend schools — all at federal expense and direction.

All their needs—furnishings, food, health, recreation, training and even clothing—would be provided by the government.

As the anti-poverty planners see this extraordinary concept, it offers an "imaginative and promising solution" to the serious problem of retaining married trainees in Job Corps camps and other training installations.

LONELINESS and homesickness are deemed a major cause of married drop-outs.

OEO officials concede the cost of such a project would be considerable.

One conservative estimate for a camp of 200 families is $2 million — or more — annually.

Additional funds would have to be sought from Congress as the existing anti - poverty budget would not cover the heavy increased outlay. How Congress would react to such an exceptional idea presents still another problem.

Meanwhile, the family training concept is spelled out in a prospectus prepared by a Western subsidiary of International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. (IT&T), which would like to undertake the experiment under government contract.

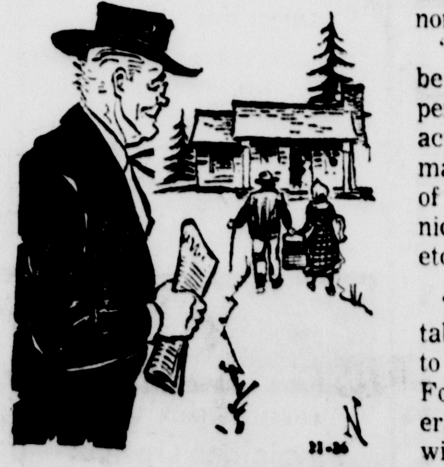
The IT&T subsidiary prospectus stresses that life in a family training camp would be carefully patterned after and based on middle class standards. Says this unpublished opus:

"THE SCHEDULING of all activities will be similar to that of a normal, everyday family. The father will receive vocational training in a time frame similar to an average working day. The mother will receive training and have sufficient time remaining for household chores, maintaining a schedule similar to that of normal families. The work days of both parents will culminate with the evening meal, thereby maintaining the normal whole family concept.

"Evenings and weekends will be free of formal training to permit family recreation and activities. Every effort will be made to afford a full calendar of social activities such as picnics, dances, cookouts, movies, etc."

"A COMMISSARY will be established as close as possible to the apartment complex. Food obtained from GSA (General Services Administration) will be marketed at prices below retail supermarkets. This will enable families to live comfortably on less money . . . an estimated food budget of $15 to $20 a week."

The Country Parson



"Most of us react to moral laws as we do to speed limits—trying to guess how much we can go beyond them without getting caught."

She Cooks The Turkey, Then She Must Carve And Serve It

NEW YORK (AP) — The Thanksgiving crisis will come in millions of American homes when it is put upon the table.

It is a bird called a turkey, and it may weigh anywhere from eight pounds to 30 or more.

It will be washed and plucked. Everybody in the family will come and pat it fondly. Then it will be stuffed with sage and oysters and bread crumbs and put into the oven and basted and watched over until it turns a tender golden brown.

THEN, ACCOMPANIED by a myriad of vegetables, it will be placed upon the table by a wife whose warm-flushed face is a testimony of womanhood in glory.

As everybody stands around marveling, the wife will go into the kitchen and come back with a knife in her hand.

She will hold it out with a questioning look.

This is the hour of crisis.

This is the terrible moment of decision.

WHO WILL CARVE the turkey?

This is the time that separates the man from his performance.

"You do it, Joe," says the host to a guest.

"Naw, Jim," replies the guest to the host. "You do it."

They face each other with a look of equal cunning and equal dismay.

EACH KNOWS that if he takes the knife he will make a fool of himself — and of the festive occasion.

They may be chefs, butchers, brain surgeons, plumbers or lawyers.

But each knows, whatever his talent, it is inadequate now.

He knows that, if he accepts the knife, it will turn out to be dull. He will find the turkey tough. He will sweat and strain and wish he could attack the bird with a Boy Scout axe or put a dynamite cap in its middle and blow its junctures apart in a shower of gravy.

FINALLY, the hostess says in pretended exasperation:

"Well, you men! I don't know what the world is coming to. Sit down now, and I'll serve you."

Sighing in relief, the men sit down and shuffle their feet under their chairs, and the ladies sit down, too, and say ladylike things to each other such as, "My, doesn't the table look lovely?"

The hostess takes up the knife and skillfully attacks the bird. Swiftly she apportions the meat to the plates, and one of the children meekly suggests, "Shouldn't we say grace first?"

"You say it, Jim," says the guest to the host, knowing what the answer will be.

"NO, JOE," says the host to the guest. "You say it."

"Okay," says Joe, lowering his eyes. "O Lord, we thank thee for Thy peace and fellowship at this table and . . . uh . . . what we are about to receive, forever and ever. Amen."

There is a moment of silence, as each guest reviews his blessings, and then Jim says rather loudly:

"Hey, that was okay, Joe. What'll you have—light or dark or both?"

And the flushed and smiling hostess, too excited herself to eat, sits before the turkey like an angel with a sword, ready to serve more.

There is plenty for all.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By STEPHEN COOK

What Good Is A Report Card If You Can't Read The Thing?

Elementary school educators, it seems, are well on their way toward taking the trauma out of the year's four most perilous school days, when the student must summon up all courage, march straight home and present Mom or Dad with his report card for the quarter. Some of the anxiety may remain, but the youngsters sure seem to have it a lot easier.

Today they can walk home, joking and laughing with friends, and not worry about what Mom and Dad will say when they first see the card. Their first utterance naturally will be:

"WHAT DOES this mean?"

And it probably will be several days before they get an answer. The report cards have been so refined that the parents must consult with the teacher for translation before they can discover how Junior has done.

The cards fall into two categories. One attempts to shelter the child from the competitive grading he must one day face. The other tries to grade him both competitively and individually. It may be that neither does the job educators hope for.

IN THE KENTFIELD School District, the school board recently adopted a new grading policy. Children in grades one through three receive marks of either "satisfactory" or "improvement needed" on their cards. In the fourth through sixth grades, the mark "commendable" is added as something better than "satisfactory." Seventh and eighth graders receive marks of "A," "B," "C," "D" or "F."

The Larkspur School District has almost the same system. Grades one through three are marked "satisfactory" and "help needed." All other grades, though, are given letter grades. The San Anselmo School District is similar. Grades of "very good," "satisfactory" and "improvement needed" are given through the third grade. After that, all students are graded by the letters.

MRS. CATHERINE Burch, principal at Neil Cummins School in the Larkspur School District, explains that the indistinct grades are given "because if a child is immature, we don't want to give him a lot of bad grades which will bother him when he matures."

Kentfield School District Supt. Howard C. Harmon says about the same thing: "We just try to move the child gradually into the competitive grading system he will have in high school."

Educators may hope the grades are not competitive, but do they know the mother who tells her child: "Face it. If you get an 'improvement needed,' you should know it is the same as a 'D' or an 'F.' "

THE MORE complicated report cards attempt to give a more definitive grade. The Dixie School District recently adopted two such cards for pilot projects in Bernard Hoffman and Mill Creek schools.

At Hoffman, fourth through sixth graders receive marks in two grading columns. One compares his performance with the rest of the class, the other grades his individual achievement. A child may bring home arithmetic grades of "D" and "B."

At Miller Creek School, seventh and eighth graders are assigned both grades and levels of work for each academic subject. The student has five possible grades in five possible levels for each subject. The mind boggles at the thought of the number of different combinations of grades possible.

These report cards are experimental and the subject of the experiment may be the parent and how he reacts. San Anselmo School District Supt. Stephen Parodi wonders: "If you get it too complicated, who is going to understand it?"

Twenty Pupils Per Teacher Is Reed Policy

The Reed School District board, meeting Tuesday night at Del Mar School, approved a policy of having a minimum of 50 teachers per 1,000 pupils — a ratio of one to 20.

The board agreed that the aim of the district is to have a teacher-pupil ratio of one to 18. Of the minimum 50 teachers, 45 are to be fulltime classroom teachers.

The Reed School District board also:

1. Agreed to co-sponsor a symposium on human rights with the Marin County Human Rights Commission, to be held in Marin City on Dec. 11, but withheld financial support.

2. Granted a leave of absence to seventh-eighth grade teacher Nancy van Ravenswaay, and hired Phyllis J. Root to replace her.

Trustee Marilyn C. Steinau was absent.

The building of Hoover Dam in Nevada created Lake Mead, a recreational area with 550 miles of shoreline.

Airport District Is Predicted

Marin County might find itself included in a district to control and support San Francisco International Airport, Assemblyman John F. Foran (D-San Francisco) predicted Tuesday.

Foran spoke after a meeting of the Assembly Interim Committee on Transportation. He said he might introduce legislation in 1967 to create a nine-county Bay Area airport district.

A speaker at the session was state aeronautics director Clyde P. Barnett, who said regional control of airports is needed to spread the cost among all who use them.

Sen. Kennedy Outshines Red Students

By BONNIE ANGELO
Advance News Service

SANTIAGO, Chile — In the aftermath of insults, catcalls and eggs hurled at Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, top American diplomats here believe that while the Communist students had him on the ropes for the moment, Kennedy won the round.

The view point is backed up by many Chileans. The leading newspaper in Concepcion, where the second and more violent attack took place, wrote that while the Peking-oriented Communists were successful in preventing any discussion at the university Tuesday night, "The political victory apparently belonged to the senator."

The paper said: (Kennedy) demonstrated by his short talk and by his defiant attitude that leftist and Peking groups do not accept free debate of ideas at the universities."

The news story was otherwise somewhat hostile. But American diplomats, analyzing the effect of the violent anti-U.S. attacks directed at Kennedy on two successive nights, decried the flag-burning and the violence, but they read the incidents as a plus.

Others familiar with the area and the people agreed. All of South America will be following every step of these Kennedy incidents, they said, and the reaction will be favorable to him.

The Pekingists first lost points by preventing the students from questioning Kennedy, for freedom of speech is a tenet of revolutionary faith among the intellectuals of Latin America.

The 100 or so who banded together to drown out Kennedy with their chants of "Yankee, go home," "Down with the invaders," and the like may have pushed fence-sitters to the other side.

Secondly, there is the special magic of the Kennedy name, still spoken almost with reverence by devoted Latins. Robert Kennedy's remarkable personal rapport with the people has further enhanced this feeling.

American diplomats are convinced that the egg-throwing and spitting by organized Communists will infuriate many South Americans. "They will be humiliated that a hero has been besmirched," one observer said.

After the episode in Concepcion, the Pittsburgh of Chile, people on the streets came up to Americans to apologize. They wanted to make sure Kennedy would understand that the trouble was caused by a loud minority.

The final factor contributing to Kennedy's reverse victory was Kennedy himself.

He appeared courageous but calm as he strode around the gymnasium like a matador before the fight. As the jeering mounted, he defiantly shook his fist at the Communists, goading them to "come on down" from their safe seats and exchange views.

When they failed to move, Kennedy shouted above the tumult: "If you won't come, then I'll come up there."

He went over to them, reached up to join them, but was rebuffed.

It was, in all, a profile in courage.

An equal show of valor came from Ethel Kennedy, who had put on her prettiest pink outfit and insisted on being present with her husband despite the forewarnings of danger.

Chilean and American observers agree that Kennedy has greatly strengthened anti-Communist students at the universities, where the militant Communists had cowed them.

One American representative summed it up: "It's too bad to have to go through such unpleasantness, but maybe eggs are a small price to pay for striking a blow for democracy."

Dixie Congressman Welcomes Support From New Negro Voters

By DON BACON
Advance News Service

NEW ORLEANS — "There's much less tension, a great deal less," says Rep. Hale Boggs as he walks briskly through downtown New Orleans, pausing occasionally to exchange greetings with some of the acquaintances he has made in 25 years of politics.

Back in Washington, Boggs is House majority whip and a leading figure in national Democratic politics.

Here, strolling in the comfort of a mild November afternoon, he is still a Louisiana son who never forgets where his roots are.

Like most other members of Congress, Boggs is using the time between sessions to tend his political fences. Although not campaigning in an official sense, he eagerly accepts speaking engagements and puts in a full day at his district office, listening to constituent problems and complaints.

With his next election campaign less than a year away, it is important for him to sound out his constituents, and to know what's on their minds.

His most striking impression so far is that the white and Negro voters in his district have turned their attention away from racial conflict and are digging into the immediate and real problems facing almost every urban community, schools, roads, city services and taxes.

To a southern politician, the new voter emphasis—or relaxed "tension" as Boggs puts it—is a welcome relief.

Boggs, who is 51 years old and was first elected to Congress in 1940, represents both the old and the new of southern politics.

He represents the old in that he has taken the path of the southern segregationist in opposing federal civil rights legislation.

He represents the new in that he has argued, even when it wasn't fashionable, that the federal government is not the South's unbending enemy and that it can help solve local problems.

Boggs' Congressional district takes in part of New Orleans and several adjoining parishes. His constituents are rural and urban, poor and rich. About one-fourth of them are Negroes.

In the past Boggs has drawn most of his strength from his so-called "silk stockings" constituents. But in the 1964 election, he lost the support of many middle and upper income Louisians, who were swept up in Goldwater conservatism.

In that election, Boggs discovered the importance of the Negro vote. Negroes supported him heavily, and provided his margin of victory.

He received 55 per cent of the total vote, a landslide by usual definition, but considerably off from the 70 per cent or more that an entrenched southern politician customarily gets.

This year Boggs cast his first pro-civil rights vote in Congress, for the Voting Rights Act. The act is designed to put more Negroes on the voting rolls in six Deep South states.

A few other congressmen from Louisiana, Georgia, Florida and North Carolina, cognizant of the Negro's growing political influence and believing it was the fair and just thing, voted with Boggs for the measure.

Although the recently enfranchised Negro is responsible for the most profound changes in southern politics, Boggs also notes other significant new pressures.

High among them is the South's rapid rate of urbanization. Southern constituencies are shifting dramatically from predominantly rural to urban.

Population is clustering around the big southern cities, and for the first time in this century, the cities are taking control of the state governmental machinery. As voters become more and more concerned with solving city problems, so must their representatives in government, Boggs says.

"I think congressmen generally are changing all over the country," observes Boggs. ". . . The average congressman today is confronted with problems requiring solutions and answers . . . The old business of an individual member of Congress engaging in private dissertation is a luxury that most aren't able to indulge in anymore."

Today's congressman, from the North or South, must be well educated, a specialist in some field, yet versatile enough to cope with all the complex issues facing his district and the nation, Boggs says.

"The problems of cities are becoming more and more the problems of Congress," he adds. "We in Congress are coming to recognize that the race problem exists in the cities of the North, just as it exists in the cities of the South, and that it is just one of many problems associated with urban living."

Race relations, Boggs believes, will become in the South just another problem to be dealt with like traffic congestion or inadequate schools, not the single overriding problem.

Boggs watched from the sidelines the recent mayoral race in New Orleans and noted afterwards, "The race issue just didn't rank high in the voters' minds."

This charming and sophisticated port city is, of course, not entirely representative of the rest of the South at this time. Racial feelings still run deep in many parts of Dixie, and will continue to dominate some political campaigns.

But Boggs believes what is happening here will eventually spread, its pace tied closely to the rate of urbanization. The trend toward moderation in southern politics, he says, was strikingly evident in the Virginia statewide elections this month.

There, the Byrd political machine, traditionally the South's pacesetter for conservatism, edged cautiously away from its past, and became, Boggs says, "much more attuned to the urban voter."

Red Antique Car Is Found Stripped

A bright red antique car, once used by Mrs. Marsha Owen (Sally Stanford) to campaign in for Sausalito City Council, has been stripped to its chassis, police reported yesterday.

Robert J. Woldhagen of 314 Main Street, an employee of Mrs. Owen, reported to police that he was checking the garage she owns at Main and Third streets and found a rear window broken. The car, owned by Col. Leonard Gamage, former Sausalito resident, was "completely stripped." The only remaining parts are the chassis, motor and wheels, police said.

Marijuana Discovery Reported

A 20-year-old San Rafael man, sought as a burglary suspect, wound up in Marin County jail yesterday charged with possessing marijuana.

The suspect, Herman Joseph Sanchez of 5 West End Avenue, Apt. 2, was arrested while walking along A Street between Third and Fourth streets at 2 p.m.

San Rafael Police Inspectors Thomas Cheetham and Gerald R. Souza noted that Sanchez was reluctant to be searched.

When Sanchez reached the county jail, he was searched. Ten hand-rolled cigarettes and one cigarette butt, found in his jacket pocket, were identified as marijuana, police reported.

Sanchez was booked on the possession of marijuana charge and bail was set at $5,500.

CAMBRIDGE, England (AP) —Prof. Frank Debenham, 82, one of the last survivors of the Scott Antarctic expedition, died yesterday. Debenham joined Scott's expedition in 1910. Scott and four companions perished in a trek to the South Pole. Debenham was a professor of geography at Cambridge University from 1930 until 1949.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Thanksgiving Need Not Be Very Difficult For Calorie Counters

VAN DELLEN

Thanksgiving became a legal annual holiday more than a century ago and 242 years after the Pilgrims first celebrated their autumn harvest by giving thanks to God. The long delay resulted from the belief that the day should be inspired by religion and not by politics. Prior to 1863 Thanksgiving was celebrated locally at different times of the year. It did not become a legal holiday until Mrs. Sarah Hale persuaded President Lincoln to issue his proclamation during the Civil war.

THE MODERN Thanksgiving repast is likely to contain fewer calories. Changes in the American diet over the last 50 years have been so gradual they escape detection. We are eating more processed food, and an ordinary turkey dinner is obtainable in a frozen package.

The wild turkeys have been replaced with the domesticated variety which are more tender, leaner, and have more white meat. The young Tom is the least of our worries when it comes to calories. Three large slices (about 3 ounces) contain 200 or more calories. Chicken is a little less but an equal portion of goose or duck raises the intake to more than 300. A dressing containing one-half cup of bread, giblets, and raisins yields approximately 233. Two tablespoonfuls of gravy adds 75 or more calories.

A bowl of clear soup supplies 27 and creamed soup, 157. If two soda crackers are eaten, another 34 calories must be added to the list. One-half of a candied sweet potato yields 180 calories; a serving of white (baked, mashed, or creamed) from 98 to 123, butter 50 per pat, rolls 95 to 122, salad dressing 118 to 368, and mincemeat or pumpkin pie with whipped cream 390.

THE MORE abstemious eater can do quite nicely on approximately 700 calories. This includes a clear soup, turkey, two vegetables without butter, cranberry sauce, celery and radishes, a roll, one pat of butter, grapefruit, salad (no dressing), ice cream, and black coffee.

Good fellowship and relaxation will help the digestive mechanism; being thankful brings peace of mind.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

IT'S NOT PERMANENT

Mrs. C. O. writes: I am taking cortisone and have sprouted coarse hairs on my upper lip. Will these disappear when I stop taking the medicine?

REPLY

Yes. The same can be said of other side effects of this hormone, such as weight gain; puffiness of the face, and sugar in the urine.

BABY TEETH

Mrs. T. writes: Are all the first teeth lost?

REPLY

Yes, as a rule, all 20 of the first set are out by the age of 12. Occasionally a baby tooth remains because there is no second tooth below to take its place. When this occurs, the first tooth becomes permanent.

BLOOD THICKENER

Mack writes: Does whisky or wine thicken the blood and would 3 or 4 ounces a week of either beverage be harmful to someone with a coronary condition?

REPLY

No to both of these questions provided the drinks are divided over the seven-day period.

CULTURE AND MILK

T. K. writes: What is meant by cultured milk?

It doesn't mean intellectual milk even though the product is made by well educated food chemists who culture the milk by adding harmless bacteria to make it more digestible.

Pro-North Viet Blood Drive Seems A Fizzle

By JULES WITCOVER
Advance News Service

PALO ALTO — A much-publicized drive by California college students to collect blood for victims of U.S. bombing in North Viet Nam appears to be fizzling fast.

Committees at Stanford University here and at the University of California in Berkeley claim to have collected more than 100 pledges for blood donations.

But they are running into what may be insurmountable problems of transmission.

The American Red Cross has turned down the project on grounds it has no contact with the Red Cross in Hanoi. It is doubtful the American Red Cross would even assist in taking blood from the donors, as it is doing for blood drives in support of U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

The blood-for-North Viet Nam group, called the Medical Aid Committee, has asked the International Red Cross in Geneva to get the blood into the hands of civilians in North Viet Nam and in Viet Cong-controlled areas in South Viet Nam.

But the International Red Cross itself may not have the means for shipping blood into Viet Nam nor is it likely to be able to guarantee that blood would go to civilians—which the students says is the main idea —and not to Viet Cong troops.

Anatole Anton, a 26-year-old graduate student at Stanford and one of the prime movers in the drive, says most pledges have been made with the understanding that the blood would go to civilians, but with an awareness that it might not be possible to assure soldiers wouldn't get some of it.

Anton is a member of the May 2 Movement, which is avowedly pro-Viet Cong, on grounds the United States is fighting an "imperialist" war against legitimate forces of "national liberation." But he says most of the donors would not be May 2 members, and their prime motivation would be humanitarian, not political.

Transmission to Hanoi or areas of Viet Cong control is not the drive's only headache. There is the question of who will draw the blood, and where the medical equipment will come from, including containers for the blood. Not a drop of blood has been drawn yet.

Anton acknowledges that the odds are very long now that any blood will be shipped from Stanford or Berkeley to Hanoi or Viet Cong areas in South Viet Nam. It may be, he says, the donor will have to sell their blood through normal channels and send the money to the International Red Cross.

Though most of the potential donors see the act as one of humanitarianism, Anton says, he concedes that the May 2 Movement seized on the ideas as a dramatic way to publicize their contention that the U.S. is engaged in "calculated immorality" in the bombing of the North and Viet Cong areas.

One result of the blood-for-North Viet Nam drive has been a series of counterdrives at Stanford, Berkeley and elsewhere as a show of support for the U.S. commitment in Viet Nam. Some 222 pints of blood were collected at Stanford Monday and a similar drive got under way at the University of California Berkeley campus Tuesday.

At Berkeley, while members of the Medical Aid Committee spoke of U.S. aggression in Viet Nam to about a dozen onlookers, more than a hundred students gathered across the way as two cheerleaders sprayed each other with shaving cream. It was part of the warmup for this Saturday's big Cal-Stanford football game.

The blood drive speakers finally gave up when they had trouble making themselves heard over the merriment.

No Jury Meeting

The regular meeting of the Marin County Grand Jury was cancelled yesterday because of the Thansgiving holiday, foreman George R. Scott reported. The jury will meet next on Dec. 29.

Brown Discusses Speakers' Right

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A student has a "constitutional right of free speech so long as he does not impair the rights of others," says Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

The governor, addressing a lawyers' luncheon yesterday, asked the lawyers, however, to take the responsibility of answering statements made by extremists.

"Don't let the extremists' pleas to impeach Chief Justice Earl Warren, condemn the patriotism of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, burn draft cards or permit seditious activity to go unchallenged," he said.

Teen-Agers Regain Use Of Rec Room

The Terra Linda Recreation and Parks District Commission last night approved reopening the teen-age room at the recreation center.

The room had been closed last summer after a series of burglaries and vandalism at the center. Commissioners met with representatives of the teen-agers and worked out new rules of conduct.

The room will be opened for teen-agers on Wednesdays and Thursdays from 3 to 5:30 p.m. and on Tuesdays and Fridays during the same hours for preteen groups. The room will also be opened on Tuesdays and Fridays from 7 to 9 p.m. for teen groups.

Commissioners accepted the resignation of recreation director William A. Gordon, effective Dec. 31. Gordon submitted his resignation Nov. 17. Commissioners approved advertising for a new recreation director with the question of salary left open. Gordon's salary is $625 per month.

Irish Cast Ballots In Humdrum Election

BELFAST, Ireland (AP) — Northern Ireland voted for a new Parliament today amid torrential rains and general unconcern.

After a campaign which failed to generate any heat whatsoever, party leaders forecast that fewer than half the 700,000 voters would turn out to pick 29 members of the province's House of Commons.

Marijuana Study Area Outlined

Marin County Sheriff's Office is concentrating its investigation into the use of marijuana by teen-agers in an area from Terra Linda south to Tamalpais Valley, Inspector Harvey Teague said today.

The suspected young people are not necessarily students of either Terra Linda or Tamalpais High Schools, Teague emphasized.

Sees Own Doctor

Manuel Quintal, 47, of 208 Second Street, Sausalito, was reportedly knocked down by a truck driven by Robinson W. Upton, 51, of 55 Meadow Road, Mill Valley, while Quintal was in a crosswalk at Bridgeway and Caledonia street at 9:55 a.m. yesterday. Quintal, who complained to police of being a little dizzy after being hit, said he would see his own doctor.

Almonte Has No Plan To Pay Sewer Costs

Almonte Sanitary District does not plan to pay the City of Mill Valley for sewer service charges due Dec. 10.

Directors decided this Monday night, questioning the city's method of charging the district for sewer services.

Directors do not believe the district should pay a portion of the salaries of Mill Valley employees unless these employees are spending all or a portion of their time on Almonte sewer services.

"We recognize the growth rate of the City of Mill Valley," said Robert A. Alexander, board chairman, "but we do not feel that any of these costs should be passed on to our district unless they relate directly to what it costs the city to process our sewage at the city's treatment plant. It is the opinion of the board, which does not sit as auditing or accounting body, that this is what is happening."

Alexander said director A. R. Teather has checked the Mill Valley city budget and recorded expenditures back to 1959-60.

The board also agreed to consult with the county counsel's office about laws covering charges by a city to a county agency for services.

A joint meeting will be sought with directors of three other districts, Alto, Homestead and Kay Park, served by the Mill Valley treatment plant, said Alexander.

City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer said he prefers not to comment on the situation until he has received some communication from the board. But, he said, if Almonte refuses to pay for regular services, the city could cut off its line.

Almonte directors agreed to contribute about $392 as its share toward a county-supervised study of the Richardson Bay drainage basin.

Planners Due Density Session

The Marin County Planning Commission will meet at 8 p.m. Monday at the Civic Center to discuss the issue of housing density in the planned community zone as it relates to existing master plans.

Since the planning commission set a general discussion of the problem with the thought of developing "bonus" density allowances, the board of supervisors has referred a proposed ordinance to the commission for study which could limit density to master plans, but allow a bonus provision.

Commission Chairman Felix M. Warburg said the discussion Monday night would undoubtedly center on the board's proposal.

San Rafael Park Proposed For Idle Street Property

The San Rafael Park and Recreation Commission will hear a report Wednesday on the request of Rafael Highlands homeowners to develop a city park in an unused 100-by-40-foot street easement next to 60 Ridgewood Drive.

Commissioners will meet at 8 p.m. at city hall.

Also secheduled is a discussion on whether to buy land for a park next to Don Timoteo School. Park and recreation director Joseph P. Rodota will recommend that the commission urge city councilmen to negotiate for the property, owned by the Freitas family.

Still other reports will deal with the city recreation center's move from the old American Legion hall to the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. building at Second and Brooks streets.

Commissioners will meet jointly with the city council and the San Rafael Board of Education at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 8 at city hall to discuss the school board's future role, if any, in supporting the city recreation program.

Morals Charge Case Goes Before Court

Russell John Mancebo, 23, of 1100 West California Avenue, Tamalpais Valley, was bound over to Marin Superior Court Tuesday following preliminary hearing in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of statutory rape.

He allegedly had sexual relations with a 16-year-old Sausalito baby-sitter in Sausalito on Oct. 31.

Second Death In Span Crash

The second victim of a Nov. 7 auto crash on the San Francisco end of the Golden Gate Bridge died of his injuries yesterday in a San Francisco hospital.

He was Alfred James Morales, 21, a South San Francisco cabinet maker.

Morales was a passenger in a car driven by Barry Vidak, 22, of South San Francisco, which was struck by one driven by Danny Murtagh, 24, of San Francisco near mid-span the night of Nov. 7.

Killed in the crash was William C. Steiner of San Francisco, a passenger with Murtagh. The California Highway Patrol said Murtagh's car crossed the center line. He was booked in San Francisco City Prison on suspicion of manslaughter.

A bumper potato crop is reported.

New Nursery Slated To Open Feb. 1

A new non-profit nursery school is scheduled to open Feb. 1 in the Church in Ignacio, a not-yet-completed Episcopal church which eventually will be part of a shopping center.

The school will be for youngsters from three to six, according to Mrs. Beverly Bastian, acting director. Two or three morning sessions are planned weekly.

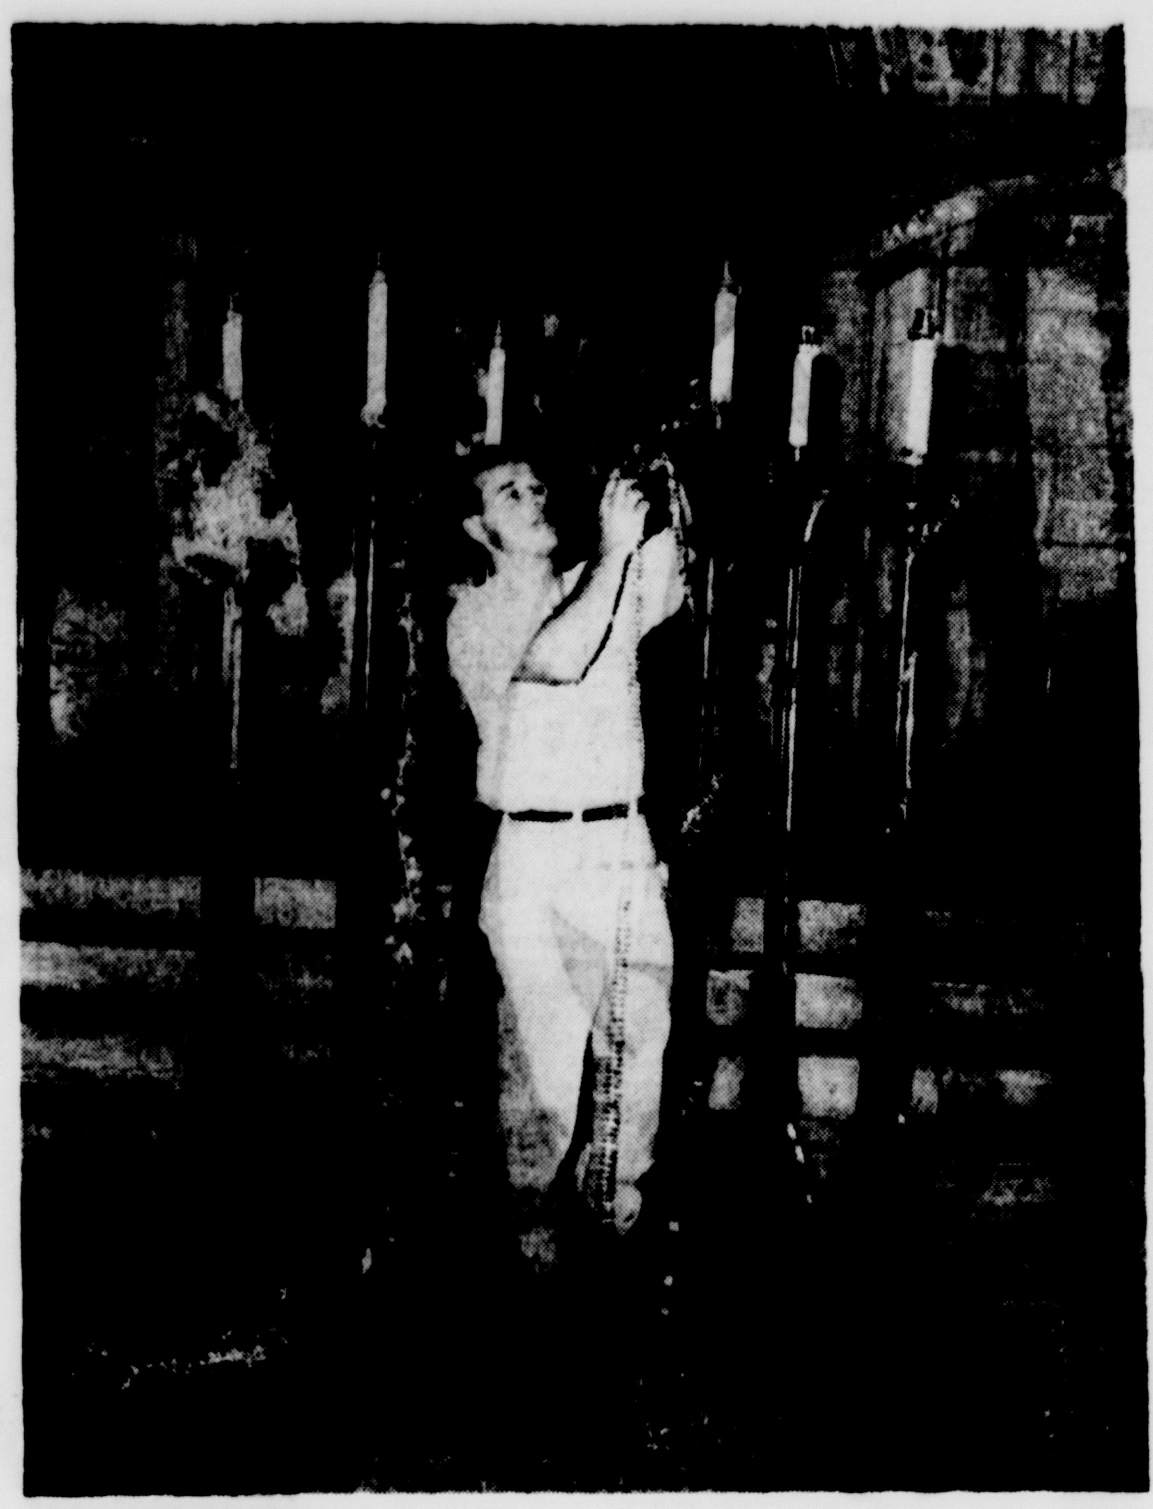
IN BELL TOWER—From a precarious perch, carilloneur James Lawson of New York's Riverside Church inspects one of the steeple bells. Carillon music is an important part of the church's holiday worship.



GETTING READY—Staff members of Riverside Church, New York City, begin planning for the many Christmas week observances early in the fall. Here man-size candle holders are being arranged.

Holy Week Is Busy Time In Big New York Church

LIGHTING TASK—Checking connections at the Riverside Church's electrical panel board for Christmas lighting is James Farmer, one of the church's assistant ministers, with an electrician.

Preparations For Season Start In July

By LYDIA BICKFORD

From far up in the tower of New York's Riverside Church, the mighty bells of the carillon are sending exultant glorias out over the North River.

Inside the sanctuary, 2,500 worshippers are celebrating the meaning of the Christmas season. In a chapel nearby, 100 Spanish-speaking church-goers are about to hear a sermon in their own language, given by their own Hispano-American minister.

At the close of the service, single young adults are meeting over a coffee hour to discuss a Christmas topic, or later going to dinner together.

In the afternoon, Riverside opens its doors to a Chinese Christian Fellowship and to the Religious Society of Friends.

And as dusk comes down on the city and the church is again filled with worshippers singing Christmas carols with the choir, the lights of the church are lowered, and six ministers go forward to the altar for the traditional candle-lighting ceremony.

This is Riverside Church on the Sunday before Christmas. During Christmas week, 10,000 people, many of whom are not church members, are involved in worship services, family Christmas parties, tableaux, holiday teas and dinners, and neighboring caroling.

But for the 130 people on the church staff, Christmas begins to be in being back in May, when the first plans are structured. By June, the church's myriad organizations will have requested program dates, in August the storage rooms containing Christmas manger scenes, doorway designs and electric candles are being checked to see what must be replaced.

Huge brass candlestick holders are polished to a sheen, and lights are checked in the Three Wise Men electric design that will hang over the church entrance used by all the children who come to Riverside.

Discussions begin to centralize on Christmas planning shortly after Labor Day, and inter-office memos flow back and forth.

Later in the fall, 37 trees are ordered for the church, ranging from a three-foot artificial tree for the church's nursery school to an 18-foot tree. In the nave will stand a 12-foot balsam, and ranging around the sanctuary will be half trees, flat at the back, so they can be wired to the church carvings.

A week before Christmas, 43 members of the maintenance crew converge to put up all this greenery, which takes 50 man hours of time. Printed instructions go to the electricians who man the light board, giving orders like "choir spots, full; triforium and south aisles, one-quarter; five bucket lights in ambulatory, blue; certain circuits never play during sermon."

The ministers who participate in the candle-lighting ceremony are given a diagram of placement, and instructions on their participation, which say, "The lighted candles are to be held upright in the INSIDE hand."

The choir is holding extra rehearsals, and residents of the neighborhood enjoy the sounds of the bells as the carillonneur practices for his special Christmas recitals.

But though the staff of the church is working hard to extend the meaning of Christmas to all who will come to the church, they take time during the pre-Christmas week for their own convocation: a worship service and a buffet lunch — and a time to exchange their personal Christmas greetings.

Polish Christmas Last Fling Before Winter

By EDWARD SHIELDS

WARSAW (UPI) — Hares in the window and fish in the wash basin signal Christmas in Poland.

Christmas here is a final, flustered rocket-burst of gaiety before the gray resignation of the East European winter.

The Communist regime makes no attempt to dampen the holiday spirit and even, within the narrow confines of the chronically overextended economy, encourages it.

Since 1956, the Roman Catholic Church has been given a free hand to celebrate the religious side of the holiday.

From the starkly traditional Gothic of Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski's rebuilt St. John's Cathedral to the smallest wooden village church, soldiers in the uniform of the Polish People's Army kneel next to babushka-shrouded peasant women and stylish wives of bureaucrats at the Christmas Midnight Mass.

Poles have their Christmas dinner on the night of the 24th —a feast of 12 traditional dishes, including fish in "gray sauce" and mushrooms, and usually without meat.

Christmas trees usually are those which were not up to export quality, or "toppings" from the season's timber-cutting.

More and more Poles are following official urging to buy artificial plastic trees — but these, too, must be bought when they appear.

Christmas fare is a long-term project. In the days before the holiday, few homes in the spreading, modern apartment blocks lacked a hare hanging head-down in the frosty air outside the living room window.

Bathtubs — and even the hand basins in office washrooms — teem with carp being kept alive to be the feature of the Christmas Eve dinner.

As Christmas ends, the Poles feel fortified for winter.

Suits To Be Brighter

What's new in clothing? Well, suits will still be dark, but they will be deep and bright, black-bronze, black-burgundy, iridescent. Jackets will have lowered buttons and lowered, longer lapels, giving a look of more line. The over-all look of men's clothing can be described as "classic."

Sunlight Can Dim Clothing

For generations homemakers have been hanging clothes in the sun for its brightening effect. Actually just the opposite may happen.

Today's detergents contain fluorescent brighteners. But the sun counteracts these chemicals, greatly reducing their effectiveness.

So for that "whiter-than-new" look the TV commercials are always talking about, take the easy way out—use an automatic clothes dryer.

Sports Games Sure To Score On Christmas

Good sports or not, your family will marvel at the variety of intricate games this Christmas that bring even big league sports down to table-size.

Whether your son tried out for quarterback or water-boy, he'll appreciate the latest NFL electric football game including a magnetized ball and a kicker-passer device that is extraordinarily real.

With the introduction of so many indoor ice rinks, ice hockey has become a "regular" with the high school crowd. It is no surprise, then, to see an electric hockey game featuring an icy-pro-puck to appear on the game scene.

Billiards has been excavated from those dark and sinister tombs called pool halls, given a little dusting off and introduced to the entire family.

Jet Fan Is A Gift

This year's gift items are highly unusual. There's a replica of a jet engine that's actually a desk fan; a miniature Jaguar car that encases a transistor radio; a large wooden electric wall clock with billiard balls as numerals; and "executive pinball machines" that stand right on the desk top.

Minimum Paper Best For Wraps

Pretty wrapping on a package under the tree can make all the difference.

Use a minimum of paper. Place the box, face down, in the center of a sheet of paper that looks like the approximate size needed.

Fold the paper over the lengthwise dimension of the box and cut it, leaving only an inch or so to overlap. Seal the overlap with a piece of tape.

Now, for the ends. Make sure the paper overhangs the ends by between half and five-eighths of the depth of the box. Turn in the corners at top and bottom, as tightly as possible. Finally, secure the top half to the bottom half with a piece of tape.

Back Is New Spot For Jewelry Gift

Since fashion favors a variety of bared-back styles in dresses for late day and dress-up, Trifari suggests costume jewelry pins in pairs to wear on the side of a back plunge or at the lowest part of the back.

Pick a pair of gay flower designs and match them with earrings to please your "special girl."

CHRISTMAS SEALS – 1965 VERSION

The familiar Christmas health seal, first issued by the American Red Cross but taken over nearly a half century ago by the National Tuberculosis Assn., is in the four forms shown here in the sheets mailed to Marinites recently. The seal sale is the sole support of the association's tuberculosis research and prevention program. Most of the funds from sale of the seals in Marin County are used locally by the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Assn.

Marin Stores Are Hep To Latest Youth Style

The recent two-pronged problem concerning Marinites who go out of the county to buy, and the teener and young adult who dress as if they scavenged rather than bought at all, can be solved by a daily reading of the Independent-Journal clothing ads, according to Warren Marcus of Marcus Shop in San Rafael.

It certainly is not news to state that young people will not wear cut-down versions of adult styles, nor is it necessary. A large portion of the marketing effort of the clothing industry is devoted to following the high school and collegiate pace setters. Not leading them, but following them.

This is a carefully scheduled science and strong trends in fashion must be joined at the flood or millions in garment inventory can be left on the shelves.

Getting to the point, there is a lot of hesitancy on the part of both teens and parents, to make that first move into the clothing market place.

In large urban centers both teen and parent are reasonably sure that they are "with" the trend. What they must learn is that merchants in Marin, who specialize in teen and college fashions, attend the same style showings and receive the same trend information as the metropolitan clothing houses. More than this, because of the relative size of inventories, they are able to react faster to new trends.

Regular monthly bulletins from Menswear Retailers of America note all men's fashion trends, wherever they occur and, as young men are more susceptible to change, most fashion information concerns their needs. These are not generalizations but precise pin points of what is worn and where.

For example: The well-dressed undergrad at Fresno State wears a tweed balmacaan topcoat that a USC man would not be caught dead in. At USC they wear black gabardine or camel hair. Most collegians prefer tan raincoats but if you're an Oregon Beaver, you wear dark olive or you're "out." A young man entering Marin College can know in advance what will be worn. If he is preparing to go to Washington, Utah State or Slippery Rock Teachers College, his Marin specialty store can tell him, beyond a reasonable doubt, what the man around campus will wear on dates in the Spring of 1966.

This information is also invaluable to grandmothers and aunts, come Christmas.

"Don't wear last year's bargains or this year's choice of adults," says Marcus. "Dress up to the standards of your group in the manner of your group and do it right here in Marin."

Charm Her With Jewelry

For the woman who appreciates personal gifts of sentimental value, select one of the endless assortments of novel jewelry charms this season.

There are charms in beautiful stone-set drops; and others in a precious assortment of miniatures . . . all are detachable and interchangeable. Some lend themselves to the revival in fashion's penchant for "antique" pendants.

A very special gift for the lady is a smart, gold disc charm. Have it personalized with an inscription or monogram.

Stocking Attributed To Saint Nickolas

The hanging of the Christmas stocking is attributed to Saint Nicholas, who provided dowries for the daughters of an impoverished nobleman.

As the saint threw presents of gold into the house, they fell into a stocking that had been hung near the chimney to dry.

Safety Rules Change Trees In Germany

By RICHARD M. SUDHALTER

FRANKFURT (UPI) — Germans used to look on their Christmas trees with pride and even a little awe.

They were a beautiful sight. No store-bought colored balls, just dozens of candles burning bright and warm.

Then, not long ago, the fire department stepped in. Sorry, it said, it's dangerous. A fire hazard.

A fire hazard, indeed. A custom dating to prehistoric times, when Druid priests hurled flaming trees down mountainsides to celebrate the Dec. 21 winter solstice. And suddenly it was a fire hazard.

But the fire department had its way. Over the past two or three years German families have begun to follow the American custom of using colored lights. The number of Christmas Eve fires has dropped dramatically in the last three years, according to fire department figures.

Over the years Christmas decoration became a family affair. Fruits, bonbons, nuts, paper cut-outs, strings of beads and candles combined to make the German Christmas tree a work of art.

Unlike American custom, the German Christmas tree is never displayed before Christmas Eve.

But in Communist East Germany, where official reference to Christmas is taboo, it isn't even a Christmas tree. East Germans have to speak of "Winter Trees" and a jolly old man with a beard named "Father Frost."

Oh, Tannenbaum.

Cheese, Wine On Sale

Several men's stores have recently installed small departments selling gourmet cheeses and fine wines.

Litter Besmirches Holiday Landscape

There's a blot on the country at Christmas time. It's that nasty item known as litter—dropped by careless shoppers, excited package openers and tired party-goers alike.

The Keep America Beautiful organization notes there are two litter bulges to the Christmas season. One comes before the holiday and is caused by the large concentrations of shoppers in cities and towns. The other comes after the holiday when trees, wreaths, decorations and wrappings are discarded along sidewalks, streets, highways and vacant lots.

Many cities have started special Christmas anti-litter campaigns. In Los Angeles, businessmen band together to curb litter by "giving Santa Claus a broom."

In Maryland, litter fighters conduct a pre-holiday program, including the distribution of anti-litter jingles.

New York City's Sanitation Department dresses up a refuse collection truck with Christmas wreaths and garlands and anti-litter messages. It is driven by a man dressed as Santa Claus for two or three weeks before the holiday.

Everyone can help to eliminate litter. Here are four basic rules for you to follow.

Refrain from littering stores and streets when shopping.

Put discarded wrappings in their proper receptacles as soon as presents are opened.

Store re-usable decorations and wrapping materials safely so they won't become a fire hazard.

Don't just dump out old Christmas trees or wreaths. If in doubt about how to get rid of them, check with your local sanitation department.

Reversible Paisley Belt Gives Color

Do you like a colorful fancy belt, or do you prefer plain leather? A new one on the market is paisley on one side which reverses to glove finished steerhide on the other.

Bush jackets for outerwear are being seen more and more. Men like the abundance of pockets in this model. Reasonably-priced, comfortable suede loafers come in eight colors and can be blended in with almost every sportswear outfit.

'Correct' Way To Trim Trees

There is a "correct" way to trim the tree if your eager and impatient children will allow it.

First, inspect the lights for frayed cords, exposed wires, and broken sockets. Check all the bulbs. Then begin with the lights at the top, working down and around placing them on the boughs nearest trunk first and working outward to the tips of the branches.

After all the lights are in place, hang the other decorations.

OLD-STYLE CANDLES—Candlemaker Ralph Ajello is shown in his workshop in Westchester County, New York, with some of the thousands of Christmas candles his firm makes each year. The Ajello family began making candles five generations ago in Naples, Italy, and moved to this country in the end of the 19th Century.

Less Ironing With A Dryer

Ironing is lessened or eliminated for owners of the new automatic dryers because of a de-wrinkle cycle. This gentle "cooling-off" period follows the regular drying cycle and gives fabrics and garments a fresh look.

The "automatic dry" control includes a damp dry setting which dries clothes just the right length of time for easiest ironing—without sprinkling.

When the drying cycle is completed a bell sounds so clothes can be removed while wrinkle-free.

Yule Record Albums Made Record Sales

They were "Glorious Sound of Christmas" by Philadelphia Orchestra and "Season's Greetings" by Perry Como.

Handy Wrapper

A paper tablecloth comes in handy for the bulky gift that is too large for gift-paper widths. These tablecloths are available in various designs, including birthday and Christmas motifs.

Dress Up Home With Tiny Trees

Tiny whimsical Christmas trees that you make yourself can do a great deal to dress up your home during the holidays.

The greatest fun in making these miniature trees is in dreaming up the ideas for them yourself. But, here are a few ideas for trees to get you started thinking in the right direction.

Christmas tree balls in graduated sizes can be stacked one on the other by attaching the balls, Christmas seals, tinsel, picture hanging wire.

Funnel or cone shapes (tin or paper) ranging from large at the bottom to smallest at the top can be stacked for a smart effect, too.

Mistletoe Kissing

The practice of kissing under the mistletoe is believed to have its origin in ancient times when enemies met under the mistletoe and droppd their weapons and embraced.

Religious Group Constructs Toys

RIPTON, N.Y. (AP) — Members of a unique religious community here, whose goal is to follow completely the teachings of Jesus through shared communal living, have found a satisfactory way to meet the practical needs of the 250-member Society of Brothers.

They are hard at work manufacturing educational playthings, designed to spur imaginative, spontaneous play activities. Many of their designs are constructed for multiple — and free-wheeling—purposes. There's a triangle set from which children can make a seesaw, a cart with wheels, a slide, and many other combinations.

Another design is a playhouse which can operate at one-story or two-story levels, can support a slide that can grab a rung at any height, and that has a platform readied for doll housekeeping or playing store. A rocking boat has a built-in mechanism so it actually moves across the floor as the young "rowers" rock it. When it's turned over there's a flight of stairs underneath.

In their own community in the foothills of the Catskills, life for the children means playing with the toys their fathers and grandfathers have made, having breakfast with their families in their apartments, but sharing the other two meals with their own age groups in their own school, helping with berry picking, corn husking, kitchen clean-up detail, and the myriad activities common to any large family.

There is no iron-clad schedule of responsibilities for any of the members of the Society of Brothers. A new house is needed for the growing community, so all men who are available go to work on its construction.

The weather is unusually hot, so the children are piled in a school bus, and go to the river for the afternoon. The young college group is off for a four-day hike through the Catskills.

Young members of the community teach the still-younger in a building adapted for a school. There aren't any conventional desks. The tables are in half and quarter circles, and the teacher presides within a partial circle where she can reach every child without standing up. This type of table later joined the parade of equipment marketed by the Society.

Communal living begins at the cradle age, and at six weeks, the new baby spends a few hours a day in the Baby House. When adult members of the community gather in the evening for singing or folk-dancing, there's no baby-sitting problem. A teen-age girl in the apartment unit will watch over several charges. When it's a teen party, the mothers take turns with baby-tending at home.

Formed in 1920, the Society of Brothers originated in Germany, left for England, when it was forced to disband by the German Secret State Police, fled to Paraguay when Germany made war on England and came to rest in the United States ten years ago. There are two other communities in this country, at Norfolk, Conn., and Farmington, Pa.

Have Youngsters Join Preparations

An important part of the fun of Christmas is in preparing for it and since Christmas is for children, you'll want your youngsters to participate as much as possible in all the activities that the Yule season brings.

Not only will it be an excellent opportunity for them to gain a sense of responsibility but to express themselves creatively.

Brown Gravy

The gravy sauce you pour over slices of holiday turkey and dressing will have a rich brown color if you brown the flour in the oven before blending it with the meat juices.

Sleeveless Now Are Appropriate

This is a time of year for wearing sleeveless sweaters, but several rules should be observed:

(1) Be careful that sweater doesn't cause a jacket gap at neck; (2) A sweater should not be worn under a dressy, business-type suit. (Separate vests are better.); (3) Do not wear one with a neck that hides most of your tie and the points of your collar.

If you ever find yourself without a shoehorn, one of those little celluloid or plastic calenders that you probably have in your wallet will work fine.

Soldiers To Observe Christmas With Song

FT. ORD, (UPI) — Booming weapons and marching feet will be stilled Christmas Day at this military training post and be replaced by combined voices united in Handel's "The Messiah."

The Fort Ord Soldiers Chorus, the post chapel choir and musical groups from nearby communities will participate.

INDEED WE ARE THANKFUL . . .

CANDLE MAKING—One of the easiest Christmas candles you can make is the snowball. Just follow the directions (from left to right). You'll need a one-pound box of paraffin for a candle five inches in diameter. First, make two separate hemispheres, using a teacup or round bowl for the mold. Attach the two pieces together, by dipping each half into hot, melted wax and quickly sticking together. Make a wick hole by heating an ice pick or other metal tool and melting a hole to the required depth. Insert the wick and seal it by pushing the hot tool down beside the wick. Finally add whipped wax. This trimming is made by melting wax, allowing it to cool until a thin skin has formed and beating with an egg beater. Use a spoon or fork to apply the wax. For an extra touch, add glitter or sequins.

DIFFERENT GIFT

Distinctive Christmas Candles Easy To Make

Christmas candles can add a decorative note to your own house or provide a perfect gift for neighbors, relatives or friends. They're inexpensive, easy to make, and can be created in an endless number of forms, suited to individual tastes.

Ordinary household paraffin, fine for candle making, is available in almost any supermarket. Special candle wax also is available in many hobby stores. If you want to add color to your candles, just melt part of an old crayon with the rest of the wax.

A pleasing scent can be obtained by adding a few drops of perfume while the wax is still hot.

The variety of molds which can be used for candles is endless. And most of them are probably right around the house. For example, jello molds, glass tumblers, plastic refrigerator containers, glasses, funnels, milk containers, mailing tubes or ice cream containers all make excellent molds.

When melting wax, it's best to use a double boiler, making sure you have plenty of water in the botton half. The wax should not be too hot when used for molding. It's a good idea if after melting the wax you take it off the heat, let it cool until a thin skin forms, then just heat for a very short time until the skin dissolves again.

When molding in a glass vessel, be sure the inside is tapered so the hardened candle can be removed. If you have trouble getting your candle out from the mold, put it in the refrigerator overnight.

You can insert the wick either before or after you mold the candle. To fix the wick before molding in a glass, tie a small weight to the end of the wick, and tie the top end to a stick placed across the top of the mold. With paper containers, pierce a hole in the bottom, pass the wick through and knot it. Tie the top to a stick across the mold.

To make a wick hole in an already-molded candle, heat an ice pick or other metal rod and melt a hole to the required depth. The wick does not have to go all the way down. After the wick is inserted, it can be sealed in by pushing a hot tool down beside the wick.

If you want your candle to have a thin coating of color, you can use one of two methods. Small candles can be dipped in hot colored wax, dipping first one half, then the other, allowing the coatings to overlap carefully. For larger candles, spoon hot wax of whatever color is desired over the top and sides of the candle. For best results, hold the candle in a tilted position.

Make Practical Items 'Surprise' For Nursery Set

The most practical Christmas gift can be a surprise package by adding imaginative, though compatible, accessory items.

For a practical Yuletide gift for a family with a baby, you might, for example, get a colorful nursery diaper hamper, and stuff it with diapers, diaper pins, baby powder, or other small inexpensive items.

Nursery diaper hampers are ideal for gift-giving; many are gaily decorated with children's motifs — circus patterns, gay bunnies and little lambs or "playtime" themes. Covered in washable vinyl, they have a removable, plastic inner bag for sanitary handling, and a cover with built-in deodorizer.

Mistletoe Goes Back To Ancient Cults

The festive symbolism of mistletoe goes back to ancient cults common to the Celts, according to Encyclopedia Americana.

Mistletoe once was universally associated with fertility, and is still associated with kissing and courting at winter festivals.

Traditional To Op Art Greetings

by SALLY RYAN
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The lamb is lying down with the lion on Christmas cards this year.

There is everything from the usual medieval Madonnas Op art Christmas stars, with a sprinkling of partridges in pear trees. But peace is the favorite theme shown by greeting card manufacturers.

In the next two months, the manufacturers, museums, photographic supply houses and charity groups expect to sell a record number of cards.

The Greeting Card Assn., made up of manufacturers, predicts sales of over three billion cards in the United States.

Shoppers will find selection more difficult than ever, with more than 50,000 designs available.

The 1965 cards are three-dimensional, encrusted with gold foil. They are orange, pink, beige, purple, and sometimes even the traditional red or green.

There are special cards "From Our Parakeet to Yours."

There are cards for the milkman, mailman, doctor, priest, boss, nun, baby sitter and those in mourning. There is Santa on water skiis and Santa driving a golf cart instead of a sleigh.

"We figure the average customer is a housewife, about 35, with two children, living in the suburbs," said Steve Shannon, executive director of the Greeting Cards Assn.

"She orders about 200 personalized cards for 15 to 35 cents apiece, and then spends another $10-$12 on special cards for mother and the mailman. Then on impulse, she buys two or three boxes at the last minute."

The association takes what Shannon calls "a discreetly neutral policy" to its chief sales rivals: museums and charity organizations, such as UNICEF, which publishes its own cards to raise funds for the United Nations Children's Fund.

"Who's going to fight a glass of milk for a child in Zanzibar?" he asked, referring to UNICEF, which expects to sell 40 million cards this year.

Last year UNICEF's Christmas card net proceeds were $2.3 million.

Museums sales have been inching up, too, but the museums are close-mouthed about the figures. Many of the museums sell their cards throughout the country.

Sales of photographic cards have skyrocketed since they were introduced in the 1920s. Sales were 110 million in 1962, 125 million in 1963 and 150 million last year.

Name, Phone Number Might Get Hat Back

Write your name and phone number on the inside of the leather band of your new felt hat. If someone takes it by mistake, you may get it back.

If you have things stored in boxes on the top shelf of your closet, write down the contents on a tag with long enough strings to have them hang down where you can read them.

Even though new shoes are perfectly comfortable, wear them for short intervals instead of steadily, until they're well broken in.

This Contractor Just Like Santa

LOUISVILLE (AP)—One contractor has figured out a way to handle customers who order a fireplace for the home and are slow to pay.

He installs a pane of glass which blocks the flue of the chimney.

When the homeowner complains that the fireplace smokes, the contractor tells him it will work fine when it's paid for.

Upon payment, he drops a brick down the chimney, clears away the broken glass, and everyone's happy.

Lining Comes Out

One of New York's well-dressed gents has an opera cape with detachable linings. He switches from red, white, blue or other colors to suit the occasion.

Bedding Breeze In New Dryer

The wet, windy days always are most unpleasant when there is a big wash to hang outside, especially if blankets, sheets and other bedding are involved.

A new gas or electric clothes dryer eliminates the foul weather problems and largely reduces the manhandling of heavy items fresh from the washer. Here are some ideas on the best ways to dry bedding in the automatic clothes dryer.

Nylon, muslin and percale sheets should be slightly underdried. When sheets retain some natural moisture they are less apt to wrinkle or fold at the edges. Contour sheets will dry smooth and tight if replaced on the bed as soon as they come out of the dryer.

Men Overdoing Sports Clothes Wearing Now

Daliah Lavi says, "I like to see men wear sport clothes, but many of them are overdoing it. Suits, for business wear, give an air of competence, authority and reliability. Sport clothes, in the wrong places, make the wearer look like a playboy."

Polly Bergen says, "If men knew how wonderful they look in dinner clothes, they would wear them much more often. Their dressed-up dates like it too."

Christmas Stockings

The origin of Christmas stockings is not known, but there is a story that St. Nicholas once accidentally dropped some gold coins down a chimney and they fell in a stocking hung up to dry.

THE BEST CRITICS—Zany fun for the kids, but this game-playing session is actually a testing time for a new Milton Bradley game.

CHILD 'LABOR'

New Toy Ideas Tested At Home

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—When a new game is being cooked up in research and development department of the Milton Bradley Co., the designers don't have to go far to find out whether the game will go over with children.

They turn most naturally to their own families.

James J. Shea Sr., president of the company, has 15 grandchildren. His son, executive vice president, is the father of three girls and two boys.

The vice president in charge of the development group, Millens Taft Jr., has three boys and one girl, and a game artist, John Fereira, has a half dozen, evenly split between boys and girls.

And if that's not enough, John O'Donnell, assistant to the game sales manager, has two boys and three girls.

Whatever children are tapped for a trial run of a prospective game, their fathers can be sure the players will offer their most candid suggestions.

Coffee Can Remove Stain In Dark Suit

Black coffee will often take stains off a dark suit. Do not store swimwear away for the winter without having it properly laundered first. Fresh water showers do not remove all the salt.

Reminder: Do not stuff your muffler in the sleeves of your overcoat. It's too easily lost. Fold it neatly and put it into a pocket, instead.

Record, Book Gifts

Records and books are good choices for almost all teens, boy or girl. The important thing is to keep in mind the type of teen you're gifting.

Editor Sees Victorian Style Return In U.S.

John Taylor, editor of England's "Tailor and Cutter," said, "The American man is taking over the image of the Victorian, black and exaggerated understatement, a dark format and sincere clothes. He dresses as the 'father figure' on the Eastern Seaboard."

British recording star Paula Clark, recently performing in this country, added, "I work in London, live in Paris, and firmly believe that the men of all three countries dress exceedingly well. The best? I'd have to pick the men in the U.S."

Proper Clothes Make Better Impression

Dick Van Dyke said, "There's no quicker and surer way of making an impression on people than by wearing the proper clothes. Conversely, nothing can make you stand out, unfavorably, more than the wrong clothes."

British tailor Anthony Sinclair adds, "A tailor can't do both women's and men's wear. There are two completely different techniques. No really elegant man would want a woman's designer for his clothes."

Yule Folk Music

The ballad type of carol, now considered by musical writers as the true carol, is the folk song type.

Try Do-It-Yourself Gift Manufacture

New Kits May Start You Off On A Hobby

ART IN THE KITCHEN—With a little help from Mother, it's easy for a junior miss to make her own Christmas gifts by baking pictures. Just pour plastic crystals on a cookie tin, following the outline of a predrawn picture. Then bake.

The do-it-yourself craze is still going strong. And Christmas is one of the best times to join the ranks of the do-it-yourselfers. Homemade Christmas gifts provide a personal touch that's often lacking in the store-bought variety. And making the gifts is fun in itself and can start you on a brand new hobby.

Some of the easiest gifts to make are available in various types of kits which provide instructions and equipment. Some of them are easy enough grandma probably will be more delighted with a slightly lopsided home made gift from little Susie than with a ready-made present.

Little girls who enjoy working in the kitchen can try baking pictures. You just pour powdered plastic crystals on a flat cookie tin and pop them in the oven. The crystals are available in most colors. Use a mold to get the desired picture or draw the outline on a metal sheet. When baked, take the picture off the cookie tin, frame and wrap prettily.

Another simple project in the kitchen is fried marbles, a recent craze which has grown to an amazing popularity. Put the marbles in a pan and fry for a few minutes. Then put them in cold water. The marbles will develop cracked patterns. Next, turn the marbles into jewelry. Earring and pin backings are available at most hobby and variety stores and are easy to glue on. If Dad is handy with tools, you can drill holes in the marbles and string them on a chain for a necklace.

The world of chemistry provides liquid plastics that the do-it-yourself gift-giver can use to make paper weights, book ends and pen-set bases. Just pour the liquid plastic into a mold. When it hardens, paint for added beauty.

Comedians Shirts

Henny Youngman has his shirts monogrammed "Milton Berle" and comic Lenny Kent's carry the embroidery, "Genius."

Don't Soak Socks

Remember not to let your wool socks soak for too long when they're being washed. If you have trouble getting a spot off your tie, hold the area over the steam from boiling water for a minute or so, and then it should vanish.

Government Seers Expect Record-Smashing Buying

By PETER S. NAGAN
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — Government economists expect record-smashing Christmas sales for the nation's retailers.

As the experts see it, dollar volume of store business should surpass last year's big Yule showing, perhaps by as much as 10 per cent. So far this year, sales have been running 6 per cent to 7 per cent ahead of 1964.

Just about every factor in the economic outlook is bright these days.

Personal income was at a record annual rate of $545.3 billion in September, up more than 8 per cent from a year ago. More people are working than ever before—and earning more. Increased dividends and social security payments are swelling the income stream. And the faster their incomes rise, the more people spend.

Consumer confidence is high. People feel that the good times and good incomes will continue. The stock market both contributes to and reflects the general euphoria.

Fears of renewed inflation put consumers in a free-spending mood. They tend to prefer owning goods to holding dollars. Surveys show that consumers plan to keep buying autos and appliances at record rates.

Products being offered seemed to have a lot of sales appeal. The new 1966 autos are drawing customers in droves, and color TV is "hot." Dealers are expected to be well-stocked to meet customers' desires for model, style, color, and size. Their store staffs are at peaks and will be expanded further.

But record sales will be only part of the story. All this fall, consumers have been "trading up," buying more and more luxury goods.

It is confidently expected that consumers will go for the bigger cars, with expensive accessories. They are ordering better quality clothes and shoes. And they are spending freely for jewelry, sporting goods, Hi-Fi sets, cameras and similar expensive items.

The experts feel that the sales momentum that's going to be generated will continue well beyond the Christmas season. It will keep the cash registers jingling merrily for much of 1966.

Designer Says Sombe
Wear Now Bright

Women's designer Fontayn said, "Men have dressed to somberly in the past severa decades. Plenty of bright thing in perfect taste, are now avai able. Be bold!"

Stated singer Jane Morga "Wonder what men would thi if women wore stockings da gling down around their ankl —as so many men do?"

Yule Tree Custom

It is believed that the custo of Christmas trees crossed t Atlantic with Hessian merc naries during the Americ Revolution.

Spain, Russia Combine In Unique Film Tree Creation

CELLULOID CHRISTMAS—A very special Christmas tree is this one cut from a forest outside Madrid, Spain, for the Christmas party sequence in the movie, "Doctor Zhivago." The tree is being painstakingly decorated by a crew member with specially created ornaments characteristic of the Czarist Russia period. Members of the cast are grouped around the tree.

MADRID—A unique Christmas tree decorated entirely with handmade ornaments won't live to see this Christmas come.

But viewers of the film "Doctor Zhivago" will have a chance to admire it in the Christmas party sequence of the movie made from the Nobel prize-winning book by Boris Pasternak.

Before any ornaments were in being, a staff of researchers made a study of Russian ornaments of the period from 1905 to 1917, checking the native designs, the symbolic representations of various celebrations, the patterns, colors and materials used.

Next sketches were drawn in exact proportion to the models to be constructed.

The Spanish peasants were hired by the film's director, David Lean, to create glistening star-shapes, hand-carved wooden objects and colorful, hand-painted forms. Even the candles were hand-dipped, and shaped to the early 20th century designs, given them a rough, home-made quality to add to the decorating authenticity.

Most of the movie filming was done in Spain: on a large exterior set just outside Madrid, where the central part of Moscow was reconstructed, and outdoors near Soria, a rugged area similar to the steppes of Russia. To film the winter snow scenes there, the course of a river had to be diverted, a dam constructed, a rail-road spur built and an entire village created.

Striped Knit Shirts Becoming Important

Striped knit shirts are going to be mighty important from now on, the bolder the better. Brand new are the ones with a vertical competition stripe on the left side of the shirt, not unlike the striped surfing fleeces seen last summer.

Next big color for the young set in corduroy jeans will be yellow, and bell bottoms are spreading over the country like wildfire, reports the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear.

Christmas Seal Decorating Is Fun

Traditional Seals Have Different Uses

"When you start thinking about gift-wrapping and holiday party decorations, don't overlook the colorful Christmas Seals your mailman brings you."

This is the advice of Larkspur's famed designer of gift-wraps and party decorations, Toby Manuel.

To prove his point, Manuel created a complete party package from the 1965 Christmas Seal. The seal, named by its Danish-born creator "Kernels of Life," pictures a little girl feeding hungry birds in wintertime.

From the seal Toby has "lifted" the birds and made them the theme of his party invitations, place mats, place cards, table centerpiece and nutcups made entirely from seals.

Home decorations, also, Toby fashions from Christmas Seals. Winging birds, each carrying a Christmas Seal in his beak, make up his festive mantel decoration. Graduated lengths of single seals, stuck back-to-back for additional weight, hang from the molding above Manuel's fireplace to complete an interesting, off-center arrangement.

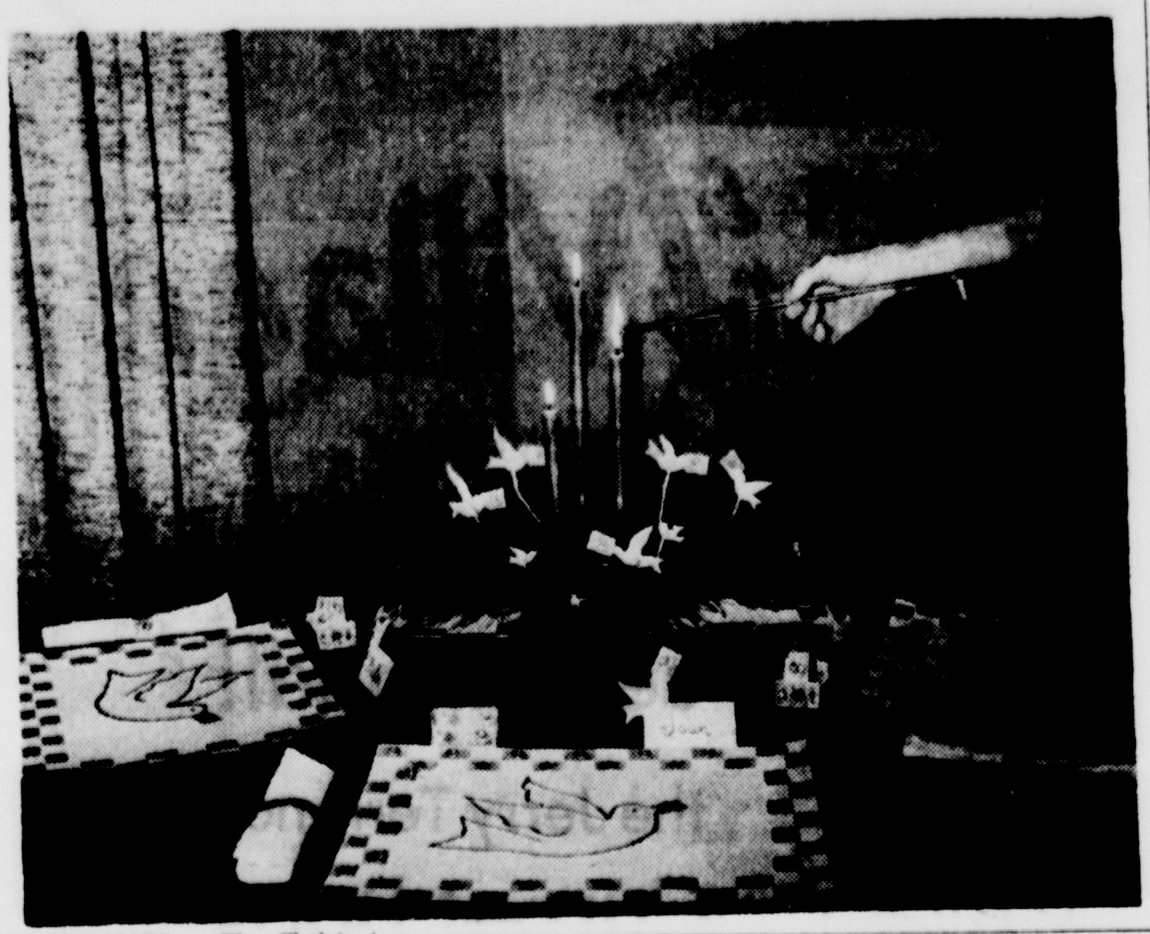
Ribbons of back-to-back single seals are used frequently in Manuel's decorations and gift-wraps, either as bright, looping bows or streamers. A double bow, plus streamers, makes a vivid perch for the graceful white bird that brings alive his pine-bough door decoration.

Two tips toward achieving professional effects are offered by Manuel. To gift-wrappers: Lift seals off the package for a fascinating, three-dimensional design. For instance, border your box thusly: Stick down one Christmas Seal, lift the next, fold the third across, bend the fourth down to the package and stick the fourth. Then repeat until the entire border has been outlined.

To home decorators Toby reveals this professional secret: There's a greenery and flower preserve available that's known in the trade as "non-spillable water!" Actually, it's a plastic foam that sops up water like a sponge—and holds it around the stems or branches of cut flowers or greenery.

It also holds erect light objects—such as the Christmas Seal-carrying birds (and their pipe cleaner support) that circle Toby's table and mantel arrangements.

"If you haven't yet received your 1965 Christmas Seals," Toby advises, "call the Marin Tuberculosis Assn. They'll send you as many as you need."



PLACE MATS — The Christmas Seal theme has been used for place mats and centerpiece decorations in a holiday party package designed by Toby Manuel of Larkspur.

HOLIDAY WREATH—A novel wreath may be made with the Christmas Seal insignia and a "ribbon" of seals. Seals may be used on packages, in home decorations and on trees for unusual decorations.

Enamel Bowls Save Silver

Holiday entertaining calls for bringing out your best in serving pieces.

But some hostesses have learned from sad experience the folly of putting mayonnaise, ripe olives, eggs or salted nuts in their silver bowls, because of the tarnishing or permanent staining and pitting of silver that often follows. To remedy this there are now on the market silver holloware pieces with colorful enamel linings.

Feathers On Tie

A new ready-tied four-in-hand tie being offered is decorated with 7,000 to 10,000 pheasant feathers per tie.

Belgian Children Get Early Gifts

BRUSSELS (UPI) — Belgian children will not find any gifts when they awake on Christmas.

The gift-giving day was St. Nicholas' Day, Dec. 6, when children woke to discover presents and sweets.

But the habit of exchanging gifts on Christmas Eve has increased since the war and customs now are similar to those observed in most countries.

Frosting Cake

If boiled frosting begins to harden before you have frosted a cake completely, soften it by beating in just a spoonful or two of hot water.

TV Performers Help Set Men's Clothes Fashions

Appearance of performers on that little black box has had considerable effect on the apparel habits of John Q. Public.

Some of the fashions have been copied intentionally. Others, perhaps, have had their effect subliminally. Think back to just a few of the items, in recent years, that have swept the country.

The first was probably the squared-off pocket handerchief that took the name of "TV fold" and was worn by practically everyone.

Perry Como's cardigan sweaters, the smartest of formalwear, the other-than-garish robes worn by wrestlers, the so-called "fun hats" worn by Andy Williams, and others. TV's shaping up as an influential fashion medium.

Wear Narrow Brims

Try wearing a narrower brimmed hat if you want your shoulders to look broader. Long faced men will look less-thin if they wear the wider ties that are now back in the stores. For outdoor work on soft ground, like raking leaves, wear your spiked golf shoes. They give you firmer footing, and give the shoes a workout in the off season.

Pope's Orders

When Pope Gregory I sent out missionaries in 601, he counseled them to let converts weave the harmless features of winter pagan festivals into the spiritual fabric of the Christmas observance.

Summer Shopping For Christmas

No matter how strenuous her Broadway acting duties may be, Tammy Grimes resolutely and enthusiastically begins her Christmas shopping in August.

The husky-voiced star of "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" and "High Spirits" confesses, "I'm afraid to go overboard at Christmas. I go way out of line. I love to buy everything, clothes, gifts, decorations for the tree.

"The most fun is finding the special gift for someone who is a collector. Sybil Burton loves daisies, and I found her porcelain china with a daisy pattern."

On the receiving end of Christmas, Tammy finds she's embarrassed to be given presents. "It puts me off a bit," she says. "I'd rather give."

The young actress, who manages to mix a chuckle, a bit of Cockney and a broad "a" all at once in her speech, is ambivalent about the location of her holiday activities.

"One year is different from another," she explains. "If I'm free, I take my little girl Mandy to New Hampshire for an old farmhouse Christmas with my parents. There's usually a great snow. We watch the deer and listen to the owls."

If she and Mandy, who is seven, are to stay in their New York home, it simply must snow, announces Tammy. "Snow and nighttime make New York so beautiful."

Tammy's New York Christmas is a showy affair, she says. "There's much festooning in the house. I like the tree beautiful, but not too sparkly. Just so it smells good." Gingerbread cookies are likely to hang from the tree.

Before Christmas, she says, she and Mandy read "lots and lots of stories, and always Dickens. We hang up our stockings Christmas Eve, and Mandy is up at 6 always on Christmas Day. We open a special present first, and somehow have breakfast in between."

The actress particularly enjoys receiving stuffed animals, which she collects along with pears. "Not pears as a fruit," she explains, "but paintings of pears, anything with pears on them."

But her most cherished presents are those Mandy makes her, like the first painting she gave her mother for Christmas. "It's children that make the holiday," says Tammy. "Without children, Christmas loses focus."

Golf Shoes Deserve Good Care In Winter

Take good care of good golf shoes. When you've played your last round of the season, give them a good cleaning, put them on trees, lubricate well and store in shoe bags for the winter.

Today's shirting fabrics, new linings and built-in collar stays eliminate need for starch for collar appearance. Starch shortens the life of shirts, so tell the laundry to forget it.

Gift Of Flowers

Gifts of flowers, plants and decorative greens are always expressive of the Christmas spirit and no matter what other gifts may be given and received, a floral gift adds a warm and most personal extra touch.

Practice Safety At Christmas

NEW YORK (UPI)—Safety for Christmas is the newest wrinkle in stockings hung up for Santa Claus.

For the millions of people who drive cars, a set of seat belts in the fireplace stockings or under the tree might prove to be the most thoughtful gift they've ever received, according to the American Seat Belt Council.

Marine Corps Toy Program In Its Eighteenth Year

BY U.P. INTERNATIONAL

One crisp autumn day three young officers of the U.S. Marine Corps in Los Angeles sat discussing all the youngsters in their area who probably would celebrate Christmas without a single new toy of their own.

Why, they wondered, couldn't a military organization like theirs, with its administrative and organizational resources, spark a worthwhile peacetime project such as this?

The Toys for Tots program was born in 1947. Since then more than 37 million toys have been collected and distributed to local needy youngsters in 200 cities of 46 states.

Last year more than a million children in the United States found toys in their stockings, thanks to the efforts of the Marine Corps program, Shell Oil, which collects the toys at its service stations, and other cooperating volunteer organizations.

Marine reservists work on the program after school or job hours on their own time. They collect new toys or used ones in good condition. The toys then are deposited at one place, and parents who can't afford to buy toys for their youngsters select up to three for each child.

How Christmas Charity Began

The tradition of alms-giving at Christmas began with a legend, as did so many other holiday customs. It was believed at one time that the Christ Child went from door to door during the holiday season, disguised as a beggar, and asking alms, in search of kind and deserving souls.

Since no one knew when or where He might appear, Christians feared to turn beggars from their door lest they unknowingly turn away the Christ Child.

PATCHED OUTFITS—Christmas morning the girls will be ready to try out their new roller skates, dressed fashionably and warmly in these "patched" outfits.

One Woman Of 1,666 Will Own A Mink Stole Or Coat

There are probably fewer gifts in the world more cherished by women than mink—a fact borne out by surveys.

Whether it be a coat, stole, jacket or wrap, furriers this coming Yuletide season have made gifts of a mink even more tempting.

One lucky woman in 1,666 will own a mink fashion this year.

There is a wide variety of styles from which to choose gifts. Many shades give every woman the added gift of choice of color—to suit her complexion, hair color or personal taste.

High on the list of fur fashions this year are those with casual styling.

One designer has styled the elegant fur into a notch-collared, double-breasted coat with patch pockets and labeled it a daytime fashion.

Yet another designer has fashioned the luscious white fur into a triangular shape, and as an added fillip, has been edged with white ostrich feathers.

But whatever the gift of mink may be, from a circling boa to a floor-length evening coat, the woman who receives it will cherish it like few gifts in the world.

Discard Wrappings

After you have opened your gifts, remove all the wrappings from your living room and dispose of them as a precaution against fire.

Boughs Of Holly

Druids decked their halls with boughs of holly to shelter sylvan spirits threatened by frost and winter winds.

Gifts Shouldn't Block Vision

Whether you're driving in town or on the highway, check to see that your vision is not obstructed by a large pile of gifts or luggage that should be in the trunk.

These items on the back seat or on the package shelf by the rear window can easily fly forward during a sudden stop, causing serious injury to passengers.

Most important: Always allow yourself enough time to get where you're going. Hurrying from one place to another only adds to the hazards of holiday driving.

Music For Christmas

The first Christmas music came on the first Christmas—when the Heavenly Host of angels rang out with "Glory to God on the highest."

SLIP-ONS FOR COMFORT

Comfort for him begins with flexible leather casual slip-ons and house shoes. The shoe on hand has a band of elasticized leather around the top for a snug fit, and neat slim leather soles for a dressy appearance. The suntan deerskin house shoes have cushioned leather insoles.

How To Make Sure Cards Will Arrive

Each year, postal authorities beg people to mail early and accurately at Christmas time. And each year, nearly half a million letters and packages wind up in dead letter bins. Here are some tips to help you make sure you're not one of the offenders.

Write or print names legibly and carefully. Don't be a hasty scrawler or "Fancy Dan" writer.

Be especially careful in writing numbers and abbreviations. A sloppy "N.Y." can be mistaken for "N.J." and "Me." can look like "Md."

Use ZIP code numbers in mailing to all larger cities and be sure to put a return address on your envelopes or packages.

In addressing packages, use a marking instrument that writes a bold, firm line, rather than a fine-line pen point.

And please, mail early!

Unusual Gifts Now Seen In Men's Stores

Unusual gift items seen in the boutiques of men's stores include:

A table cigarette lighter in the shape of a miniature Texas oil well; a wooden valet that unfolds to become a ladder (to reach your top closet shelves); a dozen ingenious new battery-operated items, and even a battery recharger that gives 15 times the original life.

Holiday Outlawed

Abuses of Christmas reached such a pitch in 17th Century England that the Puritan Parliament outlawed the holiday in 1644. Puritan leaders in Massachusetts also banned yule celebrations from 1659 to 1681.

Gardeners' Gift

An excellent gift for a friend or relative with a green thumb is a set of short handled garden tools. A complete outfit includes a cultivator, rake, trowel, weeding fork, hand weeder, and shears.

Favorite Cookies

Your favorite cookies cut in holiday shapes, are sure to bring appreciative murmurs from friends and family as they toast each others' health and happiness with Christmas egg nog.

Seasons Have No Meaning For Models

To top models who pose for holiday fashion pictures, the pre-Christmas season is a problem.

Pictures for the fur coat catalogues are taken in July and August, so on a broiling day when the thermometer nears 100, a model will be found in fur coat, being photographed in New York's Central Park.

Between shots, she tries desperately to gloss up her sagging hairdo before a mirror propped in a tree.

The situation isn't much better in studios. There may be air-conditioning, but fur-lined coats are heavy.

For survival's sake, the model wears nothing under the coat, so the lining begins to feel itchy.

Models working in the outdoor heat are likely to get sick or to faint. One hour's shooting can cost a model $300, if she becomes ill and has to cancel the rest of the day's work.

An additional complication is created by the simultaneous offering of cruise wear, which advertisers wish to photograph in tropical settings.

Christian, Pagan

Christmas in the United States is a blend of Christian, pagan, seasonal and national traditions.

Silly Questions For Christmas

LOUISVILLE (AP)—A youngster picked out a $1 set of earrings for her mother's Christmas gift and handed the clerk two 50 cent pieces.

"What about the tax?" he inquired.

"My mother doesn't use tacks," the girl replied. "She screws them in her ears."

Christmas Catalogs Packed With Wildest Dream Stuff

By SALLY RYAN

NEW YORK (AP) — A sugar plum factory, a leather hippotamus and helpful hints on how to spend a million dollars — there is something for everyone in the Christmas catalogs this year.

Even Neiman-Marcus, the Texas store with dollar-studded ideas, boggles at the possibilities presented by what is shaping up as a record Christmas spending spree.

The store worked its way through a sheepskin-covered mechanical horse, $150; his and her para-sails — "an amazing, ascending nylon parachute that goes from the surface up" for $361 apiece; a five-foot long rustic wagon with a polyfoam mattress, $145; and pink champagne pancakes, $8.

Then, it set out to offer help on how to tender a little affection — say a million dollars worth. On a woman, of course.

You start with $300 lace handkerchief, thumb through a few baubles such as a $465,000 diamond necklace, the usual sable, chinchilla and limousine, a $450 umbrella with a genuine blonde tortoise handle, a 25-day Aegean cruise with your nine dearest friends, an 18-karat gold needle for $15, and still end up $101,787.38 short of the goal.

"A little loose change to fritter away, in case we've forgotten something," Neiman-Marcus advises.

Stores across the land will be glad to help you fritter away the change. Their Christmas catalogs already are in the mail.

Abercrombie and Fitch Co., the sportsmen's spot in New York, Chicago and San Francisco, opens with Alaskan polar bear skins, "subject to availability," for $975, and has handsewn leather footstools for hunters — a 68-inch hippo or rhinoceros, $450.

At F.A.O. Schwarz, the Fifth Avenue toy store, there's lollipop factory, complete with conveyor, cooker, pushbutton automatic ingredient dispenser, mixer, molds and lollipop sticks, $15.

If money is no object, how about:

A Colt Paterson belt pistol, with flared walnut grips and folding trigger, Abercrombie and Fitch, $9,500.

A pointe Milan lace tablecloth, Plummer-McCutcheon, $1,500.

A life-sized tiger, Schwarz, $295.

A seven-room dollhouse with a real electric ceiling light in each room and a stone terrace, Schwarz, $125 unfurnished, $233 furnished.

There are the usual whimsies.

Lord and Taylor, New York department store, has a thermometer holding a ballpoint pen "for his torrid love letters to you and his irate protests to the papers" $8; and a tipsy musical poodle $9.

Back at Neiman-Marcus, there is a cocktail crutch for incapacitated elbow benders, complete with an ash tray, glass holder, pillbox, key chain, and, ahem, a little black book, $20.

For Republicans, there is a life-sized LBJ beagle, Schwarz $25. "The choice of chief executives," the catalog says. "Reinforced ears for that presidential lift."

For the horse player, there is an automatic handicapper, Abercrombie and Fitch, $6. "Handicapper won't guarantee the winner, but it automatically digests vital statistics, rates every horse in an average race," the catalog says.

For spies, a toy U-2 plane with a camera is perched in the Schwartz catalog, ready to soar hundreds of feet and take an automatically timed secret picture in flight, $13.95.

The catalogs are loaded with games.

For future statesmen, there is Diplomacy, with a 1914 map of Europe and instructions to try to deal or double deal your way to control of the continent, $7.50.

Finally there is "Squander," billed as a game for born losers, $3.95.

HOW TO BE JUNIOR SPY

December 26th will see millions of junior spies running around the country. A must item for any pint-size international agent is a spy attache case—complete with multi-purpose gun, plastic bullets and camera.

White House Prepares Greenery For Holidays

WASHINGTON (AP) — Whatever the weather may be here at holiday time, inside the White House it will be a green Christmas.

Evergreen trees will stand at the door of the East Room. Mantlepieces will be adorned with holly and greenery. Evergreen ropes will wind around stairway balustrades.

And in the middle of the Blue Room will stand an 18-foot fir tree adorned with thousands of tiny ornaments.

In the President's family quarters will be another magnificent tree, preferably spruce. Mistletoe will be placed above doorways and white azaleas will be put in strategic decorating spots.

According to President and Mrs. Johnson's wishes, the Blue Room tree probably will be decorated with ornaments reminiscent of and early American Christmas, but somewhere amid the Christmas finery, there'll be a touch of the Texas-Mexican which is part of the President's heritage.

Telephone Lights Up

This year's novelties include an old-fashioned telephone instrument that is an adjustable desk lamp; a small old-fashioned gramophone that is a fine pencil sharpener, and two desk receptacles which are not labeled "Attention" and "File" but the slangy "On Fire" and "On Ice!"

To Remove Gum

Someone drop gum on your new slipcover? Harden the gum by rubbing it with ice. Scrape off as much as possible. Then sponge with trichloroethane (non-flammable Energine). Rinse and launder the item in your atomatic washer.

GORHAM

This graceful silverplated basket leads a double life. It's perfect for fruit, rolls or as a centerpiece. Adding a Swedish crystal liner changes the basket into a dramatic, decorative, all-purpose bowl. (liners available in ruby red, clear or blue.)

SPACE AGE — Christmas in the space age. Model rockets and missiles are exact down to the last detail and provide a miniature look at the world of the future come true today.

Careful Choice Of Perfume Needed To Please Receiver

He's been going steady for three whole months—practically a lifetime at the age of 17. It's Christmas and he wants to get his girl a gift. Something romantic, but not sticky. Something individual, but not too personal.

Perfume can be the ideal gift. But what kind?

Exotic fragrances can be too heavy and sophisticated. Floral scents can be too light and childish. The ideal, of course, is somewhere in the middle. No matter what scent is chosen, however, there are certain rules to follow.

First, remember there are three different types of scents — perfume, toilet water and cologne. Perfume is the strongest—and most expensive — and should be applied only as an accent. Toilet water and cologne are lighter and can be used more generously.

Second, each person has a particular body chemistry which causes different perfumes to react differently on different wearers. If you are selecting a new scent, it is wise to buy only a small amouunt as a sort of test.

Third, use perfume sparingly. It is not true that the more perfume used, the longer it will last. An excess amount of perfume is offensive to persons around you. The key to proper application is to place the scent on the pulse spots of the body—the base of the throat, behind the ears, inside the elbows and even behind the knee.

Fourth, make sure the perfume does not clash with shampoo or hair spray that you are using. Keep the perfume as the predominant set.

Model Kits For Ships, Cars, Planes, Trains

Looking at the model-building kits available this Christmas, you may get the idea that you can build the whole world in miniature. And you won't be far wrong.

The model kits are more authentic than ever, and are attracting hobbyists of all ages.

Scale model cars are one of the most popular items. Everything from a Ford to a Ferrari is available in a model, complete with such items as seat belts, gas-tank caps and radio antennae.

Other models which reflect today's life with amazing accuracy includes planes — everything from Boeings and Caravelles to the U.S. fighter-bomber now in action in Viet Nam. There also are modern diesels and railroad cars, cabin cruisers, speedboats and surfboards.

Present-day Americana is reflected in the miniature buildings to be assembled for tabletop train and auto layouts. The familiar railroad station and village church have been joined by supermarkets, skyscrapers, drive-in banks and movies and motels complete with swimming pools.

The Hobby Industry Assn. of America also reports a strong trend toward models for the world of tomorrow. There are space capsules, space stations and fantastic cars which may not be as fantastic as they seem.

First Sale Of Cards

The first sales of Christmas cards by a commercial firm were made in England in 1862.

American Santa

The American Santa, rotund and ruddy aboard his reindeer sleigh, evolved from the St. Nicholas of Dutch colonists in New York.

Irish Christmas

Saint Patrick introduced the celebration of Christmas to Ireland about the year 461.

Plan Holidays For Relaxed, Serene Time

Before the holidays roll round, the forthcoming festivities look very gala.

There are parties, large and small, on the calendar. College students in the family have invited foreign friends home. The younger element have parts in Christmas pageants and special choral groups, and parents want to be in the audience.

But when the round of activities actually begins, the schedule begins to look not gala, but gruesome. Too much is packed into too short a period. Tempers begin to rise, household chores assume staggering proportions, and the spirit of Christmas takes its flight.

To have a serene, happy Christmas, it's wise to pre-plan, before saying an enthusiastic yes to everything.

If parents are invited to a large party, of the type where the hostess repays all her social debts by giving one big grand whirl, think before accepting.

What will it be like? Is it worth it to be jammed in a corner of a house swarming with people whose combined voices make quiet conversation impossible, with a hostess so busy greeting and saying goodbye to guests that she hardly knows you're there? If you'd rather see such friends under other circumstances, don't hesitate to decline. Just say, this year you're having a family Christmas, and you'll catch up with your friends later on.

When the children's activities come under consideration, the rule of thumb is: What's most important?

To this parent, attendance at pageants and plays where young children perform is a must. They're counting on you. Fix the dinner casserole early, and be off.

Or if the event collide with the dinner hour (or is very early in the evening), let the teenagers take over the kitchen, and have their own supper for their friends, paper plate style. Or to lighten the load even further, ask their close friends to bring part of the menu.

The brunch style of entertaining can be held at almost any hour, and be as simple or as elaborate as one wishes. And it's a fine way for all the age brackets to meet—and for the parents to have a chance (finally) to talk to the foreign students. If you're up to it, ask a few—very few— of the neighbors in to meet them. Because brunch is a highly informal meal, the hostess can leave her own party early, and go about other household business, if it's necessary.

Combining traditional Christmas events with tea and talk is another way to see friends on a casual basis. Have tea, coffee, and cokes on a cart in the living room for a present-wrapping party, and have a joke gift or token favor for the guests.

If skating or skiing is possible during the holidays, ask the crowd in afterwards for a hot drink before the fireplace fire.

If you build a party around a family event, entertaining is a pleasure, relaxation is at an all-time high, and there'll be peace and pleasure at the Christmas dinner table.

INFORMAL BRUNCH—One of the most flexible methods of entertaining for any age bracket and providing a chance for peaceful conversation is over an informal brunch. The meal can be relatively simple and so preparation is easier on the hostess.

Native Yule Plant

The poinsettia is the one Christmas plant native to America.

Broken Bulbs

To remove stub of a light bulb, which has broken off while in the socket, press a cake of soap over the broken ends. This will give a safe grip for turning the light bulb out. A large cork can also be used in the same manner.

Store Toys In Steel Cabinets

Ask any child what he wants for Christmas and the answer will invariably be "toys!" Small wonder that the day after Christmas finds Mother wondering how to cope with the deluge of toys, all of which seems to be underfoot.

One answer to this problem is to encourage neatness in your youngster by providing him with a place to store his toys. Steel cabinets are practical, inexpensive storage chests that come in many designs.

Floor-standing models accommodate the reach of any child, even a toddler; (shelves can be assigned according to your children's varying height.)

Celebrated First

St. Nicholas Day was first celebrated in Asia Minor in the Fourth Century. The white-haired bishop appeared on Dec. 6, his saint's day, riding a white horse laden with gifts for children.

Roll In Flour

Roll dates in flour before you cut them and they will not cling to the knife or scissors.

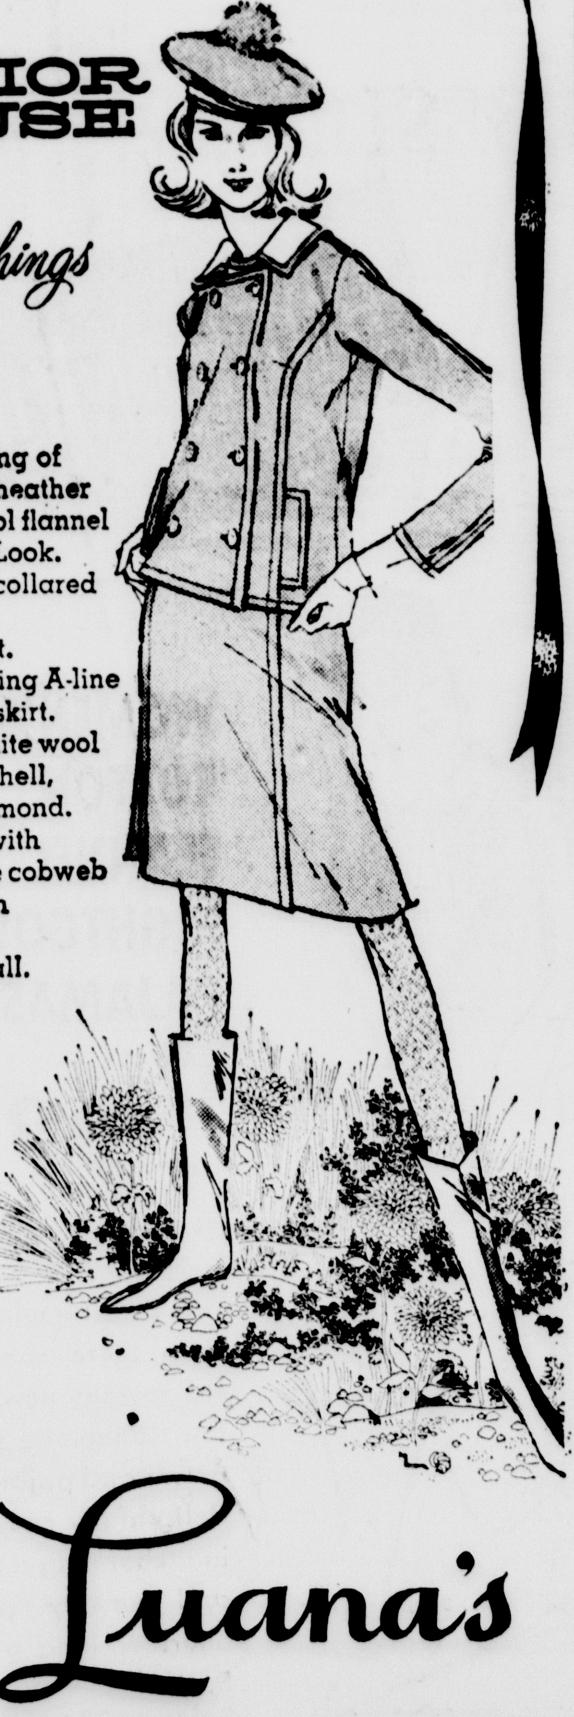
Brush Those Costly Wigs

Wigs are expensive enough to be classed as valuable possessions.

And whether or not they're high style, owners have invested enough in these extra coifs that they're going to take good care of them.

Like human hair, wigs look best when free from dust and oily matter. So why not consider giving a wig brush as a novel Christmas gift?

JUNIOR HOUSE
does the freshest things



Here, a shaping of almond wool heather and white wool flannel for the Total Look. First, a white collared welt seamed almond jacket. Then a matching A-line welt seamed skirt. Topping a white wool back-button shell, piped with almond. Shown here with over-the-knee cobweb almond nylon stretch hose. One size fits all. Tam.

HOW TO BE SANTA CLAUS

A group of would-be Santas listens to a Volunteers of America instructor tell them the correct procedures for being a Santa in New York City. The volunteers collect Christmas-time donations on city streets, ringing a hand bell to remind shoppers to donate.

Three Persons Responsible For Christmas Seal Ideas

The familiar Christmas Seal that appears on letters and packages during the holiday season can be credited jointly to three different people: an American doctor, a Danish postal worker and an American Red Cross worker.

The first person, the American doctor, was Edward Livingston Trudeau. Dr. Trudeau contracted tuberculosis shortly after graduating from medical school. Both his brother and his daughter also had TB, so Dr. Trudeau decided to conduct research on the disease. This led to his establishment of a tuberculosis hospital at Saranac Lake, New York. And subsequently, when the National Tuberculosis Assn. was founded in 1904, Dr. Trudeau was the first president.

In the same year, Encyclopedia International reports, a Danish postal worker, Einar Holbell, came up with the thought that Christmas was a time when people should be reminded of their duty to help the sick and needy children who were suffering from TB.

He proposed to the King of Denmark that penny seals be sold, for affixing to Christmas packages and letters. The king agreed to the idea, and this led to the world's first Christmas seal in 1904.

Also at about the same time, a small TB hospital which had been built in Delaware by a group of doctors, was in trouble for lack of funds. A cousin of one of the hospital's doctors, Red Cross worker Miss Emily Bissell, came up with a solution. She had read a magazine article which described the development of the Christmas Seal in Denmark. And she decided a similar seal should be adopted in the United States.

Miss Bissell designed the seal, and by 1907, the first American Christmas Seal went on sale in Wilmington, Delaware.

Make Your Door Big Yule Package

You can make your door into a huge Christmas package by pinning wide strips of red satiny material to all four sides, and drawing them together into a great bow, adding ornaments and holly for color contrast.

Whatever the materials you decide upon for your decorations make sure they are sturdy and can be fastened securely.

If your entrance is unprotected, weatherproof your designs with a coating of clear shellac or use water-resistant materials such as oilcloth.

Federal Sales Of Christmas Trees

DENVER (UPI)—The federal government sells thousands of Christmas trees to commercial and semi-commercial groups and to individuals each year.

The trees are taken from national forests in a number of states, including Colorado, Wyoming and South Dakota.

In some national forests, individuals are permitted to go into the forest to cut down the family Christmas tree. The cost: $1 per tree. No person is allowed to cut more than one tree in the forest.

The U.S. Forest Service handles the commercial Christmas tree sale much as it sells timber. The area is put up for bid and the firms cut the trees under strict Forest Service supervision.

Assembly Line Doll Making Sometimes Is Macabre Job

Pieces Fitted Together, Sewn, Rouged, Glued

DOLLS HEADS — Racks of dolls' heads are lined up at the toy factory, ready for the oven heat treatment that will firmly affix wigs to skulls.

STUFFING—Stuffing a doll is easier than stuffing a turkey when centrifugal pressure is used to pump synthetic filling into the toy.

Creating a Christmas supply of blue-eyed, sweetly-smiling dolls can be a macabre business. It involves popping heads into boiling ovens, measuring boxes full of legs to match up perfect pairs, and forcing cottony stuffing into defenseless plastic bodies.

On the seemingly endless assembly lines of a Hollis, N.Y., factory, doll heads move briskly along, to be snatched up by workers who in turn put on touches of lipstick and eye shadow, mark hair lines with a touch of faint beige, so the sewing machine operator will know where to sew on the hair, push in eyes one at a time, glaze them, and rouge the cheeks.

Then the heads are trundled off to the beauty parlor division of the factory, to have wigs sewn on, and the hair washed and set in the proper style. On the trip to the hair dryer, the heads travel in a steaming oven.

Down the assembly line the heads move again, to have the rest of the parts of the bodies put together by hand. Almost simultaneously other workers are grabbing up freshly-ironed dolls' clothes. Down at the end of the line, packers tuck the completed dolls sometimes with accessory clothes, in boxes.

A new 1965 creation in the constant efforts of the doll company to keep one up on their competitors is a doll who comes equipped with hair-tinting so its owner can color her doll's hair red, blond, or brunette. A doll-size bathrobe and a comb complete the doll package.

HAIR STYLES—The latest in hair styles is created for a doll by the doll maker who cuts and curls. Parts of dolls roll down the assembly line where they are put together in an occasionally macabre operation.

First Santa Claus

Tradition says the original Santa Claus was St. Nicholas, a Fourth Century bishop in Asia Minor who gave gifts to the young and poor.

Vast Store Of Unused Gifts In His Cellar

Have you ever looked through Christmas catalogues and wondered who buys all those gifts that seem utterly useless? And have you ever wondered what happened to them?

Stop wondering. These gifts, bought by acquaintances of ours, are all sitting in the cellar, collecting dust. (We don't know anybody we dislike enough to send these items to.)

An inventory of our cellar reads like a catalogue of "one of a kind" gifts. (They made one and threw out the mold.)

The piece de resistance is a mechanical salad tosser, for the woman who's too lazy to toss her own salad. It's a three piece contraption consisting of a bowl, a lid and a metal frame with a spit and handle for rotating the bowl. This sounds fine.

But the cover doesn't fit, the handle doesn't turn properly and anyone who tries to use it is likely to end up with lettuce all over the table.

This item was retrieved from the cellar for a short time while we tried to use the bottom as an ivy planter, but we couldn't keep it steady long enough to get anything planted.

Another of our more unusual gifts was a large smoked turkey — a very expensive delicacy which is fine for very fashionable, elite-type parties. Unfortunately, our parties aren't the elite type. The turkey was too big for hors d'oeuvres and too small for a full meal. Most of it was finally eaten by a group of college students.

We also have one of those items every house needs—a musical decanter. It's shaped like a lantern, complete with all sorts of intricate wirework which makes the decanter impossible to use. When you pick it up, a music box mechanism plays "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen." (You can get pretty tired of Christmas carols in the middle of summer.)

Of course we do have some more common items that are still just as useless. Into this category fall the mechanical swizzle stick driven by a battery in the shape of an outboard motor; a genuine German beer stein that's impossible to drink from; and an authentic Japanese tea pot. I'm still waiting for the mink back scratcher.

Good Luck Sign

Bayberry candles, which are said to foretell good luck for the coming year if they burn bright at Christmas, were first made by early settlers in America. They dipped bayberry branches in wax and burned them during the holidays.

GLOWING YULETIDE HARVEST—One of the newest additions in Christmas tree decorations is a fiberglas cover in fruit designs that hides the traditional bulb. Included in the selection are pears, apples, oranges, limes, plums and lemons.

Lights May Steal Scene On The Tree

Christmas tree lights, which in the past have stayed in the background as a decorating item, are now moving into first place as designers create lights that are themselves glittery ornaments.

Light bulbs now are fastened behind white plastic snowflakes, to give the tree a snow-drenched look. Others are centered within clear glass star-shaped reflectors. One set of tree lights consists of midget lamps mounted in clear icicles in plastic shades.

Added ornaments are unnecessary if the home decorator chooses strings of light bulbs that are mounted in multi-colored crystal ball reflectors, or some of the lamps that are hidden in glittery sugar bells.

Newest addition in Christmas tree decoration is a fiber glass cover, in fruit designs, that hides the traditional bulb. The decorator can choose from realistic pears, apples, oranges, limes, plums and lemons if he wants to make his tree a fruit-bearing one. The same material is used in pastel-colored snowballs and gay snowmen.

Home For The Holidays Can Be Traumatic For Parents

By LYDIA BICKFORD

Christmas comes but once a year—fortunately.

I don't mean that I am totally devoid of the holiday spirit.

I'm not. I'm actually terribly sentimental.

But in my household, the would-be spirit has trouble emerging from the crushing load of physical and mental endeavors that inevitably accompany Christmas festivities.

Last time around, I naively looked forward to the holidays. All three "young adults" would be home.

The armed forces had graciously given Christmas leave to the new recruit. Number two son, established at the University of London, had found a cheap charter home for the holidays, and would be with us. Weather permitting, the daughter at a Midwestern university would emerge from her local snow banks and fly home, with only short stopovers for de-icing the plane's wings and defrosting the engine.

But the family circle was due to expand. A cable from London informed us that a young American couple we'd met abroad was due to arrive in New York after spending 16 months at the University of Moscow.

Would I meet, please, and do the honors?

It sounded like grand fun: until the arrival schedule began to shape up.

The Moscow students came first, on a chilly windswept day that say me rise at 6 a.m. to be at the dock in time.

Away from New York so long, the two were petrified by the traffic and racket. "Those can't be buses," they muttered. "They're much too big."

I decided to cart them off to the country, and await word from the London son, meanwhile thinking ahead as to what casserole could be prepared most speedily, and how many beds needed clean sheets.

Another cable. "Arrive Aer Lingus 7 p.m. Kennedy." It was now 3 p.m. of the same day.

Pooling what we had of our brain power; we decided the line sounded Scottish, but it wasn't.

A hasty check of the phone book revealed it was Irish, and on time. But a two-hour drive lay between us and the incoming son.

Sacrificing sentimentality for practicality, I messaged son to come home by common carrier, though knowing full well his spirits would be crushed by no familial fanfare at the airport.

Meanwhile, the daughter had phoned to say she was having trouble getting out of Chicago, and would arrive next evening just before midnight.

One more guest to go. A young British friend was due in two days before Christmas, but fortunately was the type of guest who knew when to offer help around the house, and when to fade quietly into the background.

The day before Christmas I felt like a track competitor who has barely enough strength to break the tape. I was wrapping presents, paying a belated visit to the 10-cent store for humorous stocking gifts, refereeing the annual argument of the value of a tree bedecked with many ornaments versus a sophisticated one, answering the telephone, stuffing the turkey, and refusing to get involved in the delicate matter of flower-arranging, several boxes having arrived from the holiday visitors.

I made it safely through dinner.

But then I knew I had to choose. If I wanted to function at all on Christmas Day, I'd have to forego the usual carol sing around the piano.

Once Declining

Christmas observance was declining when Charles Dickens wrote his "Christmas Carol." The heartwarming story helped revive the Christmas spirit and Dickens is often called the father of modern Christmas.

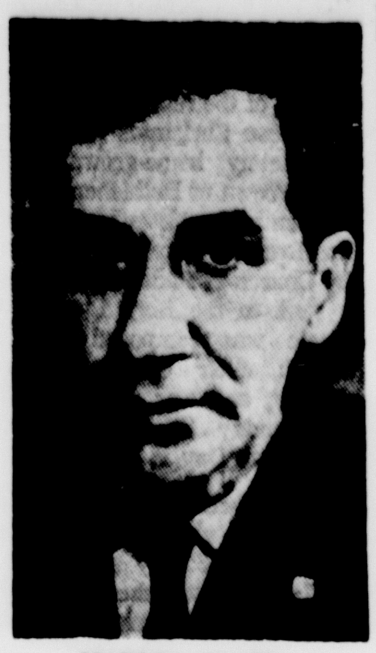
A GAME THAT HAS EVERYTHING—Among toy designer Marvin Glass' creations for this Christmas is this three-dimensional action game. Youngsters play cards to assemble the game, then begin to set it in motion. When the clock is wound, a boxing glove pops out; the glove punches a broom; the broom swats a cat; the cat drops her ball and so on. (By Ideal.)

UNCONVENTIONAL TOYS A SUCCESS

Psychology Student Declares Biggest Hits Are Ideas That Scare Older Firms

"It's the knowledgeable people who hold back progress in the toy industry. They have all the answers, and the answers are always wrong."



MARVIN GLASS
Toy designer

These words come from someone who ought to know. He's Marvin Glass, one of the country's top toy designers.

The 50-year-old Glass is an unconventional man with unconventional ideas. He is a graduate of the University of Chicago with a psychology major who got into the toy business by accident.

He thinks educational toys are a fraud; "When a designer can't think of anything new for a toy, he puts the word 'educational' on the box."

He refuses to test his toys on a panel of children, saying youngsters don't like to judge toys, just buy them.

Glass also claims that toy designers never learn. He says the toys that are the greatest successes are the ones which break all the rules — the toys that manufacturers are hesitant to produce for fear they won't sell.

As an example, he cites the Barbie doll (not one of his own creations). Glass says most people thought Barbie too realistic to be popular; dolls should be babies or little girls; Barbie was too grown up. But it was an instant hit.

Glass notes, however, that the Barbie doll is a success only in the United States. He says, Barbie could only live in a culture like our own, where the evaluation of woman is superficial." Glass says Barbie is every teenage girl's dream—she's pretty, popular, talented and always beautifully dressed. In a culture where the emphasis is on less material things Barbie is more of a one-shot collector's item than a toy for the average girl.

Glass doesn't claim any mystical powers for the ideas he thinks up.

Glass has exclusive rights to produce many of the James Bond toys. He says he realized the James Bond craze would be a big one in the toy industry thanks to the Bond movies.

Colored Shirts Have White Collars, Cuffs

We're seeing more and more colored shirts with white collars and cuffs. According to the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear, plain colored bodies seem to be favorites, with subtle and bolder stripes next. And maize is growing into a very popular shirt color.

Get ready for the bold print sport shirts, all the way from the most colorful Hawaiian-type floral prints to large polka dots and paisleys.

Not All Dryers Require Vents

There are two types of gas clothes dryers. One heats circulating room air and vents moisture to the outside. The other uses a closed air and water condensation system, which condenses moisture from the air and pumps it down the drain. According to the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Assn., the condenser type is selected by tenants who aren't permitted to extend a vent through the landlord's wall.

Outdoor Decorations Share With Others

Christmas is a season of sharing. It's a time to share with family, friends, strangers. Why not let the warm indoor cheer of your Christmas reflect in your outdoor decorations? Wish all who pass your home a gay "Season's Greetings."

Here are some tips for creating ingenious and joyful effects:

1. Begin with a plan.
2. Keep the plan simple, accenting and decorating a single feature — a tree, chimney, or door.
3. If you want to be more elaborate combine several of these features into an eye-appealing over-all scheme.
4. Use your imagination to camouflage flood lights. Pine boughs, tiny figures, or snow banked behind the lights hide them well.
5. Snow banked in front of floodlights adds a special sparkle.
6. Don't overdecorate with lights strung haphazardly from tree to tree, or gate to tree.
7. For lop-sided trees run the lights from the top, to pegs in the ground, teepee-fashion, for a more symmetrical effect.

With ingenuity and a little work your home can be a gay Christmas card proclaiming a message of cheer.

Year-Long, World-Wide Search Produces Holiday Decorations

The Christmas decorations and ornaments used in millions of American homes each year are gathered from all four corners of the globe in a search that goes on the year-round.

One of the men responsible for a lot of these decorations is Ray Grenier and import buyer. Last September Grenier traveled to Europe on a six-week buying trip—for Christmas 1966.

By the middle of July, Grenier has all his ornaments for the coming Christmas lined up and already is beginning to worry about the next year. His scouts abroad keep him posted throughout the year on the latest in Christmas ornaments. Then he looks over the work of 50 or 60 manufacturers and begins his selections.

Certain countries are noted for certain types of decorations. Germany is particularly well-known for Christmas-tree ornaments which are carefully handcrafted. Italy is noted for Nativity figures. Hong Kong is popular for artificial flowers. Many of the so-called Italian holly wreaths are made in Hong Kong.

Another country which is beginning to enter the Christmas market in a big way is Japan. Grenier notes that many of the Japanese articles used to lack quality, but says that today they are producing some of the finest decorations and ornaments on the market. Grenier also notes that Santa Claus is even popular in Japan — except he is skinny and has a wispy white goatee instead of flowing beard.

As for Christmas 1965, Grenier expects a return to the old-fashioned decorations with green trees. He says that several years ago, people would go overboard for one color—particularly gold or silver, in ornaments and artificial trees. Now they want the standard green tree with multi-colored ornaments which reflect individual taste.

100 Miles Of Yarn

A man's suit contains fibers that could be spun into 100 miles of yarn.

Two Voltages Used In Dryers

Two types of electric dryers are on the market. One operates on 120 volts provided by the normal circuits in an older home. It is an ideal answer for a family that's renting. The other operates on 240 volts and dries clothes up to two and one-half times faster than the type operating on 120 volts.

Saint Francis Credited With Nativity Scene

Saint Francis of Assisi is credited with introducing the use of the Christmas crib outside the church. He made it popular through his outdoor celebration of the Nativity at Greccio, Italy, on Christmas Eve 1223.

Soak Dried Fruit

Soak raisins and other dried fruit in hot water for a few minutes to keep them from falling to the bottom of cake and cookie batters.

Christmas Tip

When measuring molasses, honey or syrup, first use the cup to measure shortening. The syrup will not stick to a slightly greased cup.

European Carols Were Brought To America With Immigrants

Christmas carols, like many of our holiday traditions, originated in Europe and came to this country with the immigrants who settled here.

The word "carol" itself may be even older than Christmas. Many scholars believe it stems from the Greek word "choros," meaning a circling dance that was part of Attic drama.

Carols truly came into their own at Christmas during the medieval period when Latin began slipping out of use as a universal language. The folk quality of the carols provided a musical means by which a church congregation could take part in the nativity pageantry in a really popular way.

Legend has it that St. Francis of Assisi was one of the earliest and most enthusiastic promoters of carol-singing. It was his notion that, via these Christmas songs, not only the priesthood, but the humblest member of the congregation could participate in the Christmas observance.

As the centuries passed, carols became an increasingly important part of the Christmas festivities — too important, in fact, from the point of view of some of the sterner, more authoritarian minded members of the clergy. When the Puritans took over England, they not only banned the singing of carols, but the celebration of Christmas itself.

Thanks to an 18th century American leather worker, however, the carol did not die in the U.S. This tanner, William Billings, composed the first Christmas carol ever published in the United States.

Billings' composition, though hardly ever sung today, spurred a renaissance in Christmas songs, both in America and abroad.

"Adeste Fideles," or, "Oh, Come All Ye Faithful," is believed to date back to the early 17th or 18th century in France or Germany. The words to "Silent Night" were written in the 1850's by the parish priest of a small church at Arnsdorf, near Salzburg, Austria, with music by the church organist, Franz Gruber. "Hark! The Herald Angels Sing!" also comes from Europe. The words to "Joy To The World" were written by an English theologian and hymn-writer named Isaac Watts, but the melody was contributed by a Massachusetts-born musician named Lowell Mason.

Most of the rest of the favorite American Christmas hymns are completely home-grown. "Oh, Little Town of Bethlehem," was written in the 1860's by Dr. Phillips Brooks, rector at Holy Trinity Church in Philadelphia, after a visit to the Holy Land. The music was composed by the church choir director, Lewis Redner, and was first sung by his Sunday School pupils on Christmas Day in 1868.

"We Three Kings of Orient Are" was written and set to music in 1857, by an Episcopalian minister, the Reverend John Henry Hopkins, Jr., of Vermont.

Even "Away in a Manger," usually credited to Martin Luther, was actually a made-in-America Christmas product. The text is of local origin, and appeared in print in Pihladelphia for the first time in 1885. The most popular tunes to which the words were sung were written by James R. Muray and William James Kirkpatrick.

More Americans Going To Canada

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)— Americans are migrating to Canada by increasing numbers, the Canadian Immigration Service says, but more Canadians are coming south.

More than 13,500 persons have entered Canada from the United States by permanent residence in 1965, compared to 12,565 in 1964. Three times as many Canadians annually settle in the United States, the service said.

Rushing Yule Season

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The Tucson Post Office reported receipt of the first 1965 letter for Santa Claus on July 18. Asst. Postmaster N. L. Pritchard said it would be at the top of the pile when the Christmas season arrives.

Girls Face Tough Time As Scientists

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—High school girls interested in studying physics have more than just tough subject matter to contend with, according to UCLA professor Derek Prowse.

"They are frequently discouraged by their parents or boy friends if they show any inclination toward scientific or engineering careers," he says.

In a recent region-wide test of 842 high school physics students, the 100 girls who took part lagged far behind the boys, he said.

Pump Dispenses Drink

The men's stores are showing a miniature Old American pump, which holds and dispenses a fifth of spirits and, as a music box, plays "Yankee Doodle Dandy."

Winter Window Box

Empty window boxes are settings for winter greenery. Strips of chicken wire in the boxes will help evergreen branches stand up straight.

For The Gamester

Many enthusiasts collect chess sets made of various materials. A distinctive wooden, ivory or plastic set for their collections would make a fine holiday gift.

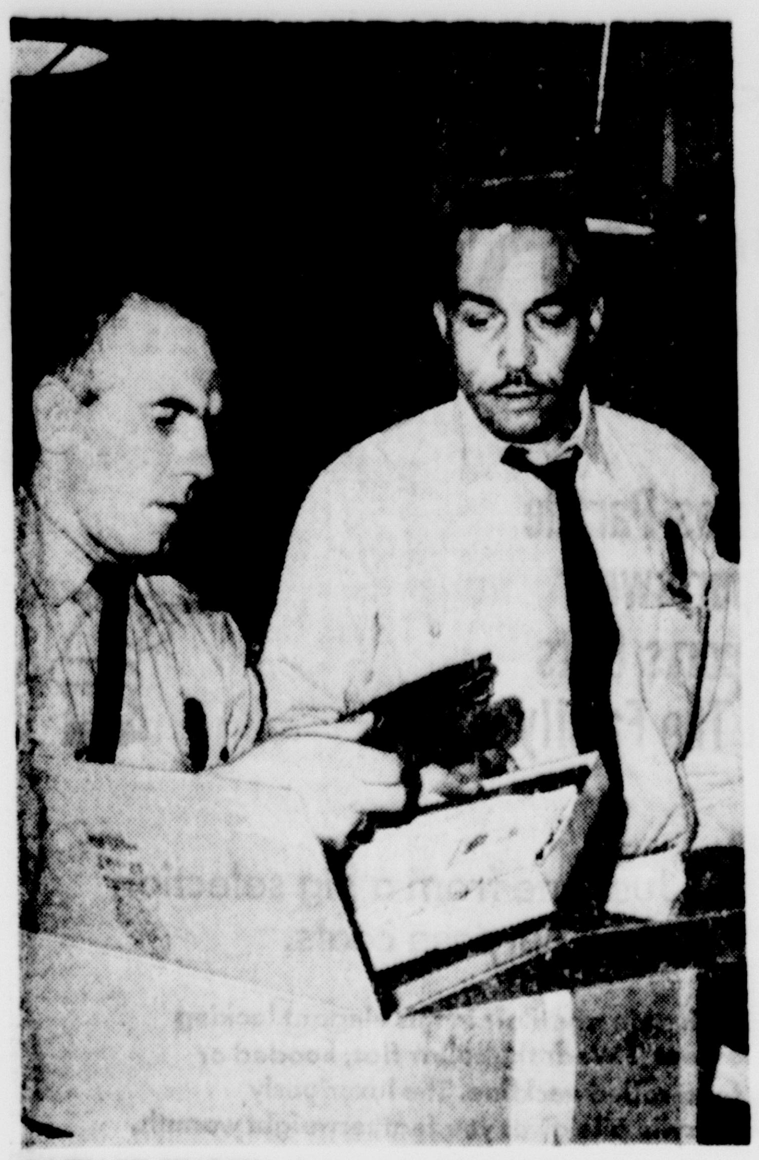
Prison Christmas Has Some Cheer



PACKAGE SEARCH—Christmas at Ohio Penitentiary includes a thorough search of all inmate gift packages to make sure they don't contain contraband. Prisoners watch while guards check the gifts.

Christmas behind prison bars need not be a dreary occasion. Prison officials and charitable organizations work to make sure that some of the holiday spirit reaches the men and women who are behind bars and separated from their families at Christmas.

One sidelight on Christmas at the Ohio Penitentiary, as at others, is the search through the prisoners' holiday packages — just to make sure there is no contraband.

Warden E. L. Maxwell says only a fraction of the 3,000 to 4,000 packages contain forbidden items. The search is carried out in front of the prisoner to whom the package is addressed.

Very little of the contraband is actually dangerous.

Peanut butter, for example, is banned because it could conceal narcotics. Prunes, raisins and dried fruits are forbidden because it's too easy to improvise brandy from them. Transistor radios are outlawed because enterprising prisoners might adapt them for cell-to-cell communications.

Another type of problem faces officials and inmates of the state reformatory for women at Dwight, Ill. Many of the women have children, and the ordinarily-joyful job of choosing presents could turn into tragedy.

This tragedy is averted, however, thanks to the efforts of the Salvation Army.

Each year, about the middle of November, the women file into a gaily decorated room with a toy-laden table in the middle.

The toys are paid for by donations to the Salvation Army. About $1,200 is spent for the toys at Dwight.

Selecting the toys is not an easy task.

"I haven't seen my children in five years," said one mother to a volunteer worker. "Will you help me pick?"

Most mothers try to be nonchalant as they pick out the gifts, but tears often stream down their cheeks as they leave.

After the selections are made, each woman signs a card with a personal message for her child. There are no signs of prison identification on the gift or the card. Some notes are especially poignant. "Be a good boy until Mommy gets home," or "Save all the toys so I can see them."

Double-Breasted Suits

Saks Fifth Avenue recently installed a corner window holding nothing but double-breasted suits, which actually stopped male traffic.

Romantic Gift

For a romantic-looking gift paste a paper doily in center of a package that has already been wrapped; cut second doily to fit corners of box.

Ulcer Patients Have High-Acid Dreams

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The UCLA Medical School has determined that ulcer patients produce large amounts of stomach acid when they are dreaming while ulcer-free persons produce little or none.

Studies are underway to determine if subject matter of dreams regulates acid amounts.

Make Sure Your Tree Adds To Spirit Of Holiday

What would Christmas be like without a tree?

And, almost as bad, what would Christmas be like with the wrong tree?

To make sure your tree adds as much as possible to the holiday spirit, here are a few guidelines.

Measure the size of the space you'll put the tree in. The American Christmas Tree Council suggests knowing exactly how high and how wide the area is. Don't use guesswork. It's hard to judge size when faced with hundreds of trees.

Decide what type of tree you want. Douglas fir is often preferred as a good, all-around purchase. Red cedar and Virginia pine trees are less expensive, and if you want to splurge, try blue spruce, white spruce or Scotch pine.

Study the tree itself. Look for fir that tapers nicely from a single tip. Check the color of the needles. Brown, dried up patches indicate needles have dropped off. Check to see if the tree is fresh by rubbing your finger across the bottom of the stump to test for sappy moisture.

Erect your tree properly. Place it in a pail of cold water sweetened with a cup of syrup, sugar or molasses. You can also place the tree in a box of wet sand to prevent it from drying out.

Notice Of Gift

MEBANE, N.C. (UPI)—A bedding manufacturer here, promoting the gift value of his product, has designed a miniature mattress to place under Christmas trees as notice a full-sized mattress has been ordered.

TAILORS FOR SANTA—Fred and Sonia Gerlatti of Sunset Beach, Calif., make Santa Claus suits in all sizes and shapes to be sent all over the world.

This Tailor Shop Sews Exclusively For Santas

Santa Clauses come in all shapes and sizes—tall and skinny and thin and fat. But no matter what his size, chances are that Santa Claus can find a suit to fit in the Sunset Beach, Calif., store of Fred and Sonia Gerlatti.

The Gerlattis have been manufacturing Santa suits for 16 years as a part of their drygoods and fabric store. They started in the business when Sonia was trying to find a Santa suit for a Christmas party for some orphans.

Mrs. Gerlatti says the store she tried featured "an obnoxious clerk" and only four suits—none of them appropriate.

Every suit the Gerlattis make is adjustable to fit anyone. Thanks to towels, pillows and safety pins, the suits are adjustable to fit a waist of up to 52 inches. Once, Gerlatti explains, they even made a special suit for someone with a 62-inch waist.

Three of the Gerlattis' suits have been sent to Russia. Others went to Europe, Mexico and even the Fiji Islands.

Gerlatti says grandfathers are usually the best customers. But he says they're often a bit optimistic, buying suits "for the benefit of children who are only five or six weeks old."

Mommy in miniature! This seven-and-a-half inch doll comes with all her own accessories, including crib, bathinette which really holds water and bath toys and towels. It's lots of fun to be a little girl when you can have a little dolly to play with.

Politician's Advice On Politicians

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP)—Advice to a meeting of high school student council representatives from Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J.:

"The politician who tells you he is on your side at all times, who tells you that he has your interests in mind at all times, is dangerous. Shun him."

Use Enough Ashtrays

Reduce the danger of fire and protect your furnishings by supplying enough ashtrays at your parties. If you do not have enough ashtrays, improvise with aluminum foil shaped into ashtray size.

Missing Stop Signal Leads To Auto Crash

LOUISVILLE (AP)—Two motorists collided at an intersection in suburban Pleasure Ridge Park.

It didn't take police long to spot the cause: vandals had stolen a stop sign on one of the streets.

For Teen-Age Boys

Contrary to popular belief, teen-age boys are not a special breed . . . they have individual preferences, just like grown-ups.

Most teens are sports conscious though, and would be delighted with a pair of tickets to a favorite sports event.

Word For Impressing Keeper Of The Wine

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—If you want to impress the wine steward the next time you're in a posh restaurant, mumble something about "ullage" as he presents your bottle.

Ullage is the amount of wine lost from a container by leakage or evaporation, the Wine Institute notes.

Dry Safely

A variety of drying heats can be thermostatically controlled on your flameless electric dryer. For example: Using the "no heat" control setting, snow suits, small rugs, shoes, and overshoes can be safely dried.

Religious Symbols In Orbit Deepen Christmas Meaning

By GEORGE DAVIS
National City Christian Church
Washington, D.C.

When Major Edward White carried into space the symbols of our nation's three major religious faiths—the Star of David, a St. Christopher medal, and the Cross — one could not be surprised.

That is, one who knew his parents, would have somehow expected the same or even greater excellence in their son. In Wichita Falls, Tex., when I served as minister of the First Christian Church, and Ed's father, Major General Edward H. White was commanding officer of Sheppard Air Force Base, my contacts with the general and Mrs. White, were so rewarding that those symbols seemed very right indeed with Ed White in outer space, so much in character.

But are those symbols at home in the Space Age?

Think for a moment of the Star of David, and one must contemplate the Ten Commandments in their truly highest sense, and such central Old Testament themes. "What does the Lord require of you, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with your God". Reflect also upon the Cross, and a St. Christopher medal. And if we are sensitive to values, into our minds will come flooding thoughts of the Lord's Prayer as a jewel by itself, or the entire Sermon on the Mount, and of Jesus Himself.

Are all of these ruled out by whoever man finds "out there", can one honestly imagine those symbols have nothing to say to the outer limits?

The burden of proof must rest upon anyone who raises the question. And his part in a dialogue must confront not only how far man has failed to reflect the values hidden in the symbols, but must honestly deal with the difference made when man did reflect them, if only partially, and the greater difference one may with integrity imagine to be the result, if at anytime, anywhere, those values fully dominated the human scene.

Now let us ponder Christmas, for here we see brought to focus the brightest beam of divine light shining from the truth symbolized in the Star of David, and here we see the inspiration giving meaning to the Cross, and the medal of St. Christopher. It is possible to rule out the essential necessity of "love", and "good-will" in any serious consideration toward finding solutions in our world now, or in any other world out beyond the edge of space?

And whatever the profounder theological meanings, Christmas is dependable love, and good will in action, intended for universal acceptance and practice. And of course "profounder theological meanings" is a way of saying, "Dependable love and good will in action, are the real nature of things", the only way things in any world will stay on the track.

This has been proved in the laboratories of man's behavior across the centuries, both by positive and negative experiments, both by those who practiced, and those who denied or ignored. I find it impossible to see how the Space Age can twist, or change, or destroy those three symbols Ed White carried into space, or how that age could tarnish Christmas.

Let those symbols then inspire us to continue our quest to translate their meanings for this planet, and wherever man goes out yonder as a co-worker with God. In fact the observation of one noted American, at this point is very pertinent:

"What was once a prayer, is now imperative as action, if man is to survive."

Official Says Wheat Decline Alright

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman is assuring the nation there is no need for concern over this country's declining stocks of wheat.

The secretary told a farm outlook conference that "if the need arose, for example, we could double the nation's wheat production in two years — with most of the increase in the first year."

Hair Styling Shop

A shop described as "San Francisco's first authentic grooming establishment," which features hair-styling for men, also features, according to its announcement, "a beautiful receptionist, and lovely ladies for pedicures and shoe shines."

House Pets Having Population Boom

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The California branch of the Humane Society of the United States says a population explosion among house pets is taking place.

The society says 1,000 puppies and kittens are born in California every hour and that about $24 million is spent each year by cities, counties and private institutions for animal control.

Whittlers, Chewers Draw Grand Jury Ire

RICHMOND, Ky. (AP)—The remodeled Madison County Courthouse drew the praise of a county grand jury.

The panel added a suggestion: Officials should "keep it free of loafers of the whittling and tobacco chewing variety."

Dryers Popular

The Gas Appliance Manufacturers Assn. reports that more than 400,000 homes are equipped with automatic gas clothes dryers. Last year alone, 536,000 were installed in home laundries.

Gas Dryer Makes Fine Gift For Busy Young Mothers

It takes a lot of planning and a ship-shape budget these days to bring a new baby into the world. The demands on mother's time and energy seem unending. Then it seems there's always something new that's needed for the youngster.

These are reasons why an electric or gas dryer is appreciated by the mother of small youngsters and also by the young wife who is about to become a mother. It is a convenience all year 'round and actually a necessity for many homemakers during the rainy winter months.

The automatic clothes dryer can cut clothes costs as well as saving time and effort for new mothers. It is estimated that the average basic layette costs $139 for a family without a dryer. The family with a dryer, though, can do very nicely with a layette costing only $94.51.

Romans Feasted

Ancient Romans feasted, exchanged gifts and decorated with evergreens during Saturnalia, a December festival honoring the god Saturn. Also relics of pre-Christian midwinter celebrations are mistletoe, the yule log and the wassail bowl.

Georgia Baptists' School Aid Asked

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Georgia Baptists have been asked to increase their donations to keep the denomination's six colleges operating as accredited institutions without the help of federal grants.

The state convention's 1,500 delegates unanimously adopted an education commission report which said: "Georgia Baptists are strongly committed to religious liberty and to the principle of separation of church and state."

Cows Give Up

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—There still is a 200-acre dairy farm within the limits of Lansing, a city of 113,000 persons, but the cows are just about to leave the area to the people. Martin H. Kahres, one of the proprietors, says he has sold the property to real estate developers.

Chiropractic Ranks Shrinking In State

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California Department of Professional and Vocational Standtheards says that while population continues to grow in the state, the number of chiropractors has dipped slightly.

The department says there were 4,706 chiropractic licenses in effect at the end of the last fiscal year, down 67 from the year before.

Electric Dryer Easy To Install

Easy installation is one reason why more people are buying flameless electric clothes dryers, according to the live better electrically program of the Edison Electric Institute. Two out of every three dryers sold this year are electric.

Installation is a simple matter because an electric dryer requires only one connection to the source of energy. And since electric clothes drying is clean and flameless, it doesn't produce any of the usual by-products of combustion.

This eliminates the need to install flues or vents and gives the homemaker greater flexibility in choosing a convenient location for the dryer. The appliance dealer's statement "dry your clothes on the day of delivery," is not an empty promise.

Give Yourself To Decorating

Christmas entertaining today, as always, is traditionally festive and gay. Modern hostesses take delight in decorating the house and displaying their talents for do-it-yourself projects as at no other time of the year.

It's easy to go out and buy the things that make Christmas look like Christmas at your home. But somehow Christmas feels more like Christmas when there's something of you in the decorations that spell out the holiday spirit.

With a little time and imagination, you can make charming adornments for your home. And it's so simple with the help of Christmas gift wrapping papers, in themselves so in keeping with the spirit of the season.

Three Kings Day Big One In New York City

For families living in one of New York's Puerto Rican communities, Christmas Day takes second place to the area's traditional Three Kings Day, celebrated as an all-day festival on Jan. 6.

The morning parade participants may be wearing mittens and galoshes, but the atmosphere is as enthusiastic as it would be on their sunny native island.

The day begins with Sunday School children, 100 strong, parading through the streets wearing cardboard camels five feet high, the artistic efforts of the staff of two neighborhood Episcopal churches. Heading the procession are the three kings, wearing gold-plated crowns. Occasionally a horse, borrowed for the occasion, joins the marchers.

A parish-wide church service follows, and at night, the entire neighborhood gathers for a festival dinner, featuring a huge roast pig. Families arrive bearing pots of rice, beans, spaghetti and typical Puerto Rican dishes as their share of the festival.

An impromptu musicale is held after dinner, for those who play the guitar or the violin are in great demand as accompanists for group singing.

When the day is over and the horse has been returned, the camels put back into storage, and the cooking pots taken back home, the neighborhood agrees that never has there been such a festival day.

Objectors' Manual Offered To Libraries

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A high school pacifist group has offered to place a manual for conscientious objectors in the guidance libraries of area high schools.

James Havelin, 17, president of Area Students for the Peace and Internationalism Required for Existence — ASPIRE — said his group also will ask that graduate counselors be permitted to give information on conscientious objection. The manual outlining Selective Service requirements for draft exemption, would be purchased by Citizens against the Viet Nam War, an adult peace group.

Reinforced Concrete

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The first reinforced concrete bridge in the United States was built here in 1899. The 20-foot span is still in use.

Cows Argue, Fight Just Like People

DAVIS, Calif. (UPI) — Agricultural experts at the University of California here say that cows, like people, "argue and fight," especially when they are eating.

Animal scientist Kenneth A. Wagnon said cows gain more weight if they are fed from numerous feeders rather than a single, large self-feeder. He said this helps overcome "social dominance problems in a mixed-age herd of cows."

McArthur Launched

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey ship McArthur, a 175-foot long, 995-ton vessel, has been launched here. The ship is named for Lt. William P. McArthur, a Geodetic Survey officer who conducted the first major survey of the Pacific coast in the 1840s. The ship will be based at Seattle, Wash.

United Nations Staff Has Many Christmas Customs

In Ethiopia, Christmas is celebrated on Jan. 6, the giving of material presents is unheard of, and the family dinner is likely to feature goat or mutton, slain and shared by the entire neighborhood.

Norwegians, on the other hand, have their family Christmas on Christmas Eve, wearing traditional costume, and sitting down to a standard meal of spare ribs and sauerkraut, boiled potatoes and whortleberries, gathered by the whole family on the mountains.

And in Peru, Christmas extends from Dec. 25 to Jan. 6, with a great fiesta taking place on the latter date in honor of the "Day of the Kings."

Such diverse ways of celebrating the holiday season, so dissimilar to American customs, were related by members of the United Nations Secretariat, who were only too happy to put aside more serious concerns to talk about their homeland holidays.

Shifferaw Zelleke, whose home is Ethiopia, explains that though Santa Claus—or his counterpart—doesn't exist in his country, the Jan. 6 celebration is a day for children.

"Parents will give their children little homemade cakes and cookies, and later the children will visit neighbors and receive more cakes, but there is nothing in the way of commercial presents.

"The holiday meal is held at noon, and it may be eaten in the family home, or perhaps it will literally be a movable feast, eaten one course at a time in relatives' homes. Ethiopian families are extensive, and in one village, one is likely to have many cousins and aunts. For the adults, a special drink called Tej is served, made from honey."

Zelleke explains the most exciting part of the day for the children is a grand march to the palace where the emperor gives the children candies, oranges, or perhaps a knitted pullover. Almost all of the morning is consumed with filing through the streets of the capitol for this event.

January 6, he says, is the traditional Christmas because in Ethiopia's Coptic Orthodox Church this is the date when Christ was presumed to be baptized. Because the church's calendar is totally different from the Western, New Year's comes on Sept. 11.

Transplanted to the United States, the Zelleke family now celebrate Christmas in Western style. Zelleke's wife is American, and if her husband is lucky enough to be in the country on Christmas Day, he is quite content with American turkey.

In Norway, there are no variations from year to year in the holiday rituals, says Mrs. Andreas Zachariassen, a Scot married to a Norwegian.

"We always have a Norwegian Christmas in America," explains the vivacious young woman, "and there are certain food items that must be served during the three or four days of holiday which begins on Christmas Day.

"Lutefisk, which is like cod pickled in brine, must be served once. And each homemaker must make nine sorts of little cookies. Cloudberries, which are like yellow raspberries, are served at the Christmas dinner, if they are available. The crop comes only once in seven years, and this is the year. We picked them in August, and have 100 jars at my husband's home in Norway. The berries are folded into whipped cream for a traditional dessert."

Another unswerving custom, she says, is to serve aqua vit with the dinner. The holiday table is covered with a special cloth, used at no other time than Christmas Eve, and is embroidered with elves and angels and other folklore designs. And always there is an empty place laid for the unexpected guest.

The Norwegian Christmas tree must stand in the center of the room and stretch from floor to ceiling. It is decorated not with baubles, but with the country's flags, and many candles.

A strong religious atmosphere is at the heart of the Peruvian Christmas, according to Mrs. Amalia Machado.

"According to Catholic religious customs," she says, "the 'pesebre' or manger, is set up in the living room. In the center of the manger are placed little images of Jesus, Mary and Joseph, together with the Wise Men, and surrounded by figurines of the manger animals. Also pots of wheat are placed around as well as other ornamental objects.

CLAD IN KILTS—Scottish-born Mrs. Andreas Zachariassen examines the Christmas dinner cloth inherited from her Finnish husband's family. The family traditionally plans a Finnish Christmas, the only exception being the kilts! Both the Zachariassens are associated with the United Nations secretariat.

Smoking In Bed Draws 10-Day Jail Sentence

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — Marvin Nodland has drawn a $50 fine and a 10-day city jail sentence because of smoking in bed.

City Judge Joseph Christoff imposed the sentence on Nodland, a tavern owner, after firemen were called to his apartment for the third time to put out a blaze that began after he fell asleep while smoking.

Penalty Box Party

HOUSTON (UPI)—Newsmen getting ready to cover the Houston Apollos hockey team this season were wondering in what high regard they were held by the team's front office. Callers asking about a press party were told to report to the penalty box in the rink at the coliseum.

Wonderful New Idea For Wrapping Gifts

Wondering what to do with those bulky or oddly shaped gifts that seem to defy wrapping paper, ribbon or tape? Here's a wonderful new idea for wrapping with a covering that serves as a second gift in itself.

To make a "gift bag," cut two square or rectangular pieces of fabric large enough to hold gift when sewn together. Place right sides of the fabric together, and machine or hand sew on three sides. Hem the open top edges or trim by cutting the edges with pinking scissors.

Turn the bag right side out, spray with Faultless spray-on starch, and iron. Repeat until the fabric bag is starched to a fresh, crisp finish. Place gift in bag, gather the top as you would a paper bag, tying a bright bow around the neck.

Use any color of fabric for your gift bag, adding monogram of appliques if desired by sewing them on or ironing them on with colored mending tape.

A drawstring ribbon in the top hem will make it a personal laundry bag, or convert it to a carry-all for hair rollers and clips.

There are no end to the uses to which these attractive gift bags can be put after the fun of opening them on Christmas morning.

Glue Helps Drillers

HOUSTON (UPI)—Even glue has played a part in the work of producing oil. Petroleum scientists have used an adhesive to bind grains of sand together when sand clogs up a well. When the binding is complete, spaces between the sand grains are left to free the oil for production.

Travel Time Delays Set By Horse Pace

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—State legislators remember the horse and buggy days fondly in this jet age.

A new code of criminal procedure continues to grant members of the state House and Senate immunity from arrest during sessions and while traveling to and from the sessions. Travel time immunity — based on an 1876 law — is one day for every 20 miles.

ACCUTRON SPACEVIEW "R" by BULOVA
ACCUTRON "612" by BULOVA

This Christmas give him the newest timepiece since 1664.

That was the year they put the balance wheel into the watch and started watches ticking. Now the tick tock is obsolete. After 300 years, it's been replaced by the tiny Accutron® tuning fork which keeps time through vibrations. The result: a very faint hum and the most precise wrist timepiece ever.

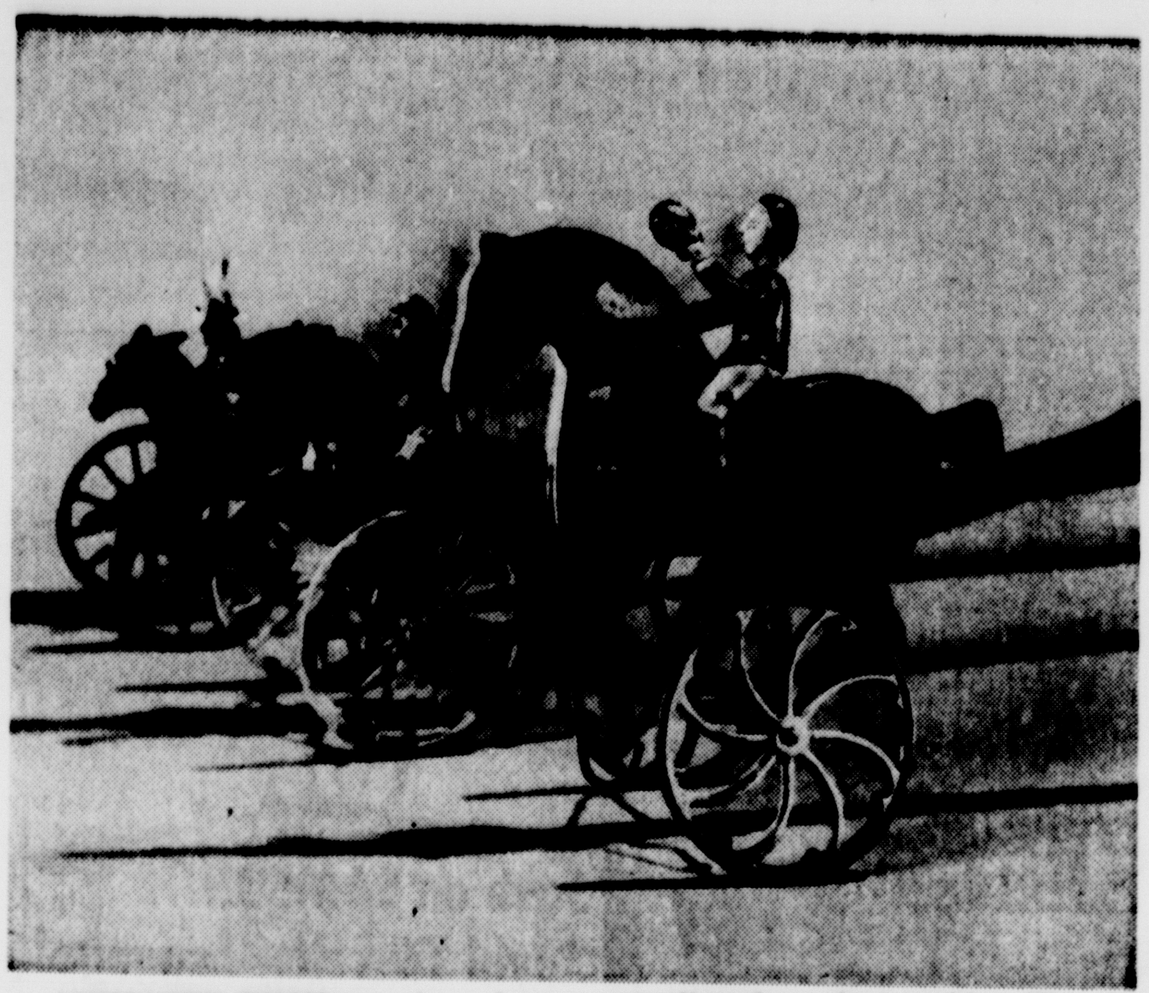
HAPPY HOOLIGAN figured in many toys about the turn of the century. Here, a police patrol escorts Happy in a wagon whose turning wheels also raise and lower a billy club onto the prisoner's head. The traffic cop's arm has a wind-up mechanism to signal a turn.



ANIMATED PUSH toys have been favorites with children from the earliest days of toy making. This tin, iron and wood jockey probably was made in 1890.

Grownup Youngsters Like Playthings Of Years Past

The Christmas toys that dazzled American children between 1850 and 1920 are captivating antique collectors today and are filling in a little-known page of our history.

One antique toy collector, Jerry Smith, says, "You can follow the development of this country through its toys. Also, you can mark the time when people stopped making things at home and started to buy manufactured goods."

Smith, an auto dealer from Kansas City, has collected about 2,000 toys since he started in the 1950's while trying to find a small iron tractor like the one he got for a present when he was six years old.

Smith's special interest is iron toys, especially those produced about 1880. His collection, part of which is on display for the Christmas holiday at the Hallmark Gallery in New York, also includes tin and wooden toys; electric, steam and clockwork toys and pull toys. His oldest piece dates back to the 1840's.

Smith says that between 1850 and 1920 American toys led the world in craftsmanship and originality. He points to such items as cap pistols and cannons, fiddling bears, flaming fire-fighting equipment, circus wagons and merry-go-rounds and an unending stream of realistic trains, autos and horse-drawn vehicles.

R. H. Macy's is reportedly the first department store which stocked toys throughout the year instead of only at Christmas time. Wanamaker's in Philadelphia was the first store to install a direct line to Santa Claus in its toy department.

Smith says that despite the great number of toys produced during the 19th century, they are scarce today, even for the serious collector, and bring a good price. The use of toys in interior decoration in recent years has raised prices and increased the competition for rare items, he says.

TOYS TO MAKE THEM HAPPY!

Two toys which are sure to make any youngster happy this Christmas are these shaggy stuffed dogs. At left, a golden brown collie with snowy white chest and fluffy tail. At right, a soft and cuddly sheep dog which can be curried and combed like a regular pet. Both are made of Almac pile. (By Ideal.)

Egg Nog Part Of Christmas

For many of us, Christmas just isn't Christmas without the tasty treat of egg nog.

A welcome holiday sight is the traditional silver punch bowl at Christmas gatherings, and an equally welcome quick refreshment for friends who've dropped in unexpectedly, egg nog is the perfect holiday drink for young and old alike.

If you're planning a party or expecting friends and family over on Christmas Eve, bring out the punch bowl and stock up on bottled egg nog from your favorite dairy. You'll find today's ready-made egg nog better than most home-made versions and it saves so much extra work.

Brazilian Special Christmas Dinners

Christmas dinner in Brazil centers around turkey or chicken, stuffed with mandioca flour.

Other traditional dishes are codfish cakes and rabanada, a sweet made of bread dipped in milk, sugar and beaten egg yolks, then fried in butter and spread with sugar and cinnamon.

Male Dancers Better On Style

A certain Broadway musical show has a large contingent of chorus girls and an equally big cast of male singers and dancers. An experiment was conducted:

Selecting five girls and five men and letting them loose in a big New York men's store, with instructions to select merchandise at will to coordinate three tasteful outfits for men—business, sportswear and informal-evening.

Both groups thought hard before offering their selections to a panel of five men's fashion experts who served as judges. The judges didn't have to devote much time to arriving at a decision—they tabbed the men as easy winners, hands down.

Russians fished Alaskan waters long before the Alaskan purchase.

WHY

do stores start Christmas before Thanksgiving?

That's a question that's often asked, and it deserves a sincere answer!

★ Your newspaper appreciates the spirit that prompts many of the objections to early Christmas shopping promotions.

★ However, when the reasons for the urge to "Shop Early" are examined, the most critical agree it's MORE than a problem for stores alone.

★ So we're happy to take this opportunity of presenting some of the problems that confront all stores at holiday time.

★ Every successful store directs its best effort toward perfecting a helpful service to ALL its customers. And since many customers ask stores to make it easier for them to complete their gift shopping before the crowded post-Thanksgiving period, Christmas merchandise and displays are brought forward early to accommodate them.

★ And scarcely a major store in the nation could cope with the store traffic that would be generated if any part of early Christmas shopping was postponed until after Thanksgiving. Even under present circumstances most stores are strained to capacity during the peak of the season, to maintain the kind of store service all shoppers have learned to expect.

★ When you recall the extremely crowded conditions of stores the final two or three weeks before Christmas the problem becomes evident.

★ If no early Christmas shopping were done this condition would be multiplied many fold. (Actually there would not be enough room behind store counters for enough sales people to serve shoppers during this period between Thanksgiving and Christmas.)

★ The same condition exists in regard to the children's visits to Santa Claus. Thousands of children and their parents, look forward to their annual visit with him, and unless he makes an early appearance, many hundreds would be doomed to disappointment simply because it's physically impossible to reach him in a shorter time.

★ Those in the store business know that an extremely large percentage of the Christmas gifts that are selected are items that are in plentiful supply the entire year.

★ If you were to ask the thousands of retail employees—and as a group they represent one of the largest employee groups in Marin County—they would tell you that much of the stress and strain of their Christmas would be relieved if the shopping public would anticipate Christmas shopping throughout the year. Then you'd seldom hear your friends in retailing remark, "I'm simply worn down to my knees by Christmas Eve."

★ Granted that the problem is not a one-sided one, it should be recognized that stores are faced with the problems of convenient service to customers, of maintaining helpful employee relations, of providing a place where those of the public who cannot, or do not, plan ahead may select the traditional gifts for their loved ones and friends.

★ We are sure that if all of our storekeppers could chat with you, personally and informally, that you would be convinced of their sincerity, and that in the true spirit of Christmas, they would not be criticized for their efforts to perform a helpful service to their shopping public.

★ Finally, for all these reasons, and for others which will occur to you, don't you agree that beginning Christmas shopping early makes that task for you easier, faster and a whole lot more pleasurable?

★ So do yourself and your favorite stores a favor . . . start shopping now . . . while selections are at their best . . . while you have plenty of time to compare before choosing . . . while sales personnel can give you the kind of service you prefer.

How To Have Really Expensive Christmas

If you're really up a tree to find something to give the girl-who-has-everything for Christmas, you might emulate the 15th century English swain who wooed his lady love with a "Partridge and a Pear Tree."

Right away you're a bit put to by the famous old madrigal. The pear tree isn't hard to find ($5 will buy a small one in the ground). But a partridge is.

Unless you can trap one of your own, you'll have to order one from England.

On the second day of Christmas you'll need two turtle doves. Though there's been no call for them for years, the going rate is $5 a dove.

French hens are guineas, and these are best substituted unless your true love is a purist. A vulturine guinea fowl is $25; a Yokohama fowl as much as $100. You need three, so figure $75.

The fourth day of Christmas poses a real problem. A "coly" bird is found in the Congo. You can fly over there and get one for about $1,045, but this is not advised. We suggest a chickadee, which is similar to the mouse bird of the Congo except for its longer tail. At $35, the fourth day of Christmas comes to $140.

Five golden rings from Tiffany's can cost as little as $50 without tax, so you're up to $305. Six laying geese, another $60.

Seven boys singing could probably be arranged for by a $25 donation to your church, plus car fare and hot dogs, say another $10. You're up to $400 now.

Eight maids a milking are a rarity these days, what with automation in the cowbarns. Minimum wage is $1.25 an hour; you'd have to rent the cows and pails, unless you live on a farm, of course.

Nine ladies dancing can be booked through a theatrical agency for $30 an hour each—though the rate is cheaper by the week, as the Rockettes will dance for $107 a week. By the end of the ninth day you've rung up $680.

The 10th, 11th and 12th days present problems, unforeseen by the first singers of the love song who apparently were royalty. The Scottish version substitutes "King and his Lady" for "My True Love and Me," and it was probably no trouble at all for a king to find 10 lords a leaping, 11 pipers piping, and 12 drummers drumming right in his own courtyard.

The modern-day lover would have a time finding 10 genuine lords in America. It would probably be easier to round them up in England, fly them round-trip to New York for $399 each. You'd have to negotiate directly with the lords for the leaping.

Since any boy can pipe a pipe and drum a drum, we suggest hiring the choir boys again and buying fifes at $4.50 each; drums at $20.

This comes to a grand total of $5,029, not counting postage, delivery charges, taxes, tips, rent of cows and pails, and wrapping paper.

How About Plane Trip, Gourmet Box

Anyone with money jingling in his pocket can walk into a department store and come out with a perfectly gorgeous Christmas present.

But something more than money is needed for the completely successful Christmas present, the kind that the recipient didn't really even dream of, but totally enjoys.

Here are some ideas to spark your thinking:

For the young student couple living on a tight budget, a luxury gift, like the monthly arrival of a gourmet box, a pair of opera tickets, or the price of a 21-day plane trip, to be used whenever.

For the in-a-rut executive, not the golf club he desires, but something to jazz up his way of living. A museum membership card, perhaps? A lesson course in playing the piano? Or, if he's totally disinterested in playing, give him a player piano, with rolls of old hit tunes familiar in his youth.

For the mother of a new baby, something glamorous like a superb hostess gown. Or a labor-saving device, such as the cost of a Saturday night baby sitter through the year.

For grandparents, news from home. Make a scrapbook with clippings and photos of the grandchildren in daily action. School programs where these children have leads in plays, win athletic honors, or give prize-winning speeches, can be mounted in the book for fond perusal.

For the reluctant cook, too tied to frozen foods, a cookbook of exotic recipes, but with ingredients really available.

For the forever practical, something way out, like a book on palm-reading, or a collection of spoofy poems, or a set of finger paints, or a child's flute.

Not so hard, once you start thinking, is it?

Wash Any Day; Rain Or Shine

Rainy washdays are no joke, as every homemaker well knows. According to U.S. Weather Bureau statistics, they roll around more often than most of us realize.

The bureau reports, for example, that the sun shines only 59 per cent of the year in Chicago, 56 per cent in Nashville and Duluth, and only 45 per cent in Seattle. Things are a little better in Dallas, where they see the sun 66 per cent of the time.

But when you start subtracting the sub-freezing days in northern areas, or days when the soot hangs low, or the kids want to go to the beach or the bridge club meets, those sunny washdays become even fewer. But no matter where you live, home matter where you live, you can wash any day—rain or shine—if you have an automatic clothes dryer.

Flameless Dryers Liked By Renters

This year nearly a million home owners and renters will purchase electric dryers. Renters are particularly interested in the uncomplicated installation which makes it easy to take the appliance with them when they move.

Ease of installation, lower purchase price and economical maintenance appeal to renters and homeowners.

Indoor Winter Heat

One can get just as warm in heated indoors in winter, as they do outdoors in summer. Have detachable underarm shields tacked in your new fall and winter suits, too. Young men, now going into tweed or soft homespun suits, probably never heard of having the knees lined by the neighborhood tailor—to keep the trousers from getting baggy.

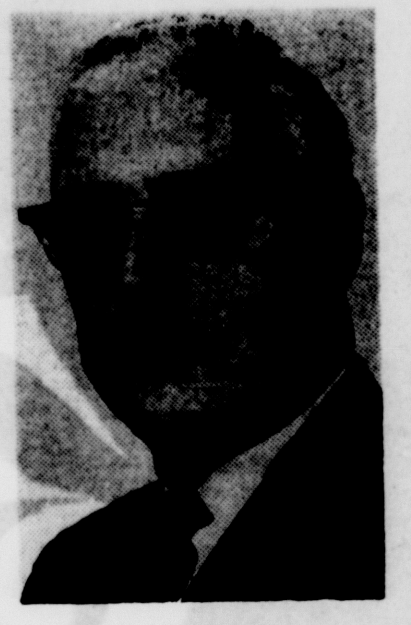
Eighth Granat Brothers Store Opens Next Month

The eighth store of Granat Bros. opening early in December is a milestone in a long period of expansion and development that began before the San Francisco earthquake.

The first Granat Bros. jewelry establishment was a manufacturing shop on Van Ness Avenue. Fortunately it was on the west side of the street—the only side left after the earthquake and fire of 1906. The two Granat brothers, Joseph and Leo, kept their shop going through the difficult period that followed, and later moved to a more central location on Grant Avenue in one of the first downtown buildings to be rebuilt.

In 1915, a Granat Bros. retail store and factory were established on Mission Street and was so constructed that it afforded bypassers the opportunity to watch Granat artisans and craftsmen making diamond jewelry. In 1923 the firm chose a location on Geary Street and later moved to its present headquarters at Grant Avenue and Geary. Since 1961 Granat has expanded from three Bay Area stores to its present eight.



SANFORD WOLFSON
President of Granat Bros.

Sanford L. Wolfson, who has been with the company since 1940 and its president since 1961, said he anticipates peak hiloday volume at the Northgate store and that this outlet will be the most modern store in the chain.

Granat Bros. holds scores of patents for designs and devices which the firm has created. Its best known origination, the patented Wed-Lok diamond ring ensemble, has been distributed nationally for many years.

The company has been affiliated with the Fine Jewelers Guild since 1961. This affiliation links Granat Bros. stores with Guild stores across the nation, and makes available buying facilities in New York, Antwerp, London, Tel Aviv and other leading jewelry centers of the world.

In recent years the company has set as many as a quarter of a million diamonds annually.

Northgate To Have Spectacular Christmas Light, Sound Display

A spectacular lighting display to be seen at Northgate Shopping Center this Christmas season, will be based on the electronic synchronization of color and sound. Northgate has planned a large tree covered with colored lights. As choirs sing and music is heard throughout the Center, these lights respond by changing color in absolute unison to the music.

The designers of this electronic console have been able to break down the frequencies of music into three ranges. Each frequency is associated with a different color so that, as the music is heard, high frequencies will activate green and blue lights respectively. When various frequencies are combined (and this is really what music is—a series of multigrouped sound frequencies) you will see each of the colors blending in the proper intensity and brilliance:—a phenomenal presentation of sight and sound.

The equipment was originally designed for deaf children to appreciate music visually. This learning process is achieved when a child holds a tuning fork which is struck—this gives off varied vibrations transmitted to the child through the hand. High tingling vibrations activate a red light, medium vibrations activate a green light and low vibrations activate a blue light. Thus, once the child associates the vibration with a color, he is then able to see what he should be hearing. Hearing, of course, is only the vibrations of the small bones in the inner ear activated by sound waves at various frequencies. The concept here, then has been to send a vibration through the hand while associating visual color through the eye.

The equipment used in this process is now being used in experimental work by several schools across the nation to teach deaf children the appreciation of music through a visual medium. It is the same equipment that will be used to activate Northgate's Singing Christmas tree.

Chewing Problems Found More Common

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — UCLA Dental School orthodontist Dr. M.M. McCann says the incidence of poor teeth alignment, known as malocclusion, may afflict one in three persons instead of one in five as previously believed.

He says faulty teeth alignment may lead to nutritional problems, gum disease and early loss of teeth.

Men's Shoes Staid Colors On Way Out

Color makes the big news in men's shoe fashions for fall. The swing away from staid blacks and browns began last season with the introduction of such colors as weathered moss; and the success of weathered moss has opened the way for a splurge of new colors to complement the hues of new suits and sports attire.

The importance of the red tones in fall apparel has led to a variety of winey shades in men's shoes. The most strongly noted of these shades is vintage burgundy, which is proving popular in every section of the country. Even more vivid color is provided by the bold golden tones featured by many of the leading shoe manufacturers, which are designed to be worn with the brighter shades of sports clothing being shown for the coming season.

A review of the Florsheim line shows the increased importance of "comfort" shoes — shoes specifically constructed to deliver greater lasting comfort. These shoes are being offered in a wide range of classic, popular styles which completely mask their comfort construction.

Classic styling is also very much in evidence with the campus group, too. Florsheim at Northgate is showing an array of saddle oxfords in practically every fashion color combination in calf, including weathered moss with a black saddle, and the long-standing favorite—cordovan, both brown and black. For the correctly dressed collegian, too, genuine moccasins and long wing brogues are considered a must.

For fall, Florsheim adds to its extensive brogue collection an authentic long wing style in a choice of fashion colors, crafted to quality standards, yet priced within raech of the younger man's pocketbook. This brogue is rapidly becoming one of the nation's largest selling styles.

Students Organize 'Tender Tiger' Plan

CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — Students at Pennsylvania Military College are organizing what they call "Operation Tender Tiger."

Patrick Brennan, president of the student council, said the project is an effort to "do something positive to show our feelings" about the current Viet Nam conflict. Students will seek to raise a minimum of $5,000 to finance "adoption" of an orphanage or a village in Viet Nam. Brennan said the project "will show our GIs that not all college students are dirty little people who carry signs and burn draft cards."

Timmer Moves Realty Office To Northgate

A new real estate office has been added to the many business services and stores at Northgate Unit One.

This is the first branch office of William Timmer, Realtor, who up to now has concentrated all his activities in his downtown San Rafael office at Third and B Streets. He has been in business for himself as a real estate broker for 12 years and he is one of the biggest sellers of residential property in the county.

TIMMER

The new office which has an address of 208 Northgate Shopping Center is a spacious one, with 2,000 square feet of floor area. It was designed for a staff of nine salesmen who will concentrate much of their activities in the Terra Linda, Santa Venetia, Marinwood and Las Gallinas Valley areas and even north to Novato.

Timmer opened last week with an initial staff of five: Charles Dewalt, Hank Greenberg, Jack Ludwig, Timothy O'Leary and Robert (Nook Ryan.

Check Labels For European Hair In Wigs

Mrs. Lorene Miller, owner of the Marin Style House at Northgate Shopping Center, suggests these checkpoints on purchasing a wig:

Check the label. If the wig has 100 per cent first quality European human hair, it will say so on the label. But beware of misleading copy, such as 100 per cent European made," or "100 per cent human hair - European made." The first could have hair from other parts of the world.

It is a federal offense to remove the country of origin label from any imported product until it reaches the consumer.

Check the adjustment. Is it easily accessible - just necessary to pin or tack down—or does the wig require a razor to cut into the foundation to enlarge it?

Check the construction. Look to see how the wig comes to a center. The ideal construction is to have this area hand-tied and ventilated so there are no styling problems. This section should be well back from the hair line. Beware of "bald spots" or large 'pony tails" in the center of the wig.

Marin Style House features only 100 per cent European hair in all the latest colors, styles and shapes.

Singing Christmas Tree Will Flash

Northgate Shopping Center's "Singing Christmas Tree," a combination of traditional Christmas and the age of electronics will be dedicated to Marin County tomorrow, at 7:30 p.m. on the Northgate Mall.

Singing before gathered dignitaries and spectators will be the Sweet Adelines, Marin County's popular women's group. The tree is electronically controlled to sort out the frequency of the voices and to illustrate the sound in three lighting colors. Both range and intensity are played back in sight and sound.

The Northgate tree has been taken from the same system used on the nation's White House Christmas Tree each year. At Northgate, the effect should be given even more depth because the tree, 25 feet high, will be on the island in the middle of the central mall reflecting pond.

The Presbyterian Choir of Santa Venetia, Dec. 9 at 7:00 p.m.; The Tamalpais High School Choir, Dec. 10 at 8:00 p.m.; The Peace Lutheran Choir, Dec. 15 at 7:00 p.m.; The Bay School Choir, Dec. 16 at 7:00 p.m.; The Faith Lutheran Choir, Dec. 17 at 8:00 p.m.

Organizations interested in singing before the tree are requested to write to "Northgate Singing Christmas Tree," 3400 Northgate Shopping Center, San Rafael, Calif., requesting a date with two alternatives.

Candles Come From Factory In San Rafael

Tapers and Christmas candles manufactured by Colonial Sales Co. are to be found on the department store shelves of Emporium Marin.

Colonial Sales started business in San Rafael in 1946 in two quonset huts. Business expansion has caused the company to move four times since then.

A new candle factory was built in 1960 for Colonial Wax Products, a separate company which supplies Colonial Sales with finished materials. The latter now has its own factory in the rear of the building and has started pouring its own candles.

The company also purchases from many other manufacturers and now offers its accounts many selections of colors in candles as well as holders and other accessories. The concern employs 60 people — most of them residents of Marin County.

New Savings Center Said Doing Well

American Savings and Loan Assn. of California has reported a magnificent public response to the September opening of its newest savings center in Northgate Shopping Center, according to manager Kenneth L. Boosey.

"During the month of October," Boosey said "our branch took in net savings of over a half-million dollars. We are greatly pleased with the reception of Marin County people to our services, and welcome an opportunity to serve them and and thank them for the tremendous support they have given us.

"While our open house was in progress, we were able to give out some 1500 cookbooks and more than 500 Great American Document folders. The activity has truly been noteworthy and we are most grateful."

The San Rafael-Northgate branch became the 31st for American Savings, which has the largest savings and loan branch network in the United States. It is the largest savings and loan association in northern California, and has assets of over a billion dollars. The company's real estate loan portfolio is also valued in excess of a billion dollars. American Savings' has loaned nearly $15 million in Marin County this year.

Chinese Art Copied For Marin

The national art treasures of China are not totally inaccessible to the Western world as long as there are skilled artists to copy them with the same techniques the ancients used, according to Jack Wertenbach, buyer for the Emporium.

On his last trip to the Far East, Wertenbach visited Kyoto, the ancient capitol of Japan and still considered its cultural center. In a gallery famous for its screens he recognized one he was sure he had seen before in a San Francisco museum.

The salesman said he was correct—he had seen it in an exhibit of the National Treasures of China collection, which had been presented in five American cities.

While it is against the law to copy these treasures in China, other artists in other countries with the use of camera and catalog have the pictures for copying. The buyer is asked to name his color preference, for each screen is painted to order for the individual customer's taste, and by highly skilled artists of Japan. Two such screens are now available at the Emporium's gift department.

Also from Japan are some famous Kutani porcelains made in Kyoto, favorites of porcelain collectors. From Hong Kong are teakwood furniture and screens inlaid with ivory, soapstone and mother of pearl, and brasses for the table.

Among the most impressive imports are Siamese antique bronzes from the 12th and 17th centuries. Their graceful elegance is due to the fact that Thailand has been casting bronze for some 700 years.

From the Philippines come the translucent mats and boxes made of Kapis shell (spelled Cappa in Hong Kong) — also monkey pod wood bowls, dishes and trays.

Not all is exotic in the Emporium's gift department, however. Thoroughly contemporary, practical and American designs are in abundance and — a Christmas tip: Chafing dishes are hot this year!

Modern Eve

SAN RAFAEL
NORTHGATE
NOVATO

'TWAS THE NIGHT AFTER CHRISTMAS

And all through the house
Everybody was joyous,
Especially the spouse.

'Cause the head of the family
Was quick to perceive
That the wise way to shop
Was at chic MODERN EVE.

For Nancy he chose
A fun skirt and sweater,
For Sue lingerie
And he couldn't choose better.

Accessories unusual
(Number one on her list)
Was his choice for Margaret
And he knew he'd be kissed.

For Grandma his gift
Was a fragrance divine
With matching bath oil
For this lady so fine.

He selected an outfit
For the "light of his life,"
Coat, hat, dress and furs
And she's one happy wife.

Gift wrapping was done
With no charge if you please.
When in doubt a gift order
Made his shopping a breeze.

So the moral of this story—
Shop easy and NOW!
At Modern Eve it's a pleasure,
Come in and see how.

Parties Call For Formal Attire

Gala times call for gala dress, according to the American Institute of Men's and Boy's Wear. The vastly increased use of formalwear proves its point as the holiday season approaches and more and more "black tie" and "white tie" dinner parties and dances are being scheduled.

Particularly notable in the past several years are the many "at home" black tie parties. The fair sex attending those semi-formal evening events prefer cocktail-length gowns and they enjoy the flattering effect of escorts in dinner jackets.

The "at home" formal — it's really semi-formal — has grown to the extent that many host coats have been designed for the "lord and master." It is an acknowledged privilege of the host and hostess to dress a bit differently—perhaps a bit more imaginatively than their guests — and the distaff side has taken advantage of that right with exotic costumes ranging from hostess gowns to formal pajamas.

Now, the man of the house has a choice of distinctive semi-formal attire, outfits that are as easy to wear as sport coats and slacks, some in rich moires and others in richly hued silks and velvets.

Some of the host coats may be worn with an ascot knotted under the dress shirt collar instead of the more usual bow. Of course, it is wise to avoid the use of patterns in those ascots. Usually of silk or a silk-like fabric, they should be solid colored to harmonize with or match the color of the host coat or trousers.

The rules for the men at "at home" affairs can be relaxed a bit, too. They can wear deep-toned blues, grays, golds, burgundies and greens in silk or silk-type fabric dinner jackets and, of course, they can also use the black moires and brocades. Guests, however, should complement their outfits with either an evening waistcoat or cummerbund with a bow that picks up the fabric of either the vest, cummerbund or the facing of the lapels.

Semi-formal affairs at the theater or on the town call for black, midnight blue or char-gray tuxedos or dinner suits. The same type of event in Southern resort areas or aboard cruise ships leaves the wearer the choice of either the darks or summery versions such as madras, seeksuckers, pastel shades and whites.

The strictly formal "white tie" invitations — of which there are a growing number — make the wearing of an evening tailcoat mandatory. However, even this most formal of all formalwear has been rendered "painless" to the wearer. Lightweight fabrics, new constructions and easier fitting lines make the new tailcoats as easy to wear as a business suit. Improvements and modifications in dress shirts and wing collars find them more flexible, lighter in weight and just as comfortable at the end of the evening as they are at the beginning.

Many men are perfectly groomed in their formalwear until it comes to their shoes. Here are a few tips that will assure the correctness of an evening kit from top to toe:

WITH THE TUXEDO: (dinner suit/dinner jacket)

Hat: Black felt— occasionally black silk— with snap brim or black felt homburg.

Shoes: Black calf or patent leather pumps or lightweight plain toe oxfords. (You can't get by with street shoes!)

WITH THE TAILCOAT: (white tie)

Hat: Either high silk "topper" or collapsible silk opera hat.

Shoes: Either patent leather or black calf (highly polished) pumps or lightweight plain-toe evening oxfords.

The topcoat must be either black, navy blue or oxford gray. In warm climates, black poplin, gabardine or silk. Gloves with dinner jackets should be gray mocha, with the tailcoat either white fabric or kid. Choose a white silk scarf for tails, a gray or black for the dinner coat.

FORMAL RENTALWEAR—Parties, dinners, weddings, the opera or a posh state occasion—whatever the event, detailed formalwear can be rented at Roos-Atkins' Northgate store. Stocks include sartorically perfect tuxedos as shown above—white dinner jackets, cutaways and stripes and formal full dress, with a full choice of accessories.

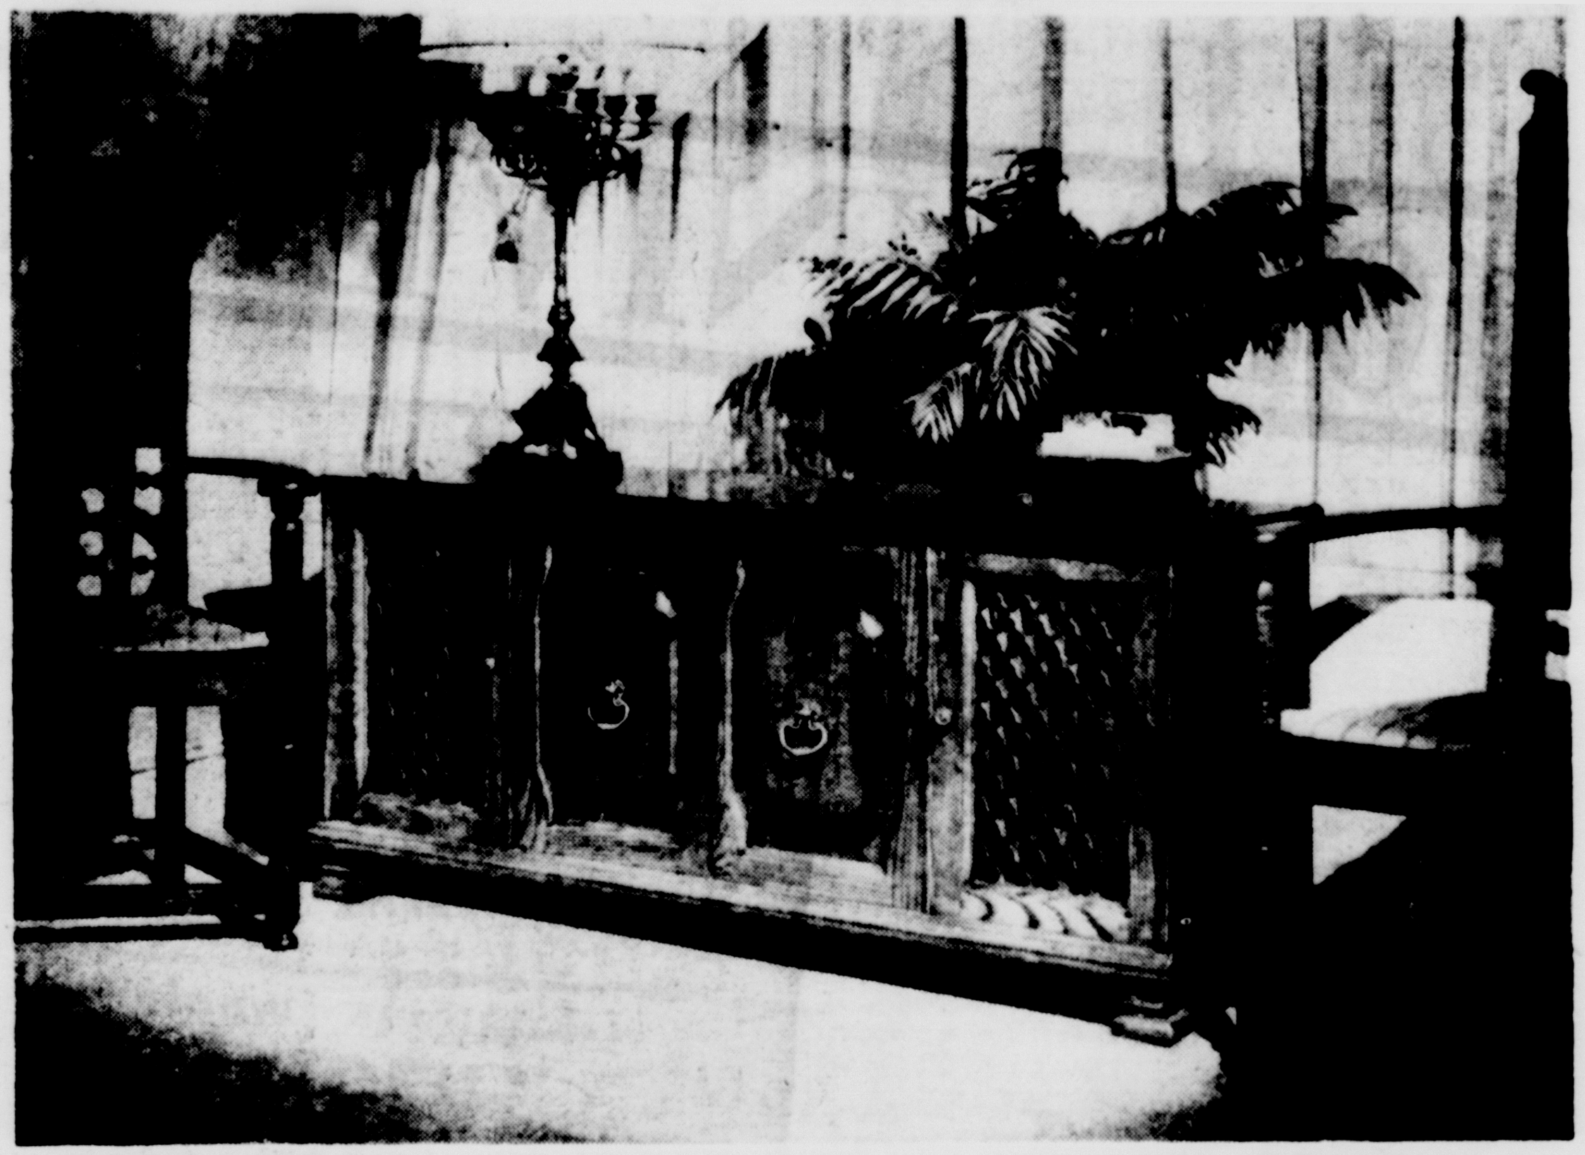
OSTRICH FLIP—This cocktail dress from the holiday collection of H. Liebes, Northgate is an example of the up-dated 1920s look which goes mad over feathers or glittery touches and wild about crepes and extravagant brocades. It is the flapper look with a naughty flair in the skirt—compelling and sophisticated.



BERKEYEY MEDITERRANEAN STEREO CONSOLE

This handsome console of hand rubbed oak is a fine piece of furniture as well as housing for an all new stereo unit by Scott and handled exclusively by Kim's Sound Center, Northgate. Luxury pleated fabric over speaker grilles at each end is readily removed for cleaning or replacement to match decor.

Sterling Still Is Traditional Bridal Gift

By long established tradition, sterling silver flatware is the parents' gift to the bride and it is the most meaningful and appropriate gift they can present to their daughter, according to Stribley's Northgate store which has a complete selection of this giftware.

Said Mrs. Karel Stribley, "The modern way to care for sterling flatware is to use it and enjoy it. Used regularly, it seldom needs polishing — and it can be put in your dishwasher."

If proper water temperatures and detergents are used, silverware can be safely washed daily.

Mrs. Stribley notes that fine china made prior to 1954 should not be washed regularly in a dishwasher lest some pattern fading and cracking of glaze should occur.

But fine china patterns made after this date can be used daily, washed in the dishwasher daily — and will last a lifetime if some simple rules are followed.

Avoid harsh detergents; preferably use only those products recommended by the china manufacturer. Never use more detergent than the amount specified by the manufacturer of the dishwasher.

Temperature is important. Fine china is safest when the water temperature is not above 140 degrees. It can be checked with a home meat thermometer.

A hydrogen bomb is known as a thermonuclear weapon due to the high amount of heat required to start the fusion process.

STILL FAVORITE

Sweaters Please As Yule Present

The all-time favorite, the sweater, still remains among the Top-10 holiday gifts for every woman or girl on anybody's list.

Soft mohairs, loopy wools, flat-knit wools and wool blends, fur fiber blends, cashmeres and imports are welcome in any wardrobe and the importance of sweaters has never been more deserved since designers have gone all out to make them exciting with ruffles, buttons; laced and trimmed with crochet banding and literally drenched with color from the palest pastels to the most sizzling shock shades.

For the girl who loves to wear "party pants," Roos-Atkins' Northgate store has shirts, finely tailored and the newest in high-fashion looks. These, too, come in smashing colors, solids and dramatic prints — some short sleeved, others with elegant, long French-cuffed sleeves.

For the more casual life, an ideal Roos-Atkins gift idea is to "give a sport-about top." These include cotton knit T-tops, turtle or crew-necked, and the famous ribbed skinny top, now known in the fashion world as the Elle top, having originated on the pages of the French magazine.

Soft cotton velour and cotton suede tops are finding much favor as mix-and-match-ups for pants and skirts. Roos-Atkins has several of these in a rainbow of colors.

This holiday season, gift counters are filled to bursting point with little items that are of maximum fashion import. The scarf will do many wonderful things for almost any costume—and never more so than now, when the oracles tell us to tie a wasp of chiffon high at the throat, wind a strip of silk around the waistline or weave a streak of multi-color chiffon through the new-look cutout motifs on dresses.

Even handbags show up this season with scarfs braided around shoulder straps or tied through the rings of a tote. Featured at the Roos-Atkins Northgate store are all these and more, destined to be placed beneath a Yule tree, come Christmas day.

CLASSIC DOTTED SILK ROBE

This season's robes reflect an interest in classic design and pattern and luxury fabrics. This navy and white model features a shawl collar, long sash and two patch pockets.

Slot Car Takes Lead From Toy Electric Train

The toy electric train is not quite extinct, but it no longer occupies the same position it once enjoyed, according to Wayne Wirth, manager of Northgate Toys and Hobbies.

Slot car racing now holds the top spot both as a toy and a hobby and it's all done at home or at a commercial coin-operated track.

The fad developed in Europe after World War II and soon spread to this country, notes Wirth. Its original growth was along the toy line until manufacturers starting making equipment and sets that would appeal to the most demanding hobbyist. Many a parent has purchased a toy slot for junior — only to find he is also smitten with the fun.

A large number of manufacturers now make complete sets which include power supply, track layouts and two or more cars — and for those who prefer to build their own sets an extensive selection of equipment is available.

The car itself offers interest because the selection of transmissions, body styles and parts can be interchanged.

FASHION WITH A BRITISH ACCENT

There's a touch of London in Hart Schaffner and Marx's fall Racquet Club natural shoulder collection—provided by a handsome grouping of all-wool worsted fabrics in a choice of "dusted" chalk and clear pin stripings. Called Saville Stripes, the fabrics are styled with trim lines that accent the classic approach. Racquet Club suits are tailored with vests. Available at Hastings in the Northgate Shopping Center.

Fashion Board Picks Gifts For Marin's Teen-Agers

"High School Fashion Board" members at Emporium Marin have come up with these suggestions for Christmas buyers:

A price limit of $1 to $30 is fair—except for a family gift, that is, one in which the whole family participates for father or mother or each other. For instance, a stereo or tape recorder, golf clubs or fur neckpiece.

For boys: Sweaters—v-necks or turtle necks in burgundy, olive or camel black; sport shirts with short sleeves; blazers, sport jackets, T-shirts. Also tie tacks, chess games, qualtiy automobile accessories and tools (by someone who knows how to select.) Sports equipment, desk accessories, books, gift certificates.

For girls: Sweaters - finer knits (not bulky), classic, round neck pullovers. Long-sleeved blouses, lightweight - smocking and feminine detail, but not too fussy. Solid and plaid wool capris, white duck bell bottoms. Three-quarter coats; fringe detail has some interest. Fake fur - double breasted. Various types of jewelry, also gloves (black leather), small handbags and small pieces of luggage - and lingerie.

Other recommended items include bird cage hats, magazines and books, stuffed animals, decorator items for the room, typewriters, notions, sporty wool scarfs, school supplies and cosmetics.

For any young member of the family: pets.

Madisonville Needs No Taxes

MADISONVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Mayor David Parish says the people of Madinsonville are "the luckiest in the world."

For the past 11 years, the townspeople have paid no city tax of any kind.

Madisonville operates its own light and water plants and derives enough income from these sources to meet all expenses of city government.

Marriage In Tavern

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Charles Turnbill and Marian Bolton picked a tavern for their wedding because "it was very appropriable to our good times together here." On top of that, no one had to go very far when it was announced that drinks were on the house after the "I dos" were exchanged.

Merchants Council Buys Mentally Retarded Gifts

This year Christmas comes before business at the Corte Madera Center in the form of dozens of toys which have been donated or purchased by the Corte Madera Center Merchants Council for presentation to some 80 youngsters between ages 6 and 8 in the mentally retarded Sonoma State Hospital.

It all started with a plea from a Marin County mother of a retarded child at Sonoma, according to Hollie L. Smith, secretary-manager of the merchants council.

In September, the council was asked if Corte Madera Center merchants would help brighten the days in the Sonoma mentally retarded ward. The council responded by voting unanimously to spend some $200 on toys and also to ask for donations from center businessmen. The response was overwhelming.

Since September, the center has purchased or received from its merchants 100 wagons, 10 tricycles, 25 stuffed animals, 43 children's record albums, a record player, six toy pianos, and more than 75 pull toys, trucks, blocks and miscellaneous playthings.

All toys are new, wrapped, and ready for presentation to the children at Christmas.

The idea of Christmas help for worthy organizations has sparked other programs — a joint effort of the Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce and the Corte Madera Center Merchants Council.

NEW SCULPTURE—Jacques Overhoff, Dutch-born sculptor, stands beside his work "The Universal Nerve" in San Francisco. The piece is composed of 26 pieces of cast bronze, and symbolizes present-day social and psychological tensions. (UPI Telephoto)

IN BRONZE

World Tension Depicted In Art

By RODNEY GUILFOIL

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — It doesn't make sense the first time you look at it, perhaps, but sculptor Jacques Overhoff is quite willing to give you plenty of time.

Several years, in fact. Then you might begin to be aware of what Overhoff intended when he welded 26 pieces of cast bronze together in a 12-foot-high composition.

The piece of sculpture stands in San Francisco's new Golden Gateway redevelopment area, a group of apartment towers and business offices now rising along the waterfront. It took Overhoff eight months to complete the work.

At first glance, it looks like a number of torn-up pieces of cardboard carton stuck together haphazardly. But that is not quite what Overhoff had in mind. He calls the work "Universal Nerve."

"As a person living in the world today," he says, "I'm aware of social tensions and forces working against each other. I've tried to translate this feeling into my work.

"It makes sense if you look at it long enough. It's a symbol of our times and it has a growing quality. In a couple of years, it might seem to you to be twice as big."

Overhoff, born in the Netherlands a lean and friendly man of 32, calls himself an architectural environmental artist. To this end, he works closely with architects and designers so his works can harmonize with their settings.

He and three Dutch friends have opened a bronze foundry in San Francisco's industrial district, using the "lost wax" method of casting. There are only three other such foundries in this country capable of casting big works — two in New York and one in Detroit.

"There hasn't been too much demand yet for the kind of thing we do," Overhoff says, "because artists in this country are unaccustomed to working in cast bronze. Most of them have been doing the so-called 'junk sculpture' using scrap metal and welding it together. We have to educate artists to work in wax."

For example, Overhoff started his Golden Gateway sculpture entirely with a full scale model. When he had it assembled to his liking, he cut the pieces apart with a hot knife and then cast them in a process involving "positive" and "negative" molds.

When he had his 26 pieces all cast in bronze, he welded them back together again. Each of the sections weighs an average of 150 pounds. Then he applied a greenish patina to make the work look a bit aged.

Right now, Overhoff is working on a three-dimensional sculpture in concrete for the Wilshire Metropolitan Medical Center in Los Angeles. It's 12 feet high and 16 feet wide.

Little Mateless Shoe Has Been Around

A small slipper that has been a wanderer since it was lost by a 19th Century mystery woman has left San Francisco.

Spool heeled, of leather and cloth design, the dainty shoe once moved strong men to poetry and dreams of the Cinderella who wore it.

Now, after exhibit at Wells Fargo Bank's History Room it is being returned to the man who discovered it, Grahame Hardy, of Carson City, Nevada, president of the Truckee Railroad.

The slipper's story began in 1896 when it was left behind at a Wells Fargo office in Vacaville. It was forwarded to the next stage stop with this poetic note of inquiry written on the waybill:

"My mate I'm on this journey to see
Though it take, many a week
But! When found and returned home,
My reception will be cordial and second to none."

The little shoe was passed from agency to agency—85 in all—in California and Oregon in search of its owner. Waybill tags and labels attached to the shoe were covered with rough poems and messages. Some agents wrote on the shoe itself or applied their wax seals to it.

In July 1896, the slipper left Honcut, California with this poem by the agent:

"Take me up gently, handle with care
I'm only a slipper and don't pay any fare.
The foot of a maiden, I once did adorne
Now I am lonely, sad, and forlorn".

From Forest Grove, Oregon, 1897:

"Could I but know the maiden fair,
Who wore this dainty shoe,
Could I but stroke her sunny hair,
Her ruby lips kiss, too,
I'd straightway join the married State,
Hereafter buy her shoes
I'm single, poor and twenty-eight
Goodby dear. George R. Hughes"

The little shoe endeared itself to many a lonesome Wells Fargo agent living in an isolated frontier town on the California-Oregon express routes. Their thoughts are reflected in this poem from Newport, Oregon:

"We hope this shoe will keep its strength
As it goes from state to state
For truly we know how to sympathize
We, too, are without a mate.

The slipper brought out the poet in everybody and it became a tradition among express agents to keep it going.

After three years of wandering, the accumulated tags almost obscured the slipper.

The shoe never found its mate or its owner. Now 70 years later, it continues on its sad solitary journey.

STILL WITH NO MATE—This wayfaring slipper has spent 70 years looking for a mate. It traveled from one Wells Fargo agent to another, as each added his tag and often a note.

Segregation Stays, Official Declares

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—Aileen C. Hernandes, Rhode Island's commissioner of equal employment opportunity, says the 1964 Civil Rights Act has not worked to desegregate more than an "infinitesimal" number of schools.

"This is true in the North as well as the South," Mrs. Hernandes said in a talk to the Urban League of Rhode Island and the Equal Employment Opportunity Council.

Against Measles

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—The Rhode Island Medical Society has announced plans to inoculate in one day every school child in the state against measles. The program is scheduled for some date in January.

Igor Lives Cramped Life In Moscow, But He's Lucky

MOSCOW (UPI) — Igor is a 25-year-old Muscovite with a good job, a steady income and one tiny bedroom to call his own.

He hesitates to marry, because both he and his wife then would have to squeeze into the two-room apartment he shares with his parents. Only if they had children would they qualify as an "urgent case" and get a small apartment of their own.

The possibility of an apartment all for himself, or even of sharing a flat with another man is out of the question. All apartments are reserved for families.

Yet, Igor figures he is lucky. In a city with one of the worst housing problems in the Western world, a young man with a room of his own, even if it is less than five square yards, has no complaints.

In recent years the Soviet government has tried to solve this problem with a crash building program. Towering cranes dominate the skyline, especially on the city's outskirts.

But the problem exists. One statistic explains why. Every day there are 300 new apartments opened in Moscow. Every day 300 couples are married here. And every day 300 new Muscovites are born.

City officials profess confidence that, at the current building rate, the problem will be solved by 1980.

By that time, they say, rapid building plus control of the city's population will mean that every person in town will have 13 square yards of housing space to himself.

Both Moscow residents and Westerners here have their doubts, just as they doubt the official claim that the current figure is 8.5 square yards to a person.

The figure is distrusted because there are just too many people who have demonstrably less space — couples with three children crammed into two rooms, or even two families living in the same room.

German Girl Finds Frantic Teen Pace

If the frantic pace of the American teen-ager's world seems hard for parents to understand, imagine how it looks to a German girl who speaks no English.

Such a girl is 16-year-old Monika Pree, who arrived in San Rafael from her native Bamberg just before classes started at San Rafael High School in September.

Among the problems Monika faces are the transition from a vastly different education system, learning the American teen-ager's complicated tribal customs—and finding out how to keep up with the action in a high school football game.

Monika, who speaks no English, was interviewed recently by a student reporter who spoke no German. With the aid of other students who knew a little of Monika's language, the reporter learned these facts:

She was born in Bamberg, in southeastern Germany, and lived there until now, making a few visits to Italy and France.

She went to school only one day a week, Monday, since the German school system allows youngsters to spend most of their week in on-the-job training. From Tuesdays through Saturdays, she was a teacher's assistant in a kindergarten.

On her one day in class, she remained in the same room—filled with girls only—to study history, mathematics, cooking, art and physical education.

With other teen-agers, she went to the movies or danced to a live band in a coffee house. German law allows those over 16 to stay out until 10, while 18-year-olds can stay until midnight.

Monika's mother, Mrs. Thomas B. Harm, first came to this country when her husband, an Air Force sergeant, was transferred back home from Germany in 1955. Uncertain of his future assignments, they left Monika and her two sisters with Mrs. Harm's parents in Bamberg.

Sergeant Harm was later transferred to Africa, and his wife elected to let her daughters stay in Germany. When, at last, they came back to America—and to Hamilton Air Force Base—Mrs. Harm felt it was time for the younger two, Monika and 13-year-old Doris, to come over.

While Monika was enrolling at San Rafael High, Doris started classes in the seventh grade at Davidson School.

The oldest daughter, 18-year-old Hanne, chose to stay in Bamberg. It will be up to her, Mrs. Harm explained yesterday, to decide whether she will come to this country eventually or spend her life in Germany.

As for the rest of the family, she said, they will go where Sergeant Harm goes. But when it comes time for him to retire from the Air Force, they plan to call America home.

Monika still hopes, as she did in Germany, to become a kindergarten teacher. There, however, one can achieve this goal without a college degree.

Will she go to college here? "She will have to learn English first, then we will decide about that," said her mother.

Vermont Hay Rides May Be Brighter

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP) — Moonlight in Vermont will get some artificial aid if the motor vehicle commissioner, James E. Malloy, has his way.

Malloy wants to erase a law allowing hay wagons and logging sleds on the roads at night without a lighted lantern in back. The law dates to a time when kerosene lamps could have started a fire. A tail light should be required, Malloy said, even on hay rides.

Freeway Intersection Creates Smog Woes

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A cloverleaf stack of freeways at the Los Angeles Civic Center is the worst smog area in the city, a study shows.

Unless the city wants to avoid a "fantastic smog problem" in the future, says UCLA Prof. Albert F. Bush of the engineering department, it should study the possibility of spacing major freeway intersections at least five miles apart.

Weather Watch

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Robert M. White, former chief of the U.S. Weather Bureau, says a new international cooperative venture, the World Weather Watch, should be operating by 1971.

Students Rate Teachers In New Stanford Plan

STANFORD (UPI) — Stanford University is giving prospective teachers a look at problems of the classroom by paying students to criticize their teaching performances.

It's all part of a program called "micro-teaching," which consists of giving trainees the opportunity to conduct classroom lectures for small groups of students. At the same time, the performance is recorded on video tape.

When the lecture is over, the students rate the teacher's effectiveness, and the trainee's colleagues criticize the videotape.

"Micro-teaching breaks down the complex art of teaching into segments so that learning becomes easier for the beginner," said Dr. Dwight Allen, co-director of the project.

The course is now in its fifth year. Comparisons in past years have shown that students who had participated in the program perform better as teachers with less hours of training than other groups receiving traditional instruction.

State's Poverty

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California Finance Department has estimated that of the state's 3,991,509 families, 14 per cent live in poverty, 16 per cent live under conditions of deprivation, and 30 per cent are subject to both.

Eye Operations Said Successful

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Leonard H. Heise, president of the Eye Bank Assn. of America, says more than 90 per cent of corneal transplants to blind persons have been successful.

Heise said "This is relative. One person may not feel such an operation is a success unless he can read the daily papers or look up a number in the telephone book. Another totally blind person may feel it's a success if he can see well enough to get around."

Speed Kills

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—The 1,000th person to die on the roads of the State of New South Wales was a youth whose car hit a tree at high speed in suburban Wetherill Park. He wasn't identified immediately but these words were tattooed on his right arm: "Speed Kills."

Kenya Is Planning To Exploit Barren Area Of 200-Mile Lake

NAIROBI, Kenya (UPI) — Plans are now being drawn in Nairobi to open up the arid north of Kenya, bring a better life to its people and lure tourist money to the areas by developing the vast but neglected Lake Rudolph.

The lake stretches through nearly 200 miles of barren country, beginning west of Marsabit and ending inside the Ethiopian border. It teems with fish and crocodiles, but its potential has never been expoilted.

Recently, a few tough tourists have trekked to the lake's shores lured by the promise of giant Nile perch. the Perch average around 100 pounds each and have been know to weigh up to 300 pounds. Unlike other lake game fish such as the fighting Tiger Fish of Central Africa, they make excellent eating.

Unlike coastal tribesmen, the Lake natives have never learned to construct a crude canoe. Droughts have killed off their herds but the lake, which could supply their food needs, goes untouched.

Various international relief organizations such as Oxfam, the Freedom from HUNGER Campaign and the World Health organization, have conducted surveys of the tribesmen's plight and all have come to the conclusion that exploitation of the lake's fish population is the key to relieving the situation.

Now the Kenya government, backed to some measure by these international organizations, plans to push roads into the area, initiate commercial fishing and establish a freezing plant on the lake shore to export the prized perch fillets all over East Africa.
